Surety for the appearance of another cannot be permitted to claim the money forfeited as it would be opposed to public policy. 1932 L. 23=32 P.L.R. 739. S. 145 of the Act does not debar a surety from making a claim against the principal debtor in cases where he has not made the payment under the guarantee but has become liable only in presenti to do so. In the absence of a provision in the statute restricting the claim of a surety against principal debtor to cases where the surety has already paid the amount the Court would be at liberty to apply the principle of the English decisions which hold that as soon as the obligation to pay becomes absolute, a surety has a right in equity to be exonerated by his principal. 32 Bom.L.R. 207=1930 B. 331. Execution of mortgage by a surety is payment and suit would lie to recover it from the debtor. 58 I.C. 123. The payment which gives the surety a right of action against the principal debtor must be a payment of money or money's worth. Where the surety has not paid the amount due by the principal debtor to the creditor but merely executes a bond for its future payment, a suit by the surety for recovery of the amount due by the principal debtor to the creditor is premature and he has no cause of action until he pays the amount due under the bond. 14 R. 511=163 I.C. 668=1936 R. 235. CHAPTER IX.

OF BAILMENT.

148. A "bailment" is the delivery of goods by one person to another for some purpose, upon a contract that they shall, when the purpose is accomplished, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the directions of the person delivering them. The person delivering the goods is called the "bailor." The person to whom they are delivered is called the "bailee."

Explanation.—If a person already in possession of the goods of another contracts to hold them as a bailee, he thereby becomes the bailee, and the owner becomes the bailor, of such goods although they may not have been delivered by way of bailment.

149. The delivery to the bailee may be made by doing anything which has the effect of putting the goods in the possession of the intended bailee or of any person authorized to hold them on his behalf.

NOTES.

Sec. 148.—"For some purpose", meaning of. See 18 N.L.J. 97. Use of property bailed by bailee not necessary to constitute bailment. 18 N.L.J. 97. It is the pawnor and not an assignee from him that can give directions to the pawnee as regards the delivery or disposal of the pledged property. The directions must be definite and reasonable in order to be binding on the pledgee. 65 I.C. 65=1922 N. 127. Where A lent some ornaments to B to be used by the latter in a religious procession the transaction is a bailment. In such a case there is an implied contract for return of the articles in a reasonable time. 126 I.C. 682=1930 O. 395. Liability of goldsmith. 15 I.C. 431=5 Bur. L.T. 106. In case of deposit of money there is no bailment. 13 B. 338; 32 M. 68. The relationship is that of borrower and lender. (Ibid.) On this section, see also 1939 Cal. 746.

BAILMENT.—Meaning of. 23 S.L.R. 13. As to essentials of bailment, see 16 Mys.L.J. 368. Bailment distinguished from sale or exchange. See 2 A. 756. Delivery of goods for safe custody creates bailment not agency. See 1937 All. 255, cited under S. 237, infra.

Sec. 148, Expl.—A bailment under S. 148 is made when one person delivers goods to another for some purpose under an agreement that they shall be returned after the purpose is accomplished. A seller of goods cannot be regarded as a bailee of the goods sold, unless there is a contract to that effect for the buyer does not deliver the goods to the seller for some purpose under an agreement for their return. So also under the Explanation to S. 148, the seller can become a bailee only if he contracts to hold them as bailee. But in the absence of such a contract he is not a bailee. 11 O.W.N. 958=1934 O. 380. After the Court had passed a re-delivery order the relation of bailor and bailee is established between the judgment-debtor and the decree-holder by virtue of explanation to S. 148. 1929 L. 386.

Secs. 148 and 149: BAILMENT OF GOODS—ESSENTIALS.—It is an essential element of Ss. 148 and 149 that there must be the putting into possession of the bailee or his agent of the goods in question. Where all that was done was that the bank received a document of title to the goods and the bank received the document in order that the document might be handed to the consignee by the bank and the consignee would pay a sum of money to the bank. Held, that there was no bailment of goods. 148 I.C. 644=1934 A. 568. See also 1937 M.W.N. 1042.

Secs. 148 and 151.—See 18 Lah. 380=39 P.L.R. 845=1937 Lah. 572 (Stolen property recovered from the accused and kept with a person in charge of Court records and property—Such person embezzling such property—Secretary of State not liable). Where silver entrusted to another is not to be returned in specie but has to be returned in the shape of a finished article, the intention of the parties is that the same silver would be used for the purpose, and the transaction is one of bailment. The bailee is absolved from liability for the loss of such silver by theft, if he is not guilty of carelessness or negligence. 1936 O.W.N. 334=1936 O. 264.

Sec. 149.—By law the duty of a Railway Company is that of a common carrier and the Railway Company cannot refuse carriage of goods. Liability of railway is that of bailee. Rules restricting liability imposed by Railways Act are invalid. 20 A.L.J. 31=44 A. 218. The mere fact that the loading clerk of a railway filled up what is called the serial

150. The bailor is bound to disclose to the bailee faults in the goods bailed, of which the bailor is aware, and which materially interfere with the use of them, or expose the bailee to extraordinary risks; and, if he does not make such disclosure, he is responsible for damage arising to the bailee directly from such faults.

If the goods are bailed for hire, the bailor is responsible for such damage, whether he was or was not aware of the existence of such faults in the goods bailed.

Illustrations.

(a) A lends a horse, which he knows to be vicious, to B. He does not disclose the fact that the horse is vicious. The horse runs away. B is thrown and injured. A is responsible to B for damage sustained.

(b) A hires a carriage of B. The carriage is unsafe, though B is not aware of it, and A is injured. B is responsible to A for the injury.

151. In all cases of bailment the bailee is bound to take as much care of the goods bailed to him as a man of ordinary prudence would, under similar circumstances, take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and value as the goods bailed.

Care to be taken by bailee.

NOTES.

number in the forwarding note without doing anything further would not amount to the delivery of goods to the railway by the consignor. 45 A. 235=21 A.L.J. 474.

Sec. 151: LIABILITY OF BAILEE—EXTENT.—S. 151 makes no reference to the distinction recognised in English law between a gratuitous bailee and a bailee for hire and omitting all reference to skill lays down for both one standard, viz., as much care as a man of ordinary prudence would take of his own goods in similar circumstances. Bailees are liable for negligence on the part of their agents or servants committed in the course of their employment about the use and custody of the thing bailed but not on account of an unauthorised act done outside the course of their employment. 1934 C. 151=37 C.W.N. 1109. Where a bank merely takes possession of a document of title the responsibility of the bank is for the safe custody of the document of title and not for the safe custody of the goods. The deposit of such a document with the bank will give the bank certain rights in regard to that document but it does not produce the legal effect that the bank becomes in possession of the immovable property. 148 I.C. 644=1934 A. 568. The liability of a hotel-keeper to his guests is governed by S. 151 and his liability is that of a bailee. 20 A.L.J. 728=44 A. 735. The English Common Law does not regulate the liability of hotel-keepers in this country. 44 A. 735. As to the standard of care required of a bailee under Ss. 151 and 152, see 1933 A. 158. Pressure of work or unavoidable accident cannot help to avoid liability. 85 I.C. 786=1925 C. 737. Whether it can be inferred from the facts found that ordinary prudence has been exercised, is a question of law and justifies an interference in second appeal. 25 I.C. 939. The position of a Railway Company is that of a bailee and is governed by S. 151. 38 I.C. 143. But demurrage cannot be charged for the period subsequent to a notice to the consignee that the goods will be sold away at auction in case he fails to remove them. 41 I.C. 387=22 C.W.N. 310. A carrier by a sea cannot contract out of liability for the negligence of himself or of his servants. LIMITATION.—The defendant borrowed from the plaintiff his car for private use and while it was in his use it met with an accident which resulted in considerable damage to the car. The plaintiff sued to recover the repair charges and interest by way of damages. Held, that the case was one of bailment and that the claim for damages was governed by Art. 115 and not Art. 36. Limitation Act. 145 I.C. 1001=1933 O. 518.

Secs. 151 and 152: BAILEE—STANDARD OF CARE—LOSS BY UNPRECEDENTED FLOODS—LIABILITY OF BAILEE.—The standard of diligence required of a bailee under Ss. 151 and 152, is that of the average prudent man; where the bailee has taken the same care of the property entrusted to him as a reasonably careful man may be expected to take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and volume as the goods bailed, he is not responsible for the loss, destruction or deterioration to the thing bailed. No caste-iron standard can be laid down for the measure of the care due from him and the nature and amount of care must vary with the facts of each case. Where there is an unprecedented flood in the town, as a result of which part of the goods bailed is deteriorated, other things being equal, the bailee is not responsible for such loss, but the bailor has to suffer it. 142 I.C. 691=1933 A. 158. It is open to a bailee to contract himself out of the obligations imposed by S. 151 of the Contract Act. The Act does not prohibit contracting out of S. 151. There is no reason why a man should not be at liberty to agree to keep property belonging to another on the terms that such property is to be entirely at the risk of the owner. The only liability of a bailee is for negligence under S. 151, and therefore any words absolving him from risk must cover the consequences of negligence. But where the true contract as made at the time of acceptance of the offer is that the bailee is to keep or hold the property for a reasonable time as an ordinary bailee, it is not open to the latter to alter that contract until a reasonable period has expired and to add a new term to the contract by providing that he is not to be under the ordinary liability attaching to a bailee and that the property is kept at the owner's risk. 41 Bom.L.R. 6=1939 Bom. 101. Sec. 152.—A bailee for hire is bound to return the article hired at the end of the period for which it is hired. But there is an implied warranty that the thing is fit for the purpose for which it is hired and if there is a breach of this warranty, the bailee is not bound to pay the hire and return the articles but can give notice of the same to the bailor. 45 B. 1017=61 I.C. 570. Where a pawnbroker issued a pawn ticket on certain jewellery being deposited with him, and the pawn ticket contained a clause exempting the pawnbroker from all liability in case of destruction of property under certain circumstances, on a suit being brought by the owner for the recovery of price, held, that a bailee can contract himself out of liability. It is not clearly deducible from the terms of S. 152 that a bailee may only make a special contract increasing his responsibility and that he cannot make a special contract reducing it. 7 R. 339=1929 R. 145. 'Loss'—Meaning of. See 10 L. 460=112 I.C. 736. Termination of bailment by bailee's act inconsistent with conditions.

153. A contract of bailment is voidable at the option of the bailor, if the bailee does any act with regard to the goods bailed, inconsistent with the conditions of the bailment.

A lets to B, for hire, a horse for his own riding. B drives the horse in his carriage. This is, at the option of A, a termination of the bailment.

Liability of bailee making unauthorised use of goods bailed.

154. If the bailee makes any use of the goods bailed, which is not according to the conditions of the bailment, he is liable to make compensation to the bailor for any damage arising to the goods from or during such use of them.

Illustrations.

(a) A lends a horse to B for his own riding only. B allows C, a member of his family, to ride the horse. C rides with care, but the horse accidentally falls and is injured. B is liable to make compensation to A for the injury done to the horse.

(b) A hires a horse in Calcutta from B expressly to march to Benares. A rides with due care, but marches to Cuttack instead. The horse accidentally falls and is injured. A is liable to make compensation to B for the injury to the horse.

Effect of mixture, with bailor's consent of his goods with bailee's.

155. If the bailee, with the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, the bailor and the bailee shall have an interest, in proportion to their respective shares, in the mixture thus produced.

156. If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, and the goods can be separated or divided, the property in the goods remains in the parties respectively; but the bailee is bound to bear the expense of separation or division, and any damage arising from the mixture.

Illustration.

A bails 100 bales of cotton marked with a particular mark to B. B, without A's consent, mixes the 100 bales with other bales of his own, bearing a different mark: A is entitled to have his 100 bales returned, and B is bound to bear all the expense incurred in the separation of the bales, and any other incidental damage.

157. If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, in such a manner that it is impossible to separate the goods bailed from the other goods and deliver them back, the bailor is entitled to be compensated by the bailee for the loss of the goods.

Effect of mixture, without bailor's consent, when the goods cannot be separated.

Illustration.

A bails a barrel of Cape flour worth Rs. 45 to B. B, without A's consent, mixes the flour with country flour of his own, worth only Rs. 25 a barrel. B must compensate A for the loss of his flour.

158. Where, by the conditions of the bailment, the goods are to be kept or to be carried, or to have work done upon them by the bailee for the bailor and the bailee is to receive no remuneration, the bailor shall repay to the bailee the necessary expenses incurred by him for the purpose of the bailment.

159. The lender of a thing for use may at any time require its return, if the loan was gratuitous even though he lent it for a specified time or purpose. But if, on the faith of such loan made for a specified time or purpose, the borrower has acted in such a manner that the return of the thing lent before the time agreed upon would cause him loss exceeding the benefit actually derived by him from the loan, the lender must, if he compels the return, indemnify the borrower for the amount in which the loss so occasioned exceeds the benefit so derived.

160. It is the duty of the bailee to return, or deliver according to the bailor's directions, the goods bailed, without demand, as soon as the time for which they were bailed has expired, or the purpose for which they were bailed has been accomplished.

161. If, by the default of the bailee, the goods are not returned, delivered or tendered at the proper time, he is responsible to the bailor for any loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods from that time.

Secs. 160 and 148.—When a Government Promissory note is deposited with the Collector of Excise by a company owing a private bonded warehouse to secure their liability to pay duty in respect of dutiable liquors imported by them, the Government becomes the bailee of the note within the meaning of S. 148. Under S. 160, the Government are under a duty to return it without demand on the cancellation of the company's excise licence, when the company is not under any liability to Government in respect of the bonded warehouse, although the note had not been endorsed to the company at the time of the deposit. The Government being bailees, are not at liberty to refuse to return it pleading the interest of the person in whose name the endorsement stands. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 52=1939 Cal. 746.

Secs. 160 and 161: BAILEE'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR WRONGFUL DETENTION.—Where a car is entrusted for safe custody, it is the duty of the bailee under S. 160 to return or deliver the car according to the bailor's directions without demand as soon as the time for which it is bailed expires. Where the bailee not only does not do so, but creates all sorts of obstacles, based on flimsy grounds to deprive the bailor of the use of the car, wrongful detention is fully proved and consequently under S. 161, the bailee is responsible for any loss or deterioration of the car from the time he does not return or deliver it when demanded. 35 P.L.R. 705.

Sec. 161.—[See also notes under S. 160.] The responsibility of a railway administration in India is no less than it would be in England, and as regards delivery, the liability of a Railway Company is expressly governed by S. 161. Refusal to grant delivery except upon an unjust or unreasonable condition amounts to a default within the meaning of that section, and the Railway Company would be liable for such refusal. 1931 N. 29. The moment the default of the bailee is established and the responsibility falls to be determined under S. 161, the burden shifts to him to prove that the loss, for which he is sought to be made responsible by the bailor, occurred prior to the commencement of default on his part. When the goods are solely under the control of the bailee the fact as to when loss, destruction or deterioration occurred is a matter specially within his knowledge and therefore the burden of proving that the loss occurred at a particular time and not subsequently must be on him. 1932 A.L.J. 788=1932 A. 584. In the absence of evidence as to the execution of risk-note Form A, the railway is liable for delay in delivery. 65 I.C. 471=20 A.L.J. 114. Contract Act is not a complete Code with reference to the law of bailments. Bailments are of two kinds voluntary and involuntary. Where a depository dies and the subject of the deposit passes into the hands of his heir, the latter becomes an involuntary bailee. A depository is a bailee within Chapter IX of the Act. 69 I.C. 900=26 C.W.N. 772. Contract between Railway Company and owner

Termination of gratuitous bailment by death.

162. A gratuitous bailment is terminated by the death either of the bailor or of the bailee.

Bailor entitled to increase or profit from goods bailed.

163. In the absence of any contract to the contrary, the bailee is bound to deliver to the bailor, or according to his directions, any increase or profit which may have accrued from the goods bailed.

Illustration.

A leaves a cow in the custody of B to be taken care of. The cow has a calf. B is bound to deliver the calf as well as the cow to A.

Bailor's responsibility to bailee.

164. The bailor is responsible to the bailee for any loss which the bailee may sustain by reason that the bailor was not entitled to make the bailment, or to receive back the goods or to give directions respecting them.

Bailment by several joint owners.

165. If several joint owners of goods bail them the bailee may deliver them back to, or according to the directions of, one joint owner without the consent of all, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary.

Bailee not responsible on re-delivery to bailor without title.

166. If the bailor has no title to the goods, and the bailee, in good faith, delivers them back to, or according to the directions of, the bailor, the bailee is not responsible to the owner in respect of such delivery.

Right of third person claiming goods bailed.

167. If a person, other than the bailor, claims goods bailed, he may apply to the Court to stop the delivery of the goods to the bailor, and to decide the title to the goods.

Sec. 162.—The liability does not come to an end with the death of the bailee and can be enforced against his estate. The provisions of the Contract Act embodied in Chapter IX relating to bailment are not exhaustive; and the object of S. 162 is simply to bring out the general principle of law on the surface that the heir of a bailee, when the bailment is gratuitous, does not occupy on the death of such bailee the character of a bailee. The section does not do away with the principle of law that such an heir occupies the character of a constructive trustee in regard to the subject-matter of the bailment. 5 L. 220.

Sec. 166.—To a suit by the real owner of goods for their delivery, the fact that the pledgee (defendant) has parted with the goods pledged to or to the order of the person by whom they were deposited without notice of any claim by any other person is a complete defence. 37 B. 122=40 I.A. 1=24 M.L.J. 176 (P.C.). See also 1923 Bom. 155 (wrong delivery in good faith).

Sec. 167.—The remedy of a bailee, from whom the goods bailed are demanded by rival claimants, is to file an inter-pleader suit against the claimants and thereby protect himself. But if he fails to do that and retains the goods for the bailor or delivers it to him, he must stand or fall by the bailor's title. Where paddy was sent to a mill for milling and the mill owner was informed that the rice had been sold to a third person but later on the bailor sent a notice to the bailee asking him not to deliver the rice to the third person and the bailee delivers the rice belonging to the third person to the bailor, it is clearly a conversion and the bailee is responsible to the third person for damages. 1940 Rang. L. R. 361=1940 Rang. 249. As to wrong delivery in good faith, see 24 Bom.L.R. 513=67 I.C. 761=1923 Bom. 155.

168. The finder of goods has no right to sue the owner for compensation for trouble and expense voluntarily incurred by him to preserve the goods and to find out the owner; but he may retain the goods against the owner until he receives such compensation; and, where the owner has offered a specific reward for the return of goods lost, the finder may sue for such reward, and may retain the goods until he receives it.

169. When a thing which is commonly the subject of sale is lost, if the owner cannot with reasonable diligence be found, or if he refuses, upon demand, to pay the lawful charges of the finder, the finder may sell it—

(1) when the thing is in danger of perishing or of losing the greater part of its value, or,

(2) when the lawful charges of the finder in respect of the thing found, amount to two-thirds of its value.

170. Where the bailee has, in accordance with the purpose of the bailment, rendered any service involving the exercise of labour or skill in respect of the goods bailed, he has, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, a right to retain such goods until he receives due remuneration for the services he has rendered in respect of them.

Illustrations.

(a) A delivers a rough diamond to B, a jeweller, to be cut and polished, which is accordingly done. B is entitled to retain the stone till he is paid for the services he has rendered.

(b) A gives cloth to B, a tailor, to make into a coat. B promises A to deliver the coat as soon as it is finished, and to give a three months' credit for the price. B is not entitled to retain the coat until he is paid.

171. Bankers, factors, wharfingers, attorneys of a High Court and policy-brokers may, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, retain, as a security for a general balance of account, any goods bailed to them; but no other persons have a right to retain as a security for such balance, goods bailed to them, unless there is an express contract to that effect.

NOTES.

Sec. 170: APPLICABILITY—SELLER RETAINING GOODS SOLD—IF COMES UNDER THE SECTION.—S. 170 only applies to cases in which goods have been given to a bailee for some purpose in relation to which the bailee has to use special skill. The case of a seller of goods who keeps the things sold because the price has not been paid does not come within the purview of S. 170. 151 I.C. 117 = 11 O.W.N. 958 = 1934 O. 380. Though according to S. 170, the bailee has a right to retain goods until he receives due remuneration for the services he has rendered in respect of them, there is nothing in the section which enables him to sell the goods and recover his dues. Hence a person entrusted with cattle for grazing cannot sell them for the recovery of the grazing charges due. 1940 N.L.J. 412 = 1940 Nag. 273. On this section, see 6 A. 139; 8 C. 312; 13 B. 314.

Sec. 171: DISTINCTION BETWEEN THE GENERAL LIEN OF A BAILEE (BANKER, ETC.) AND THE RIGHTS OF A CREDITOR, who advances money to accommodate his customers to buy goods and deposit them with him on what is called the godown system is that one is a mere right of retention and in the other special property in the chattel is created. 8 L. 373 = 1927 L. 408.

A Nattukottai Chetty is a 'banker' within S. 171 and is therefore entitled to banker's lien on goods bailed to him. 43 M. 747 = 39 M.L.J. 135.

LIEN OF BANKERS.—See 33 M. 53; 19 M. 234. Money can be the subject of a banker's lien but not the money held by the bank under a special contract. 95 I.C. 358 = 1926 S. 225 = 21 S.L.R. 385. When moneys are held in one account, and the payer in respect of those moneys owes debts to the banks on another account, the banker's lien gives the bank a charge on all the moneys their hands belonging to this particular customer so that they can be transferred into whatever account they choose to set off or liquidate the debt which is in existence. But money in a trustee account at a bank cannot be used to set off debts on a private account in the trustee's name. 151 I.C. 1018 = 1934 Rang. 66. Factor, who is. Bailments of Pledges.

diminished or increased by statute. A solicitor in England is entitled to three kinds of lien to protect his right to recover his costs from his client, namely: (i) a passive or retaining lien; (ii) a common law lien on property recovered or preserved by his efforts; (iii) a statutory lien enforceable by a charging order. Indian statutory law contains no provision for the last mentioned lien but the other two kinds of lien are available in India. The lien on property recovered or preserved by the efforts of the solicitor is a particular lien and not a general lien and it is not available for the general balance of account between the attorney and his client but extends only to the costs of recovering or preserving the property in suit. The passive or retaining lien is not affected or curtailed by S. 171. This lien enures in favour of the solicitor in respect of all deeds, papers or other personal chattels which come into his possession in the course of his professional employment. This is a general lien but with reference to moneys recovered by the solicitor for his client, he has no such general lien. Whether he obtains possession of the money which is the fruit of his exertion or whether it is still in deposit in Court, in either case, his lien or right to be paid out of those funds is confined to the costs incurred in respect of those funds, subject only to this, that he has the ordinary rights of set off which one creditor has against another. 60 C. 1442 = 149 I.C. 331 = 1934 C. 341.

LIEN OF WHARFINGERS.—See 8 C. 312; 1930 L. 576. Equitable lien of barrister and attorney on money paid into Court. 29 I. C. 870 = 8 L.B.R. 70. See also 4 B. 353; 6 C. 7. A factor is an agent entrusted with the possession of goods for sale. 29 I.C. 462 = 1915 M.W.N. 519. Factor—Agent for sale of goods making advances against goods—Agreement to recoupe advances from sale proceeds—Suit by agent for refund of advances before actual sale. 55 I.C. 671 = 11 L.W. 1.

RIGHT OF SALE.—A bailee has no right to sell the goods bailed, unless such right is conferred upon him by agreement of the parties or by any special statute; on the other hand, a sale of the goods bailed to him in the exercise of his right of lien over the goods causes the loss of the lien. 122 I.C. 388 = 1930 S. 36.

Sec. 172.—The method provided by S. 172 of the Contract Act for the hypothecation of chattels is not the only method for creating security thereon. They may be hypothecated without transferring their possession. In such cases the only question that arises is whether there was an intention to create a security and if there was intention to create security, equity gives effect to it. 44 I.C. 211 = 22 C.W.N. 758. See also 59 C. 667; 10 Mys.L.J. 16. A hypothecation not merely of movables existing on the premises at the time but also in respect of movables which might be subsequently acquired and brought there is valid, though it is not governed by the T. P. Act or by the Contract Act. 59 C. 1372. An oral or written hypothecation is permitted under the law in India. 9 R. 182 = 1931 R. 201. In a pledge the property should be actually or constructively delivered to the pawnee. Title deeds of property are not goods that may be pledged within the meaning of S. 172. 33 I.C. 891 = 22 C.W.N. 297. The delivery which is necessary for a pledge need not be simultaneous with the lending of the money. It may be actual or manual, symbolical or constructive, simultaneous or subsequent. 59 C. 667 = 36 C.W.N. 263. As to pledge of shares or negotiable securities, see 12 Bom.L.R. 800. Profits accruing from immovable property cannot be pledged. See 1939 Lah. 15 = 41 P.L.R. 239. As to pledge of goods retained in the godowns of the pledgor who agreed not to remove them or encumber them without the consent of the pledgee, see 50 B. 547 = 96 I.C. 417 = 1926 B. 427. A pledge or pawn according to S. 172 lies midway between a loan and a mortgage which wholly passes the property in the thing conveyed. 33 I.C. 891 = 22 C. W.N. 297. Hypothecation of animals—Enforceability against third parties—Offspring of animals—Accession. 10 P.R. 1915 = 28 I.C. 230. Neither the T. P. Act nor the Contract Act recognizes the non-possessory hypothecation of movables. And the rights and remedies of the parties must be regulated by the Courts according to general law of contract. 10 I.C. 869 = 7 N.L.R. 72. A bona fide incumbrancer without notice in possession of movable property will be preferred to the prior incumbrancer. A person alleging notice must prove it. 28 I.C. 462 = 7 L.B.R. 336. As to distinction between pledge and mortgage, see 59 C. 667.

Secs. 172 and 176.—The rights of a creditor who accommodates his customers by storing goods for the purchase of which he has advanced money are higher than those of an ordinary bailee who has a general lien under S. 171 of the Act in so far that in the former case there is an implication that the security shall if necessary be made

173. The pawnee may retain the goods pledged, not only for payment of the debt or the performance of the promise, but for the interest of the debt, and all necessary expenses incurred by him in respect of the possession or for the preservation of the goods pledged.

Pawnee's right of retainer.
Pawnee not to retain for debt or promise other than that for which goods pledged. Presumption in case of subsequent advances.

174. The pawnee shall not, in the absence of a contract to that effect, retain the goods pledged for any debt or promise other than the debt or promise for which they are pledged; but such contract, in the absence of anything to the contrary, shall be presumed in regard to subsequent advances made by the pawnee.

Pawnee's right as to extraordinary expenses incurred.

175. The pawnee is entitled to receive from the pawnor extraordinary expenses incurred by him for the preservation of the goods pledged.

176. If the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt, or performance, at the stipulated time of the promise, in respect of which the goods were pledged, the pawnee may bring a suit against the pawnor upon the debt or promise, and retain the goods pledged as a collateral security; or he may sell the thing pledged on giving the pawnor reasonable notice of the sale.

NOTES.

effectual to discharge the obligation. The position of the creditor is analogous to that of a pledgee. (8 L. 373, Ref.) 31 P.L.R. 365=1930 L. 576.

Secs. 172 and 178.—As the law stands at present in India, a mere deposit of share certificates would not be enough to create a valid pledge. In order to constitute a valid pledge there should be such delivery of possession to the pledgee by virtue of which he can effectively exercise the power of sale for realising the debt. Though share certificates would not be "goods" within the meaning of Ss. 172 and 178 of the Contract Act, the Act is not exhaustive. The principle that an assignment is necessary is recognised in S. 178. I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 419=1941 Mad. 394=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 178.

Sec. 174.—Rights of creditor in case of pledge. See 120 I.C. 834=53 B. 819. Pledge—Unlawful withholding of goods—Refusal to deliver—Action. 41 A. 643=55 I.C. 45. In the case of a pledge the creditor has two rights which are concurrent, the right to proceed against the property not being merely accessory to the right to proceed against the debtor personally. 31 Bom.L.R. 988=1929 B. 471. Subsequent advances on pledge of other articles—Lien against article ordinarily pledged—Subsequent conduct of parties, if material. See 115 I.C. 389. When there was a mortgage of certain shop goods then lying on the premises and the mortgagor undertook to keep on the premises stock to the extent of the debt replacing sold goods by new goods, it is not a mere licence but an equitable mortgage of the substituted goods and there is complete assignment of after-acquired property. It is not necessary that an equitable assignment should be enforced by a suit for specific performance. 17 I.C. 31=6 S.L.R. 97. The only condition is that the goods on coming into existence should be capable of identification as to things assigned. (Ibid.)

Sec. 176.—Conditions necessary for exercise of pawnee's right of sale. See 8 L. 373=101 I.C. 725=1927 L. 408. As to rights of pawnee, see 104 I.C. 641. Notice of sale—Reasonableness of. 40 A. 522=45 I.C. 462=16 A.L.J. 390. See also 59 C. 667=36 C.W.N. 263. The rights of a pledgee under this section either to sue on the debt or sell the property pledged are concurrent rights. 33 I.C. 891=22 C.W.N. 297. See also 32 C. 27; 27 M. 528; 22 C. 21. A pledgee is not entitled to sell the goods before the amount of the loan becomes due and before effecting a sale he must give reasonable notice to the pledgor. 39 I.C. 169 (6 W.R. 81, Ref.) See also 114 I.C. 820; 1929 M.W.N. 167. A notice to be valid under S. 176 must be a reasonable notice, and it must refer to the debt for which the goods were pledged and for recovering which the pledged goods are to be sold. Otherwise it will not be a proper notice as contemplated by S. 176. 38 Bom.L.R. 982. When there is an improper or wrongful sale by the pawnee, without a proper notice of sale as required by S. 176 the pawnee becomes liable in damages for conversion to the pawnor, but the sale is not avoided thereby or liable to be set aside. The correct measure of the damages to which the pawnor is entitled in such cases is the loss which he has actually sustained, taking into account the pawnee's interests in the goods sold at the time of the conversion. Account sales are prima facie evidences of the amount realised by the sale of the goods in foreign markets, in the absence of proof that the account sales

If the proceeds of such sale are less than the amount due in respect of the debt or promise, the pawnor is still liable to pay the balance. If the proceeds of the sale are greater than the amount so due, the pawnee shall pay over the surplus to the pawnor.

177. If a time is stipulated for the payment of the debt, or performance of the promise, for which the pledge is made, and the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt or performance of the promise at the stipulated time, he may redeem the goods pledged at any subsequent time before the actual sale of them; but he must, in that case, pay, in addition, any expenses which have arisen from his default.

are incorrect. A mere objection that they are not correct is not enough. Mere offers to purchase the goods made by others are also not conclusive as to the rates of prices. 38 Bom.L.R. 982. Certain jewels were deposited as collateral security with the creditor for two promissory notes. The promisee sold the jewels without proper notice to the debtor and filed a suit on the promissory notes. Held, that as the sale was without justification, the debtor was entitled to claim deduction from the amount due on the promissory notes of a reasonable value of the jewels deposited, which should be taken to be the value at the date of suit. 146 I.C. 422=1933 R. 76. If pledgee sells through Court, he can purchase at Court-sale. 19 C. 322. This section requires a notice only when the pawnee wishes to exercise his opinion of selling the pledged goods. If he chooses to bring a suit upon the debts no notice is apparently required by that section. 48 I.C. 970; 146 I.C. 194=1933 L. 536.

Sec. 177.—A pledgor cannot compel the pledgee to exercise the power of sale as a means of satisfying or discharging a decree which the latter has obtained against him. Rights of pledgor enumerated. 30 L.W. 898=122 I.C. 37=1930 M. 364. If a pledgor brings a suit for redemption without first tendering the money to the pledgee and it turns out that the suit was unnecessary because the pledgee was always ready and willing to deliver up the property pledged without suit if the debt had been paid the plaintiff will no doubt be made to pay the costs of the defendant but his suit cannot be dismissed. But if it turns out that in the circumstances which preceded the suit it would have been perfectly useless to tender the money to the pledgee as for instance where the pledgee declares in advance his inability to return the pledged property in such a case if the pledgee was at fault in putting it beyond his power to return the goods, the pledgor cannot be defeated on account of his not going through a useless ceremony of tender. 1930 M. 364.

Sec. 178.—Scope and application of section. See 40 M. 678=34 I.C. 751=30 M. L.J. 587; 30 Bom.L.R. 470=1928 B. 225; 159 I.C. 662=1935 C. 769. S. 178 contemplates documents which have a lawful owner other than the pledgor. 56 C. 367=119 I. C. 23=1929 C. 497. S. 178 has been enacted in order to protect those persons who in good faith deal with persons whom they know to be mercantile agents, but of the details of whose agency they are not and cannot be expected to be aware. It is relied upon only in cases where the pledgee is aware that the pledgor is a mercantile agent. The agent referred to is an agent such as the pledgee might well suppose had power to pledge, but if the pledgee did not know him to be an agent at all he cannot have any reason to suppose that he had power to pledge. If he takes goods from a person of whom he knows nothing whatsoever and if it turns out that the person's pledging of the goods with him was a criminal offence and that the pledgor was a mercantile agent, then he can have no claim to retain the property. 176 I.C. 703=1938 Rang. 243. The words 'good faith' in S. 178, Contract Act, before its amendment bear the same meaning as is given in sub-S. (20) of S. 3 of General Clauses Act, though in terms that sub-section may not apply to any Act earlier in date than the General Clauses Act. The general rule of English law is also to the same effect. 182 I.C. 25=1938 Mad. 545. A Railway receipt for goods consigned is a document of title to goods. 40 B. 630=31 M.L.J. 541=43 I.A. 164 (P.C.). See also 30 I.C. 950=38 M. 664; 56 M. 177=143 I.C. 641=1933 M. 207=64 M.L.J. 320. Under S. 178, a pledgee may get a better title to the goods or documents pledged than the pledgor had himself provided the circumstances set out in the section are satisfied. The burden of proving the existence of those circumstances is upon the party setting up the validity of the pledge. 67 C.L.J. 276. In interpreting S. 178, Courts always drew a distinction between juridical possession and mere custody. In the new S. 178 the pledgee is only protected when the pledge is made by a mercantile agent. 1937 A.M.L.J. 73. If a person has authority to sell goods owned by another, he is a mercantile agent of that another and once it is proved that he has the consent of the owner to sell the goods, it is immaterial whether he has obtained that consent by fraud or not, and if he pledges the goods to a third party, the pledge under S. 178 is valid, and the right of the pledgee to hold the goods pledged to him is secure even though the mercantile agent is convicted under S. 420, Penal Code, for cheating. 1937 R. 146. A pledge of the documents, e.g., railway receipts, amounts to a pledge of the goods. The pledge is not affected by the handing over of the railway receipts by the pledgee to the pledgor for the limited purpose of obtaining delivery of the goods. It is only for that purposes that the pledgor has the temporary possession, or rather custody, of the railway receipts, and the goods are in the possession, order and disposition of the pledgee. 152 I.C. 730=1934 P.C. 246=68 M.L.J. 260 (P.C.). The railway receipts are documents of title within S. 178 of the Act and the pledging of the railway receipts has the same effect as a pledging of the goods represented by them. Even if the documents of title (railway receipts) are regarded as merely tokens of an authority to receive possession, their transfer for value by way of security for advances must at least raise an equity as between transferor and transferee entitling the latter to an order restraining the former from himself claiming delivery of the relative goods without producing the receipts. 1934 P.C. 246=58 M. 181=68 M.L.J. 260 (P.C.). A railway receipt is a document of title and a pledge of the railway receipt operates as a pledge of the goods, though by the general law a pledge of documents is not prima facie deemed to be a pledge of the goods. The pledgee does not lose his right of property as pledgee by parting with the custody of the railway receipts or by entrusting them to the pledgor or his agents or mandatories for the special purpose of convenient dealing with the goods by collecting them from the Port Trust and putting them into the pledgee's godowns. Such a procedure is the usual course of business and is either necessary or at least convenient for the conduct of the business. 65 I.A. 75=I.L.R. The fact that they were given to broker because of false representation is immaterial. Such broker can make a valid pledge provided the pawnee acts in good faith and had not at the time of the pledge notice that the pawnor had no authority to pledge. 151 I.C. 413=1934 R. 198. The unqualified words “a person who is in possession of any goods or of any bill of lading, etc.” are wide enough to cover the owner as well as any mercantile agent. 58 M. 181=68 M.L.J. 260=1934 P.C. 246 (P.C.). The words “a person who is in possession” as used in S. 178, before its amendment includes an owner as well as a mercantile agent and are not limited either to the latter or to persons other than the actual owner of the goods. 67 C.L.J. 276 (Case before amending Act of 1930). When the pawnor has obtained possession of the goods pledged by him under a contract voidable under section 19 or section 19-A, but the contract has not been rescinded at the time of the pledge, the pawnee acquires a good title to the goods, provided he acts in good faith and without notice of the pawnor's defect of title.

The word 'possession' as used in this section does not include the possession by a gratuitous bailee and so a pledge by him of the thing is invalid. The pledgee must return the thing so pledged, to the original depositor. 61 I.C. 305; 14 S. L.R. 175. What is contemplated in S. 178 is juridical possession as distinguished from bare custody. A gratuitous bailee who merely took the jewel from the owner merely for inspection and return, cannot be deemed to have been in possession of it within the meaning of S. 178 to enable him to make a valid pledge of it. Where therefore the jewel is obtained from the lawful owner by means of the offence of cheating, and the subsequent consent of the lawful owner to the pledgor's retention of the jewel as per the contract of sale on credit is also obtained by means of fraud amounting to cheating, the condition mentioned in proviso 2 to S. 178 not being satisfied, the pledge in favour of the pledgee is invalid. 1934 M. 132=66 M.L.J. 361. It is impossible even if it were permissible or desirable, to limit or restrict the natural meaning of the word 'possession' in Ss. 178 and 108 in any way which would be consistent with other sections of the Act, or could be based upon any clear, consistent and comprehensive principle. The extent of the sections should be limited only by giving to the word 'possession' its fullest and widest meaning, both natural or ordinary and technical or artificial, and including both actual possession and possession in law, subject to the provisos therein contained. Where there was a contract of sale of ready ascertained goods upon credit, and both the property in the goods and the right to possession passed to the buyers at the date of the contract but the goods, part of which were paid for, remained in the possession of the sellers who pledged some of them to a third party, the pledgee having no notice of the buyer's interest in the goods. Held, that the pledge and even if there was a sale, the sale came within the scope of Ss. 178 and 108 respectively and as such passed a good title to the third party. 56 C. 367=1929 C. 497. See also 31 Bom.L.R. 414=118 I.C. 796; 1 R. 199. the Indian Sale of Goods Bill, that S. 178 should be amended so as to make it consistent with the amendment proposed by the Committee in S. 108. Both the sections are cognate and are based on the same principle; and there has been considerable conflict of decisions regarding their scope. The Special Committee has proposed to remove this conflict in S. 108 by restricting its provisions to sales by persons who are in possession of the subject-matter of the sale as mercantile agents only, and the present Bill amends S. 178 on the same lines."—(Statement of Objects and Reasons.) The following is the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill:—This Bill is supplementary to the Indian Sale of Goods Bill. On the lines of the amendment made in Cl. 27 of that Bill we have substituted the words "a mercantile agent" for the words "where an agent. . . . to security of goods". We have also substituted the words "documents of title to goods" for the words "bill of lading, dock order thereby represented". As the expressions "mercantile agent" and "documents of title" are not defined in the Indian Contract Act, 1872, in which this section will remain, we have added an Explanation stating that those expressions will have the meanings assigned to them in the Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1930. We have also inserted a new section as S. 178-A to provide for the case of a pledge by a person in possession under a voidable contract." Jewels entrusted merely for safe custody cannot be subject of a valid pledge by the deposittee even in cases arising after the Contract (Amendment) Act of 1930. 1942 M.W.N. 25=(1942) 1 M.L.J. 44. It was found that they had been pledged with the first defendant by the second defendant, plaintiff's husband, but that the articles belonged to the plaintiffs. It was not shown that the second defendant had any authority from his wife, the plaintiff, to pledge the articles. Nor was he a mercantile agent. Held, that the first defendant could not claim to recover the amount due on the pledge from the plaintiff on the ground that she was a bona fide pledgee, and the pledge did not confer any right on her, and the plaintiff was therefore entitled to a decree. 45 Mys. Secs. 178 and 179: RELATIVE SCOPE.—S. 179 is an enabling section and must be read with S. 178. 190 I.C. 790=1940 Sind 177.

Sec. 179.—See 42 B. 205. Where there was a contract of sale of goods on credit and the property in goods and rights to possession passed to the vendee but vendor retained possession and pledged the goods to a third party without notice of the vendee's interest in them. Held, that the pledgees obtained no right or interest under S. 179 (42 B. 205, not foll.). 56 C. 367=119 I.C. 23=1929 C. 497. See also 52 M. 465=30 L.W. 36=116 I.C. 827. Where there is a mortgage of movable property, and the movable property is allowed by the mortgagee to remain in possession of the mortgagor as ostensible owner, and the property is again mortgaged to a third party and sold, the first mortgagee cannot recover from the second mortgagee unless he can show that the second mortgagee had notice of the prior mortgage. S. 179, Contract Act, has no application to such a case. 190 I.C. 790=1940 Sind 177.

Sec. 180.—Under S. 180 either a bailor or bailee of a chattel may maintain an action in respect of it against a wrongdoer, the latter by virtue of possession, the former by virtue of his property. 43 C. 733=21 C.W.N. 632.

Sec. 182.—The Contract Act does not draw fine distinction between different classes of agents, but the Act is not exhaustive and so far as the law relating to agency is concerned

"Agent" and "principal" defined. represent another in dealings with third persons. The person for whom such act is done, or who is so represented, is called the "principal."

It will include an employment by any authority authorised by law to make the employment. 73 C.L.J. 356=1941 Cal. 643. Definition of agent given in S. 182 is very wide and embraces a servant pure and simple. All the agents therefore cannot be placed in the same category. 176 I.C. 675=1938 Nag. 254. Relationship of principal and agent distinguished from that of sub-contractor. 130 I.C. 54=1930 L. 1062.

'PERSON'—INCLUDES JOINT HINDU FAMILY.—There is no doubt that the word 'person' used in S. 182 and other cognate sections of the Contract Act includes a joint Hindu family and therefore an agent can be employed on behalf of such family. 150 I.C. 151=1934 A.L.J. 453=1934 A. 553.

Benamidar is not agent. 5 B.L.R. 237; nor committee of lunatic. 20 B. 61; nor guardian of minor. 20 B. 61; nor manager of joint Hindu family. 22 A. 307; 26 M. 544. Minor may be agent. 3 Bom.L.R. 624. Every act of an agent in the course of his employment on behalf of his principal and within the apparent scope of his authority, binds the principal unless the agent in fact is unauthorized to do that act and the person dealing with him has notice of the same. 24 I.C. 209. See also 43 C. 833=34 I.C. 807. The use of the word 'agent' in a general way, loosely without specifying the purpose of the agency does not help to determine whether a person is an agent. 21 I.C. 322=14 M.L.T. 249. Commission agents are agents within S. 182, but are not agents pure and simple. They are agents up to a point and to that extent they stand in a position of active confidence towards their principals, but beyond that they are not agents in the real sense of the term and the relationship between the parties from then on is one of debtor and creditor. 176 I.C. 675=1938 Nag. 254. Where a person receives goods from another as a commission agent and then sells them for him, he is an agent up to a certain point that is up to the date of the sale. Thereafter whether he still continues as an agent or the relationship is that of a debtor and creditor depends on whether the commission agent when he sells has authority to sell in his own name and whether he has authority in his own right to pass a valid title. If he has authority to sell and also authority to pass a valid title in his own right he is acting as a principal vis à vis the purchasers and not merely as an agent and therefore from that point on, he is debtor of the erstwhile principal and not merely an agent. Whether this is so or not must depend on facts in each particular case. 176 I.C. 675=1938 Nag. 254. Unless authority to act is conferred and accepted, mere settlement of the terms of remuneration does not constitute a contract of agency. A commission agent is not in law, the agent of all persons and firms, whose business he occasionally transacts. 50 I.C. 146; 12 S.L.R. 93. The agency is only with reference to specific sales or purchases made under the directions of the principal. (Ibid.) In order to entitle a broker to his commission, he must prove either that the transaction has been completed or that, if it is not, the non-completion was due to default on the part of the principal. See 24 Bom.L.R. 847=1922 Bom. 433, and cases referred to therein. A broker is the agent of the person for whom he acts. Unlike the factor he is not entrusted with the custody and the apparent ownership of the goods, but he is merely to effect business on commission on the sale resulting from his efforts. Where the contract is not in writing, terms are to be inferred from conduct of the parties. 39 A. 81=36 I.C. 371. Per Woodroffe, J.—A broker is the agent of both parties and his contract is one of employment only so long as he adheres strictly to his position as a broker by confining himself to the business of negotiation. 42 C. 1050=19 C.W.N. 623. Sec. 186: SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY OF SEC.—Under S. 186, Contract Act, the authority of an agent may be express or implied. Where it is not expressed, the question whether the agent had or had not authority to act in a particular matter on behalf of the principal has to be decided according to the circumstances of each case. 11 O.W.N. 880. If an agent endowed with very wide powers and authorized to buy and sell property, to deal with Government and to pay revenue, contracts a loan on behalf of his principal, which the latter did not repudiate when it came to his knowledge, the principal is bound by the debt and must pay it. 39 I.C. 225=1 Pat.L.W. 346. The binding character of a contract entered into by an agent depends on the measure of the authority that may be implied by the facts and circumstances of the case. It is not enough to show that the agent was generally permitted to carry on the management of the debutter properties on behalf of his mother, the shebait, who never interfered with the acts of her son in whom she had full confidence. Where the question is if a contract to lease debutter properties is binding, it must be shown that the contract is one of a class of acts delegated to the agent or that the particular contract in question was authorized either expressly or impliedly by the shebait. 36 C.W.N. 1108. Husband when liable for wife's debts. 9 A. 147. A toll contractor of a Municipality though he is referred to as a "lessee" of tolls under the Municipal Regulation, collects the tolls for and on behalf of the Municipality under the express authority vested in him by the Municipality, and is an agent of the Municipality within the meaning of S. 182 of the Contract Act. The Municipality can therefore be sued by a person from whom tolls have been wrongfully and unauthorisedly levied and recovered through the contractor. It cannot be contended in such a case that there is no privity of contract between the Municipality and the person from whom the tolls are levied. 15 Mys.L.J. 489. A person claiming against the principal for an act of his agent must show that the act done was within the scope of the authority or ostensible authority held or exercised by the agent and this can be shown by practice as well as by a written instrument. In a suit for the price of goods supplied on credit to the defendant through his servants, the plaintiff, therefore, must show in the absence of express written authority a course of dealing by which it was a practice for goods to be supplied to him through his servants in the course of their employment. If he shows such a practice, it will be no answer for the defendant to say that particular items of goods did not reach him once the plaintiff has established that they were supplied to his servants for his use. 1937 P.W.N. 36=1937 Pat. 526. Where in a communal trouble an agreement was arrived at and it was signed by certain representatives of both the factions and subsequently the members of the community also acted upon the same, held, that the representative character of the signatories could be inferred. 27 A.L.J. 1083=1929 A. 519.

Secs. 187 and 188.—Where the agent's authority is defined in writing, it is doubtful if S. 187 of the Contract Act can be relied upon for it is well settled that where an Act purporting to be done under a power of attorney is challenged as being in excess of the authority conferred by the power it is necessary to show that on a fair construction of the whole instrument the authority in question is to be found within the four corners of the instrument, either in express terms or by necessary implication. The limits of necessary implication are indicated by S. 188 of the Contract Act. Where there is no justification for the borrowing by the agent on the ground of necessity or with reference to the usual course of business the principal cannot be held liable on the footing that in borrowing the agent has acted within the limits of his authority. But there is a well-established rule of equity based on the theory of unjust enrichment, namely, where by any wrongful or unauthorized act of the agent the money or property of a third person comes to the hands of the principal or is applied for his benefit, the principal is liable jointly and severally with the agent to restore the amount or the value of the property. The absence of other funds in the hands of the agent at the time of the borrowing is not a necessary condition of the creditor's right to relief against the principal. This equitable rule is not excluded by the Contract Act. 1938 Mad. 966=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 688. The agent effected a mortgage in order to meet the urgent requirements of the Company. Subsequently the reports of the Directors showed the loan as a secured debt. Held, (1) that the articles should be read together and that the power of entering into contracts did not include a power to contract loan, (2) that the managing Agent had, however, under the general law, the power to contract the loan in question being faced with an emergency, and (3) that the Directors had ratified the loan by means of their report and that the Company could not escape liability on the ground that their managing Agent had no authority to raise the loan. 134 I.C. 244=1931 A.L.J. 1038. An agent not authorized to compromise cannot bind his principal by any compromise effected by him. 96 P.R. 1914=24 I.C. 630. An agent authorized by a power-of-attorney only to collect debts has no authority to realize their value, or any part of it by selling them. 35 M.L.J. 581=41 M. 923. If the power-of-attorney does not authorize the agent to carry on a business except with limitations, any act done by him in excess of such power will not bind the principal. 41 I.C. 224=6 L.W. 417. The plaintiff from whom money was borrowed by the defendant's agent without authority, is entitled to receive his amount to the extent of the benefit received by the principal. 32 I.C. 763=1915 M.W.N. 761. An agreement by an agent to pay reasonable interest for goods purchased on credit is binding on principal. 26 I.C. 365. (1 C.L.J. 199, Foll.) An agent who has power to sign his name does not necessarily mean that he has full powers necessary for a disposition of property. 10 M.L.T. 304=12 I.C. 393.

POWER OF ATTORNEY.—A power of attorney given to an agent to collect outstandings includes also a power to collect debts due under decrees, even if they were obtained before the date of the power. 15 M.L.T. 337=23 I.C. 99. Power-of-attorney should be construed strictly. 23 M.L.J. 595=17 I.C. 139. A power enabling an agent to carry on the business of a firm does not entitle him to sue for dissolution of the firm. A suit so instituted should not be dismissed but should be allowed to be amended by requiring the principal himself to sign the plaint. 25 I.C. 140=7 Bur.L.T. 202.

CONNECTED ACTS.—An agent authorized to receive money for the principal may be presumed to be also authorized to do every lawful and necessary thing connected with it. 37 I.C. 442=3 O.L.J. 623 [43 C. 527 (P.C.) Ref.]. Where a person has been authorised to receive refund of octroi duty from the Municipal Board cannot be deemed to have also the authority to adopt any legal process for recovering the amount. A right to receive is different from a right to recover. 1939 A.L.J. 897=1939 A.W.R. (H.C.) 631=1939 All. 623.

INSURANCE.—A commission agent purchasing goods insuring them under instructions from the merchant, has an insurable interest in the goods and can recover the money under the policy in case of loss. 36 B. 484=12 I.C. 897. It is quite possible that an agent might make himself responsible for loss or damage to goods belonging to his principal. There is nothing in law which would prevent an agent undertaking to be an insurer of goods consigned to his care provided that there is consideration for that insurance and this consideration would have to be something outside the terms of the employment at the ordinary rate. 1930 R. 332 (2).

LANDLORD AND AGENT.—Where the agent of a landlord has no authority to create pecuniary liability on his behalf, no personal decree could be passed against the landlord. 16 I.C. 990. The question of the authority of an agent to bind his landlord has to be decided on the facts of each case. 35 I.C. 81.

POST OFFICE.—Where the person entitled to payment, requests the payment by means of a money order, the Post Office is the agent of that person and not of the sender. (Cf.) Postal rules which allow the sender of a money order or other article to recall it before actual delivery. 33 I.C. 723=14 A.L.J. 236.

ILLEGAL OR VOID CONTRACT.—Agent receiving money on principal's behalf under illegal or void contract is liable to account to the principal; also an agent making a profit without making full disclosure to his principal is liable to account to him for the same. 19 I.C. 161=15 C.W.N. 408.

Sub-Agents.

190. An agent cannot lawfully employ another to perform acts which he has expressly or impliedly undertaken to perform personally, unless by the ordinary custom of trade a sub-agent may, or from the nature of the agency, a sub-agent must, be employed.

"Sub-agent" defined.

191. A "sub-agent" is a person employed by, and acting under the control of, the original agent in the business of the agency.

192. Where a sub-agent is properly appointed the principal is, so far as regards third persons, represented by the sub-agent, and is bound by and responsible for his acts as if he were an agent originally appointed by the principal.

The agent is responsible to the principal for the acts of the sub-agent :

Sub-agent's responsibility.

The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent, but not to the principal, except in case of fraud or wilful wrong.

193. Where an agent, without having authority to do so, has appointed a person to act as a sub-agent, the agent stands towards such person in the relation of a principal to an agent, and is responsible for his acts both to the principal and to third persons ; the principal is not represented by or responsible for the acts of the person so employed, nor is that person responsible to the principal.

NOTES.

Sec. 189.—S. 189 is meant to protect the agent, if for the purposes of safeguarding the interests of his principal, the agent does certain acts without any express instructions from the principal. In such a case the agent is exempted from all liability, if his acts are the acts of a man of ordinary prudence and are performed at the time of an emergency. The agents are ordinarily expected to carry out the instructions of their principals in all respects. If, however, the goods are perishable or perishing, the agent is entitled to deviate from his instructions as to the time or price at which they are to be sold. If the principal thereafter sues the agent for damages as a result of his selling the goods without the principal's instructions, the agent is protected under S. 189 of the Act. 42 P. 195. In selecting such agent for his principal, an agent is bound to exercise the same amount of discretion as a man of ordinary prudence would exercise in his own case; and if he does this he is not responsible to the principal for the acts or negligence of the agent so selected.

(b) A consigns goods to B, a merchant, for sale. B, in due course, employs an auctioneer in good credit to sell the goods of A, and allows the auctioneer to receive the proceeds of the sale. The auctioneer afterwards becomes insolvent without having accounted for the proceeds. B is not responsible to A for the proceeds.

Ratification.

Right of person as to acts done for him without his authority. Effect of ratification.

196. Where acts are done by one person on behalf of another, but without his knowledge or authority, he may elect to ratify or to disown such acts. If he ratify them, the same effects will follow as if they had been performed by his authority.

NOTES.

special circumstances it is permissible for the agent to appoint a substitute who would be responsible to the principal in the same way as the agent himself. Where a banking concern is appointed an agent with very wide powers in the matter of letting out certain buildings in the city, it can well be inferred that the concern had authority to appoint another to act for the principal and the person so appointed is accountable to the principal. 1939 A.L.J. 37=1939 All. 188. In spite of the existence of S. 194 of the Contract Act, branch banks do not recognise nor carry out instructions given by clients of other branches unless they have been definitely instructed to do so; as an act of courtesy, one branch may try to oblige the client of another branch by making enquiries, etc. For practical purposes and so far as their obligations are concerned the branches do not recognise any liability whatsoever to carry out instructions from the clients of other branches unless these be properly conveyed through the branch bank with which the client deals. This is a universal practice and the Court should take cognisance of it. 102 I.C. 788=1927 L. 562 (2). On this section, see also 120 I.C. 284=1929 L. 536; 121 I.C. 636=1930 C. 10; 14 P. 560.

Sec. 196.—Effective ratification necessarily involves knowledge of all the material facts on the part of him who ratifies. 1930 P.C. 278 (P.C.). S. 196 refers to contracts which have been entered into by persons on behalf of others without their knowledge or authority but not to contracts which have been expressly forbidden by law. An option of ratification under the section can be held to be capable of being exercised within a reasonable time of the act purported to be ratified and not after the expiry of the period for which the option was open or long after the expiry of the period, if any, for which the contract was to relate. I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 928=50 L.W. 440=1939 Mad. 957. The right of a principal to ratify an unauthorised act of his agent under S. 196 is confined to cases where the agent purports to act on the principal's behalf and not where the agent acts on his own behalf without authority, or contrary to principal's directions and on behalf of the principal. 30 M.L.J. 497=34 I.C. 760. Where the unauthorized act of the agent is ratified by the principal the ratification takes effect retrospectively so as to validate the transaction originally entered into. 8 Mys.L.J. 240.

Sec. 197.—Ratification implies an intention to ratify on the part of the principal; and any act of his can be relied upon as amounting to ratification, only if done after he had full knowledge of the material facts ratified. Thus what the principal says under a mistaken impression cannot amount to ratification. 102 I.C. 561=1927 M. 478; 1930 P.C. 278=60 M.L.J. 149 (P.C.). See also 155 I.C. 180=1935 O.W.N. 490=1935 O. 305. Ratification cannot be inferred from a mere omission to repudiate in terms an unauthorized transaction. 52 I.C. 414=10 L.W. 33. See also 24 C. 469. Sec. 200.—The provisions of the Contract Act relating to agency are not meant to be exhaustive. Neither S. 200 nor the other provisions of the Act relating to ratification affect the general principle of the law of agency that the general rule as to ratification would not apply when it would affect the rights of other parties. No fresh agency is created but the old agency is continued. 31 M.L.J. 685=56 I.C. 804. An agency terminates when the agent hands over charge to another in obedience to a telegram from his principal revoking his authority but his liability in respect of acts done as agent continues. 39 M. 376=28 M.L.J. 140. Where there is no revocation of authority or any renunciation of the business of the agency by the agent there is no termination of the agency. 132 I.C. 43=1931 A.L. J. 225=1931 A. 372. On this point, see also 39 M. 693=31 I.C. 583=29 M.L.J. 788. Imperfect partition of village—Lambardar's powers whether affected. 19 I.C. 549=9 N.L. R. 46. When once the Court takes charge of the property in a suit by the appointment of a Receiver or otherwise, rights of management or service which other persons may possess by virtue of any contract with the original owners will cease. But this is not an absolute rule of law but will depend upon the circumstances of each case. Where the agent of the original owner is appointed as the receiver and he works as an agent of his master notwithstanding his appointment as receiver, his agency does not cease. 1936 M.W.N. 932=1936 M. 980. Where three persons who are the partners of a firm execute a power-of-attorney in favour of another constituting the latter the agent of the firm and giving him power to take any legal action or proceeding in connection with the firm and to sign any plaint, etc., on behalf of the firm, the fact that one of the partners subsequently becomes an insolvent does not have the effect of terminating the agency so created. No such intention can be read into the document. I.L.R. (1937) N. 28.

Agent's Duty to Principal.

211. An agent is bound to conduct the business of his principal according to the directions given by the principal, or, in the absence of any such directions, according to the custom which prevails in doing business of the same kind at the place where the agent conducts such business. When the agent acts otherwise, if any loss be sustained, he must make it good to his principal, and, if any profit accrues, he must account for it.

(b) B, a broker, in whose business it is not the custom to sell on credit, sells goods of A on credit to C, whose credit at the time was very high. C, before payment, becomes insolvent. B must make good the loss to A.

212. An agent is bound to conduct the business of the agency with as much skill as is generally possessed by persons engaged in similar business, unless the principal has notice of his want of skill. The agent is always bound to act with reasonable diligence, and to use such skill as he possesses; and to make compensation

Skill and diligence required from agent.

NOTES.

Sec. 211.—An agent who negligently omits to comply with the clear instructions of his principal must be regarded as guilty of gross negligence and whether he acts as gratuitous agent or not he is responsible to the principal for any loss caused by that negligence. 134 I.C. 577=1931 L. 302. (Ibid.) Even under the Indian Law the usage to be binding requires specific pleading and strict proof of its existence. (Ibid.) As to effect of agent's infringement of principal's instructions, see 86 I.C. 567=1924 L. 332; 134 I.C. 577=1931 L. 302. Commission agent authorised

UNDISCLOSED PRINCIPAL—RIGHT TO PROCEED AGAINST AGENT FOR DAMAGES.—Although S. 231 gives to an undisclosed principal an option to proceed for damages against the party contracting with the agent, there is nothing in that section which can be said to debar him from seeking his remedy against the agent under S. 211, if he can bring his case within the purview of that section. 61 C. 504=152 I.C. 33=1934 C. 721. Where in the case of a contract entered into by an agent for an undisclosed principal, the other contracting party refuses to perform the contract for the reason that the agent has failed to carry out the conditions of a separate contract made with him, S. 211 is not applicable, and the proper section under which the principal can proceed is under S. 231 for damages against the other contracting party. 61 C. 504.

SUB-AGENT.—If an agent appoints a sub-agent he is bound to exercise the same amount of discretion as an ordinary prudent man would exercise. 129 I.C. 287.

Sec. 212.—See 18 C. 574; 13 C.W.N. 59; 1925 M. 46=47 M.L.J. 312; 43 C.L.J. 479=97 I.C. 200=1926 C. 988. Agent guilty of negligence must make compensation to principal for direct consequences of neglect. 120 I.C. 529=1929 L. 280. A commission agent who was authorized to realise amounts on behalf of his principal collected as much as he could from a merchant who had dealings with his principal and gave credit for the balance. The merchant became an insolvent subsequently. Held, that under the circumstances the agent was not negligent but that he had acted as to his principal in respect of the direct consequences of his own neglect, want of skill or misconduct, but not in respect of loss or damage which are indirectly or remotely caused by such neglect, want of skill or misconduct.

Illustrations.

(a) A, a merchant in Calcutta, has an agent, B, in London to whom a sum of money is paid on A's account, with orders to remit. B retains the money for a considerable time. A, in consequence of not receiving the money, becomes insolvent. B is liable for the money and interest from the day on which it ought to have been paid, according to the usual rate, and for any further direct loss as e.g., by variation of rate of exchange—but not further.

(b) A, an agent for the sale of goods, having authority to sell on credit, sells to B, on credit, without making the proper and usual enquiries as to the solvency of B. B at the time of such sale, is insolvent. A must make compensation to his principal in respect of any loss thereby sustained.

(c) A, an insurance-broker, employed by B to effect an insurance on a ship, omits to see that the usual clauses are inserted in the policy. The ship is afterwards lost. In consequence of the omission of the clauses nothing can be recovered from the underwriters. A is bound to make good the loss to B.

(d) A, a merchant in England, directs B, his agent at Bombay, who accepts the agency to send him 100 bales of cotton by a certain ship. B having it in his power to send the cotton, omits to do so. The ship arrives safely in England. Soon after her arrival the price of cotton rises. B is bound to make good to A the profit which he might have made by the 100 bales of cotton at the time the ship arrived, but not any profit he might have made by the subsequent rise.

Agent's accounts.

213. An agent is bound to render proper accounts to his principal on demand.

NOTES.

prudently and wisely on his principal's behalf as he would have done in his own case. 1933 L. 841=149 I.C. 688.

Sec. 213.—A principal is entitled to a final account between himself and the agent on the termination of the agency and the agent can rely upon casual accounts settled between themselves as being prima facie correct. 13 I.C. 642; 1925 L. 100. Agent must support his accounts by proper vouchers. 6 C. 754; 43 C. 248; 52 C. 766=90 I.C. 944. Agent's duty is analogous to that of trustee. 7 C. 627. Where a person employs an agent to do acts for him at a particular place, the legitimate inference is that the contract is to be performed at that place. S. 213 of the Contract Act cannot be read as laying down that the agent should render accounts at the principal's place. The principal has to demand accounts at the agent's place of business. A suit by a principal against his agent for accounts should therefore be instituted at a Court having jurisdiction over the place of business of the agent. 1940 Mad. 588=(1940) 1 M. L.J. 558. The mere fact that the principal wrote the word 'seen' on the account book does not imply that the agent had rendered account and the principal had satisfied himself of the correctness of the entries in the book which he had seen. It is the duty of the agent to prove what had happened on the occasion in question. 1934 A.L.J. 453=1934 A. 553. There is no corresponding obligation to account on the part of the principal. 7 C. 654; 1925 L. 100. While the principal is under no statutory obligation to render accounts to his agent, he does become an accounting party in special circumstances or under trade usage or a definite contract. The right to claim a statement of accounts is an unusual form of relief only granted in certain specific cases and is only to be claimed when the relationship between the parties is such that this is the only relief which will enable the claimant to satisfactorily assert his legal rights. (60 P.R. 1899; 1925 L. 100 and 1927 L. 701, Ref.) Where the plaintiffs who were insurance agents were to be remunerated by a commission calculated on the premia paid on all policies effected or introduced through them. Held, as the plaintiffs cannot certainly know which of these policies have lapsed, matured or been forfeited they are entitled to call on the defendants for rendition of accounts as this is the only relief which will enable the plaintiffs to satisfactorily assert their rights. 144 I.C. 505=1933 L. 483. Accounts, suit for—Legal representative of agent—Liability to account—Onus. 47 I.C. 371=28 C.L.J. 492. The death of an agent during the pendency of a suit against him for accounts does not exonerate his legal representative from all liability to the principal. 49 I.C. 371. Rendering an account of his agency and account for money received by him, is not confined merely by rendering of accounts of what has been done with the money, but includes also the payment of any balance which might be found due upon taking accounts. 21 C.W.N. 591=40 I.C. 359=25 C.L.J. 335. The obligation of an agent towards his principal does not terminate merely in submission of account papers. 43 C. 248=19 C.W.N. 1070. He is bound to explain those papers and if on accounts taken it is found that he has in his hands money which belongs to his principal, he is bound to pay that sum. (Ibid.) The liability to render an account cannot be enforced against the legal representatives of an agent. The liability is personal, and the legal representatives need not render account in the same sense in which the agent himself might have been called upon to do. 17 C.W.N. 5=16 I.C. 742=16 C.L.J. 282. See also 47

Agent's duty to communicate with principal.

214. It is the duty of an agent, in cases of difficulty, to use all reasonable diligence in communicating with his principal, and in seeking to obtain his instructions.

215. If an agent deals on his own account in the business of the agency, without first obtaining the consent of his principal and acquainting him with all material circumstances which have come to his own knowledge on the subject, the principal may repudiate the transaction, if the case shows either that any material fact has been dishonestly concealed from him by the agent, or that the dealings of the agent have been disadvantageous to him.

NOTES.

I.C. 371=28 C.L.J. 492. The remedy of the principal after the death of his agent is to sue the representatives for any loss he may have suffered by the negligence, misconduct, misfeasance or malfeasance of his agent. 17 C.W.N. 5=16 I.C. 742. Agent's heirs—Liability to account. 16 C.W.N. 1042=16 I.C. 414=16 C.L.J. 288. In a suit for accounts against the agent, the mere production by the agent of his accounts would not amount to proof of same. 11 I.C. 161=15 C.W.N. 930. The audit of a company's accounts does not preclude it from calling upon the agents for rendition, though it closes the account between the shareholders and the directorate in the absence of fraud or mistake in connection with the audit. 42 I.C. 375=86 P.L.R. 1917. Where money is advanced to an agent for work to be done on the understanding that a bill is to be sent subsequently the agent must account for the money. 62 I.C. 503=13 L.W. 366. Suit by principal against agent for moneys unaccounted for is maintainable. 44 M. 214=39 M.L.J. 586. An agent is bound to pay interest on the sum of money retained by him and due to the principal from the date of demand therefor by the principal. 33 M.L.J. 468=6 L.W. 520=42 I.C. 219. An agent by retaining money due to the principal cannot be held to have committed a fraud. 33 M.L.J. 468. A secretary of a fund is only an agent and not a trustee though he himself is a director and recovers amounts due to the fund. 33 M.L.J. 468. Where the defendant has been let into possession of property as agent of the plaintiff, it is not open to the defendant in a suit for accounts against him to challenge the title of the plaintiff (his principal) to receive the moneys which have been realised by the defendant who was appointed as the agent for this purpose by the plaintiff. The mere fact that the defendant is under a suspicion and is working under the supervision of other agents deputed by the principal would not relieve him from liability to account. An agent under suspicion or under supervision is still an agent and must be held liable to account on proof that prima facie he has made realisations himself even in the period of suspicion or while subject to supervision. 196 I.C. 641=1941 P.W.N. 565.

AGENT OF SEVERAL PRINCIPALS—LIABILITY

TO ACCOUNT.—When an agent is appointed by more than one principal he is liable to them jointly. He is not bound to account to them separately to any one of them and if he does so, he is not thereby absolved from his liability to others. 145 I.C. 178=1933 L. 93.

Sec. 214.—Principle of section. 105 I.C. 836=4 O.W.N. 1061.

Commission agent authorised to sell goods at a particular place has no discretion to take them to another place for sale. 1927 M.W.N. 578.

Sec. 215.—Section is only an enabling one. See 34 B. 292; 15 M. 889; 43 M.L.J. 444. Section based on principle that no one can have an interest against his duty. 7 Bom. H.C.R. 90; 29 B. 730; 1927 S. 195. An agent stands in a fiduciary relation towards his principal. He cannot enter into any transaction in which his personal interest conflicts with his duty towards his principal. He cannot make any secret profit for himself while selling his principal's property or making settlement for damages on behalf of his principal. 9 L. 7. When an agent uses his debt due to his principal to obtain property for himself, he realizes that debt on the principal's behalf and is liable to account for the same. 25 I.C. 88=12 A.L.J. 463. Dealing by agent in the business of the agency without the knowledge of the principal—Contract is voidable at the option of principal—English and Indian law. 43 M.L.J. 444; 45 M. 1005=1922 M. 497. See also 42 I.C. 357 (M.); 102 I.C. 366=1927 S. 195; 7 R. 61; 22 S.L.R. 409. Even apart from S. 215 the dishonest concealment by the plaintiff of the identity of the contracting party constitutes fraud and entitles the defendants to avoid the contract. 43 M.L.J. 444=45 M. 1005. Where the plaintiff's company were managing agents of the defendant's company to which the former supplied goods, the plaintiff's company was held not entitled to make any profits on the goods supplied to their principal, the defendant company. 26 I.C. 478=8 L.B.R. 102. AGENT DEALING AS PRINCIPAL—BURDEN OF PROVING THAT TRANSACTION IS NOT DISADVANTAGEOUS

(a) A directs B to sell A's estate. B buys the estate for himself in the name of C. A, on discovering that B has bought the estate for himself, may repudiate the sale, if he can show that B has dishonestly concealed any material fact, or that the sale has been disadvantageous to him.

(b) A directs B to sell A's estate. B, on looking over the estate before selling it, finds a mine on the estate which is unknown to A. B informs A that he wishes to buy the estate for himself, but conceals the discovery of the mine. A allows B to buy, in ignorance of the existence of the mine. A on discovering that B knew of the mine at the time he bought the estate, may either repudiate or adopt the sale at his option.

Principal's right to benefit gained by agent dealing on his own account in business of agency.

216. If an agent, without the knowledge of principal deals in the business of the agency on his own account instead of on account of his principal, the principal is entitled to claim from the agent any benefit which may have resulted to him from the transaction.

Illustration.

A directs B, his agent, to buy a certain house for him. B tells A it cannot be bought, and buys the house for himself. A may, on discovering that B has bought the house, compel him to sell it to A at the price he gave for it.

217. An agent may retain out of any sums received on account of the principal in the business of the agency, all moneys due to himself in respect of advances made or expenses properly incurred by him in conducting such business, and also such remuneration as may be payable to him for acting as agent.

NOTES.

DISADVANTAGEOUS TO PRINCIPAL.—An agent who, while acting as an agent, himself deals as a principal without the knowledge of the other party is acting contrary to the spirit of Ss. 211 and 214. If there be a question upon whom the burden of proof must lie, that burden ought to be laid upon the party who has to justify an apparent deviation from the ordinary rule by which he ought to be guided. Therefore the burden of proving that the transaction is not disadvantageous to the principal lies upon the agent. A transaction which necessarily puts the agent's duty in conflict with the interest of his principal must be presumed to be disadvantageous to a principal who is not informed of the fact. 1935 S. 38.

Sec. 216: SCOPE OF SECTION EXPLAINED.—S. 216 in effect imposes in the nature of a penalty upon an agent, who acts improperly by converting himself into a principal, without making due disclosure, and the operation of the section does not depend in any way upon the principal having suffered any loss. This liability of the agent to account for the profits is not limited to the case where the agent acquires the goods after the date of the agency. The agent is liable even if he acquired the goods in question before the date of the agency. What is the measure of damages in such a case? Where the goods dealt with by the agent are goods having a ready value in the market, the profit which the agent makes out of the transaction must be the difference between the price at which he sells the goods to the principal, and the market value at that date. The true principal is that the profit made by the agent is the difference between the price at which he supplies the principal, and the true value of the goods at that date; and where goods have a market value, that market value must be taken as the true value. If one were dealing with goods which had no market value, then it would be necessary by other means to ascertain the true value, and in such a case it might be that the price at which the agent had himself brought shortly before the date of the transaction could be taken to represent the value. But the difference between the price at which the agent bought and the price at which he sold to the principal is not the measure of the profit which he makes by selling his own goods since he may have made a legitimate profit on his original purchase before any question of agency arose. 150 I.C. 467=36 Bom. L.R. 68=1934 B. 86. It is the duty of an agent not merely to do nothing to injure the interests of his principal, but to do all in his power to further them. Sec. 219: BROKERAGE—WHEN BECOMES DUE.—The broker's duty is simply to bring the parties together, to arrange a transaction and to get the contract completed. The performance of the contract is a matter between the promisor and promisee. The due fulfilment of conditions is not the sine qua non for the earning of the commission. He need not look to the fulfilment of the conditions. 1935 Pesh. 56=156 I.C. 131. See also 24 Bom.L.R. 847=1922 B. 433. Where a contract is arrived at between a house-owner and a broker for finding a purchaser, the house-owner agreeing to pay Rs. 5 per cent. on the purchase-money as remuneration, the broker is entitled to receive his fee when the sale of the house has actually taken place in favour of the purchaser, upon his finding the purchaser, even though the negotiations or completion of the sale between the buyer and seller may not have taken place through the direct intervention of the broker or commission agent. The test in such cases is whether the vendor and the purchaser were brought together by the agent acting in the matter either for one or the other or for both. Applicability of principle of quantum meruit considered. 1930 A.L.J. 673=124 I.C. 35=1930 A. 545.

Sec. 220.—There is no warrant for holding that an agent's claim to remuneration is not affected by his misconduct unless it is also shown that the principal has incurred loss thereby. Nor is it correct to hold that even where loss had been caused to the principal it would be sufficient if the agent is directed to make good the loss; the fact that the agent makes good the loss would not entitle him to his full remuneration. To so hold would be to ignore the provisions of S. 220 of the Contract Act. It is clear that the payment of damages caused by the misconduct of the agent is in addition to the forfeiture of commission or remuneration, and the forfeiture of commission is the result of misconduct and not of loss arising from misconduct. A principal is entitled to have an honest agent and it is only the honest agent who is entitled to any commission. If the agent does not perform his appropriate duties, or if he is guilty of gross negligence or gross misconduct, or gross unskilfulness in the business of his agency, he would not only become liable to his principal for any damages which he may sustain thereby, but also forfeit all his commissions. 1940 Mad. 299=1939 M.W.N. 1046. A conveyance purporting to have been executed by two persons as agents of a woman whose name nowhere appears in the document and where the agents themselves have not signed it as such, is not one which would bind the woman. 12 I.C. 206=4 Bur.L.T. 255. It cannot be gainsaid that it is misconduct on an agent's part to deal on his own account in the business of the agency without first obtaining the consent of his principal and acquainting him with all material circumstances. An agent is, therefore, not entitled under S. 220 to any remuneration in respect of a contract of sale in which he himself is the undisclosed principal although purporting to act as agent. The fact that the principal did not repudiate the contract although he knew before performance that the agent was in fact the buyer is immaterial, as the principal cannot thereby be held to have acknowledged the claims of the agent both as an agent and purchaser. S. 63 is inapplicable to such a case as owing to the limitations imposed by S. 215 on the principal's right to repudiate, there could be no question of his electing to accept a satisfaction from the agent other than the performance of the contract according to its terms. 41 C.W.N. 460=I.L.R. Sec. 221: AGENT'S LIEN—REQUISITES FOR—PROPERTY HELD FOR SPECIAL PURPOSE.—Property held by an agent for a special purpose cannot be subjected to a lien the existence of which is inconsistent with such purpose. In order that an agent may have a valid lien on property in his hands, the following conditions inter alia must be satisfied: (1) there should be no arrangement inconsistent with the retention of such property in the exercise of his lien; (2) the property on which the right to lien is claimed should belong to the principal to the knowledge of the agent; (3) it should have been received by the agent in his capacity as agent during the course of his ordinary duties as agent; and (4) the agent should be holding the property for and on behalf of his principal and not for and on account of any known third party. 1933 S. 235, See 31 M. 123; 89 I.C. 409.

Sec. 222.—S. 222 is founded on the well-recognised principle that every agent has a right against his principal founded upon an implied contract to be indemnified against all losses and liabilities and to reimburse all expenses incurred by him in the exercise of his authority. Where an agent by contracting renders himself liable for the price of goods bought on behalf of his principal, the property in the goods as between the principal and agent vests in the agent and does not pass to the principal until he pays for the goods and the agent has the same rights with regard to the disposal of the goods and with regard to stopping them in transit as he would have had if the relation between him and his principal had been that of seller and buyer. If therefore the principal refuses to pay, the agent is entitled to re-sell the goods and hold the principal liable for any deficiency arising from the sale. The deficiency would be the measure of the loss sustained by the agent in the transaction, in Evidence of custom or usage incidental to contract. 35 I.C. 3=20 C.W.N. 365. It is well settled that an agent can perform acts on behalf of his principal either disclosing or concealing the fact that he is an agent. There is nothing in S. 92, Evidence Act, to prevent an agent in a suit for compensation from his principal from proving that contracts entered into by him were on the principal's behalf. The equitable right of the agent to be indemnified cannot however be so exercised as to make a profit out of the indemnity. 26 S.L.R. 85. A broker who gives to the buyer a note in the form "bought by your order and for your account from our principals" is not more than intermediary and was not an agent of the undisclosed principal for sale to make him liable under the section. 19 C.W.N. 623=42 C. 1050. Auctioneer is different from an ordinary agent, and can sue in his name for price of goods sold at auction. 20 S.L.R. 287=92 I.C. 394=1926 S. 6. See also 1941 A.W.R. (H.C.) 365. S. 230 (1) is rebuttable. 67 I.C. 157. The mere fact that the principal is abroad does not absolve the personal liability of the agent if the other contracting party looked to him alone for performance. 67 I.C. 157. See also 65 I.C. 473; 32 Bom.L.R. 1336. To make an agent personally liable under a contract it must be clearly established that the agent had not disclosed the name of his principal. 65 I.C. 473. An agent who describes himself as such, may still be contracting in his personal capacity but failure to specify his capacity, as an agent in signing a contract does not raise any such presumption when the terms of the contract itself are clearly to the contrary. 65 I.C. 468=2 L.L.J. 374. When an agent enters into a contract he may sue thereon in his own name, if he has an interest in the contract. 55 I.C. 992 (24 M. 130, foll.) 27 Bom.L.R. 1168=1925 B. 547. Ordinarily the words "Pacca Arhtia" convey that the so-called agent is acting as a principal on behalf of the person with whom he buys or sells the commodities in question. There can therefore be no question of the application of S. 230 of the Contract Act in his case. 177 I.C. 985=1938 Lah. 253. Hindu joint family business—Loan advanced by manager—Suit by manager alone without stating that suit is on behalf of family—Maintainability. See (1938) 1 M.L.J. 526. On a contract signed by the agent without disclosing his principal the agent is personally liable. Though an agent has authority to borrow money for the business of the firm, yet if the power-of-attorney expressly prohibits the agent from borrowing money, the principal is not liable. The fact that the money borrowed was applied for the purposes of the firm may give rise to a cause of action between the principal and the agent inter se but would not enable the third party to sue the principal on that account because as between them there is no privity of contract. (2 L. 253, Dist.; 14 C.P.L.R. 22, Foll.) 27 N.L.R. 324. See also 130 I.C. 548=1931 S. 4. An agent is not entitled to personally enforce a contract entered into by him on behalf of his principal, nor is he personally bound by such contract. 52 I.C. 179. See also 119 I.C. 731=1929 L. 590. A person contracting with an agent for an undisclosed principal can sue either the agent or the principal or both. 59 I.C. 965; 2 L.L.J. 374=65 I.C. 468; 39 C. 802=18 C.

231. If an agent makes a contract with a person who neither knows, nor has reason to suspect, that he is an agent, his principal may require the performance of the contract; but the other contracting party has, as against the principal, the same rights as he would have had as against the agent if the agent had been principal.

Rights of parties to a contract made by agent not disclosed.

If the principal discloses himself before the contract is completed the other contracting party may refuse to fulfil the contract, if he can show that, if he had known who was the principal in the contract, or if he had known that the agent was not a principal, he would not have entered into the contract.

232. Where one man makes a contract with another, neither knowing nor

NOTES.

W.N. 263. Where the plaintiff merely discloses a contract between the plaintiffs and the agent of a disclosed principal, the agent cannot be sued. If there is a matter of doubt as to the liability of the agent or the principal in a contract the usual course is to sue both defendants alleging that the principal was the principal and in the alternative suing the agent for breach of the warranty of authority. 150 I.C. 671=1934 P. 269. On this section, see also 30 L.W. 1028=1929 P.C. 254=57 M.L.J. 628 (P.C.). Under the ordinary law of contract enacted in S. 230 of the Contract Act, if an agent acts on behalf of his principal, the principal being disclosed, a creditor who lends money to the agent is entitled to sue the principal. But the law under the Negotiable Instruments Act, is an exception to that rule. S. 28 of the Negotiable Instruments Act requires that to make the principal liable it must be clearly indicated on the face of the instrument that the agent is acting on behalf of such principal. Where a promissory note is executed by the agent alone, and there is no suggestion of any indication on the face of the note that the principal is the real debtor, the creditor, in order to bind the principal and make him liable, must sue on the loan and not on the instrument. But when the suit is based on the note, and the agent neither alleges nor proves any facts which would entitle him to take advantage of the exception under S. 28 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, e.g., inducement by the plaintiff to sign the bill on the footing that he (the agent) would not be liable, the agent cannot escape liability. 18 Pat.L.T. 337=1937 P.W.N. 344=1937 Pat. 428, on this section, see also 1939 Lah. 825. Where an agent enters into a contract as such, if he has an interest in the contract, he may sue in his own name, the agent being in such a case virtually a principal to the extent of his interest in the contract. 1938 Lah. 673. Where a judgment-debtor against whom the decree-holder had obtained six decrees paid some money to the decree-holder's pleader in part payment of the decrees and had the execution stayed for a certain period, but on failure of the judgment-debtor to pay the decretal dues in full within that period writs of attachment were executed against him resulting in payment of five of the decrees in full, and the pleader thereafter certified in Court the money paid to him as having satisfied the sixth decree in which the judgment-debtor was only one of two judgment-debtors, in a suit by the judgment-debtor against the pleader for the recovery of the amount paid to him. Held, (i) that the money having been paid to the pleader as agent on behalf of the principal, viz., decree-holder, the suit was not maintainable against the pleader alone; (ii) that the money having been paid in part payment of the decrees, the pleader did not act wrongly in appropriating it to the unsatisfied decree. 42 C.W.N. 1263.

Sec. 231.—Under S. 231 a principal can, as against the agent claim the full benefit of the contract entered by the agent in his own name, and as against the party contracting with the agent, the principal is bound by the equities arising between the agent and the contracting party. 26 I.C. 822=27 M.L.J. 501 (3 I.C. 801, Ref. to). See also 40 C. 335; 10 Bom.L.R. 306 (Partners). Where in the case of a contract entered into by an agent for an undisclosed principal, the other contracting party refuses to perform the contract for the reason that the agent has failed to carry out the conditions of a separate contract made with him, S. 211 of the Contract Act is not applicable, and the proper section under which the principal can proceed is under S. 231 for damages against the other contracting party. 61 C. 504=152 I.C. 33=1934 C. 721. Although S. 231 of the Contract Act gives to an undisclosed principal an option to proceed for damages against the party contracting with the agent, there is nothing in that section which can be said to debar him from seeking his remedy against the agent under S. 211, if he can bring his case within the purview of that section. 61 C. 504=152 I.C. 33=1934 C. 721. Where a railway receipt for goods consigned for transit is in the name of an agent, the real owner is entitled to sue for their value, if the goods are lost. 92 I.C. 1007. 234. When a person who has made a contract with an agent induces the agent to act upon the belief that the principal only will be held liable, or induces the principal to act upon the belief that the agent only will be held liable, he cannot afterwards hold liable the agent or principal respectively.

Consequences of inducing agent or principal to act on belief that principal or agent will be held exclusively liable.

235. A person untruly representing himself to be the authorized agent of another, and thereby inducing a third person to deal with him as such agent, is liable, if his alleged employer does not ratify his acts, to make compensation to the other in respect of any loss or damage which he has incurred by so dealing.

NOTES.

Sec. 233.—Section gives the party who is dealing with an agent who is personally liable a double form of election. He can sue both the principal and agent jointly or sue one of them. If he sues one, a suit against the other will be barred. 40 I.C. 194 = 19 Bom.L.R. 370. The liability of a principal and agent is not joint but alternative. A person dealing with a principal through his agent may at his election sue either, or he may sue both of them alternatively in a case where he is not sure against whom his remedy lies but he cannot get judgment against both of them jointly, as that would turn a liability which is mutually exclusive into a joint liability. Sec. 235.—The basis of an action under S. 235 is the implied warranty by the professing agent that he had the authority to act. The measure of damages must accordingly in substance be what benefit the other party would have had from the contract if the representation that he was the authorised agent had been true. 42 C.W.N. 116 = I.L.R. Sec. 236: SCOPE OF SECTION.—S. 236 is not restricted to cases where the agent purports to act for a named principal. If a person purports to act as agent for an undisclosed principal and there is no undisclosed principal in fact, S. 236 applies and he cannot sue on the contract. (34 C. 628, Rel. on.) 1933 S. 207. S. 236 does not enact that the contract in circumstances mentioned in that section is void; it provides Person falsely contracting as agent not entitled to performance.

236. A person with whom a contract has been entered into in the character of agent is not entitled to require the performance of it if he was in reality acting, not as agent, but on his own account.

237. When an agent has, without authority, done acts or incurred obligations to third persons on behalf of his principal, the principal is bound by such acts or obligations if he has by his words or conduct induced such third persons to believe that such acts and obligations were within the scope of the agent's authority.

that the alleged agent cannot require its performance. It follows that since the contract is enforceable by one of the parties and not enforceable by the other, it is a voidable contract. So where B signed an indent in favour of A whom he knew to be only an agent and the indent contained a clause providing for reference of disputes to arbitration, in pursuance of which a reference was subsequently made, and an arbitrator was appointed, held, that though the contract was voidable at the option of B, having treated it as valid and taken the chance of an award in his favour, he was estopped from avoiding the contract and objecting to the reference. 1933 S. 207. Sec. 237.—See 18 Bom.L.R. 317; 6 C. W.N. 229. S. 237 has no application unless the relationship of principal and agent is proved to exist between the parties. THE CONVEYANCE OF LAND ACT (XXXI OF 1854).¹

Year.	No.	Short title.	Amendment.
1854	XXXI	The Conveyance of Land Act, 1854.	Repealed in part, XIV of 1870; XIV of 1874; XII of 1876. Repealed in part (locally). IV of 1882.

[16th December, 1854.]

An Act ²[* * * *] to simplify the modes of conveying land in cases to which the English Law is applicable.

WHEREAS it is expedient, in cases to which the English law applies, ²[* * * *] to simplify the modes of conveying land, and to exempt the purchasers of trust property from the liability to see to the application of the purchase money; It is enacted as follows:—

1. [Real actions, fines and recoveries abolished.] Rep. by the Repealing Act, 1870 (XIV of 1870).

2. Every tenant in tail or other owner of an estate of inheritance less than an estate in fee-simple, either at law or in equity, in any lands or hereditaments, not being under any disability, shall have power to dispose of such lands and hereditaments against the issue tail, and all persons whose estates are to take effect after the determination or in defeasance of his own, or to enlarge his said estate into an estate in fee-simple, by any deed declaring an intention so to dispose of the said lands or hereditaments, or to enlarge his estate therein; and every tenant in tail or other owner of an estate of inheritance less than an estate in fee-simple, who shall be under the disability of coverture, shall have power to dispose of or enlarge her said estate in manner aforesaid, by any deed declaring her intention so to do, and acknowledged by her as hereinafter mentioned:

Provided that every disposition under this section shall be subject to the rights of all persons in respect of estates prior to the estate tail or other estate of inheritance which is the subject of such disposition, and the rights of all other persons, except those against whom such disposition is by this Act authorized to be made.

¹ Short title, "The Conveyance of Land Act, 1854." See the Indian Short Titles Act (XIV of 1897). The Act has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except as regards the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act (XV of 1874), S. 3.

² The words "to abolish real actions and also fines and common recoveries and" were repealed by the Repealing Act XVI of 1874.

3. Every married woman who, either alone; or jointly with her husband is possessed of or entitled to any estate or interest in or any power to be exercised over, any lands or hereditaments, which, but for the passing of this Act, she might have disposed of or extinguished by levying a fine, or suffering a recovery, or by joining in either of such assurances, shall have power by deed, to be acknowledged by her as hereinafter mentioned, to dispose of, release, surrender or extinguish any such estate, interest or power, as fully and effectually as if she were an unmarried woman.¹

Married woman, with husband's concurrence, may dispose of her estate by deed acknowledged.

Secs. 2 and 3 to apply to money subject to be invested in land.

4. The provisions of the last two preceding sections shall, so far as circumstances will admit, apply to money subject to be invested in lands or other hereditaments.

5. No deed to be executed by a married woman under the provisions hereinbefore contained shall, so far as regards the interest of such married woman, be valid or effectual unless her husband concur therein, nor unless the deed be acknowledged in manner hereinafter prescribed before a Judge of one of Her Majesty's Supreme Courts, or before a Judge or other sworn officer of the East India Company exercising civil jurisdiction in the place wherein such deed shall be acknowledged, or before some Commissioner appointed either especially for the occasion, or appointed as a permanent Commissioner by one of Her Majesty's said Courts to take such acknowledgments.²

6. If the husband of any married woman, desirous of enlarging, passing or destroying any estate, interest or power, by a deed to be acknowledged by her under this Act, shall be a lunatic, idiot or of unsound mind, whether he shall have been found such by inquisition or not, or from any other cause, shall be incapable of executing a deed, or if his residence shall not be known, or if he shall be in prison, or living apart from his wife either by mutual consent or by sentence of divorce, or in consequence of his being transported beyond the seas, or from any other cause whatever, it shall be lawful for any of Her Majesty's said Courts, by an order to be made in a summary way upon the application of such married woman, and upon such evidence as to the Court shall seem meet, to dispense with the concurrence of her husband in the deed so to be acknowledged; and any deed to be executed or acknowledged by her in pursuance of such order shall (but without prejudice to the rights of her husband as then existing, independently of this Act), be as valid and effectual as if he had concurred therein.³

7. It shall be lawful for any of Her Majesty's said Courts to appoint by its order, under the seal of the Court, to be published in the Official Gazette or otherwise as the Court shall direct, permanent commissioners, either by name, or office, and to appoint from time to time, under special commissions, special commissioners, any one of whom shall be authorized and empowered unless the act is directed to be done before more than one to take the acknowledgment of any deed by any married woman, who, by reason of her place of residence, or ill-health, or other sufficient cause, shall be unable to make such acknowledgment before one of the Judges or other officers described in the preceding section.

8. Every such Judge, officer or commissioner as aforesaid, before he shall receive the acknowledgment by any married woman of any deed to be acknowledged by her under this Act, shall examine her apart from her husband touching her knowledge of such deed, and shall ascertain whether she understands its object, and freely and voluntarily consents to the same, and unless she appears to understand its object, and freely and voluntarily to consent to such deed, he shall not permit her to acknowledge the same, and in such case such deed, so far as relates to the execution thereof by such married woman, shall be void.¹

9. Every Judge, officer or commissioner taking such acknowledgment under this Act shall, at the time of taking the same, sign a memorandum to be endorsed on or written at the foot, or in the margin of such deed, which memorandum shall be to the following effect, namely, "this deed, marked (), was this day produced before me and acknowledged by therein named to be her act and deed, previous to which acknowledgment the said was examined by me separately and apart from her husband, touching her knowledge of the contents of the said deed, and her consent thereto and appeared to understand the same and declared the same to be freely and voluntarily executed by her."²

10. Every deed executed by a married woman and hereby required to be acknowledged shall, so far as regards the interest of such married woman, take effect only from the time of the acknowledgment thereof.

11. It shall not be necessary for any person producing a deed so acknowledged in any Court of Justice to prove the handwriting or authority of the Judge or other officer, or the commissioner taking such acknowledgment, but if such memorandum purports to have been in substance regularly made and signed, the deed shall be presumed to have been duly acknowledged by the party until the contrary is shown.

12. Nothing in this Act contained shall abridge, extend or affect the powers of alienation or disposition which any married woman might have exercised over any property or rights, otherwise than by levying a fine or suffering a recovery, or by joining in one of such assurances before the passing of this Act.

13. In any deed or will executed after this Act comes into operation, and disposing of immovable property situate in [British India]³ wherein contingent estates are limited without the appointment of any trustees to preserve such contingent estates the same shall be, to all intents and purposes, as effectually protected by the law as if such trustees had been duly appointed.

14. Any estate or interest in immovable property, situate within the said territories, whether in possession, remainder or reversion, may, in addition to any other mode of conveyance or release which is now valid, be conveyed, passed or released by a simple deed, whether such deed operate under the ¹Statute of Uses or not.

Estates may be conveyed, etc., by simple deed.

15. No conveyance of any kind shall operate to destroy, impair or affect any estate or interest which the conveying party has no right to destroy, impair or affect or beyond the extent to which he may impair or affect the same.

No conveyance to operate tortiously.

16. It shall not be necessary in any deed relating to immovable property situate within the said territories, to be executed after the passing of this Act, to add words of limitation to heirs, when the intention is to give the absolute interest to a person and his heirs general; but a gift, grant or other conveyance of immovable property to, or in favour of, any person shall be taken to give him the entire and absolute interest in the nature of an estate in fee-simple, unless such construction is rendered inadmissible by the other contents of the deed; and when in any deed or will executed after the passing of this Act any property is given to a person for life or for other freehold interest, and afterwards in the same deed, or will, is limited to his heirs or heir special, the estates shall not unite, but the limitation to the heirs shall be a limitation of an estate to be taken by the heirs by purchase.

Words of limitation not necessary in a deed to give estate by inheritance.

Estate limited to heirs shall not unite with prior life estate.

Bona fide purchaser not required to see to application of trust money.

²17. When any property is sold, the proceeds of which are subject to any trust, the bona fide purchaser of the property shall not in any case be bound to see to the application of the purchase money to the purposes of the trust.

Act to apply only to cases governed by English law.

18. Nothing in this Act contained shall extend to any case to which the English law is not applicable.

PREFATORY NOTE.—The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to the Bill:—

1. 'Legislation is called for not only in order to lay down the fundamental conditions which must be observed but also with a view to giving co-operative societies a corporate existence without resort to the elaborate provisions of the Companies Act; but it is thought that legislation should be confined within the narrowest possible limits. The Bill has therefore, been drawn so as to deal only with those points which the Government consider to be essential, and its provisions have been expressed in simple and general terms, a wide rule-making power being reserved to Local Governments, so that what is felt to be of the nature of an experiment may be tried in each province or part of a province on such lines as seem to afford most promise of success.

2. The adequacy of the existing Act was examined at a Conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies in 1909, and it was held that the Act still remained in many ways unduly restricted, and that it also required certain alterations in detail which had been suggested by experts since 1909. The Conference of Registrars drew up proposals for the amendment of the Act, and after consulting Local Government on the proposals the Government of India have prepared the Bill now published. The chief changes contemplated by the Government of India are four in number:—

(i) The Act of 1904 applies to Societies for the purpose of co-operative credit only and not to Co-operative Societies of other kinds, such as those established for production or distribution. It has in practice been found that the establishment of Credit Societies has led to the founding of other classes of Co-operative Societies also, and it is advisable that the privileges extended by the Act to Co-operative Credit Societies should be extended to those other Societies. It is proposed therefore that the Act as now revised should be made applicable to all classes of Co-operative Societies—[Vide clause 1 (i) and clause 4 of the Bill.]

(ii) In the Act of 1904 Societies were classified according as they were "Urban" or "Rural" and the principle was laid down that as a general rule rural societies should be with unlimited liability. This basis for distinction was adopted, mainly because it represented a classification which has already been recommended and put in force in the initiation of Co-operative Credit Societies in certain parts of India, but even at the time it was criticised as unsuitable by experts, and it has in practice been found artificial and inconvenient. The real distinction is between Societies with limited and those with unlimited liability, and it is proposed in the new Bill to maintain this distinction only while retaining the principle that agricultural Credit Societies must as a general rule be with unlimited liability. (See cl. 4 of the Bill.)

(iii) The Act of 1904 did not contemplate that societies with unlimited liability should distribute profits. It is still felt that such Societies do not represent the best form of Co-operation for agricultural communities, but this form of Society has, in practice, been for some time in existence in several provinces, and Societies of this character, though not of the orthodox type, are recognized to be capable of useful work. Although therefore it is not intended to give them undue encouragement, it is proposed to legalise their existence and to permit an unlimited Society, with the sanction of the Local Government, to distribute profits. (See clause 28 of the Bill.)

(iv) A cardinal principle which is observed in the organisation of Co-operative Societies in Europe is the grouping of such Societies into Unions and then financing by means of Central Banks. This stage of co-operation had not been fully realised or provided for in the Act of 1904, but such grouping of Societies has already been found feasible in most provinces and it is now considered desirable to legalise the formation of Co-operative Credit Societies of which the members shall be other Co-operative Credit Societies. [Vide clauses 5 (1), 6 and 10 (3) of the Bill.]

3. In addition to carrying out the main alterations above described the present Bill contains several other changes in detail and it has been found advisable to recast the Bill in order to improve the drafting and to incorporate the changes now contemplated. The chief alterations, other than those above referred to, are the following:—

Clause 3.—It is proposed to make provision for investing in persons, other than Registrars, the power of a Registrar.

Clause 5.—It is proposed to maintain the existing restrictions as to residence or class as obligatory before registration in the case of Credit Societies and to render the existence of ten members obligatory before registration in the case of all kinds of Co-operative Societies other than those, all the members of which are themselves registered Societies. It is proposed further to give the Registrar the power of decision as to the residence qualification and to place persons of the same occupation on the same footing as persons of the same tribe or class.

Clause 8.—The provision giving conclusive authority to the Registrar's certificate of registration is new.

Clause 14.—It is proposed by this clause to give the Registrar power to conduct an audit by deputy. The previous provision that no charge should be made for audit has been omitted.

Clause 16.—It is proposed to extend from one year to 18 months the term of lien on agricultural products and to permit a lien on articles manufactured from raw materials supplied by or with the help of a registered Society.

Clauses 22 and 23 are based on provisions in the English Industrial and Provident Societies Act. Clause 22 makes the register of members prima facie evidence of the date of commencement and cessation of membership and clause 23 provides for proof of entries in the books of a registered society.

Clause 26.—This clause allows registered societies to invest good securities, and validates investments made prior to the amendment of the law now suggested.

Clause 27.—It is now proposed to make it clear that a registered society is not precluded from receiving deposits from non-members.

Clause 29.—The provision allowing contributions to charities is new.

Clause 30.—The existing provisions have been altered so as to allow a Registrar to conduct an enquiry by deputy.

Clause 31.—The provision allowing a creditor to require an inspection is new. It is based on a similar provision in the Companies Act.

Clause 35.—The provision allowing the Registrar to cancel registration when the number of members becomes less than ten is new.

Clause 37.—Sub-clauses 2 (m) and (t) and 3 are new. The two former allow the Local Government to prescribe returns and the procedure on liquidation, and the latter permits of the delegation of the powers of the Local Government.

Clauses 39 and 40.—The existing section 29 has been recast with a view to making clear the distinction in the power of exemption of the Local Government before and after registration.

S. 50 rep. Act XVII of 1924; Am. Act XXXVIII of 1920.

Declared in force in British Baluchistan (with an addition), Reg. II of 1913, S. 3; in Arakan Hill District, Reg. I of 1916, S. 2.

N.B.—The Act is not in force in Madras, Bombay, and Burma and the Punjab as Special Acts relating to this subject have been passed in those provinces.

THE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT (II OF 1912).¹

[1st March, 1912.]

An Act to amend the Law relating to Co-operative Societies.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to facilitate the formation of Co-operative Societies for the promotion of thrift and self-help among agriculturists, artisans and persons of limited means, and for that purpose to amend the law relating to Co-operative Societies; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

- Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1912; and
 (2) It extends to the whole of British India.

- Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "by-laws" means registered by-laws for the time being in force, and includes a registered amendment of the by-laws:

(b) "committee" means the governing body of a registered society to whom the management of its affairs is entrusted:

(c) "member" includes a person joining in the application for the registration of a society and a person admitted to membership after registration in accordance with the by-laws and any rules:

It has been declared in force under S. 3 of the British Baluchistan Laws Regulation (II of 1913) in British Baluchistan, see Bal. Code.

NOTES.

Sec. 1.—Policy of the Act, see 15 A.L.J. 653=42 I.C. 968=40 A. 89. Policy of the Act is to save persons from protracted expensive and sometimes ruinous litigation in Civil Courts. 1935 L. 631. Act should be strictly construed. 1935 L. 631. The right of the subject to have recourse to ordinary Courts of justice should not be unduly surrounded by restrictions. 1935 L. 631.

Bank registered under this Act—40 per cent. of total liability of, required by Government notification issued under S. 60 of Income-tax Act to be kept in fluid form—

Investment of, in Government securities—Interest on—"Income" or "profits" under Ss. 8 and 10 (1) of Income-tax Act—Liability to income-tax. 56 M.L.J. 481 (F.B.). Effect of Government notification exempting profits of co-operative society from income-tax. (Ibid.) An award against the representative of a deceased debtor of a society affects only the estate of the deceased in his hands but cannot affect him personally. 146 I.C. 565=1933 L. 376.

Sec. 2 (c).—The term "member" is elastic enough to embrace a joint family within the ambit of its meaning and the fact that some of the members thereof were minors does not invalidate the award passed by the Registrar against the joint family. 142 I.C. 487=1933 N. 211. A joint Hindu family can be a member of a Co-operative Society. 48 L.W. 285=1938 Mad. 809= (1938) 2 M.L.J. 186. The fact that the bye-laws of a co-operative society established under the Co-operative Societies Act of 1912 do not expressly state that the membership of the society is open to a Hindu joint family is no justification for holding that a joint family can in no event become

(d) "officer" includes a chairman, secretary, treasurer, member of committee, or other person empowered under the rules or the by-laws to give directions in regard to the business of the society:

(e) "registered society" means a society registered or deemed to be registered under this Act:

(f) "Registrar" means a person appointed to perform the duties of a Registrar of Co-operative Societies under this Act: and

(g) "rules" means rules made under this Act.

Registration.

3. The Provincial Government may appoint a person to be Registrar of Co-operative Societies for the Province or any portion of it, and may appoint persons to assist such Registrar, and may, by general or special order, confer on any such persons all or any of the powers of a Registrar under this Act.

4. Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, a society which has as its object the promotion of the economic interests of its members in accordance with co-operative principles, or a society established with the object of facilitating the operations of such a society, may be registered under this Act with or without limited liability:

Provided that unless the Provincial Government by general or special order otherwise directs—

(1) the liability of a society of which a member is a registered society shall be limited;

(2) the liability of a society of which the object is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, and of which the majority of the members are agriculturists, and of which no member is a registered society, shall be unlimited.

Restrictions on interest of member of Society with limited liability and a share capital.

5. Where the liability of the members of a society is limited by shares, no member other than a registered society shall—

(a) hold more than such portion of the share capital of the society, subject to a maximum of one-fifth, as may be prescribed by the rules; or

(b) have or claim any interest in the shares of the society exceeding one thousand rupees.

NOTES.

a member of the society, when there is no provision in the bye-laws to preclude a joint family from becoming a member of the society through one of its coparceners. It is no doubt desirable to have an express provision in the bye-laws stating that a Hindu joint family may join a society through one of its members chosen by all the other adult members of the family and that loans to such a family would be granted only on clear and complete proof that the money is required for some legal necessity of the family that would avoid a good deal of unnecessary litigation. Where it is clearly proved that a member of a joint family joined the society in a representative capacity with the consent of all the adult members of the family, though he may not have been the karta of the family and that the debts incurred by him were for the purpose of and on behalf of the family, i.e., for the purpose of purchasing properties for the joint family it must be held that the money was borrowed for the necessity and benefit of the entire joint family, because the member represents the entire joint family in his dealings with the society. In such a case the society can proceed against the joint family properties including the properties purchased out of the money borrowed for the debts incurred by the member, although that member is not described in the registers of the company or in the order for contribution as representing his family. 19 Pat.L.T. 328=1938 Pat. 315 (S.B.).

Sec. 4.—Where a decree is passed against a co-operative society as a corporate body the decree-holder cannot pursue his remedy in execution against the shareholders or member of the society in their individual capacity. 1934 M. 181=66 M.L.J. 475.

6. (1) No society, other than a society of which a member is a registered society, shall be registered under this Act which does not consist of at least ten persons above the age of eighteen years and, where the object of the society is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, unless such persons—

- (a) reside in the same town or village or in the same group of villages; or
 (b) save where the Registrar otherwise directs, are members of the same tribe, class, caste or occupation.

(2) The word "limited" shall be the last word in the name of every society with limited liability registered under this Act.

7. When any question arises whether for the purposes of this Act a person is an agriculturist or a non-agriculturist, or whether any person is a resident in a town or village or group of villages, or whether two or more villages shall be considered to form a group, or whether any person belongs to any particular tribe, class, caste or occupation, the question shall be decided by the Registrar, whose decision shall be final.

Power of Registrar to decide certain questions.

8. (1) For purposes of registration an application to register shall be made to the Registrar.

(2) The application shall be signed—

(a) in the case of a society of which no member is a registered society, by at least ten persons qualified in accordance with the requirements of section 6, sub-section (1); and

(b) in the case of a society of which a member is a registered society, by a duly authorized person on behalf of every such registered society, and where all the members of the society are not registered societies, by ten other members, or, when there are less than ten other members, by all of them.

(3) The application shall be accompanied by a copy of the proposed by-laws of the society, and the persons by whom or on whose behalf such application is made shall furnish such information in regard to the society as the Registrar may require.

9. If the Registrar is satisfied that a society has complied with the provisions of this Act and the rules and that its proposed by-laws are not contrary to the Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the society and its by-laws.

NOTES.

Secs. 8 (3) and 43 (5).—There is no rule of law that when there is a conflict between the rule and the bye-law the bye-law should be preferred. Ordinarily the rule, which is as effective as a section of the Act, must be followed in a preference to a bye-law, if there is a conflict between the two. 171 I. C. 395=1938 Lah. 8. Where a bye-law of a Co-operative Society distinctly provides that the profits should be divided, and that a fourth of it should be paid as honorarium to the Secretary, the Secretary is entitled to claim and recover the same without a vote of the general body. Although it is open to the latter to alter the bye-law, it is not open to them to withhold payment of the honorarium. But where the law provides for the payment of an annual lump sum, it is not open to the Secretary to claim the proportionate amount for a part of the year. The payment contemplated is contingent on the Secretary serving as such for the entire period of a year. 45 L.W. 297=1937 Mad. 379=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 511. Where a bye-law framed by a society provides that one of the objects of the society is to build residential houses and other buildings for private and public use and convenience of the members, the society undertook to construct a house for a member and after the house had been constructed, there was some dispute between the parties as to the amount claimable on account of it by the society. Held, the transaction does not amount to the granting of a loan by the society to one of its members. 1938 L. 8=171 I.C. 395.

10. A certificate of registration signed by the Registrar shall be conclusive evidence that the society therein mentioned is duly registered unless it is proved that the registration of the society has been cancelled.

11. (1) No amendment of the by-laws of a registered society shall be valid until the same has been registered under this Act, for which purpose a copy of the amendment shall be forwarded to the Registrar.

(2) If the Registrar is satisfied that any amendment of the by-laws is not contrary to this Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the amendment.

(3) When the registrar registers an amendment of the by-laws of a registered society, he shall issue to the society a copy of the amendment certified by him, which shall be conclusive evidence that the same is duly registered.

Rights and liabilities of members.

12. No member of a registered society shall exercise the rights of a member unless or until he has made such payment to the society in respect of membership or acquired such interest in the society, as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

13. (1) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is not limited by shares, each member shall, notwithstanding the amount of his interest in the capital, have one vote only as a member in the affairs of the society.

(2) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is limited by shares, each member shall have as many votes as may be prescribed by the by-laws.

(3) A registered society which has invested any part of its funds in the shares of any other registered society may appoint as its proxy, for the purpose of voting in the affairs of such other registered society, any one of its members.

14. (1) The transfer or charge of the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall be subject to such conditions as to maximum holding as may be prescribed by this Act or by the rules.

(2) In case of a society registered with unlimited liability a member shall not transfer any share held by him or his interest in the capital of the society or any part thereof unless—

(a) he has held such share or interest for not less than one year; and
(b) the transfer or charge is made to the society or to a member of the society.

Duties of registered societies.

15. Every registered society shall have an address, registered in accordance with the rules to which all notices and communications may be sent, and shall send to the Registrar notice of every change thereof.

NOTES.

Sec. 12.—The disputed liability of a member to repay money due to the Society is a dispute "touching the business of the society" within the meaning of R. 12 of the Rules framed under the Co-operative Societies Act; and being a dispute between one member and the other members, it is covered by Cl. (1) of the rule. A Society borrowed money from a Bank and lent it to the appellant who was a member of the Society. An award was obtained by the Bank against the Society, and the latter then made a reference to the Registrar who duly made an award against the appellants and in favour of the society for the amount of the loan. Held, the Registrar had jurisdiction to make the award against the appellant and the latter could not therefore object to the execution of the award. 14 P. 292.

16. Every registered society shall keep a copy of this Act and of the rules governing such society, and of its by-laws, open to inspection free of charge at all reasonable times at the registered address of the society.

Copy of Act, rules and by-laws to be open to inspection.

17. (1) The Registrar shall audit or cause to be audited by some person authorized by him by general or special order in writing in this behalf the accounts of every registered society once at least in every year.

Audit.

(2) The audit under sub-section (1) shall include an examination of over-due debts, if any, and a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the society.

(3) The Registrar, the Collector or any person authorized by general or special order in writing in this behalf by the Registrar shall at all times have access to all the books, accounts, papers and securities of a society, and every officer of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the transactions and working of the society as the person making such inspection may require.

Privileges of registered Societies.

18. The registration of a society shall render it a body corporate by the name under which it is registered, with perpetual succession and a common seal, and with power to hold property, to enter into contracts, to institute and defend suits and other legal proceedings and to do all things necessary for the purposes of its constitution.

Societies to be bodies corporate.

19. Subject to any prior claim of the ¹[Crown] in respect of land-revenue or any money recoverable as land revenue or of a landlord in respect of rent or any money recoverable as rent, a registered society shall be entitled in priority to other creditors to enforce any outstanding demand due to the society from a member or past member—

Prior claim of society.

(a) in respect of the supply of seed or manure or of the loan of money for the purchase of seed or manure—upon the crops or other agricultural

NOTES.

Sec. 18.—A Co-operative Society is a statutory corporation and a legal person, and its debts are distinct from the liability of its members; and the members can only be reached by the creditors of the society in winding up proceedings. An award against the society, which has the force of a decree, cannot be executed against the members. An award ordering that a Co-operative Society "consisting of its members or past members all of whom are jointly and severally liable for the debts of the society pay at once, etc." cannot be construed to be one making the members and past members also liable for the debt; the award cannot be executed against the members. 20 N.L.J. 6. The effect of registering a society is to render it a body corporate, a separate legal entity. Neither under the Companies Act, nor under this Act is there any statutory provision which in any way entitles the creditor of a registered society to proceed against a member for the debts of the society whether the society is of limited or unlimited liability. Not until there is a winding up can the creditor come face to face with the individual members. The remedy for the creditor is indicated in Ss. 36 and 39 and the exceptional right of the Government under S. 44 to have direct recourse against the members demonstrates the general rule to the contrary. (40 C.L.J. 254, Ref.) 134 I.C. 421=1931 P. 321 (F.B.).

Sec. 19.—The Chairman of a Co-operative Credit Society has no right to sue a member of a society in his own name. The suit should be brought by the society itself under S. 6 (2) of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act. 10 I.C. 570.

Musical instruments are not industrial implements or machinery and do not come within any other part of the class of articles referred to in the section. See 38 I.C. 414= (1916) 2 U.B.R. 133. See also cases referred to therein.

Secs. 19 and 20.—Under S. 73 of the C. P. Code the claim of a Co-operative Society cannot be enforced under S. 19 of the Co-operative Societies Act unless they have a decree or charge under S. 20 of the latter Act. 42 C. 377=18 C.W.N. 1140.

produce of such member or person at any time within eighteen months from the date of such supply or loan;

(b) in respect of the supply of cattle, fodder for cattle, agricultural or industrial implements or machinery, or raw materials for manufacture, or of the loan of money for the purchase of any of the foregoing things—upon any such things so supplied, or purchased in whole or in part from any such loan, or on any articles manufactured from raw materials so supplied or purchased.

20. A registered society shall have a charge upon the share or interest in the capital and on the deposits of a member or past member and upon any dividend, bonus or profits payable to a member or past member in respect of any debt due from such member or past member to the society, and may set off any sum credited or payable to a member or past member in or towards payment of any such debt.

21. Subject to the provisions of section 20, the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall not be liable to attachment or sale under any decree or order of a Court of Justice in respect of any debt or liability incurred by such member, and neither the Official Assignee under the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909, nor a Receiver under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, shall be entitled to or have any claim on such share or interest.

22. (1) On the death of a member a registered society may transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to the person nominated in accordance with the rules made in this behalf, or, if there is no person so nominated, to such person as may appear to the committee to be the heir or legal representative of the deceased member, or pay to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, a sum representing the value of such member's share or interest, as ascertained in accordance with the rules or by-laws:

Provided that—

(i) in the case of a society with unlimited liability, such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, may require payment by the society of the value of the share or interest of the deceased member ascertained as aforesaid;

(ii) in the case of a society with limited liability, the society shall transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, being qualified in accordance with the rules and by-laws for membership of the society, or on his application within one month of the death of the deceased member to any person specified in the application who is so qualified.

NOTES.

Sec. 19 (b).—Fat intended to be purchased and sold at a profit and not for the purpose of manufacturing some other commodity is not "raw material" within S. 19 (b) of the Act. 3 P.W.R. 1917=39 I.C. 373.

Sec. 20.—Share of a member in Co-operative Society is not liable to attachment and sale under S. 20 of the Act. 42 P.L.R. 225=1939 Lab. 305.

Sec. 22 (1), Prov. (ii).—S. 22 of the Act provides that on the death of a member, the share or interest of the deceased member shall be transferred to his nominee or to his legal representative who may be qualified in accordance with the rule or bye-laws of the society. R. 6 of the bye-laws or the appellant bank provided that "the following are eligible for membership:—(a) persons above 18 years residing or holding property in Bakarganj." R. 17 (b) of the bye-laws provided that "in the case of the death of a preference shareholder his shares may be transferred to his heir or nominee if he is eligible for membership and is duly elected as such." Held, that r. 17 (b), in so far as it made election as a condition to membership was in excess of the provisions of S. 22 proviso (ii) and ultra vires and was not validated by R. 7 of the bye-laws which referred to election, because the qualifications of members were contained in R. 6 and not R. 7. 151 L. C. 165=38 C.W.N. 459=1934 C. 537.

(2) A registered society may pay all other moneys due to the deceased member from the society to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be.

(3) All transfers and payments made by a registered society in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be valid and effectual against any demand made upon the society by any other person.

23. The liability of a past member for the debts of a registered society as they existed at the time when he ceased to be a member shall continue for a period of two years from the date of his ceasing to be a member.

Liability of past member.

24. The estate of a deceased member shall be liable for a period of one year from the time of his decease for the debts of a registered society as they existed at the time of his decease.

Liability of the estates of deceased member.

25. Any register or list of members or shares kept by any registered society shall be prima facie evidence of any of the following particulars entered therein:—

Register of members.

(a) the date at which the name of any person was entered in such register or list as a member;

(b) the date at which any such person ceased to be a member.

26. A copy of any entry in a book of a registered society regularly kept in the course of business, shall, if certified in such manner as may be prescribed by the rules, be received, in any suit or legal proceeding, as prima facie evidence of the existence of such entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent as, the original entry itself is admissible.

Proof of entries in societies' books.

Exemption from compulsory registration of instruments relating to shares and debentures of registered society.

27. Nothing in S. 17, sub-section (1), clauses (b) and (c), of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, shall apply to—

(1) any instrument relating to shares in a registered society, notwith-

NOTES.

Sec. 23.—“Debts of a registered society” in S. 23 refer only to those debts which the society owes and not to those which are owed to the society. 18 Lah. 649=1937 Lah. 931. S. 23 governs S. 42 (2) (b). See 1937 Lah. 912. See also 1935 Lah. 330; 1935 Lah. 947. As to the extent of liability of past member for debt due to society, see 1935 L. 947.

SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—The words “the debts of a registered society as they existed at the time when he ceased to be a member” occurring in S. 23 clearly refer to the debts due from the society to third persons and it is with regard to these debts that the liability of a past member has been confined in the section to a period of two years from the date of his ceasing to be a member and no further. The debts referred to in the section have no bearing whatever to the debts of the outgoing members due to the society itself. 16 Luck. 658=1941 O.W.N. 404=1941 Oudh 315. The period of two years mentioned in S. 23 is to run backwards not from the date on which the award of the liquidator is made but from the date of the dissolution of the Society, that is the date on which its registration was cancelled. (1937 Lah. 912, Rel. on.) 43 P.L.R. 305=1941 Lah. 284.

Secs. 23 and 24.—Award against estate of past or deceased member—Jurisdiction of liquidator and of Civil Court. A liquidator has no jurisdiction to award anything against the estate of a past or a deceased member, because of the limitation provided under Ss. 23 and 24. The Civil Court has jurisdiction to go into the question whether the liquidator had jurisdiction to make the award. 41 P.L.R. 269.

Secs. 23 and 42 (2).—A suit by a past member for a declaration that he is not liable to pay certain amounts as contribution due from him on the ground that his liability ceased under S. 23 on the expiration of two years after removal of his name, is not maintainable in a Civil Court, because it has no jurisdiction to go into the matter. Under S. 42 (2), the liquidator has jurisdiction to decide the matter. 1935 L. 330. See also 1935 L. 497; 1937 Lah. 912.

Sec. 24.—The section cannot be called to aid except in liquidation proceedings under S. 42. See 84 I.C. 999=1925 C. 203.

standing that the assets of such society consist in whole or in part of immovable property; or

(2) any debenture issued by any such society and not creating, declaring, assigning, limiting or extinguishing any right, title or interest to or in immovable property except in so far as it entitles the holder to the security afforded by a registered instrument whereby the society has mortgaged, conveyed or otherwise transferred the whole or part of its immovable property or any interest therein to trustees upon trust for the benefit of the holders of such debentures; or

(3) any endorsement upon or transfer of any debenture issued by any such society.

Power to exempt from income-tax, stamp-duty and registration fees.

[¹ 28. (1)] The Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette, may, in the case of any registered society or class of registered society, remit [¹ (*)] the income-tax payable in respect of the profits of the society, or of the dividends or other payments received by the members of the society on account of profits.

(a) the stamp duty with which, under any law for the time being in force, instruments executed by or on behalf of a registered society or by an officer or member and relating to the business of such society, or any class of such instruments, are respectively chargeable, and

(b) any fee payable under the law of registration for the time being in force.]

³[In this sub-section 'Government' in relation to stamp duty in respect of bills of exchange, cheques, promissory notes, bills of lading, letters of credit, policies of insurance, proxies and receipts, and in relation to any stamp duty falling within Item 59 in List I in the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935, means the Central Government, and save as aforesaid means the Provincial Government.]

Property and funds of registered societies.

Restrictions on loans.

29. (1) A registered society shall not make a loan to any person other than a member:

Provided that, with the general or special sanction of the registrar, a registered society may make loans to another registered society.

(2) Save with the sanction of the Registrar, a society with unlimited liability shall not lend money on the security of movable property.

LEG. REF.

¹This section was re-numbered as section 28 (1) and in the same section the letter and brackets "(a)" and the whole of clauses (b) and (c) were omitted and sub-section (2) was added by Act XXXVIII of 1920, Part II.

²The word 'Local' was omitted by Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

³Inserted by Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

NOTES.

Sec. 29.—A by-law of a Co-operative Society to the effect that the society shall not sell goods on credit to a non-member cannot have the force of law. It cannot be pleaded in defence by vendee outsider in a suit brought against him for recovery of balance standing against him. 96 I.C. 351 (2)=1926 N. 463. See also 116 I.C. 552 infra. The law lays down that a Co-operative Credit Society shall not lend to non-members and consequently a contract for that purpose is undoubtedly illegal and a suit cannot lie to enforce it. Held, however, that the amount advanced could be recovered on the basis of the implied promise to repay. 116 I.C. 552=1929 L. 330. See also 96 I.C. 351=1926 N. 463.

(3) The Provincial Government may, by general or special order, prohibit or restrict the lending of money on mortgage of immovable property by any registered society or class of registered societies.

30. A registered society shall receive deposits and loans from persons who are not members only to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

Restrictions on borrowing.

31. Saves as provided in sections 29 and 30, the transactions of a registered society with persons other than members shall be subject to such prohibitions, and restrictions, if any, as the Provincial Government may, by rules, prescribe.

Restrictions on other transactions with non-members.

Investment of funds.

32. (1) A registered society may invest or deposit its funds—

(a) in the Government Savings Bank, or

(b) in any of the securities specified in section 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, or

(c) in the shares or on the security of any other registered society, or

(d) with any bank or person carrying on the business of banking approved for this purpose by the Registrar, or

(e) in any other mode permitted by the rules.

(2) Any investments or deposits made before the commencement of this Act which would have been valid if this Act had been in force are hereby ratified and confirmed.

Funds not to be divided by way of profit.

33. No part of the funds of a registered society shall be divided by way of bonus or dividend or otherwise among its members:

Provided that after at least one-fourth of the net profits in any year have been carried to a reserve fund, payments from the remainder of such profits and from any profits of past years available for distribution may be made among the members to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws:

Provided also that in the case of a society with unlimited liability no distribution of profits shall be made without the general or special order of the Provincial Government on this behalf.

34. Any registered society may, with the sanction of the Registrar, after one-fourth of the net profits in any year has been carried to a reserve fund, contribute an amount not exceeding ten per cent. of the remaining net profits to any charitable purpose, as defined in section 2 of the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890.

Contribution to charitable purpose.

Inspection of affairs.

35. (1) The Registrar may of his own motion, and shall on the request of the Collector, or on the application of a majority of the committee, or of not less than one-third of the members, hold an inquiry or direct some person authorized by him by order in Inquiry by Registrar.

NOTES.

Sec. 33.—A resolution passed at an annual general meeting of the shareholders sanctioning the payment of dividend is not in any way illegal or ultra vires so long as it does not contravene any of the provisions of the Co-operative Societies Act or any of its bye-laws, although a considerable portion of the profits out of which the dividend could be paid are unrealised interest income. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 144=42 C.W.N. 461 =1938 Cal. 394.

writing in this behalf to hold an inquiry into the constitution, working and financial condition of a registered society.

(2) All officers and members of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the affairs of the society as the Registrar or the person authorized by the Registrar may require.

36. (1) The Registrar shall, on the application of a creditor of a registered society, inspect or direct some person authorized by him by order in writing in this behalf to inspect the books of the society:

Inspection of books of indebted society.

Provided that—

(a) the applicant satisfies the Registrar that the debt is a sum then due, and that he has demanded payment thereof and has not received satisfaction within a reasonable time; and

(b) the applicant deposits with the Registrar such sum as security for the costs of the proposed inspection as the Registrar may require.

(2) The Registrar shall communicate the results of any such inspection to the creditor.

37. Where an inquiry is held under section 35, or an inspection is made under section 36, the Registrar may apportion the costs, or such part of the costs as he may think right, between the society, the members or creditor demanding an inquiry or inspection, and the officers or former officers of the society.

38. Any sum awarded by way of costs under section 37 may be recovered, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the person from whom the money is claimable actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business, by the distress and sale of any movable property within the limits of the jurisdiction of such Magistrate belonging to such person.

Recovery of costs.

Dissolution of society.

39. (1) If the Registrar, after an inquiry has been held under section 35 or after an inspection has been made under section 36 or on receipt of an application made by three-fourths of the members of a registered society, is of opinion that the society ought to be dissolved, he may cancel the registration of the society.

(2) Any member of a society may, within two months from the date of an order made under sub-section (1), appeal from such order.

(3) Where no appeal is presented within two months from the making of an order cancelling the registration of a society, the order shall take effect on the expiry of that period.

(4) Where an appeal is presented within two months, the order shall not take effect until it is confirmed by the appellate authority.

(5) The authority to which appeals under this section shall lie shall be the Provincial Government:

Provided that the Provincial Government may, by notification¹ in the Official Gazette, direct that appeals shall lie to such Revenue-authority as may be specified in the notification.

LEG. REF.

¹ For notification by Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, that appeals shall lie to the Financial Commissioner, see Central Provinces Gazette, 1912, Pt. I, p. 347. For notification in Madras that appeals shall lie to the Board of Revenue, see Fort St. George Gazette, 1923, Pt. I, p. 1651.

40. Where it is a condition of the registration of a society that it should consist of at least ten members, the Registrar may, by order in writing, cancel the registration of the society if at any time it is proved to his satisfaction that the number of the members has been reduced to less than ten.

Cancellation of registration of society.

41. Where the registration of a society is cancelled, the society shall cease to exist as a corporate body—

(a) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of section 39, from the date the order of cancellation takes effect;

(b) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of section 40, from the date of the order.

42. (1) Where the registration of a society is cancelled under section 39 or section 40, the Registrar may appoint a competent person to be liquidator of the society.

Winding up.

(2) A liquidator appointed under sub-section (1) shall have power—

(a) to institute and defend suits and other legal proceedings on behalf of the society by his name of office;

NOTES.

Sec. 42.—[See 1935 L. 330 and Notes under S. 23.] The Civil Court cannot interfere with an order passed by a liquidator of a registered Co-operative Society, under S. 42 of the Act, 1912, in order to collect the assets of the Society from persons who, he thinks, are responsible to account to him for the assets. Suit against an auction-purchaser questioning the validity of the sale is not a matter connected with the dissolution of a registered society and does not fall within S. 42. 23 N.L.R. 66=103 I.C. 131=1927 N. 217. No doubt the members of a Co-operative Credit Society are subject to a statutory liability to contribute to the debts of the society; but that liability can only be enforced by the procedure of winding up contained in the Act and not directly by suit of a creditor even after the cancellation of the society. 35 Bom.L.R. 282=1933 B. 191=57 B. 319. An order of the liquidator under S. 42 of the Co-operative Societies Act is final and a Court whose aid is sought for the execution of that order cannot go behind it and investigate its legality. The rules framed under the Act do not provide for any appeal or revision. Where the order of the liquidator was passed after due enquiry and notice but the rules prescribed in the Civil Procedure Code were not literally followed, held, that assuming the Court had jurisdiction to interfere with such an order there was merely an irregularity and that it was not a proper case which called for interference. 7 R. 533. Proceedings taken before the liquidator under S. 42 (b) and (d) are to some extent in the nature of quasi-judicial proceedings. Under R. 29 (e) of the Bengal Government Rules the liquidator may issue summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents. He may compel the attendance of any person to whom a summons has been issued and for that purpose issue a warrant for his arrest. In order to arrive at any conclusion on the question of the determination of the liabilities of any member of a society, some evidence is required by the rules to be taken. Where there is no compliance with the necessary procedure the Court may dismiss the application for execution of the order. 37 C.W.N. 177=145 I.C. 834=1933 C. 631. Liquidation—Members of executive committee asked to pay—Suit by them against ordinary members to recoup themselves—Decree passed without any objection to jurisdiction—No appeal—Objection raised in execution proceedings—Maintainability. See 31 C.W.N. 739; 22 Bom.L.R. 732=44 B. 482.

Cl. (2).—A Civil Court can examine the question whether a liquidator appointed under the Co-operative Societies Act has acted within his powers when he makes a contributory order. The relevant rule limits the power of the liquidator to make a contributory order to a time posterior to the determination of the assets. He cannot make such an order until he has ascertained the assets. He cannot be regarded in law as having ascertained the assets where he is in the course of realising the assets of the individual debtors and until the amount that can be obtained on such realisation is determined. Until then any contributory order made is ultra vires. These contributory orders are exceedingly oppressive and should in fairness to the contributories and in the interests of the co-operative society movement generally, only to be resorted to as a last resort. 1941 N.L.J. 412. Where the decretal amount due to a Co-operative Society was realised by the Collector as an arrear of land revenue according to the Co-operative Societies Act, no suit could lie in the Civil Court in respect of such a claim.

(b) to determine the contribution to be made by the members and past members of the society respectively to the assets of the society;

(c) to investigate all claims against the society and, subject to the provisions of this Act, to decide questions of priority arising between claimants;

(d) to determine by what persons and in what proportions the costs of the liquidation are to be borne; and

(e) to give such directions in regard to the collection and distribution of the assets of the society, as may appear to him to be necessary for winding up the affairs of the society.

NOTES.

1937 O.W.N. 298=1937 O. 249. The jurisdiction of Civil Court is ousted only in those cases where the acts of the liquidator are well within the four corners of S. 42. But in cases where his acts are ultra vires Civil Courts could go into the question, in order to determine the legality of the order. 18 Lah. 649=1937 Lah. 931. A Civil Court cannot entertain a suit for a declaration that an order of the liquidator under S. 42 (2) of the Act is ultra vires and thus cannot be executed. 44 I.C. 353=4 O.L.J. 583. But see 18 Lah. 649=1937 Lah. 931.

Sec. 42 (2) (b).—Where a Co-operative Society is dissolved and certain members are adjudicated as insolvents their liability as members is not provable under the terms of S. 34 (2), Provincial Insolvency Act, if no liquidator was appointed until after the insolvents had been discharged. Under S. 42, it is the liquidator alone who can ascertain and fix the liabilities of the members. Therefore until a liquidator is appointed, it cannot be said that there was any debt or liability certain or contingent which can affect the members. Hence the liquidator is not debarred under the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act from fixing the liability as members. 42 P.L.R. 260=1939 Lah. 275. The provisions of the Act provide stringent safeguards to prevent the society from having dealings with strangers. The admission of a member to a society cannot be unilateral on the part of the society. Where a joint family as such has not been mentioned explicitly with its various members as having been brought on the list on the membership of the society, no order of contribution can be passed against the member of the joint family, who are not members of the society. 130 I.C. 820=1931 N. 48. Merely because a person was once a member of a Co-operative Society, it cannot be said that he has no right to ask the Civil Court to decide whether he is under any liability to contribute at all. There is no clear indication in the Co-operative Societies Act that the liquidator can under S. 42 of the Act determine the question of liability to contribute in such a way that his determination will not be subject to be set aside by the Civil Courts. A person who disputes his liability to contribute on the ground that he ceased to be a member five years prior to the dissolution of the Society, but is held liable, is entitled, after payment of the contributions, to sue in the Civil Court for a refund of the amount paid on the ground that he is not liable. S. 42 (6) is no bar to the suit. 59 M. 895=1936 M. 574=70 M. L.J. 604. S. 42 (2) (b) is governed by S. 23 of the same Act and the words 'past member' in S. 42 (2) (b) mean a past member liable for debts under S. 23 of the Act. A person who does not claim to be a past member liable under S. 23 of the Act has a right to have his claim investigated by a Civil Court. 1937 Lah. 912. 'Member' obviously means member at the date of the dissolution of the society in S. 42 (b). 1939 Lah. 275=42 P.L.R. 260. Usually the word contribution means and has reference only to the amount payable by a member as such and does not include debts payable to the society. It is in other words the unpaid portion of the liability of a member. 18 Lah. 649=1937 Lah. 931. A Court called upon to execute an award under S. 42 (2) (b) passed by a liquidator cannot refuse to execute such an award on the ground that the member against whom the award had been made had prior to the award been declared an insolvent and therefore discharged under S. 44 of the Provincial Insolvency Act from the liability to pay any debt, as the matter is not one of lack of inherent jurisdiction on the part of the liquidator but only a question of illegal exercise of jurisdiction. 42 P.L.R. 126=1940 Lah. 280. Where an award obtained by a Bank against a Co-operative Society shows that it was an award against the members of the society, then the Bank could sell the property mortgaged to the society by the members. 1938 N.L.J. 166=1938 N. 308. See also 1937 Rang. 98. Order by liquidator under the section—Nature of—If "decree for money"—Suit to declare null and void—Court-fee. (1937) 1 M.L.J. 640.

Cl. (2) (e): DEBT DUE TO SOCIETY—POWER OF LIQUIDATOR TO MAKE ORDER HAVING FORCE OF DECREE.—S. 42 (2) (e) does not give a liquidator power to make an order having the force of a decree in respect of a debt due to a Co-operative Society in liquidation. 196 I.C. 688=1941 Lah. 355.

(3) Subject to any rules, a liquidator appointed under this section shall, in so far as such powers are necessary for carrying out the purposes of this section, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and to compel the production of documents by the same means and (so far as may be) in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.¹

(4) Where an appeal from any order made by a liquidator under this section is provided for by the rules, it shall lie to the Court of the District Judge.

(5) Orders made under this section shall, on application, be enforced as follows:—

(a) when made by a liquidator, by any Civil Court having local jurisdiction in the same manner as a decree of such Court;

(b) when made by the Court of the District Judge on appeal, in the same manner as a decree of such Court made in any suit pending therein.

(6) Save in so far as is hereinbefore expressly provided, no Civil Court shall have any jurisdiction in respect of any matter connected with the dissolution of a registered society under this Act.

LEG. REF.

¹ In its application to British Baluchistan this sub-section shall be read as if the words "or the British Baluchistan Civil Justice Regulation, 1896, as the case may be" were added. See Schedule I of Regulation II of 1913, Bal. Code.

NOTES.

Sec. 42 (3).—Although S. 42 (3) gives the same power to the liquidator to enforce same power to the liquidator to enforce attendance of witnesses and production of documents as is given under C.P. Code, that power is subject to the rules framed under the Act. R. 26 (e) of the Rules framed by the Punjab Government restricts the powers of the liquidators to those given in the sub-rule. A liquidator has, therefore, no power to ask a debtor of the society under liquidation summoned by him to furnish security for his appearance or to impose a sentence of imprisonment or fine for his failure to do so. I.L.R. (1939) Lah. 192=1939 Lah. 357..

Cl. (4).—An amount realised by the Collector on a requisition to him by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies is realised by the Collector as arrears of land revenue; and under S. 233 (m) of the U.P. Land Revenue Act, a suit in the Civil Court in respect of such amount is barred. 11 O.W.N. 1060=151 I.C. 414=1934 O. 431.

Cl. (5).—The liquidator cannot order that the debtors are jointly and severally liable for each other's mortgage but may determine the contribution to be made by several debtors to meet the debt. Order passed by liquidator under S. 42 must be enforced by Civil Courts; no appeal lies from the Civil Courts order under this section. 40 A. 89=15 A.L.J. 863. Where the award is against a society, the fact of liquidation of that society cannot make any difference, so far as the executability of that award against the members are concerned. He is the only person competent to collect the assets of the society from its members and distribute them rateably among the creditors. So he cannot be proceeded against in execution of an award against the society. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 604=1938 Nag. 434.

Cl. (6).—See 84 I.C. 964=1925 R. 38. See also 84 I.C. 999=1925 C. 203 cited under S. 24. The liquidator is given the power to determine the contribution to be made by a member; but he is not given power to determine whether a particular person is a member or not. And if any one disputes his membership, the dispute can be decided by a Civil Court. (1931 N. 48, Rel. on.) 144 I.C. 264=34 P.L.R. 717=1933 L. 442. There is nothing in S. 42 (6) to prevent the Court from entertaining the application of one of the debtors of a co-operative society which is in liquidation for being declared insolvent. In deciding whether such a debtor should or should not be adjudicated insolvent the Court is not dealing with any matter connected with the dissolution of the society nor will the dissolution be necessarily interfered with by reason of adjudicating such a debtor to be an insolvent. 149 I.C. 96 (1)=1934 P. 290. A Civil Court has no jurisdiction to question the legality of the acts of a liquidator in the matter connected with the dissolution of a registered society. A suit in the Civil Court by a person from whom the amount of contribution determined by the liquidator is realised on the ground that such person is the heir of the member indebted to the society, is barred by reason of S. 42 (6). 151 I.C. 414=11 O.W.N. 1060=1934 O. 43. Where on a registered Co-operative Society being dissolved, the liquidator issues a warrant of attachment, Civil Courts have no jurisdiction to question the same. 94 I.C. 40=1926 N. 379=24 N.L.R. 5. If a liquidator's act or order is shown to be ultra vires that is outside the powers conferred on him by law as a liquidator, the Civil Court can then intervene. A liquidator of a society has no power to proceed against anybody and everybody irrespective of the Rules.

43. (1) The Provincial Government may, for the whole or any part of the province and for any registered society or class of such societies, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

NOTES.

fact that he had even been a member of the society and S. 42 (6) cannot be so construed as to oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts in cases where the liquidator passes an order against a person who is not a member of the society. 130 I.C. 820=1931 N. 48. As to jurisdiction of Civil Courts, see also 39 Bom.L.R. 249=1937 Bom. 231 (Suit to set aside arbitrator's award on ground of fraud and undue influence); 1937 Rang. 98 (Suit questioning validity of a transfer of property by liquidator); 1940 Rang. 157 (Suit to set aside award of arbitrator given contrary to law of limitation; see also 1937 Rang. 363). As to difference between bar of Civil Courts jurisdiction in respect of acts of Registrar, arbitrator and liquidator in Burma, see 1937 Rang. 373.

RULES—APPLICABILITY.—There is no procedure for setting aside an ex parte decree provided for in the rules. If the Sub-Deputy Registrar thinks it necessary to give an opportunity to the president or other members of the society to show that the decree was in any respect obviously erroneous on the face of it, he can do so. 1932 M.W. N. 18. The Act and the rules made thereunder are intended to provide a speedy remedy for the settlement of disputes and it is for that purpose that such cases have been removed from the jurisdiction of the ordinary Civil Courts. The enforcement of a mortgage under the Act is not subject to but is independent of O. 34 of the C. P. Code. The fact that the procedure of O. 34 was not adopted or that the mortgagor was not allowed a period of six months in accordance with O. 34 does not invalidate the decision of the Registrar which is in effect and substance a final decree for the sale of the mortgaged property. 142 I.C. 487=1933 N. 211.

JURISDICTION OF CIVIL COURT.—By S. 42 (6), Co-operative Societies Act, the liquidator is entitled to determine the contribution to be made by the members and past members of the Society. But if a party denies that he is a member, he is entitled to have that question determined by the Court and the Court has jurisdiction to try the suit. 1937 Cal. 643.

Sec. 43.—Where the defendant dies long before institution of proceedings relating to award under Co-operative Societies Act, the award passed against him is a nullity and therefore cannot be executed. 39 P.L.R. 139=1937 L. 63. An award granted under Co-operative Societies Act is to be executed in the same manner as a decree of Civil Court. 39 P.L.R. 139=1937 L. 63. On a reference made to the Registrar for an award under the Co-operative Societies Act, the Registrar acts as a Court and he has jurisdiction to decide whether a dispute before him is time barred or not. Once he has decided that rightly or wrongly, it cannot be said that he acted without jurisdiction. 181 I.C. 512=1939 Pat. 500. But see 1940 Rang. 157. Where an award made under the Co-operative Societies Act is alleged to have been made without jurisdiction and not according to the terms of the Act, it is open to the person aggrieved to bring a suit to that effect but such objections cannot be taken in the execution proceedings started in pursuance of the award, the objector's remedy being an appeal to the Registrar. 180 I.C. 242=1939 Lah. 40. See also 1940 Sind 147.

Cl. (1).—Under R. 13 (7) of the Rules framed by the Government of Assam under S. 43 of the Act, an order of a Registrar or of the Chief Commissioner in appeal is, as between the parties to the dispute, not liable to be called into question in any Civil Court or Revenue Court and is, in all respects, final and conclusive. This presupposes however that the order in question is an order in accordance with the Act and the rules framed thereunder. Where, therefore, the plaintiff calls into question the reference to the Registrar and alleges that there was no compliance by him with the procedure laid down in the rules and he further contends that the rules themselves are ultra vires in so far as they oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court, the Civil Court has jurisdiction to entertain his suit. 41 C.W.N. 670.

RULES—MADRAS RULES—R. 14—POWERS OF REGISTRAR—QUAERE.—If the Registrar of Co-operative Societies acting under R. 14 is competent to pass a mortgage decree and not merely a money decree, i.e., a mortgage decree which can straight away be enforced apart from the procedure contained in O. 34, R. 14, C. P. Code. 1933 M.W. N. 1398=38 L.W. 880. BENGAL RULES.—The limits within which the rule-making powers of the Local Government could be exercised are contained in sub-S. (1) of S. 43. Sub-S. (2) simply sets out by way of illustration certain matters, on which rules are considered desirable. It does not in any way limit the powers given by sub-S. (1) and the terms

mentioned therein do not exhaust the list of matters on which rules might be framed by the Local Government. Accordingly R. 28 (3) of the Rules framed by the Local Government which relates to distribution of profits in case of societies with limited liability and which is framed with a view to carry out the purpose of the Act as laid down in S. 33 is not ultra vires, although there is no specific item mentioned in S. 43 (2) relating to distribution of profits in case of Societies with limited liability. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 144=42 C.W.N. 461=1938 Cal. 394. See also 1938 Cal. 327. Where the plaintiff sues a Co-operative Society for recovery of a certain sum alleged to be due to him as dividend on certain preference shares held by him, on a declaration that the constitution of the Board of management was illegal, that it had no authority to call an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders, and that the resolution passed at the meeting thus convened under which the payment of the said dividend was refused was illegal and ultra vires, the matter is not one which is withdrawn from the Courts by R. 22 of the Rules framed by the Local Government under S. 43 of the Act, and a suit is, therefore, maintainable in a Civil Court. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 144=42 C.W.N. 461=1938 Cal. 394. The different clauses of sub-S. (2) of S. 43 are only illustrative and do not restrict the general rule-making power to implement the avowed objects of the Act conferred by sub-S. (1). Sub-Rr. (2), (5) and (6) of R. 22 framed by the Local Government under the powers conferred by S. 43 of the Act are not ultra vires. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 103=42 C.W.N. 391=1938 Cal. 327. Rule 22 — Award — Execution — Limitation — Starting point. See I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 460. Where a dispute between the committee and a member is referred to arbitration under R. 22, Sub-r. (1) of the Rules framed by the Government of Bengal, the proceedings before the arbitrator are not ab initio void for want of jurisdiction merely because a non-member is also a party to the dispute. If the non-member submits to the jurisdiction of the arbitrator, he brings himself within the scope of R. 22, and under sub-R. (6) of that rule the award is not liable to be called into question by him in any Civil or Revenue Court and would be in all respects, final and conclusive. 41 C.W.N. 667=65 C.L.J. 206. Rule 22 (6) of the Rules framed under S. 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act is not ultra vires of the Local Government. But if the award is without jurisdiction, the Civil Court can certainly declare it a nullity. Even if the arbitrator is validly appointed, the award can still be a nullity if there is violation of the rules regulating the arbitration in matters of substance. Not only a proper appointment of the arbitrator in accordance with the rules is essential for creating jurisdiction in the arbitrator but the fundamental rules attaching restraint to the exercise of authority by the arbitrator are equally mandatory and a violation of them would nullify the award. But the fact that the arbitrator has ignored the law of limitation is not a ground which would entitle the Civil Court to interfere. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 82=188 I.C. 213=1940 Cal. 198. But see 1940 Rang. 157; 1937 Rang. 363.

C. P. RULES.—The Co-operative Societies Act nowhere gives any power to the Commissioner or any other Revenue Officer to examine or revise the proceedings of the Registrar or other officer of the department. A Revenue Court has no jurisdiction to question and disregard an award given by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies and the certificate issued to the Revenue Courts for recovery of the amount under the award, in pursuance of R. 33 of the rules framed under S. 43 of the Act. 1939 N.L.J. 405. Where an award under the rules framed under S. 43 (1) was in these terms: 'I therefore in this my award order that the J. Co-operative Society consisting of the following members or past members all of whom are jointly and severally liable for the debts of the Society, pay at once' and proceeded to give a list of members, the decree on the face of it is only an award against the J. Society alone and not against its members. Moreover it is not legally possible for a Registrar to make an award against the members personally for a debt of the Society. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 604=1938 Nag. 434.

PUNJAB RULES.—Civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit between a Society and its members, etc., by virtue of R. 18 framed by the Punjab Government under S. 43 (1). 1937 Lah. 268.

U. P. RULES.—Jurisdiction has been specially given to the Registrar of Co-operative Societies to decide certain matters under R. 115 of the rules framed by the U. P. Government under S. 43 (2) (1) or to refer those matters for decision by an arbitrator. As this jurisdiction is contrary to the ordinary jurisdiction of Civil Courts, it must be construed strictly. The passing of a personal decree against an alleged representative of a past deceased member (who denies that he is such a representative) is clearly outside the sub-section or the rule. Both the rule and sub-section give jurisdiction to the Registrar or the arbitrator merely to decide matters concerning the estate of a deceased member. The passing of a personal decree cannot come under this jurisdiction. As such a Civil Court can set aside such a decree. 1940 A.L.J. 588=1940 All. 482. All that R. 137 (1) lays down is that the Collector can adopt the same methods for the realisation of the money as he can adopt for the recovery of an arrear of revenue. It does not invest a debt due to a Co-operative Society with the character of land revenue due to the Crown. It merely provides a summary procedure for the realisation of

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) subject to the provisions of section 5, prescribe the maximum number of shares or portion of the capital of a society which may be held by a member;

(b) prescribe the forms to be used and the conditions to be complied with in the making of applications for the registration of a society and the procedure in the matter of such applications;

(c) prescribe the matters in respect of which a society may or shall make by-laws and for the procedure to be followed in making, altering and abrogating by-laws, and the conditions to be satisfied prior to such making, alteration or abrogation;

(d) prescribe the conditions to be complied with by persons applying for admission or admitted as members, and provide for the election and admission of members, and the payment to be made and the interest to be acquired before the exercise of the right of membership;

(e) regulate the manner in which funds may be raised by means of shares or debentures or otherwise;

(f) provide for general meetings of the members and for the procedure at such meetings and the powers to be exercised by such meetings;

(g) provide for the appointment, suspension and removal of the members of the committee and other officers, and for the procedure at meetings of the committee, and for the powers to be exercised and the duties to be performed by the committee and other officers;

(h) prescribe the accounts and books to be kept by a society and provide for the audit of such accounts and the charges, if any, to be made for such audit, and for the periodical publication of a balance-sheet showing the assets and liabilities of a society;

(i) prescribe the returns to be submitted by a society to the Registrar and provide for the persons by whom and the form in which such returns shall be submitted;

(j) provide for the persons by whom and the form in which copies of entries in books of societies may be certified;

(k) provide for the formation and maintenance of a Register of members and, where the liability of the members is limited by shares, of a register of shares;

(l) provide that any dispute touching the business of a society between members or past members of the society or persons claiming through a member the money and does not confer a substantive right of priority over other debts. I. L.R. (1940) All. 181=1940 A.L.J. 45=1940 All. 188.

Sec. 43 (2) (l).—The words "touching the business of a society" in S. 43 (2) (l) are not confined to disputes in connection with the internal management of the affairs of society or dispute in regard to principles which would regulate the conduct of the business thereof. 28 C.W.N. 131=1924 C. 467. See also 47 A. 374=23 A.L.J. 129=1925 A. 356; 14 P. 292 (Dispute between member and society in respect of loan by society). The words "concerning the business of a Society" occurring in S. 43 (2), Cl. (l) and in R. 22 (1) framed by the Local Government, cannot be limited to disputes concerning the internal management of the Society. The principal business of a Society being to finance its members, a dispute concerning the financial obligations of its members to the Society would be a dispute concerning the business of the Society. The use of the word "committee" in S. 43 (2), Cl. (l) and R. 22 (1) is sufficient to indicate a dispute with the Society itself and enable proceedings to be initiated and carried on before the authority referred to therein in the name of the Society. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 103=42 C.W.N. 391=1938 Cal. 327. There would be a dispute so long as a claim is asserted by one party and denied by the other, be the claim a false or a true one, or whether it ultimately turns out to be false or true. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 103=42 C.W.N. 391=1938 Cal. 327. A claim by one co-operative society against another for a sum of money as being due is enough to constitute a dispute within the meaning of R. 14. 1932 M.W.N. 18. R. 14 (4) only requires that the parties should be heard only when they are present, and it is impossible for the Registrar to hear a party who is absent. (Ibid.) A dispute between a member who happens to be an officer of a co-operative society and the society in regard to sums of money entrusted to the former for purchase of certain articles is within S. 43 (2) (1) of the Act. 44 M.L.J. 382=72 I.C. 838=1923 M. 481. Where a Co-operative Society has considered its treasurer to be responsible for embezzlement of money deposited with it by a person and the treasurer has throughout contended that he was not concerned with the alleged embezzlement there is clearly a dispute between the treasurer and the society regarding question of embezzlement of money and hence the dispute can be referred to arbitration. 42 P.L.R. 273=1939 Lah. 301. It is only members and persons claiming through members against whom the Registrar can pronounce a decision which can be executed as a Civil Court decree. The society must enforce in the regular course any claim which it may have against outsiders. The decision of the registrar, so far as it affects a stranger is a nullity as being made without jurisdiction. 148 I.C. 730=15 P.L.T. 111=1934 P. 145. Sub-r. (1) of R. 22 does not confine the dispute to such as may be referable to membership only. A dispute between the society and the members in their capacity as brokers can be the subject of reference. 36 C.W.N. 121=55 C.L.J. 89. R. 22 (b) is not meant to take away the jurisdiction of an executing Court to enquire into the competency of the award on the ground of jurisdiction. 36 C.W.N. 121. A dispute between a member who happens to be an officer of a co-operative society on the one hand and the committee or an officer thereof on the other falls within the words of the section. 36 C.W.N. 121. An award given by the Inspector of Co-operative Societies appointed as arbitrator by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies under R. 22 of the Bengal Government Rules is not an award of an arbitrator in the ordinary sense and it need not be filed in Court before it can be enforced. 60 C. 906=37 C.W.N. 649=1933 C. 695. See also 60 C.L.J. 572; 36 C.W.N. 121; I.L.R. (1941) 2 Cal. 551. In order that an award based on an arbitration under the Co-operative Societies Act may be valid and binding on a person, it is incumbent on the Society to prove that he was a member of the Society at the time when the reference to arbitration was made. Although ordinarily a Co-operative Society lends money only to its members, a Court will not be justified in holding merely on the basis of an alleged loan taken by a person that he must have been a member on the date on which he took the loan, when the affairs of the Society do not appear to have been carried on in regular manner and it is found by the Court that the register produced by the Society is a fabricated one. 42 P.L.R. 112=1940 Lah. 193. Where a dispute between the committee and a member is referred to arbitration under R. 22, sub-R. (1) of the Rules framed by the Government of Bengal under S. 43 of the Act, the proceedings before the arbitrator are not ab initio void for want of jurisdiction merely because a non-member is also a party to the dispute. If the non-member submits to the jurisdiction of the arbitrator, he brings himself within the scope of R. 22, and under sub-r. (6) of that rule the award is not liable to be called into question by him in any Civil or Revenue Court and would be in all respects, final and conclusive. 41 C.W.N. 667=65 C.L.J. 206. See also 39 C.W.N. 1301. An award under the Act which is not appealed against within one month, becomes final, and cannot either be upset or interfered with by the Civil Court to which it is sent for execution. Even though the award may be anomalous and erroneous, the Civil Court cannot go behind it, and utilise its powers under S. 151, C. P. Code, to send the award back to the arbitrator for correction of mistakes in order to obtain some sort of alteration which in its opinion would be in the ends of justice. 164 I.C. 802=40 C.W.N. 89. See also 1935 C. 418. When an Inspector was appointed arbitrator to decide a dispute between two societies and after he gave his award one of the societies sued to declare the reference and award invalid. Held, that the suit was maintainable in the Civil Court. Quære, whether R. 22 (6) framed by the Bengal Government under S. 43 was ultra vires. 60 C. 1207=37 C.W.N. 843. Where it is sought to entertain or continue proceedings against the legal representatives of a deceased debtor, the arbitrators are competent to decide who are the legal representatives. If a wrong conclusion is arrived at with regard to a particular person that person has got a remedy under the Act of filing an appeal to the registrar. The Civil Court has no jurisdiction to interfere. 28 Bom.L.R. 598=1926 B. 352. The execution of an award settling the dispute between the Society and its member was held by the executing Court as time barred and the Society again referred the same dispute to arbitration and obtained an award. Held, that the dispute between the Society and its member was determined by the first award and the subsequent dispute referred by the Society to arbitration was one which under the rules made under S. 43 could only be decided by the executing Court for it related wholly to the discharge of the award. The proceedings of the executing Court were subject to the ordinary laws and if the society neglected to execute the award within time, its right to have the award enforced was lost, and that was an end of the or past member or between a member or past member or persons so claiming and the committee or any officer shall be referred to the Registrar for decision or, if he so directs, to arbitration, and prescribe the mode of appointing an arbitrator or arbitrators and the procedure to be followed in proceedings before the Registrar or such arbitrator or arbitrators, and the enforcement of the decisions of the Registrar or the awards of arbitrators;

(m) provide for the withdrawal and expulsion of members and for the payments, in any, to be made to members who withdraw or are expelled and for the liabilities of past members;

dispute which left nothing to be referred to arbitration. Hence the second award was one which could not be passed within the scope of the Act and the rules made under it and a suit could lie to have it declared void. 38 P.L.R. 1113=1936 L. 901. A dispute between A, B and C who were all members of Society related to a transaction which took place between A and the Society. The books of the Society showed that certain money had been borrowed by A from the Society, but in reality it had been misappropriated by B and C, the Secretary. Held, that the dispute was concerning the business of the Society between three of its members and revision could lie from an order of the executing Court refusing to execute an award on the dispute as it failed to exercise jurisdiction vested in it by law. 165 I.C. 511=1936 L. 786. See also 1935 L. 947; 1935 L. 631. Civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain a suit between a Society and its members, etc., by virtue of R. 18 framed by the Punjab Government under S. 43 (1). 1937 L. 268. After the death of a Secretary of a Co-operative Society the Union accepted liability for the members' deposits which had been embezzled by the late Secretary. The dispute between the Union and the heirs of the deceased was referred to arbitration but the heirs refused to join in the reference. Held, that the submission and the award were not within the scope of the rules under the Act and the award could not be enforced against the heirs of the deceased. 133 I.C. 883=32 P.L.R. 780. Rr. 31 and 34 framed under S. 43, provide that awards shall be enforceable as decree of a Court having local jurisdiction if application is made to it to enforce it. 47 B. 92=65 I.C. 212; 97 I.C. 288 (2)=1926 L. 547. Where the rules provide for reference of disputes to Registrar, Civil Courts have no jurisdiction. 23 A. L. J. 129=47 A. 374=1925 A. 356; 71 I.C. 722=1924 L. 418. But see also 6 P.L.T. 452=88 I.C. 671=1925 P. 575; 59 C. 1165=36 C.W.N. 414=1932 C. 317; 60 C.L.J. 572; 42 C.W.N. 391=1938 Cal. 857. The ground that a minor was not properly represented before the arbitrator, is not sufficient to give jurisdiction to the Civil Court to entertain the suit for a declaration that the award was not binding on the minor. 146 I.C. 565=1933 L. 376. The question whether certain persons are the legal representatives of a deceased member entitled to have shares in the bank and to be registered as shareholders in the bank in the place of the deceased is a question which does not relate to the "business" or the management of the society and the decision of the Registrar on such a question being referred to him is not final but is subject to a right of suit in the Civil Court. An award was made at Poona under rules framed under S. 43 and then the Judge of the Small Cause Court, Poona, was requested to transfer the decree under S. 39, C. P. Code, but he refused. Held, that he was empowered to transfer the decree and he could refuse to retransfer it. 46 B. 128=23 Bom. L. R. 909. An ex parte decree was passed, in a suit in a Civil Court instituted by a Co-operative Society for money lent on a bond executed by a member of the society. Subsequently there was an agreement, which was recorded in Court, under which the member agreed to pay the decretal amount in instalments of Rs. 10 per month. Default having been committed, execution proceedings were started, and the objection was raised that the decree was void and without jurisdiction, regard being had to S. 43 of the Act and R. 22 framed thereunder by the Bengal Government. Held, that the agreement was a valid and binding agreement and could be enforced in execution and that it was not open to the defendant to go back on the same or to contend that the decree was void and unenforceable. 61 C.L. J. 24=39 C.W.N. 363.

Sec. 43 (2) (1) and (s).—Where an award is made by a person appointed as arbitrator who could not be appointed such an arbitrator under the law, the award is null and void and the Civil Court has jurisdiction to declare it void. But where the award is made by a person validly appointed as arbitrator, the award is not a nullity although the procedure adopted by the arbitrator is materially irregular and he is guilty of misconduct. Such an award has to be set aside only by taking such proceedings as are provided for for the purpose by the rules framed by the Local Government under S. 43 and the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is barred. (37 C.W.N. 843, Expl.) I.L. R. (1938) 2 Cal. 103=42 C.W.N. 391=1938 Cal. 857.

45. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the Provincial Government may, by special order in each case and subject to such conditions, if any, as it may impose, exempt any society from any of the requirements of this Act as to registration.

Power to exempt societies from conditions as to registration.

46. The Provincial Government may, by general or special order, exempt any registered society from any of the provisions of this Act or may direct that such provisions shall apply to such society with such modifications as may be specified in the order.

Power to exempt registered societies from provisions of the Act

47. (1) No person other than a registered society shall trade or carry on business under any name or title of which the word "co-operative" is part without the sanction of the Provincial Government:

Prohibition of the use of the word "co-operative."

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the use by any person or his successor in interest of any name or title under which he traded or carried on business at the date on which this Act comes into operation.

(2) Whoever contravenes the provisions of this section shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and in the case of a continuing offence with further fine of five rupees for each day on which the offence is continued after conviction therefor.

Indian Companies Act, 1882, not to apply.

48. The provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1882,¹ shall not apply to registered societies.

49. Every society now existing which has been registered under the Co-operative Credit Societies Act, 1904, shall be deemed to be registered under this Act, and its by-laws shall, so far as the same are not inconsistent with the express provisions of this Act, continue in force until altered or rescinded.

Saving of existing societies.

Ye r.	No.	Short title.	Amendments.
1914	III	The Indian Copyright Act, 1914	Amended, IV of 1924. Repealed in part XII of 1927.

PREFATORY NOTE: NATURE OF COPYRIGHT AND LAW REGULATING COPYRIGHT.—Copyright is the exclusive right of multiplying for sale copies of works of literature or art allowed to the author thereof or his assignees. As a recognised form of property it is compared with others of very recent origin, being in fact the result of the facility for multiplying copies created by the discovery of printing and kindred arts. Whether it was recognised at all by the common law of England was long a legal question of the first magnitude, and the reasons for recognising it, and the extent of the right itself are not quite clear from controversy even now. The short paragraph in Blackstone may still be read with interest. He thinks that "this species of property, being grounded on labour and invention, is more properly reducible to the head of occupancy than any other, since the right of occupancy itself is supposed, by Mr. Locke and many others to be founded on the personal labour of the occupant." But he speaks doubtfully on its existence,—merely mentioning the opposing views, "that on the one hand it hath been thought no other man can have a right to exhibit the author's work without his consent, and that it is urged on the other hand that the right is of too subtle and unsubstantial a nature to become the subject of property in common law, and only capable of being guarded by positive statutes and special provisions of the Magistrate." He notices that the Roman Law adjudged, that, if one man wrote anything on the paper or parchment of another the writing should belong to the owner of the blank materials, but as to any other property in the works, the law is silent, and he adds that, "neither with us in England hath there been (till very lately) any final determination upon the rights of authors at common law."

The nature of the right itself, and the reasons why it should be recognised in law, have from the beginning been the subject of bitter dispute. By some it has been described as a monopoly, by others as a kind of property. Each of these words covers certain assumptions from which the most opposite conclusions have been drawn. As a monopoly it is urged that the copyright should be looked upon as a doubtful exception to the general regulating trade, and should at all events be strictly limited in point of duration. As property, on the other hand, it is claimed that it should be perpetual. There would appear to be no harm in describing copyright either as a property or monopoly, if care be taken that the words are not used to cover suppressed arguments as to its proper extent and duration. Historically, and in legal definition, there would appear to be no doubt that copyright, as regulated by statute, is a monopoly.

EARLY LAW OF COPYRIGHT IN ENGLAND.—The first Copyright Act in England is 8 Anne, c. 19. The preamble states that "Printers, booksellers, and other persons were frequently in the habit of printing, reprinting, and publishing book and other writings without the consent of the authors or proprietors of such books and writings to their very great detriment, and too often to the ruin of them and their families." "For preventing, therefore, such practices for the future, and for the encouragement of learned men to compose and write useful books it is enacted that the author of any book or books already printed who hath not transferred to any other the copy or copies of such book or books in order to print or assignees, shall have the sole liberty of printing or reprinting such book or books for the term of one and twenty years, and that the author of any book or books already composed, and not printed and published, or that shall hereafter be composed, and his assignee or assignees, shall have the sole liberty of printing or reprinting such book or books for the term of fourteen years, to commence from the day of first publishing the same, and no longer." The penalty for offences against the Act was declared to be the forfeiture of the illicit copies to the true proprietor and the fine of one penny per sheet, half to the Crown and half to any person suing for the same. "After the expiration of the said term of fourteen years the sole right of printing or disposing of copies shall return to the authors thereof, if they are then living, or their representatives, for another term of fourteen years." To secure the benefit of the Act registration at Stationers' Hall was necessary. In section 4 is contained the provision that if any person thought the price of a book too high and unreasonable he might complain to Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Bishop of London, the Chiefs of the three Courts at Westminster, and the Vice-Chancellors of the two Universities in England, and to the Lord President, Lord Justice General, Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the Rector of the College of Edinburgh in Scotland, who may fix a reasonable price. Nine copies of each book was to be provided to the royal library, the libraries of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, the four Scotch Universities, Sion College and the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh. The Copyright of the Universities was not to be prejudiced by the Act. (Ency. Brit., 9th Ed., Vol. VI, pp. 356-357.)

The following Statement of Objects and Reasons is appended to the Copyright Bill:

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS TO THIS ACT.—The question of the amendment of the Indian Copyright Act (XX of 1847) has been considered on several occasions since 1864 on the ground that the Act was incomplete and did not provide, among other matters for the protection of copyright in photographs, translations, newspapers, telegrams, etc. Legislation, however, has been postponed in view of possibility of an amendment of the English Acts on the subject of copyright.

In 1908, a conference and convention, to which Great Britain was a party, was held in Berlin with the object of bringing the domestic laws of all countries concerned into harmony with one another so as to obtain international uniformity of treatment and the ratification of that Convention involved certain changes in the English law. Its provisions were examined by a strong departmental committee appointed by the Board of Trade which came to the unanimous conclusion that the Berlin Convention should be accepted by Great Britain with as few reservations as possible.

An Imperial Copyright Conference was subsequently convened in 1910 containing representations of the self-governing dominions and of the Indian Office, Colonial Office, etc. It endorsed the recommendation of the Board of Trade Committee and recommended that an Act dealing with the essentials of Imperial Copyright law should be passed by the Imperial Parliament and that this Act should be expressed to extend to all British possessions subject to the rights of self-governing dominions and possessions to modify or add to its provisions by legislation in certain cases affecting only procedure and remedies.

A Draft Bill was approved by the Conference and eventually passed into law as the Copyright Act, 1911 (1 and 2 Geo. V, c. 46), which came into operation in the United Kingdom on 1st July, 1912.

The important changes in the Act are—

- (i) The abolition of the formality of the registration of copyright.
- (ii) The extension of the term of copyright from 42 years to one of life and 50 years subject to certain conditions.
- (iii) The extension of the scope of copyright.
- (iv) The substitution of one Act for several on the subject of copyright.

The Government of India considered that the early introduction of the Act into India was desirable both for Imperial and International as well as domestic reasons and consulted Local Governments in regard to the modifications and additions referred to in section 27 of the Act, that might be necessary to suit the special conditions. On account of non-proclamation in India of the Act of 1911, and having regard to the serious hardship and loss which might thereby be inflicted on the English authors, the Act was brought into force in India by proclamation in the Gazette of India on 31st October, 1912, under section 37 (2) (d) of the Act, the question of modification or additions being postponed for subsequent consideration on receipt of the views of Local Governments. These are in substantial agreement with those of the Government of India who propose by virtue of the powers conferred by section 27 of the Act of 1911 to pass the Draft Bill which embodies the modifications in and the addition to the Act which are considered desirable, together with certain formal and necessary alterations due to difference between English and Indian administration and procedure.

It will be observed that the changes proposed are as few as possible in view of the desirability of securing that uniformity throughout the Empire which was advocated by the Imperial Copyright Conference of 1910.

Clause 3.—This contains purely formal modifications necessary for the application of the Act of 1911 to British India.

Clause 4.—Under sections 1-3 of the Act of 1911 the term for which copyright subsists in translations is the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death.

The special linguistic conditions of India render desirable a substantial relaxation of the above provision. The languages spoken in India are so numerous and differ so widely that the conditions which prevail cannot be compared with those in most European countries and vernacular translations from English and from one vernacular to another are not only common but serve the useful purpose for disseminating knowledge. It is proposed, therefore, that translations of works first published in British India should be permitted after the expiry of five years from the date of first publication, provided that two years' notice of the intention to publish a translation has been given to the author.

This proposal is considered to be a sufficient safeguard of and a reasonable compromise between rights of the author and those of the public.

Clause 5.—The provisions of section 19 of the Act of 1911 are new, and in view of the peculiar conditions of Indian music, objections have been urged against the application of this section in toto to Indian works. It is pointed out that it is impossible in most cases to identify the original composer or author and that the majority of the Indian melodies have not been written in staff notation except through the medium of the phonograph and are subject to infinite variety of notation and tune. If, under these circumstances, section 19 is adopted with its retro-active principle there may be fictitious claims of ownership in musical works and much confusion and undesirable litigation. To make it clear that in order to fall within the definition of "musical work" music must have been graphically represented it is proposed to adopt mutatis mutandis the definition of the term "musical work" contained in the English Musical Copyright Act, 1902, viz., "musical work" means any combination of melody and harmony or either of them printed, or reduced to writing.

Clause 6.—Section 18 (a) of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, prohibits importation in the case of books alone, the copyright whereof subsists in India. In view of the extension of the Act of 1911 to works other than books and the difference in procedure it is proposed to repeal this section and enact the appropriate provisions as the necessary modifications referred to in section 14 (7) of the Act of 1911.

Clauses 7-12.—The provisions of section 11 of the Act of 1911 have been in the main adopted. Imprisonment, however, will in all cases be simple, and offences will be triable by a Magistrate of the first class only. It is proposed to convert the amount of English fines on the basis of £1=Rs. 10 in accordance with the usual practice and to insert a clause exempting the case of infringement by the construction of a building from the operation of summary remedies, thus giving effect to the similar exemption provided by section 9 of the English Act.

Clause 13.—On account of the technicalities of the subject of copyright, and of the greater finality that such a tribunal will afford, it has been considered advisable to give jurisdiction to High Courts only in all suits or civil proceedings regarding infringement of copyright.

Clause 14.—This clause which is self-explanatory has been added in view of a recent decision in Evans v. Morris reported in the Law Journal of 29th March, 1913.

The following is the Select Committee's Report.—We have amended clause 3 of the Bill in two respects. In the first place, we have deleted sub-clause (2) which provided that the reference to the Judicial Committee in section 4 of the Copyright Act should be read in relation to works first published in British India as reference to the Governor-General in Council, as we consider that it is desirable that the power under this section should be exercised by one authority throughout the Empire. Secondly, we have amplified sub-clause (4) so as to provide that all references to arbitration in sub-section (1) of section 24 of the Act shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law in force in British India.

We have modified clause 4 of the Bill in various particulars. We think that the period of copyright as regards translations, which is prescribed by the Bill for works first published in British India, is too short and we have therefore altered it from five to ten years and have deleted the provisions which required the issue of notice upon an author before the production of a translation by any other person. We have, however, provided that, if within this period of ten years the author himself publishes a translation of the work in any particular language, the limitation upon copyright prescribed by this clause shall not apply to translation into that particular language. This amendment is in accordance with the provisions of the Berlin Convention. We have added a sub-clause to secure the rights of legal representatives of deceased authors.

We have substituted the word "penalties" for the words "summary remedies" in the title of Chapter III in view of the fact that the expression "summary trial" is used in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, to denote a particular procedure in the trial of cases, which might not be applicable to cases under this chapter.

We have provided for an appeal against orders of a Magistrate regarding the disposal of copies and plates which infringe copyright and have authorised the appellate Court to stay execution of such orders pending consideration of the appeal.

In view of the fact that suits relating to infringement of copyright are sometimes of a petty nature, we have given the High Court and the District Judge concurrent jurisdiction in civil suits and proceedings under the Act. It has been pointed out to us that the provisions of clause 13 of the Bill as introduced might cause unnecessary inconvenience and expenses in many cases.

THE INDIAN COPYRIGHT ACT (III OF 1914).¹

[24th February, 1914.]

An Act to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911, in its application to British India; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN COPYRIGHT ACT, 1914.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan, the District of Angul² and the Sonthal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "the Copyright Act" means the Act of Parliament entitled the Copyright Act, 1911; and

(2) words and expressions defined in the Copyright Act have the same meanings as in that Act.

CHAPTER II.

CONSTRUCTION AND MODIFICATION OF THE COPYRIGHT ACT.

3. In the application to British India of the Copyright Act (a copy of which Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, is set out in the First Schedule), the following modifications shall be made, namely:—

(1) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 3 shall, in the case of works first published in British India, be exercised by the Central Government;

² Now two districts, viz., the Khondmals District and the Angul District. This Act has been declared to be in force in these two districts by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (IV of 1936), S. 3 and Sch., and the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (V of 1936), S. 3 and Sch., respectively.

NOTES.

Sec. 1.—Distinction between 'copyright' and 'patent'. 1938 A.L.J. 390. In a case relating to infringement of copyright, it is not only proper but essential that the case should be tried with the help of experts who might be appointed commissioners to investigate and report similarities. (Ibid.) The compiler of a work in which absolute originality is by the very nature of the work excluded is entitled, without exposing himself to a charge of piracy, to make use of preceding works upon the subject, where he bestows such mental labour upon what he has taken, and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result. But no one is entitled to convey the same information, merely with some additions. (Ibid.)

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT—DIRECT WORDS

NOT USED—EVIDENCE OF PARTIES—IF A GUIDE. —Where direct words are not used to convey a right and the matter is one of inference by implication from the phrases used, then the evidence of the parties, if they are not interested one way or the other in the matter, is the surest of all guides as to the meaning of the phrases used. 1939 Lah. 433.

ASSIGNMENT—FUTURE WORK.—There cannot possibly be a transfer of copyright or assignment of copyright in a non-existing work. Where there is no proof that the work was substantially completed at the time when document transferring copyright was drawn up and on the face of it the document refers to a future work copyright cannot be transferred by it. 41 P.L.R. 879 = 1939 Lah. 433. Assignment of—Registration not necessary. I.L.R. (1939) A. 275 = 1939 All. 305 = 1939 A.L.J. 71.

INFRINGEMENT—BURDEN OF PROOF.—In an action for infringement of a copyright, it is not for the defendant to prove that there has been no infringement. It is for the plaintiff, on whom the onus lies, to prove that in fact there has been an infringement. I.L.R. (1939) Bom. 295 = 41 Bom.L.R. 530 = 1939 Bom. 347. Author agreeing to grant to publishers sole and exclusive licence to print, publish and sell his work—Agreement is merely a publishing arrangement and does not amount to an assignment of copyright. See I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 84 = 40 P.L.R. 622 = 1938 Lah. 173.

(2) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 19 shall, as regards records, perforated rolls and other contrivances, the original plate of which was made in British India, be exercised by the Central Government; and the confirmation of Parliament shall not be necessary to the exercise of any of these powers;

(3) the references in section 19, sub-section (4), and in section 24, sub-section (1), to arbitration shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law for the time being in force in that part of British India in which the dispute occurs;

(4) as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 22 to the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, and the reference in the said section to section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, shall be construed as a reference to section 77 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911;

(5) as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 24, sub-section (1), proviso (a), to the London Gazette and two London newspapers shall be construed as a reference to the Gazette of India and two newspapers published in British India; and the reference in proviso (b) of the same sub-section of the same section to the 26th day of July, 1910, shall, as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, be construed as a reference to the 30th day of October, 1912.

4. (1) In the case of works first published in British India, copyright shall be subject to this limitation that the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation of the work shall subsist only for a period of ten years from the date of the first publication of the work:

Modification of copyright as regards translation of works first published in British India. Provided that if within the said period the author, or any person to whom he has granted permission so to do, publishes a translation of any such work in any language, copyright in such work as regards the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation in that language shall not be subject to the limitation prescribed in this sub-section.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) the expression "author" includes the legal representative of a deceased author.

5. In the application of the Copyright Act to musical works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, or to musical works first published in British India, the term "musical work" shall, save as otherwise expressly provided by the Copyright Act, mean "any combination of melody and harmony, or either of them, which has been reduced to writing."

6. (1) Copies made out of British India of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in British India would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Chief Customs officer, as defined in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into British India, shall not be so imported, and

NOTES.

Sec. 5.—There cannot be an infringement of performing right in a musical composition (assuming it to exist) unless there has been a public performance of the musical composition by the defendant. A musical composition is performed by audible reproduction, by the voice or by musical instruments or by mechanical methods of reproduction. Where not a word of a song is repeated in any form in a talkie film except that the title of the song is thrown on the film at the outset this does not constitute infringement of performing right in musical composition. 187 I.C. 449=21 P.L.T. 355 =1940 P.C. 55=52 L.W. 10 (P.C.).

shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be prohibited imports within the meaning of section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

(2) Before detaining any such copies, or taking any further proceedings with a view to the confiscation thereof, such Chief Customs officer, or any other officer appointed by ¹[the Chief Customs authority] in this behalf, may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, security, conditions or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy himself, in accordance with these regulations, that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and confiscation of copies the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and confiscation; and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) Such regulations may apply to copies of all works the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the ²[Central Government] all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention, and may provide that notices given under the Copyright Act to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise of the United Kingdom, and communicated by that authority to any authority in British India, shall be deemed to have been given by the owner to the said Chief Customs officer.

NOTES.

Sec. 7.—The mere failure of an author to make the payment prescribed by S. 5 of Act XX of 1847 does not deprive him of his copyright in his book. On the other hand, the proviso to S. 14 of the Act definitely states the contrary. It is only the right to sue under that Act that is prohibited if the registration fee has not been paid. 53 M. L.J. 529=105 I.C. 669=1927 M. 981. The procedure about payment of fees prescribed by Act XX of 1847 has no place in the present Act III of 1914, and therefore a complaint under S. 7 of the new Act cannot be thrown out on the ground of non-payment of fees. (Ibid.) An acquittal will be set aside in revision in a case where the Court below has proceeded on a wrong view of the law, and where the matter is of great importance to the complainant in his position as author of a book, which, if the acquittal stands, will be pirated by the accused who will secure for himself the gains that ought legitimately to go to the complainant. (Ibid.) Under the old Act "copyright" did not include the exclusive right of translation but the author of a book who made a translation of it was entitled to a copyright in it as if it were an original work. 13 A. L.J. 636=16 Cr.L.J. 656=30 I.C. 480; offence when complete. 28 P.R. 1916 (Cr.). On this section, see also 51 M. 180.

COLOURABLE IMITATION—QUESTION OF FACT. The question whether there has been an infringement of copyright depends on whether a colourable imitation has been made. Whether a work is a colourable imitation of another is a question of fact. Similarity is a great point to be considered but mere similarity is not enough. A conglomeration of similarities which cannot be mere coincidence is evidence of infringement. 126 I.C. 197=51 C.L.J. 243=34 C.W.N. 540. But see also 142 I.C. 815=1933 P.C. 26=64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.). Infringement of copyright of pictures—Offending pictures

(a) makes for sale or hire any infringing copy of a work in which copyright subsists; or

(b) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire, any infringing copy of any such work; or

(c) distributes infringing copies of any such work, either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or

(d) by way of trade exhibits in public any infringing copy of any such work; or

(e) imports for sale or hire into British India any infringing copy of any such work;

he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every copy dealt with in contravention of this section, but not exceeding five hundred rupees in respect of the same transaction.

8. If any person knowingly makes, or has in his possession, any plate for the purpose of making infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, or knowingly and for his private profit causes any such work to be performed in public without the consent of the owner of the copyright, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

9. If any person, after having been previously convicted of an offence punishable under section 7 or section 8, is subsequently convicted of an offence punishable under either of these sections, he shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

10. (1) The Court before which any offence under this Chapter is tried may, whether the alleged offender is convicted or not, order that all copies of the work or all plates in the possession of the alleged offender, which appear to it to be infringing copies, or plates for the purpose of making infringing copies, be destroyed or delivered up to the owner of the copyright, or otherwise dealt with as the Court may think fit.

(2) Any person affected by an order under sub-section (1) may, within thirty days of the date of such order, appeal to the Court to which appeals from the Court making the order ordinarily lie; and such appellate Court may direct that execution of the order be stayed pending consideration of the appeal.

11. No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence against this Act.

12. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to any case to which section 9 of the Copyright Act, regarding the restrictions on remedies in the case of a work of architecture, applies.

must be copies of substantial portion of copyright pictures. 112 I.C. 784=30 Cr. L.J. 16=33 C.W.N. 172. As to infringement of right in a musical composition, see 52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.). In a criminal proceeding started for infringement of copyright of books the order was "summon the accused under S. 7, Act III of 1914." From the order it did not appear under which clause of S. 7 the accused was being summoned nor was it clear from the order sheet that the accused knew under what clause of S. 7 he was going to be tried. Held, that the accused had not had a fair trial. 152 I.C. 248=1934 P. 522.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Courts having civil jurisdiction regarding infringement of copyright.

13. Every suit or other civil proceeding regarding infringement of copyright shall be instituted and tried in the High Court or the Court of the District Judge.

14. No suit or other civil proceeding instituted after the 30th of October, 1912, regarding infringement of copyright in any book the author whereof was at the time of making the book resident in British India, or of any book first published in British India, shall be dismissed by reason only that the registration of such book had not been effected in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Copyright Act, 1847.

Effect of non-registration under Act XX of 1847.

15. The enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof.

CHAPTER XLVI.

An Act to amend and consolidate the law relating to copyright.

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

IMPERIAL COPYRIGHT.

Rights.

1. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends for the term hereinafter mentioned in every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if—

(a) in the case of a published work, the work was first published within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid; and

NOTES.

Secs. 1 and 2, Geo. V, c. 46: LAW BEFORE—EXTENT OF COPYRIGHT.—Even under the Copyright Act, XX of 1847, copyright is infringed not merely by printing and publication but also by performance of the works. 38 C.W.N. 611=1934 C. 671.

CONSTRUCTION OF ACT.—All laws which put a restraint upon human activity and enterprise, must be construed in a reasonable and generous spirit. Under the guise of a copyright a plaintiff cannot ask the Court to close all the avenues of research and scholarship and all frontiers of human knowledge. 1934 L. 777.

Sec. 1 (1).—"Original" does not relate to ideas. 46 M.L.J. 637=51 I.A. 109=48 B. 308=28 C.W.N. 613 (P.C.); 1938 A.L.J. 390. The laws of copyright do not protect ideas. Its protection falls within the patent laws. While a patentee has the sole right to use his invention within certain limits and if any body uses the patent, though on independent investigations, there is infringement of the patent. In the case of an infringement of copyright, it must be shown that the defendant has derived his work from the plaintiffs. I.L.R. (1938) All. 370=1938 A. L.J. 390=1938 All. 266. The compiler of a work in which absolute originality is by the very nature of the work excluded is entitled, without exposing himself to a charge of piracy, to make use of preceding works upon the subject, where he bestows such mental labour upon what he has taken, and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result. But no one is entitled to convey the same information, merely with some additions. I.L.R. 1938 All. 370=1938 A.L.J. 390=1938 All. 266.

ORIGINAL WORKS, include photographs taken from paintings, drawings or other photographs, or from engravings from pictures. (1868) L.R. 3 Q.B. 387; 37 L.J.Q.B. 161; (1869) L.R. 4 Q.B. 715; 39 L.J.Q.B. 31. If current traditional poems embodying the main incidents of legend are given a literary form demanding considerable powers of adaptation and polishing, the result is an original literary work within the meaning of S. 1. 42 C. W.N. 541=1938 Cal. 594. A man who gets another to sing or recite traditional poems for the express purpose of recording the words and then publishes the record, is entitled to a copyright. 178 I.C. 106=42 C.W.N. 541=1938 Cal. 594.

"ARTISTIC WORK".—Means not merely the suggestion of the subject of a painting as executed by another. (1890) 25 Q.B.D. 99; or the employer of a photographer, (1883) 11 Q.B.D. 627; 52 L.J.Q.B. 767; distinguished in (1895) 2 Ch. 531; 65 L.J. Ch. 41. In Kenrick v. Lawrence, (1890) 25 Q.B.D. 99, cards with a hand holding a pencil in the act of completing a cross in a ballot paper were held unprotected. It would appear that the work must be something—apart from work specifically included in the definitions in S. 35—that is capable of being printed and published. See (1908) 1 K.B. 821; 77 L.J.K.B. 577; (1921) 1 Ch. 503; 90 L.J.Ch. 318.

(b) in the case of an unpublished work, the author was at the date of the making of the work a British subject or resident within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid;

but in no other works, except so far as the protection conferred by this Act is extended by Orders in Council thereunder relating to self-governing dominions to which this Act does not extend and to foreign countries.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, "copyright" means the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatsoever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof; and shall include the sole right—

(a) to produce, reproduce, perform, or publish any translation of the work;

(b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work;

NOTES.

Sec. 1 (1) (b).—The Act does not define "the date of the making." It is submitted that such date does not mean the completion of the work, but it must be in so advanced a state that some more or less permanent record of it exists. Thus a mere idea or artistic conception cannot claim copyright. See (1887) 19 Q.B.D. 629, 636; 56 L.J. Q.B. 553; and as to proving the commencement of writing a play, see (1893) 2 Q.B. 308.

TITLE OF A WORK.—In general a title is not by itself a proper subject-matter of copyright. As a rule a title does not involve literary composition and is not sufficiently substantial to justify a claim to protection. That statement does not mean that in particular cases a title may not be on so extensive a scale and of so important a character as to be a proper subject of protection against being copied. Where theme of a film is different from that of a song the use for the film of a title of a song is too unsubstantial to constitute infringement of literary copyright. 187 I.C. 449=21 P.L.T. 355=52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.). Musical composition, see 52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.).

BROADCAST OF PERFORMANCE OF MUSICAL WORK—INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT—LIABILITY OF BROADCASTERS.—The acoustic representation of a musical work by means of wireless so that the musical work is heard many miles away from the transmitting studio or place of actual performance, is a performance (public or private) of the work within the meaning of S. 19 of the Copyright Act. Here it is necessary to remember that the sole right of the owner of the musical work is to perform it in public, and that any one may perform the work in private. The original performance in the studio may be, and generally will be, a performance in private. In such a case the broadcasted performance at the receiving end, if in public and unlicensed, will be an infringement of copyright at that place. If there is merely a broadcast from the studio where the piece is performed in studio, there is obviously no performance in public at all. A broadcast per se is not an acoustic representation of the work. If the broadcast is picked up only by listeners in private it might be difficult to establish that there is a public performance; for each performance would be separate and each would be private. But a broadcast to all and sundry listeners will include hotels and other places of entertainment or refreshment who, if not forbidden, will perform the piece to a number of members of the public, and such a performance will be a public performance within the meaning of the Act by the owners or occupiers of those places; for their actions in connection with the receivers which have been installed there and which they control have caused the public performances to take place. Whether the studio performance is public or private, if the persons who are responsible for that performance are also responsible for the broadcasting of the piece, there is no doubt that they have facilitated the performance of the work in public by any listener who is in a position to use a loud-speaker and thus to perform the piece in public. The question as to the position of the broadcasters in such a case, so far as regards infringement, is answered by the language of S. 1 (2) of the Act. It is sufficient to show that they have "authorised" the performance in public of the works; and this will generally be established by proving that listeners with a licence were entitled to tune in their receivers and thus to perform the musical works in question in public as well as in private. 188 I.C. 237=1940 P.C. 111 (P.C.).

Sec. 1 (2): "SOME SUBSTANTIAL PART".—Means some material and substantial part. (1878) 3 A.C. 483; 47 L.J.C.P. 545.

LECTURE.—A reporter of a speech may have copyright in the report. (1900) A.C. 539; 69 L.J.Ch. 699.

Sec. 1 (2) (a): "REPRODUCE".—These words do not include the representation of a picture by a tableau vivant, formed by grouping in the same way as the figures in the picture living persons dressed in the same way and placed in the same attitudes

(c) in the case of a novel or other non-dramatic work, or of an artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise;

(d) in the case of a literary, dramatic, or musical work, to make any record, perforated roll, cinematograph film, or other contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed or delivered; and to authorise any such acts as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, publication, in relation to any work, means the issue of copies of the work to the public, and does not include the performance in public of a dramatic or musical work, the delivery in public of a lecture, the exhibition in public of an artistic work, or the construction of an architectural work of art, but for the purposes of this provision, the issue of photographs and engravings of works of sculpture and architectural works of art shall not be deemed to be publication of such works.

2. (1) Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed by any person who, without the consent of the owner of the copyright, does anything the sole right to do which is by this Act conferred on the owner of the copyright:

Infringement of copyright.

NOTES.

as the figures in the picture. (1894) 2 Ch. 1; 63 L.J. Ch. 417.

Sec. 1 (2) (c).—A person who employs another to adapt a foreign play is not the "author" of the adaptation. (1856) 25 L.J. C.P. 127.

Sec. 1 (2) (d).—The term "musical work" is not defined in the Act; but see the partially repealed definition of S. 3 of the (English) Musical Copyright Act, 1906. An arrangement for the pianoforte of the score of an opera by a person other than the composer of the opera is an independent musical composition, of which the person who arranges the score for the pianoforte, and not the composer of the original opera, is the "author or composer". (1867) L.R. 3 Q.B. 223; 37 L.J.Q.B. 84. See also 52 L.W. 10=1940 P.C. 55 (P.C.).

"AND, TO AUTHORIZE ANY SUCH ACTS AFORESAID."—In the absence of any stipulation to the contrary, the vendor of a copyright may after the sale of the copyright sell any copies which were printed before such sale. (1869) L.R. 7 Eq. 418. The word "authorise" in S. 1 (2) of the Act covers anything done with the knowledge and connivance of a person. 1939 Rang.L.R. 121=1939 Rang. 266.

Sec. 1 (3): "COPIES".—No definition is given in the Act as to what will constitute a "copy", but see (1905) 1 Ch. 519; 74 L.J. Ch. 304; (1898) 14 T.L.R. 550; 55 Sol.J. 272.

"ISSUE OF COPIES OF THE WORK TO THE PUBLIC".—Under the Copyright Act, 1842, the legislature only contemplated publication within the country. (1868) L.R. 3 H.L. 100; 37 L.J. Ch. 454; but this was altered by the International Copyright Act, 1886, and the Orders in Council thereunder. Even gratuitous circulation would seem to amount to a publication. See (1852) 12 C.B. 177; 2 V. & B. 23.

Sec. 2: COPYRIGHT IN COMPILATION.—Though a book is a compilation from other works and is not original, the fact that its contents have been arranged on a new plan will give the compiler a copyright in the book. 43 A. 412=61 I.C. 394=19 A.L.J. 180. Where in an action for breach of copyright of a book much stress was laid by the plaintiff upon similarities with regard to the plan of the book, the scheme, upon phraseal identities and certain mistakes. Held, that the evidence was fantastic, and such actual coincidences as do exist were quite explicable, and should be explained that both the authors had to rely upon the accumulation of information which had been made by many authors before them and to which they have had to have recourse in writing their books. 1933 A.L.J. 393=1933 P.C. 26=64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.); 39 C.W.N. 945=61 C.L.J. 573. See also 1938 A.L.J. 390; 126 I.C. 197=34 C.W.N. 540.

WHAT AMOUNTS TO WAIVER OF COPYRIGHT.—34 I.C. 357=14 A.L.J. 724=38 A. 484.

FINE ARTS—COPYRIGHT IN—ENGLISH AND INDIAN LAW.—The Fine Arts Copyright Act (25 and 26 Vic., c. 68) does not extend to any part of the British Dominions outside the United Kingdom. [(1903) A.C. 496, F.] In England before the Statute of Anne (8 Anne, c. 19) there was no copyright at common law for an author or a publisher in his productions. 22 Bom.L.R. 808=57 I.C. 592=44 B. 720 (4 H.L.C. 815; 19 B. 557, Foll.).

TEST OF INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT—DAMAGES DIRECTORY.—67 I.C. 983. Innocence is no defence to a charge of infringement of copyright. The offence is complete even if the offender authorises the performance of a musical piece without any knowledge of infringing the rights of any other person. 32 P.L.R. 20=124 I.C. 894=1930 P.C. 314 (P.C.). The question, what is an infringement of an author's copyright is frequently

Provided that the following acts shall not constitute an infringement of copyright:—

(i) Any fair dealing with any work for the purposes of private study, research, criticism, review, or newspaper summary:

NOTES.

one of great difficulty, and is one which must depend upon the circumstances of each particular case, having regard to the nature of the work into which the pirated parts are imported, and the value and extent of the infringement. See 1878 A.C. 483; 47 L.J.C. P. 545 and (1873) L.R. 8 Exch. 1; 45 L.J. Ex. 28, where the defendant was held to have been guilty of an infringement of copyright in publishing copies of all the cartoons which had appeared in Punch relating to the Emperor Napoleon III. Although there are some subjects which must lead to the same result if accurately performed, the compiler has a right to restrain others from using the result of his labours, or to sue him for doing so, as in the case of translations. (1814) 3 V. & B. 77; roadbooks, (1807) 1 East 358; directories, (1806) 12 Ves. 270; (1809) 16 Ves. 269; (1866) L.R. 1 Eq. 697; 35 L.J. Ch. 423; (1870) L.R. 5 Ch. 279; the heading of trades directories though the letterpress consists only of advertisements. (1893) 1 Ch. 218; 62 L.J. Ch. 404; statistical tables, (1867) L.R. 3 Eq. 718; 3 L.J. Ch. 629; diaries, (1872) L.R. 14 Eq. 431; 41 L.J. Ch. 781; a telegraph code, (1884) 26 Ch.D. 637; 53 L.J.Ch. 589; or law reports, (1823) cited in 5 Ves. 709; (1838) 3 Myl. & Cr. 711; (1840) 11 Sim. 51; 9 L.J. Ch. 323. In such cases the question is whether the alleged infringement is a legitimate use of the author's publication, in the fair exercise of a mental operation deserving the character of an original work. (1810) 17 Ves. 422; 11 R.R. 118. As to trade catalogues, see (1875) L.R. 19 Eq. 623 and (1882) 21 Ch.D. 369; 52 L.J. Ch. 67. As to dramatisation of novel, see (1890) 63 L.T. 762. To obtain protection, a work must have literary value. Protection has been in the case of a photograph album. (1886) 33 Ch.D. 546; 55 L.J. Ch. 892 and a perforated card, (1882) 47 L.T. 539; 52 L.J. Ch. 107. It has been held that a fair abridgment is no infringement of a copyright. (1740) 2 Atk. 141; 3 ib. 269; 5 Ves. 709; (1785) 1 Bro. C.C. 451, cited in 3 Swanst. 679; (1761) Ambl. 402; (1801) 5 Ves. 709; and see 93 L.J.P.C. 113; but there appears to be reason for doubting the soundness of those decisions: See Scrutton on Copyright, 2nd Edn. at page 125, Every Day St. Vol. I, pp. 516-517. An abridgment of a book after the coming into force of Act III of 1914 may under certain circumstances amount to a reproduction of a substantial part of a book and therefore come within the rule of prohibition. 154 I.C. 207=1934 A. 922. See also 48 Bom. 308=51 I.A. 109=46 M.L.J. 637 (P.C.). With respect to encyclopaedias and compilations of that kind, a certain licence is allowed in extracting passages from other works. (1807) 1 Camp. 94; (1817) 2 Swans. 428; (1839) 8 L.J. Ch. 141. Quotations are necessary for the purpose of reviewing, and quotations for such a purpose are not to have the appellation of piracy affixed to them; but quotations may be carried to the extent of manifesting piratical intention. (1826) 2 Russ. 393; (1846) 10 Jur. 420. As to music, see (1835) 1 Y. & C. 288; 4 L.J. Ex. Eq. 21. Similarities due to mere coincidence are not an infringement. (1911) 28 T.L.R. 69. The registered owner of a copyright in a work is entitled to have all the unsold copies of a piratical edition delivered up to him for his own use, without making any compensation for the cost of production or publication. (1857) 3 K. & J. 581. In (1887) 12 A.C. 326; 57 L.J.P.C. 2 in which a professor of the University of Glasgow was held by the House of Lords in 1887 to be entitled to restrain other persons from publishing his lectures—delivered orally to students on payment of fees—was decided independently of the Lectures Copyright Act of 1835, which though it preserved the law, was silent as to what the law was. A reporter has copyright in his own report. (1900) A.C. 539; 69 L.J. Ch. 699.

UNPUBLISHED WORK—COPYRIGHT IN.—Where P purchased the right to publish and sell 90 songs composed by D and shortly afterwards D sold 40 of these to M, who published the same and sold them, held, that P was entitled to sue M for an injunction restraining him from publishing and selling the 40 songs in violation of the right exclusively acquired by him. 12 L.W. 151=39 M.L.J. 341=9 I.C. 229.

BOOK PRODUCED BY AUTHOR AFTER FURTHER STUDIES AND RESEARCH.—Every man can take what is useful from the original work, improve, add and give to the public the whole, compromising the original work, the additions and improvements; and in such a case there is no invasion of any right. But a copy, much less a servile copy of a work cannot be allowed. Where in a case of infringement of copyright, the new book is a work which the author has produced after further studies, and represents the result of ten years of research work, and represents a mature art and a greater wealth of details in depicting the various incidents, and the imagery is of a superior type and there are fresh incidents and details, which are the result of researches made by the author into works which had existed before as well as those which came into existence after the first work had been written and published; the two works are substantially different and there is no infringement of copyright. 1934 L. 777.

(ii) Where the author of an artistic work is not the owner of the copyright therein, the use by the author of any mould, cast, sketch, plan, model, or study made by him for the purpose of the work, provided that he does not thereby repeat or imitate the main design of that work;

(iii) The making or publishing of paintings, drawings, engravings, or photographs, of a work of sculpture or artistic craftsmanship, if permanently situate in a public place or building, or the making or publishing of paintings,

NOTES.

LAW REPORTS—EXTRACTS BY REPORTER.—A plaintiff's copyright is infringed when the defendant reproduced not only the judgments but also part of the plaintiff's reports not forming parts of judgments and facts collected by the plaintiff from the records of cases. The reporter has no copyright in the reports of judgment, but he has protection of the law in selecting and reporting cases which he obtains by expenditure of time, labour and money. 26 I.C. 30=18 C. W.N. 1078.

INJUNCTION.—In a suit for a perpetual injunction against the defendants who, it was alleged, had infringed the plaintiff's copyright by copying a large number of judgments from the plaintiff's journal "Lahore Law Times" and compiling and publishing a book called "Consolidated Revenue Rulings," it appeared that the allegation referred to the rulings portion only of the "Law Times" and that of past years; secondly, the defendants publication consisted not merely of Lahore rulings, but those of other places as well; thirdly, the plaintiffs had, by bringing out a similar book at a cheaper price, substantially reduced the chance of a loss to themselves; lastly, the trial Court had, by directing the defendant to keep a separate account of their sales, amply safeguarded their interests. Held, in the circumstances, a temporary injunction was not necessary. 1933 L. 448=34 P.L.R. 249. But see also 1931 L. 624. The power of the Court to grant a temporary injunction is not limited by the absence of any finding on the question of jurisdiction which has been raised in the case. Prima facie until such a question is decided in the negative, a Court has jurisdiction to do all acts and take any action that may be sanctioned by law in connection with the case. 132 I.C. 586=1931 L. 624.

ABRIDGMENT—MERELY SELECTING PASSAGES AND KNITTING THEM TOGETHER NO INFRINGEMENT—RAW MATERIAL OR THE ORIGINAL WORKS ARE OPEN FOR CONSULTATION FOR ALL—USE OF ANOTHER'S LABOUR AND SKILL ONLY IS PROHIBITED.—48 B. 308=51 I.A. 109=1924 P.C. 75=46 M.L.J. 637 (P.C.). On appeal from 23 Bom.L.R. 1299 the word "original" does not mean that the work must be the expression of original or inventive thought. Copyright Acts are not concerned with the origin of ideas, but with the expression of thought; and in the case of "literary work with the expression of thought in print or writing". (Ibid.) The originality which is required relates to the expression, which must be in an original or novel form, but the work must not be copied from another work, that is, it should not originate from another. (Ibid.) See also 1934 All. 922.

EVIDENCE.—In an action for breach of copyright the plaintiff relied upon the intrinsic evidence to be derived from a comparison of the two works; and urged that on comparison between the two works it would be found that there was such an accumulation of similarities, of like omissions, of plan, of phrases, of mistakes, that the inference was irresistible that defendant did in fact have her work before him before he composed his work. Held, that the Board were not prepared to say that in the case of two literary works intrinsic evidence of that kind might not be sufficient to establish a case of copying even if the direct evidence was all the other way and appeared to be evidence that could be accepted; but such evidence must be of the most cogent force before it could be accepted as against the oath of respectable and responsible people whose evidence otherwise would be believed by the Court. 1933 A.L.J. 393=1933 P.C. 26=64 M.L.J. 193 (P.C.). See also 126 I.C. 197=34 C. W.N. 540.

PRESUMPTION—BURDEN OF PROOF.—Where the defendants in an action for damages for infringement of copyright in respect of a work do not put into issue the existence of the copyright in the work, there is an irrebuttable presumption that the alleged work was a work in which copyright existed and that the plaintiff was the owner of the copyright. In this class of cases, the Court should be reluctant to sit as experts and to decide the question of infringement of copyright without the aid of expert evidence. The proper course, in such cases, is to get the opinion of experts who might be appointed Commissioners to investigate and report on the matters in issue. The opinion and findings of experts are not conclusive on the Court, but may be reviewed on exceptions. 39 C.L.J. 134=81 I.C. 754=1924 C. 595. The defence of having had no reasonable ground for suspecting that the performances of a musical piece would be infringement of copyright should be proved by the defendants affirmatively. 1930 A.C. 377=124 I.C. 894=1930 P.C. 314 (P.C.). Where a person complaining of infringement of his copyright produces the book and the certificate of registration of the copyright, the burden of proving that the portion of the book which had been copied by the accused was also contained in a previous book published by the accused's father and that the complainant had, therefore, no subsisting copyright at the time of the infringement, is on the defence. 131 I.C. 865=1931 A.L.J. 304=1931 A. 353.

Sec. 2 (1) Proviso: CONSTRUCTION.—The proviso does not say that not more than two passages from each work of the same author are published, but says "not more than two passages from work by the same author". Obviously, the proviso is not intended to protect a man who brings out an unauthorized edition of a poet's poems by taking out two poems out of each of many works published by him separately. Quære.—Whether when a number of poems are brought out in one volume the whole volume is to be considered a literary work of the author or whether each separate poem in that volume is to be considered as separate literary work. 55 All. 564=1933 A.L.J. 791=1933 All. 474.

COPYRIGHT—ASSIGNMENT—WHAT AMOUNTS TO—SALE OF FIRST EDITION OF CERTAIN NUMBER OF COPIES, EFFECT OF.—A sale of a first edition of 1,100 copies of a certain book, to be published in a particular form, amounts to an assignment of an interest in the copyright until the last copy is sold. Until then the purchaser has the right exclusively to the copyright, at any rate as far as the right to publish the book in any form is concerned. It is not merely a sale of a right to print and sell 1,100 copies in the particular form. 62 Cal. 57=39 C.W.N. 224.

3. The term for which copyright shall subsist shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death:

Term of copyright.

Provided that at any time after the expiration of twenty-five years, or in the case of a work in which copyright subsists at the passing of this Act, thirty years, from the death of the author of a published work, copyright in the work shall not be deemed to be infringed by the reproduction of the work for sale if the person reproducing the work proves that he has given the prescribed notice in writing of his intention to reproduce the work and that he has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright royalties in respect of all copies of the work sold by him calculated at the rate of ten per cent. on the price at which he publishes the work; and, for the purposes of this proviso, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given, and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, including (if they think fit) regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

4. If, at any time after the death of the author of a literary, dramatic, or musical work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that the owner of the copyright in the work has refused to republish or to allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and that by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public, the owner of the copyright may be ordered to grant a licence to reproduce the work or perform the work in public, as the case may be, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Judicial Committee may think fit.

Ownership of copyright, etc.

5. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the author of a work shall be the first owner of the copyright therein:

Provided that—

(a) where, in the case of an engraving, photograph, or portrait, the plate or other original was ordered by some other person and was made for valuable consideration in pursuance of that order, then, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, the person by whom such plate or other original was ordered shall be the first owner of the copyright;

Sec. 3.—If a copyright is shown to have subsisted when Act III of 1914 came into force, the period of copyright substituted by that Act would be 50 years from the death of the author. Where the complaint for infringement is made after the new Act the question to be considered is whether the copyright was subsisting under the new Act and not whether it was subsisting under the old Act XX of 1847. 131 I.C. 865=1931 A.L.J. 304=1931 All. 353.

Sec. 5 (1) (b).—In order to give the proprietor of a periodical a copyright in articles course of his employment by that person, the person by whom the author was employed shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be the first owner of the copyright, but where the work is an article or other contribution to a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical, there shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be deemed to be reserved to the author a right to restrain the publication of the work, otherwise than as part of a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical.

(2) The owner of the copyright in any work may assign the right, either wholly or partially, and either generally or subject to limitations, to the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion or other part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, and either for the whole term of the copyright or for any part thereof, and may grant any interest in the right by licence, but no such assignment or grant shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made, or by his duly authorized agent:

Provided that, where the author of a work is the first owner of the copyright therein, no assignment of the copyright, and no grant of any interest therein, made by him (otherwise than by will) after the passing of this Act, shall be operative to vest in the assignee or grantee any rights with respect to the copyright in the work beyond the expiration of twenty-five years from the death of the author, and the reversionary interest in the copyright expectant on the termination of that period shall, on the death of the author, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, devolve on his legal personal representatives as part of his estate, and any agreement entered into by him as to the disposition of (1848) 16 Sim. 190; 17 L.J. Ch. 210. Where the publishers of a magazine employ and pay an editor, and the editor employs and pays persons for writing articles in the magazine, the copyright in such articles is not vested in the publishers under this section. such reversionary interest shall be null and void, but nothing in this proviso shall be construed as applying to the assignment of the copyright in a collective work or a licence to publish a work or part of a work as part of a collective work.

(3) Where, under any partial assignment of copyright, the assignee becomes entitled to any right comprised in copyright, the assignee, as respects the rights so assigned, and the assignor, as respects the rights not assigned, shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as the owner of the copyright, and the provisions of this Act shall have effect accordingly.

Civil Remedies.

6. (1) Where copyright in any work has been infringed, the owner of the copyright shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction or interdict, damages, accounts, and otherwise, as are or may be conferred by law for the infringement of a right.

(2) The Costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the absolute discretion of the Court.

(3) In any action for infringement of copyright in any work, the work shall be presumed to be a work in which copyright subsists and the plaintiff shall be presumed to be the owner of the copyright, unless the defendant puts in issue the existence of the copyright, or, as the case may be, the title of the plaintiff, and where any such question is in issue, then—

(a) if a name purporting to be that of the author of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the author of the work;

(b) if no name is so printed or indicated, or if the name so printed or indicated is not the author's true name or the name by which he is commonly

NOTES.

Sec. 6.—A book containing selections from the works of different authors can be the subject-matter of copyright. The principle applicable to such cases is that one person is not at liberty to use or avail himself of the labour which another has been at for the purpose of producing his work, and so take away the result of that other's labour, i.e., his property. 156 I.C. 841=1935 Lah. 282. Where the legal right of the plaintiff, namely, his copyright in a particular book, was admitted and only its violation by the threatened publication of an alleged similar book, was not denied and it further appeared that if the injunction was not issued irreparable injury or inconvenience might result to the plaintiff. Held, that it was a proper case in which a temporary injunction should be issued. Principles applicable to grant of interlocutory injunctions considered. 132 I.C. 586=1931 L. 624. See also 34 P.L.R. 249. In a case of infringement of copyright the application for temporary injunction is governed by S. 6 of the Copyright Act and not by S. 56 (f) of the Specific Relief Act. 132 I.C. 586=1931 Lah. 624. As to measure of damages, see (1898) 1 Ch. 58; 67 L.J. Ch. 6; and as to when damages are recoverable, see (1899) 1 Ir. R. 386. The owner of a copyright in any book has no right in a Court of equity to more than the usual account of the net profits of all copies of the book. He has no right to an account of the gross proceeds. (1857) 3 K. & J. 581.

Secs. 6 and 7.—Where in a case of infringement of copyright the plaintiff asked for damages under S. 6 on the footing of the loss sustained and in the alternative under S. 7 for the delivery of the unsold infringing copies and damages on the footing of conversion in respect of the infringing copies sold, and the Court awarded damages under S. 6 and also decreed delivery of the unsold copies, held, that the plaintiff could not claim damages under S. 7 also. Quære, whether the Court was justified in awarding damages under S. 6 and also ordering delivery of the unsold copies when the prayers had been cast in the alternative. 126 I.C. 197=51 C.L.J. 243=34 C.W.N. 540. Though the remedies given by S. 6 are not alternative to those given by S. 7, yet when an owner of a copyright obtains damages under S. 6, it often happens that he can recover nothing further in respect of damages under S. 7. Where the amount of damages awarded under S. 6 covers the price of permission to publish the work in question, the author is not entitled to damages also under S. 7. 1938 Lah. 173=40 P.L.R. 622.

known, and a name purporting to be that of the publisher or proprietor of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the owner of the copyright in the work for the purposes of proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright therein.

7. All infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists, or of any substantial part thereof, and all plates used or intended to be used for the production of such infringing copies, shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright, who accordingly may take proceedings for the recovery of the possession thereof or in respect of the conversion thereof.

8. Where proceedings are taken in respect of the infringement of the copyright in any work and the defendant in his defence alleges that he was not aware of the existence of the copyright in the work, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any remedy other than an injunction or interdict in respect of the infringement if the defendant proves that at the date of the infringement he was not aware, and had not reasonable ground for suspecting, that copyright subsisted in the work.

9. (1) Where the construction of a building or other structure which infringes or which, if completed, would infringe the copyright in some other work has been commenced, the owner of the copyright shall not be entitled to obtain an injunction or interdict to restrain the construction of such building or structure or to order its demolition.

(2) Such of the other provisions of this Act as provide that an infringing copy of a work shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright, or as impose summary penalties, shall not apply in any case to which this section applies.

10. An action in respect of infringement of copyright shall not be commenced after the expiration of three years next after the infringement.

Sec. 8.—Where in an action for infringement of a copyright, the defendant alleges that he was not aware of the existence of the alleged copyright, in order to come within the provisions of S. 8 of the English Copyright Act which has been incorporated in the Indian Act (III of 1914), it is for the defendant to allege and prove that the infringement was innocent. Commissioners of Customs and Excise, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into the United Kingdom shall not be so imported, and shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be included in the table of prohibitions and restrictions contained in section forty-two of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, and that section shall apply accordingly.

(2) Before detaining any such copies or taking any further proceedings with a view to the forfeiture thereof under the law relating to the Customs, the Commissioners of Customs and Excise may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, conditions, or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy themselves in accordance with those regulations that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Commissioners of Customs and Excise may make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and forfeiture of copies, the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and forfeiture, and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices, and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) The regulations may apply to copies of all works, the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the Commissioners of Customs and Excise all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention; and may provide for notices under any enactment repealed by this Act being treated as notices given under this section.

(6) The foregoing provisions of this section shall have effect as if they were part of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876: Provided that, notwithstanding anything in that Act, the Isle of Man shall not be treated as part of the United Kingdom for the purposes of this section.

(7) This section shall, with necessary modifications, apply to the importation into a British possession to which this Act extends of copies of works made out of that possession.

Delivery of Books to libraries.

15. (1) The publisher of every book published in the United Kingdom shall, within one month after the publication, deliver, at his own expense, a copy of the book to the trustees of the British Museum, who shall give a written receipt for it.

(2) He shall also, if written demand is made before the expiration of twelve months after publication, deliver within one month after receipt of that written demand or, if the demand was made before publication, within one month after publication, to some depot in London named in the demand a copy of the book for, or in accordance with the directions of, the authority having the control of each of the following libraries, namely, the Bodleian Library, Oxford; the University Library, Cambridge, the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh, and the Library of Trinity College, Dublin; and, subject to the provisions of this section, the National Library of Wales. In the case of an encyclopædia, newspaper, review, magazine, or work published in a series of numbers or parts, the written demand may include all numbers or parts of the work which may be subsequently published.

(3) The copy delivered to the trustees of the British Museum shall be a copy of the whole book with all maps and illustrations belonging thereto finished and coloured in the same manner as the best copies of the book are published, and shall be bound, sewed, or stitched together, and on the best paper on which the book is printed.

(4) The copy delivered for the other authorities mentioned in this section shall be on the paper on which the largest number of copies of the book is printed for sale, and shall be in the like condition as the books prepared for sale.

(5) The books of which copies are to be delivered to the National Library of Wales shall not include books of such classes as may be specified in regulations to be made by the Board of Trade.

(6) If a publisher fails to comply with this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds and the value of the book, and the fine shall be paid to the trustees or authority to whom the book ought to have been delivered.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the expression "book" includes every part or division of a book, pamphlet, sheet of letter-press, sheet of music, map, plan, chart or table separately published, but shall not include any second or subsequent edition of a book unless such edition contains additions or alterations either in the letter-press or in the maps, prints, or other engravings belonging thereto.

Special Provisions as to certain Works.

16. (1) In the case of a work of joint authorship, copyright shall subsist during the life of the author who first dies and for a term of fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last, whichever period is the longer, and references in this Act to the period after the expiration of any specified number of years from the death of the author shall be construed as references to the period after the expiration of the like number of years from the death of the author who dies first or after the death of the author who dies last, whichever period may be the shorter, and in the provisions of this Act with respect to the grant of compulsory licences a reference to the date of the death of the author who dies last shall be substituted for the reference to the date of the death of the author.

(2) Where, in the case of a work of joint authorship, some one or more of the joint authors do not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright laid down by this Act, the work shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if the other author or authors had been the sole author or authors thereof:

Provided that the term of the copyright shall be the same as it would have been if all the authors had satisfied such conditions as aforesaid.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, "a work of joint authorship" means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors.

(4) Where a married woman and her husband are joint authors of a work the interest of such married woman therein shall be her separate property.

17. (1) In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of a work of joint authorship at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which has not been published, nor, in the case of a dramatic or musical work, been performed in public nor, in the case of a lecture, been delivered in public, before that date, copyright shall subsist till publication, or performance or delivery in public, whichever may first happen, and for a term of fifty years thereafter and the proviso to section 3 of this Act, shall, in the case of such a work, apply as if the author had died at the date of such publication or performance or delivery in public as aforesaid.

(2) The ownership of an author's manuscript after his death, where such ownership has been acquired under a testamentary disposition made by the author and the manuscript is of a work which has not been published nor performed in public nor delivered in public, shall be prima facie proof of the copyright being with the owner of the manuscript.

18. Without prejudice to any rights or privileges of the Crown, where any work has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, been prepared or published by or under the direction or control of His Majesty or any Government department, the copyright in the work shall, subject to any agreement with the author, belong to His Majesty, and in such case shall continue for a period of fifty years from the date of the first publication of the work.

19. (1) Copyright shall subsist in records, perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical works, but the term of copyright shall be fifty years from the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was the owner of such original plate at the time when such plate was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

(2) It shall not be deemed to be an infringement of copyright in any musical work for any person to make, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed, if such person proves—

(a) that such contrivances have previously been made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work; and

(b) that he has given the prescribed notice of his intention to make the contrivances, and has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of all such contrivances sold by him, calculated at the rate hereinafter mentioned:

Provided that—

(i) nothing in this provision shall authorise any alterations in, or omissions from, the work reproduced, unless contrivances reproducing the work sub-

NOTES.

Sec. 19 does not in terms provide that the making of the record must be a lawful act or with the consent of the owner of the copyright in the original work, if such a person exists. But the section must be limited to a lawful making of the record. The copyright conferred by the section on the owner of the plate from which the record is made presupposes, therefore, that that plate came into existence lawfully. I. L.R. (1937) Bom. 724=39 Bom.L.R. 654=1937 Bom. 472. Where the original work is the subject-matter of the copyright, it necessarily follows that the consent of the owner of that copyright must be obtained to the making of the plate. Obviously it would be lawful for the owner to refuse his consent. It would also be legitimate for him to give his consent subject to certain conditions and those conditions may involve restricting the copyright which the owner of the plate would otherwise acquire under S. 19. Such copyright might be restricted in various ways, amongst others, by restricting the public performance of records made from the plate. (Ibid.) Quære.—Whether the rights which accrue to the maker of a record or plate under S. 19, are subject or subsidiary to the rights of the owner of copyright in the original work? (Ibid.)

ject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright, or unless such alterations or omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the contrivances in question; and

(ii) for the purposes of this provision, a musical work shall be deemed to include any words so closely associated therewith as to form part of the same work, but shall not be deemed to include a contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced.

(3) The rate at which such royalties as aforesaid are to be calculated shall—

(a) in the case of contrivances sold within two years after the commencement of this Act by the person making the same, be two and one-half per cent.; and on the ordinary retail selling price of the contrivance calculated in the prescribed manner, so however that the royalty payable in respect of a contrivance shall, in no case, be less than a half-penny for each separate musical work in which copyright subsists reproduced thereon, and, where the royalty calculated as aforesaid includes a fraction of a farthing, such fraction shall be reckoned as a farthing:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of this Act, it appears to the Board of Trade that such rate as aforesaid is no longer equitable, the Board of Trade may, after holding a public inquiry, make an order either decreasing or increasing that rate to such extent as under the circumstances may seem just, but any order so made shall be provisional only and shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by parliament; but where an order revising the rate has been so made and confirmed, no further revision shall be made before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the last revision.

(4) If any such contrivance is made reproducing two or more different works in which copyright subsists and the owners of the copyright therein are different persons, the sums payable by way of royalties under this section shall be apportioned amongst the several owners of the copyright in such proportions as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(5) When any such contrivances by means of which a musical work may be mechanically performed have been made, then, for the purposes of this section, the owner of the copyright in the work shall, in relation to any person who makes the prescribed inquiries, be deemed to have given his consent to the making of such contrivances if he fails to reply to such inquiries within the prescribed time.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing anything which under this section is to be prescribed, and prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, and any such regulations may, if the Board think fit, include regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

(7) In the case of musical works published before the commencement of this Act, the foregoing provisions shall have effect, subject to the following modifications and additions:—

(a) The conditions as to the previous making by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work, and the restrictions as to alterations in or omissions from the work shall not apply;

(b) The rate of two and one-half per cent. shall be substituted for the rate of five per cent. as the rate at which royalties are to be calculated, but no royalties shall be payable in respect of contrivances sold before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and thirteen, if contrivances reproducing the same work had been lawfully made, or placed on sale, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and ten;

(c) Notwithstanding any assignment made before the passing of this Act of the copyright in a musical work, any rights conferred by this Act in respect of the making, or authorising the making, of contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed shall belong to the author or his legal personal representatives and not to the assignees, and the royalties aforesaid shall be payable to, and for the benefit of, the author of the work or his legal personal representatives;

(d) The saving contained in this Act of the rights and interests arising from, or in connexion with, action taken before the commencement of this Act shall not be construed as authorising any person who has made contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed to sell any such contrivances, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, except on the terms and subject to the conditions laid down in this section;

(e) Where the work is a work on which copyright is conferred by an Order in Council relating to a foreign country, the copyright so conferred shall not, except to such extent as may be provided by the Order, include any rights with respect to the making of records, perforated rolls, or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in this Act where a record, perforated roll, or other contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced has been made before the commencement of this Act, copyright shall, as from the commencement of this Act, subsist therein in like manner and for the like term as if this Act had been in force at the date of the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived:

Provided that—

(i) the person who, at the commencement of this Act, is the owner of such original plate shall be the first owner of such copyright; and

(ii) nothing in this provision shall be construed as conferring copyright in any such contrivance if the making thereof would have infringed copyright in some other such contrivance, if this provision had been in force at the time of the making of the first-mentioned contrivance.

20. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, it shall not be an infringement of copyright in an address of a political nature delivered at a public meeting to publish a report thereof in a newspaper.

21. The term for which copyright shall subsist in photographs shall be fifty years from the making of the original negative from which the photograph was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was owner of such negative at the time when such negative was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

NOTES.

Sec. 20.—“Public meeting” is not defined in this Act, but see S. 4 of the English Law of Libel Amendment Act, 1888 (51 and 52 Vic., c. 64).

22. (1) This Act shall not apply to designs capable of being registered under the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, except designs which, though capable of being so registered, are not used or intended to be used as models or patterns to be multiplied by any industrial process.

Provisions as to designs registrable under 7 Edw. VII, c. 29.

(2) General rules under section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, may be made for determining the conditions under which a design shall be deemed to be used for such purposes as aforesaid.

23. If it appears to His Majesty that a foreign country does not give, or has not undertaken to give, adequate protection to the works of British authors, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to direct that such of the provisions of this Act as confer copyright on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, shall not apply to works published after the date specified in the Order, the authors whereof are subjects or citizens of such foreign country, and are not resident in His Majesty's dominions, and thereupon those provisions shall not apply to such works.

Works of foreign authors first published in parts of His Majesty's dominions to which Act extends.

24. (1) Where any person is immediately before the commencement of this Act entitled to any such right in any work as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act, or to any interest in such a right, he shall, as from that date, be entitled to the substituted right set forth in the second column of that schedule, or to the same interest in such a substituted right, and to no other right or interest, and such substituted right shall subsist for the term for which it would have subsisted if this Act had been in force at the date when the work was made and the work had been one entitled to copyright thereunder:

Existing works.

Provided that—

(a) if the author of any work in which any such right as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act subsists at the commencement of this Act has, before that date, assigned the right or granted any interest therein for the whole term of the right, then at the date when, but for the passing of this Act, the right would have expired the substituted right conferred by this section shall, in the absence of express agreement, pass to the author of the work, and any interest therein created before the commencement of this Act and then subsisting shall determine; but the person who immediately before the date at which the right would have so expired was the owner of the right or interest shall be entitled at his option either—

(i) on giving such notice as hereinafter mentioned, to an assignment of the right or the grant of a similar interest therein for the remainder of the term

NOTES.

Sec. 24.—Under S. 24 no new right was conferred on an author in respect of an existing book. Whatever copyright he had at the commencement of the Act was continued in his favour. 154 I.C. 207=1934 All. 922. An entry in the Copyright Register Book under S. 3 of the previous Copyright Act is prima facie evidence of the proprietorship of the person mentioned therein, but the absence of that provision from the new Copyright Act does not make it any the less evidence when the new Act grants to the owners of existing copyrights, rights at least as valuable as the rights given under the repealed Act. S. 14 of the Indian Evidence Act can, therefore, be invoked to make such evidence admissible. A High Court can in such cases interfere under S. 15 of the Charter Act. 30 I.C. 721=16 Cr.L.J. 673. If a copyright is shown to have subsisted when Act III of 1914 came into force the period of copyright substituted by that Act would be 50 years from the death of the author. Where the complaint for infringement is made after the new Act the question to be considered is whether the copyright was subsisting under the new Act and not whether it was subsisting under the old Act XX. 131 I.C. 865=1931 A.L.J. 304=1931 All. 353.

of the right for such consideration as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration; or

(ii) without any such assignment or grant, to continue to reproduce or perform the work in like manner as theretofore subject to the payment, if demanded by the author within three years after the date at which the right would have so expired, of such royalties to the author as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration, or where the work is incorporated in a collective work and the owner of the right or interest is the proprietor of that collective work, without any such payment;

The notice above referred to must be given not more than one year nor less than six months before the date at which the right would have so expired, and must be sent by registered post to the author, or, if he cannot with reasonable diligence be found advertised in the London Gazette and in two London newspapers;

(b) where any person has, before the twenty-sixth day of July, nineteen hundred and ten, taken any action whereby he has incurred any expenditure or liability in connexion with the reproduction or performance of any work in a manner which at the time was lawful, or for the purpose of or with a view to the reproduction or performance of a work at a time when such reproduction or performance would, but for the passing of this Act, have been lawful, nothing in this section shall diminish or prejudice any rights or interests arising from or in connexion with such action which are subsisting and valuable at the said date unless the person who by virtue of this section becomes entitled to restrain such reproduction or performance agrees to pay such compensation as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "author" includes the legal personal representatives of a deceased author.

(3) Subject to the provisions of section 19, sub-sections (7) and (8) and of section 33 of this Act, copyright shall not subsist in any work made before the commencement of this Act, otherwise than under, and in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Application to British Possessions.

25. (1) This Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, shall extend throughout His Majesty's dominions: Provided that it shall not extend to a self-governing dominion, unless declared by the Legislature of that dominion to be in force therein either without any modifications or additions, or with such modifications and additions relating exclusively to procedure and remedies, or necessary to adapt this Act to the circumstances of the dominion, as may be enacted by such Legislature.

(2) If the Secretary of State certifies by notice published in the London Gazette that any self-governing dominion has passed legislation under which

NOTES.

Sec. 25.—The certificate by the Secretary of State, under S. 25 (2), (English) Copyright Act, has merely the effect of bringing into operation the provision that the Dominion in respect of which the certificate is issued should, for the purposes of the rights conferred by the (English) Act (but for those purposes only), be treated as if it were a Dominion to which the Act extended. Thus although under S. 1, (English) Act, an author writing in a Dominion would not, when the (English) Act was passed, have any copyright under the (English) Act, the effect of the certificate would be that such an author would become a person entitled to "the rights conferred" by the (English) Act. Hence the authors in that Dominion will have the same rights under the (English) Act, within the area to which that Act extends as they would have if the Act extended to the Dominion. But the certificate does not and cannot extend the (English) Act to the Dominion, if it is not in force there. 171 I.C. 406=1937 P.C. 326 (P.C.).

works, the authors whereof were at the date of the making of the works British subjects resident elsewhere than in the dominion or (not being British subjects) were resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, enjoy within the dominion rights substantially identical with those conferred by this Act, then, whilst such legislation continues in force, the dominion shall, for the purposes of the rights conferred by this Act, be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends; and it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State to give such a certificate as aforesaid, notwithstanding that the remedies for enforcing the rights, or the restrictions on the importation of copies of works, manufactured in a foreign country, under the law of the dominion, differ from those under this Act.

26. (1) The legislature of any self-governing dominion may, at any time, repeal all or any of the enactments relating to copy-right passed by Parliament (including this Act) so far as they are operative within that dominion: Provided that no such repeal shall prejudicially affect any legal rights existing at the time of the repeal, and that, on this Act or any part thereof being so repealed by the Legislature of a self-governing dominion, that dominion shall cease to be a dominion to which this Act extends.

(2) In any self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend the enactments repealed by this Act shall, so far as they are operative in that dominion, continue in force until repealed by the Legislature of that dominion.

(3) Where His Majesty in Council is satisfied that the law of a self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend provides adequate protection within the dominion for the works (whether published or unpublished) of authors who at the time of the making of the work were British subjects resident elsewhere than in that dominion, His Majesty in Council may, for the purpose of giving reciprocal protection, direct that this Act, except such parts (if any) thereof as may be specified in the Order, and subject to any conditions contained therein shall, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, apply to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident within the first-mentioned dominion, and to works first published in that dominion; but, save as provided by such an Order, works the authors whereof were resident in a dominion to which this Act does not extend shall not, whether they are British subjects or not, be entitled to any protection under this Act except such protection as is by this Act conferred on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends:

Provided that no such Order shall confer any rights within a self-governing dominion, but the Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, by Order, confer within that dominion the like rights as His Majesty in Council is, under the foregoing provisions of this subsection, authorized to confer within other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression "a dominion to which this Act extends" includes a dominion which is for the purposes of this Act to be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends.

27. The Legislature of any British possession to which this Act extends may modify or add to any of the provisions of this Act in its application to the possession, but except so far as such modifications and additions relate to procedure and remedies, they shall apply only to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident in the possession, and to works first published in the possession.

28. His Majesty may, by Order in Council, extend this Act to any territories under his protection and to Cyprus, and on the making of any such Order, this Act shall, subject to the provisions of the Order, have effect as if the territories to which it applies or Cyprus were part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

PART II.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

Powers to extend Act to foreign works.

29. (1) His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that this Act (except such parts, if any, thereof as may be specified in the Order) shall apply—

(a) to works first published in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if they were first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends;

(b) to literary, dramatic, musical, and artistic works, or any class thereof, the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the works, subjects or citizens of a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if the authors were British subjects;

(c) in respect of residence in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if such residence were residence in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which the Act extends; and thereupon, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act and of the Order, this Act shall apply accordingly:

Provided that—

(i) before making an Order in Council under this section in respect of any foreign country (other than a country with which His Majesty has entered into a convention relating to copyright), His Majesty shall be satisfied that that foreign country has made, or has undertaken to make, such provisions, if any, as it appears to His Majesty expedient to require for the protection of works entitled to copyright under the provisions of Part I of this Act;

(ii) the Order in Council may provide that the terms of copyright within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid shall not exceed that conferred by the law of the country to which the Order relates;

(iii) the provisions of this Act as to the delivery of copies of books shall not apply to works first published in such country, except so far as is provided by the Order;

(iv) the Order in Council may provide that the enjoyment of the rights conferred by this Act shall be subject to the accomplishment of such conditions and formalities (if any) as may be prescribed by the Order;

(v) in applying the provisions of this Act as to ownership of copyright, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary having regard to the law of the foreign country;

(vi) in applying the provisions of this Act as to existing works, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary, and may provide that nothing in those provisions as so applied shall be construed as reviving any right of preventing the production or importation of any translation in any case where the right has ceased by virtue of section five of the International Copyright Act, 1886.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may extend to all the several countries named or described therein.

30. (1) An Order in Council under this Part of this Act shall apply to all His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends except self-governing dominions and any other possessions specified in the Order with respect to which it appears to His Majesty expedient that the Order should not apply.

Application of Part II to British possessions.

(2) The Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, as respects that dominion, make the like Orders as under this Part of this Act His Majesty in Council is authorized to make with respect to His Majesty's dominions other than self-governing dominions, and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall, with the necessary modifications, apply accordingly.

(3) Where it appears to His Majesty expedient to except from the provisions of any Order any part of his dominions, not being a self-governing dominion, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by the same or any other Order in Council to declare that such Order and this Part of this Act shall not, and the same shall not, apply to such part, except so far as is necessary for preventing any prejudice to any rights acquired previously to the date of such Order.

PART III.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

31. No person shall be entitled to copyright or any similar right in any literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work, whether published or unpublished, otherwise than under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or of any other statutory enactment for the time being in force, but nothing in this section shall be construed as abrogating any right or jurisdiction to restrain a breach of trust or confidence.

32. (1) His Majesty in Council may make Orders for altering, revoking or varying any Order in Council made under this Act, or under any enactments repealed by this Act, but any Order made under this section shall not affect prejudicially any rights or interests acquired or accrued at the date when the Order comes into operation, and shall provide for the protection of such rights and interests.

(2) Every Order in Council made under this Act shall be published in the London Gazette and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after it is made, and shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

33. Nothing in this Act shall deprive any of the universities and colleges mentioned in the Copyright Act, 1775, of any copyright they already possess under that Act, but the remedies and penalties for infringement of any such copyright shall be under this Act and not under that Act.

34. There shall continue to be charged on, and paid out of, the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom such annual compensation as was immediately before the commencement of this Act payable in pursuance of any Act as compensation to a library for the loss of the right to receive gratuitous copies of books:

Provided that this compensation shall not be paid to a library in any year unless the Treasury are satisfied that the compensation for the previous year has been applied in the purchase of books for the use of and to be preserved in the library.

Interpretation.

35. (1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— "Literary work" includes maps, charts, plans, tables, and compilations;

NOTES.

Sec. 30 (3).—This provision will not revive a right of preventing unauthorised translations of a foreign work in England which under the previously existing law had expired before the passing of the Act. See (1892) 3 Ch. 402; 61 L.J. Ch. 580.

Sec. 35: "LITERARY WORK".—It is to be "Dramatic work" includes any piece for recitation, choreographic work or entertainment in dumb show, the scenic arrangement or acting form of which is fixed in writing or otherwise, and any cinematograph production where the arrangement or acting form or the combination of incidents represented give the work an original character;

"Artistic work" includes works of painting, drawing, sculpture and artistic craftsmanship, and architectural works of art and engravings and photographs;

"Work of sculpture" includes casts and models;

"Architectural work of art" means any building or structure having an artistic character or design, in respect of such character or design, or any model for such building or structure, provided that the protection afforded by this Act shall be confined to the artistic character and design, and shall not extend to processes or methods of construction;

"Engravings," include etchings, lithographs, wood-cuts, prints, and other similar works, not being photographs;

"Photograph" includes photo-lithograph and any work produced by any process analogous to photography;

"Cinematograph" includes any work produced by any process analogous to cinematography;

"Collective work" means—

- (a) an encyclopædia, dictionary, year book, or similar work;
- (b) a newspaper, review, magazine, or similar periodical; and
- (c) any work written in distinct parts by different authors, or in which works or parts of works of different authors are incorporated;

"Infringing" when applied to a copy of a work in which copyright subsists means any copy, including any colourable imitation, made or imported in contravention of the provisions of this Act;

"Performance" means any acoustic representation of a work and any visual representation of any dramatic action in a work, including such a representation made by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Delivery", in relation to a lecture, includes delivery by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Plate" includes any stereotype or other plate, stone, block, mould, matrix, transfer, or negative used or intended to be used for printing or reproducing copies of any work, and any matrix or other appliance by which records, perfo-noted that this definition as well as ones which follow it do not purport to be exclusive and that the ordinary and popular meaning must be given to the words interpreted as well as making them inclusive of those things specifically mentioned. The word "book" does not appear in this section, but the definition of "book" given in the Copyright Act (1842), 5 & 6 Vic., c. 45, was held to include wood engravings. (1852) 5 De G. & Sm. 267; 21 L.J. Ch. 470; maps, (1871) L.R. 6 Ch. 346; 40 L.J. Ch. 489; and newspapers, (1881) 17 Ch. D. 708; 50 L.J. Ch. 621; (1899) 40 Ch. D. 425; 58 L.J. Ch. 293 (C.A.), overruling (1869) L.R. 9 Eq. 324; 39 L.J. Ch. 52; which have no right to copy from each other, (1892) 2 Ch. 489; 61 L.J. Ch. 521; but not the title of a book in the ordinary sense. (1881) 18 Ch. D. 76; 50 L.J. Ch. 809.

"ENGRAVINGS".—Copyright was extended to lithographs by S. 14 of the International Copyright Act, 1852 (15 & 16 Vic., c. 12).

"PHOTOGRAPHY".—This will include, it is submitted, copying by a process discovered after the passing of the Act. (1863) 14 C. B. (N.S.) 306; 32 L. J. C. P. 166; (1867) L.R. 2 C.P. 410; 36 L.J.C.P. 139.

"ENCYCLOPEDIA"—"COLLECTIVE WORK".—The infringement of articles composed at the joint expense of proprietors of several newspapers may be restrained at the joint suit of all the proprietors. (1889) 40 Ch. D. 425; 58 L.J. Ch. 293. See (1907) 23 T.L.R. 370.

rated rolls or other contrivances for the acoustic representation of the work are or are intended to be made;

"Lecture" includes address, speech, and sermon;

"Self-governing dominion" means the dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and Newfoundland.

(2) For the purposes of this Act (other than those relating to infringements of copyright), a work shall not be deemed to be published or performed in public, and a lecture shall not be deemed to be delivered in public, if published, performed in public, or delivered in public, without the consent or acquiescence of the author, his executors, administrators or assigns.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, a work shall be deemed to be first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, notwithstanding that it has been published simultaneously in some other place, unless the publication in such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid is colourable only and is not intended to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public, and a work shall be deemed to be published simultaneously in two places if the time between the publication in one such place and the publication in the other place does not exceed fourteen days, or such longer period as may, for the time being, be fixed by Order in Council.

(4) Where, in the case of an unpublished work, the making of a work has extended over a considerable period, the conditions of this Act conferring copyright shall be deemed to have been complied with, if the author was, during any substantial part of that period, a British subject or a resident within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

(5) For the purposes of the provisions of this Act as to residence, an author of a work shall be deemed to be a resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if he is domiciled within any such part.

36. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule:

Provided that this repeal shall not take effect in any part of His Majesty's dominions until this Act comes into operation in that part.

Short title and commencement.

37. (1) This Act may be cited as THE COPYRIGHT ACT, 1911.

(2) This Act shall come into operation—

(a) in the United Kingdom, on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and twelve or such earlier date as may be fixed by Order in Council;

(b) in a self-governing dominion to which this Act extends, at such date as may be fixed by the Legislature of that dominion;

(c) in the Channel Islands, at such date as may be fixed by the States of those islands respectively;

(d) in any other British possession to which this Act extends on the proclamation thereof within the possession by the Governor.

PREFATORY NOTE.—The practice in our country, in respect of the levy of fees, is similar to the practice prevailing in England and other European countries.

The origin of court-fees in British India may be described in the following words of the first report of the Commissioners appointed to consider the reform of the judicial establishment, etc., of India, 1856. The report says :

“ No institution fee has ever been paid in the Supreme Court ; nor under the original system of Lord Cornwallis was there any such fee in the Courts of the Company. The State defrayed the expense of all the judicial establishments. An institution fee, in the case of civil suits, was first established by Bengal Regulation XXXVIII of 1795, not as a source of revenue, but as appears from the preamble to the Regulation, for the purpose of preventing vexatious litigation. By Bengal Regulation VI of 1797 the institution fees were converted into stamp duties ; the preamble there assigns the same object, but adds also that of increasing the public revenue. The last purpose is the only one mentioned in Bengal Regulation I of 1814 which further regulates these payments.

The old Regulations and Acts as to Court-fees in the three Presidencies are no longer of any practical application. The Madras and Bombay Regulations proceeded to a great extent on the lines of the Bengal Regulations.

With regard to criminal cases it was found that there were no means of checking litigious complaints, in trifling matters before the magistrate, and therefore a fee of eight annas was first directed to be paid on all complaints of a petty nature before the magistrate by Bengal Regulation X of 1797. Subsequently a duty of one rupee was levied on complaints as to offences of a heinous nature. This continued to be the state of the law till 1829, when it was amended by the imposing of a fee of eight annas on complaints of offences of bailable nature. When this provision was sought to be introduced in Bombay and Madras by the Bill of 1860 there was opposition and consequently fees on complaints were altogether abolished, but were introduced again by the Act of 1867.

The Stamp Act (XXXVI of 1860) was the first general Act of the Governor-General in Council relating to judicial and non-judicial stamps in British India and repeated the previous Regulations in force in the three Presidencies. This Act was in turn repealed by Act X of 1862. It was represented to the Government of India that the scale of 1862 was too low and capriciously arranged. Mr. Roberts was proposing from time to time that a scheme should be introduced, the objects of which were that there should be a uniform rate of duty of 12 per cent. and that duty shall be charged up to certain sum and beyond that sum a small duty should be levied and that the money so obtained should be employed in the improvement of the Courts. The last of these recommendations reached the Government of India in 1866. Lord Lawrence had formed the opinion that the greatest evils in the administration of justice arose from the under-payments of the lower moffusil judges and the officers of their courts. The plans which he had been considering for remedying the evils came to maturity in 1866. The first reason which led to the Stamp Bill of 1867 was a proposition on the part of Mr. Strachey that a certain sum of money should be expended in enhancing the salaries of ministerial officers and of the judicial officers of certain courts. That proposition involved an extra-expenditure of several lakhs of rupees, and the finances of the country then were ill-able to bear the additional burden. To meet that expenditure and generally that incurred on account of the Courts, a Commission was appointed for considering the stamp laws, and before them was laid the proposals of Mr. Roberts in respect of the amendment of the scale of fees leviable under Schedule B to Act X of 1862. The Commission was appointed with the object, namely, if possible, to derive out of the stamp duties levied in judicial proceedings sufficient revenue not only to meet the increased expenditure to be incurred for the Courts, but also to make the Courts, to a more considerable extent than they did, pay for themselves.

The scheme which the Stamp Commission submitted was accepted in its entirety by the Executive Council and the scale of 1867 was the result of this Commission.

Act XXVI of 1867 proved repressive of litigation, but a considerable increase of revenue was obtained through its operation. Moreover, the Act of 1867 was intended only to be a tentative measure. To give some measure of relief, Act VII of 1870 was passed. The provisions relating to Court-fees were scattered over a number of enactments and the present Act consolidated these provisions relating to Court-fees.

The law relating to Court-fees and that relating to Stamps proper were contained in one and the same regulation or Act till Act XXVI of 1867 was passed when they were dealt with each separately. In order that for the future there might be no confusion between stamp revenue proper (non-judicial) and the revenue derived "from judicial stamp" the proceeds of Act VII of 1870 were designated the Court-fees and the Act is entitled accordingly.

As regards the general policy of levying a tax on the administration of justice, it may be noted Mr. Bentham was of opinion that justice ought not to be taxed. Mr. Hobhouse, when he asked for leave to introduce the Bill of 1867 remarked, that he was aware that there was an opinion among certain writers in England that justice should not be taxed, but as far as he knew that theory did not meet with entire approbation in England."

Mr. Maine observed thus on the objection to judicial taxation—

"This astounding fact (i.e., 75 per cent. of demonstrable false accusations which was the practical result of the relaxation of the stamp law) might well make them cautious as to minor and therefore less hazardous generalities on the subject of judicial taxes in India. But it still remained to refute the more sweeping generalisation that judicial taxes in all countries were mischievous and improper. It may be observed that the opinion against judicial taxation was extremely modern. For centuries and centuries there had seemed to be nothing more simple or natural than that the parties to a dispute should remunerate the authority by whom their differences were arranged. No doubt in modern Europe the mistake had been made of allowing judicial fees to go into the pocket of the Judge himself and not into the exchequer of the State that paid him. This had led in France before the Revolution by a perfectly logical association to the sale of judicial offices, and in England though it had always been illegal to traffic in such offices, the same result had practically been obtained by the creation of sinecures which were conferred on the relations of the Judge. Against such scandals and abuses Jeremy Bentham, now not far short of a hundred years ago, protested with all the vehemence of which he was capable, and it may be stated that the opinion against the judicial taxation was entirely produced by Jeremy Bentham and was not older. It was true that Jeremy Bentham's opinions, in this respect, had not been practically carried out even in England, and that still large amounts were levied in the forms of judicial taxes in aid of the payments which the State made to its judicial officers. But the truth was that Bentham's name was so great in England that even those views of his which had never been acted upon obtained currency and importance in the shape of commonplaces. If it should be enquired into as to what were the reasons of Bentham for denouncing judicial taxation as mischievous, the following points may be noticed: Bentham's idea was that all litigation or all but very little, was entirely the fault of Government and therefore he naturally objected that the Government which caused litigation should profit by it. Bentham believed that litigation was owing to the complexity of the law, and this litigation might be almost entirely removed by legislation adapted to true principles. He thought that litigation and therefore the expense of litigation might be reduced to a minimum, if it were not for the blindness, the stupidity or the cupidity of legislatures in not simplifying the laws. Mr. Maine would quote the panacea expressly prescribed by Bentham for all but complete suppression of fees and costs, and an all-comprehensive code of substantive law having for its end in view the greatest happiness of the greatest number. Each part of it presented to the minds of all persons on whom conformity to its enactments, and the attainment of its end depends, an all-comprehensive code of adjective law, otherwise called a code of procedure, having for its end the giving, to the utmost possible amount, execution and effect to the enactments of the substantive Code. This passage was quoted from the principles of judicial procedure as a statement of Bentham's expedient for preventing judicial taxation and accordingly he argued with perfect logic that it is the State and not the litigant that ought to pay them.

Now without entering into the question of the truth of these views, had they any application whatever to India? The simple fact was that the people of India objected to having their laws and institutions simplified, and resented such interference as a breach of the conditions on which the country was governed. The truth appeared to be that the people of the country were not only wedded by custom and religious feeling to a complex system of law, but prided themselves on their usages in proportion to the complexity of those usages. If this were so, the foundation of Bentham's doctrine collapsed and the doctrine itself had no application to India. The legislature was estopped by the conditions of our tenure of the country from so simplifying the law as to render judicial taxation mischievous. He (Mr. Maine) did not mean to imply that indefinite judicial taxation was legitimate to this country. All they argued was that it was governed by the same principles as the levying of any other tax, and not by any special consideration of the mischievousness of judicial taxation.

Mr. Maine again remarked in the Council that the question whether justice might be taxed for the general purposes of the State did not arise in India, and that the last thing which could be attributed to the Commission or to the Government was policy of taxing litigants as a separate class for the benefit of the general finance.

The above observations of Mr. Maine were made in vindication of the policy of the Government in levying taxes for the administration of justice. The Court-Fees Act (VII of 1870) was passed into law; and it prescribes certain fees to be paid by suitors before the Court can take action in their suit or on their application.”—Abstract of Proceedings in the Indian Legislative Council, Vol. VI, pp. 70, 123, 125, 290, 291. It is now well settled that the Court-Fees Act is essentially a fiscal enactment; and all the provincial legislatures have passed Special Local Acts enhancing the scale of fees laid down by Act VII of 1870. See Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (II of 1912); Bengal Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (IV of 1922); Bihar and Orissa Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (II of 1922); Bombay Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (III of 1926); The Central Provinces Court-Fees Act (I of 1923); Madras Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (V of 1922); Punjab Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (VII of 1912); United Provinces Court-Fees (Amendment) Act (III of 1923).

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called THE COURT-FEES ACT, 1870.

LEG. REF.

¹ For the Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1869, Pt. V, p. 57; for proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1869, Supplement, pp. 1179 and 1462; ibid., 1870, Supplement, pp. 52, 378, 421, 427 and 434.

For rules under the Act by the High Court, Madras, Appellate Side, see Fort St. George Gazette, Supplement, dated 20th December, 1904, p. 1, and for Civil Rules of Practice by the same Court, under this Act, the Civil Procedure Code and certain other Acts; for observance of the Subordinate Civil Courts in that province, except the Small Cause Court at Madras, see ibid., 1905, Supplement, p. 1.

Act VII of 1870 has been declared in force—in Upper Burma generally (except the Shan States) by the Burma Laws Act (XIII of 1898), S. 4 (1), Sch. I, Bur. Code; in British Baluchistan, by the British Baluchistan Laws Regulation (I of 1890), S. 3, Bal. Code; in the Sonthal Parganas, by the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), as amended by the Sonthal Parganas Justice and Laws Regulation (III of 1899), Ben. Code; in the sub-division of Angul, by the Angul District Regulation (I of 1894), S. 3, Ben. Code.

It has further been declared, by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act (XVI of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—the District of Hazaribagh, Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 507; the District of Lohardaga (now called the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44; the District of Lohardaga then included the present District of Palamau, separated in 1894), see Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 508; the District of Manbhum, Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 509; the Pargana Dhalbhum in the District of Singhbhum, Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 510; the Scheduled Districts in Ganjam and Vizagapatam, see Gazette of India, 1898, Pt. I, p. 869; the Tarai of the Province of Agra, see Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I, p. 505.

It has been extended by notification under S. 5 of the same Act to the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum, see Gazette of India, 1907, Pt. I, p. 655 and under Ss. 5 and 5-A of that Act to the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—the Garo Hills District, the Khasi and Jaintia Hills District, the Naga Hills District, the North Cachar Sub-Division of the Cachar District, the Mikir Hill Tract in the Nowgong District and the Dibrugar Frontier Tract in the Lakhimpur District, provided that the Act does not apply to natives of these districts and tracts who are assessed to house-tax except in such places and cases as the Deputy Commissioner may withdraw from the operation of the exemption, see Assam Gazette, 1881, Pt. I, p. 861; Gazette of India, 1884, Pt. I, p. 164; the Lushai Hills, with the same proviso, see Gazette of India, 1904, Pt. I, p. 913, and Assam Gazette, 1904, Pt. II, p. 787.

The Act came into permanent operation in Aden on 1st April, 1876, see Bombay Government Gazette, 1876, Pt. I, p. 956.

It has been declared inapplicable to proceedings before officers making a settlement, and in certain other cases under the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), S. 8, as amended by the Sonthal Parganas Justice and Laws Regulation (III of 1899), Ben. Code.

The Act has been amended in Upper Burma by the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation (I of 1896), S. 36, Bur. Code; in the Punjab, by the Punjab Courts Act (XVIII of 1884), S. 71, P. and N. W. Code; and in Lower Burma by the Lower Burma Courts Act (VI of 1900), S. 47.

NOTES.

Sec. 1 : OBJECTS AND SCOPE OF THE ACT.—The object of the Act is not to arm a litigant with a weapon of technicality but to secure revenue to the State and its provisions are to be so construed. 43 B. 507=46 I.A. 24=36 M.L.J. 437 (P.C.). See also 22 L.W. 42; 34 C.W.N. 1129. As to the imperative necessity to faithfully follow the provisions of the Act, see 1940 A.L.J. 891=1940 All. 55. The Act not only prescribes the fees, but provides how these are to be ascertained, how questions as to sufficiency of fees are to be determined, etc. 12 A. 129=(1890) 10 A.W.N. 39. See also 32 M. 305 (310)=19 M.L.J. 340 (F.B.).

CONSTRUCTION OF THE ACT.—The Act is a fiscal enactment, and must, in cases of doubt, be interpreted strictly in favour of the subject.

Extent of Act.

It extends to the whole of British India ;
And it shall come into force on the first day of Commencement of Act.

April, 1870.

See also the observations of Justice Mahmood and Chief Justice Edge on the point in 12 A. 129=(1890) 10 A.W.N. 39 (F.B.). The drafting of the Act is imperfect and unscientific and its interpretation gives rise to much difficulty. 4 P. 336=6 P.L.T. 262=1925 P. 392. The Act must be taken as a whole and individual sections should not be considered by themselves in order to give effect to the legislative intent upon a particular matter. 21 I.C. 502=18 C.W.N. 121. Though the Court-Fees Act is a fiscal enactment and its provisions have therefore to be strictly construed, yet they should not be so construed as to furnish a chance of escape and means of evasion. 13 Luck. 628=1937 O.W.N. 1186=1938 O. 1. See also 18 P.L.T. 438=1937 Pat. 514. Practice of Court though long established cannot override the express provisions of the Act. See 12 A. 129=(1890) 10 A.W.N. 39 (F.B.). See also 41 I.C. 446 (Cal.) ; 43 B. 507 (P.C.) ; 27 C. 508 ; 13 C.W.N. 815 at 821. Provisions of other statutes which are in pari materia may be referred to, but when the Acts are different in their scope and character, they cannot be read together. 22 M. 494=9 M.L.J. 37 ; 4 B. 515. Thus Limitation Act cannot be consulted. 29 A. 749 ; 22 M. 494 ; 9 M. 134. The special provisions of the Land Acquisition Act should not be extended by analogy to vary the provisions of the Court-Fees Act. 152 I.C. 244=15 P.L.T. 548=1934 P. 571. In such an Act as the Court-Fees Act if there is a special provision which applies to a particular case then that special provision must be applied by the Court rather than some general classification in which the suit may also be included which may be more favourable to the plaintiff. 36 L.W. 225=1932 M. 605=63 M.L.J. 764. The Act ought to be liberally construed. 1927 M. 1002=105 I.C. 881=54 M.L.J. 67. See also 152 I.C. 244=1934 P. 571 (S.B.).

OPERATION OF THE ACT.—Court-fee on an application (for review) should be calculated according to the law in force when the application was filed. 1932 A.L.J. 908=1933 A. 20. See also 1940 A.L.J. 904=1941 All. 134. Plaint returned for presentation to proper Court—Court-Fees Act coming into force before actual presentation—Court-fee is payable under the new Act. 30 C.W.N. 90=91 I.C. 862=1926 C. 355. An amending Act passed subsequent to the filing of the document need not be taken into account. 1932 A.L.J. 908=1933 A. 20. See also 51 C. 216 (Plaint originally filed with insufficient stamp). Though the operation of its provisions may result at some extraordinary situation, the Act must be construed as it stands. See 1941 A.L.J. 409=1941 All. 357.

APPLICATION OF ACT—APPEALS.—Horwill, J.—The various section of the Court-Fees Act apply not only to suits but to appeals also. All the High Courts have always taken it for granted that appeals are valued in the same way as suits. 165 I.C. 972=44 L.W. 763=71 M.L.J. 677. Act does not apply to cases coming before the ordinary original jurisdiction of High Court. 13 R. 156=1935 R. 460.

DETERMINATION OF COURT-FEES UNDER THE ACT.—In order to determine the amount of Court-fee payable in a suit, the Court has to look at and see in each particular case what the nature of the relief claimed is, and for that purpose it must look at the allegations contained in the plaint. 21 C.W.N. 375=35 I.C. 797. See also 15 L. 531=150 I.C. 994=1934 L. 563 (F.B.) ; 40 C.L.J. 150=79 I.C. 982. In other words, the cause of action as stated in the plaint must be seen. 20 C. 762=1928 B. 476 ; 15 P. 386=161 I.C. 706=1936 P. 171. For purposes of calculation of Court-fee, the Court must take the allegations in the plaint to be prima facie correct ; and a plaintiff is entitled to insist that the Court-fee should be assessed on the basis on which he has framed his plaint although there might be room for suspicion that the plaint has been so drafted as to avoid inconvenient facts and the payment of a higher Court-fee. (1937) 1 M.L.J. 572=45 L.W. 720=1937 Mad. 402. The Court-fee has to be determined on the nature of the allegations in the plaint and not on what is set up or pleaded in the defence. 138 I.C. 88=1932 M. 409 ; 16 I.C. 773 (Sind) ; 35 C.W.N. 942 ; 5 P. 631 ; 6 P. 506=1927 P. 145. The Court should not ask itself whether the allegations made in the plaint are true or probable. 64 M.L.J. 24=141 I.C. 80=1933 M. 430. See also 30 I.C. 73 (Oudh) ; 16 I.C. 773 (Sind). The substance and not the mere language of the plaint must be looked to. 28 I.C. 79=38 M. 922, following 30 Mad. 18 and 40 C. 59=21 I.C. 404. See also 1932 M. 605=63 M.L.J. 764=36 L.W. 225 ; 1939 M. 435=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 425 ; 46 L.W. 484=1937 M. 876=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 616 ; I.L.R. (1938) All. 470=1938 A.L.J. 578 ; 1938 All. 481 ; 1938 Oudh 1 ; 139 I.C. 317=1932 M. 605=63 M.L.J. 764 ; 1930 N. 73 ; 50 M.L.J. 406=91 I.C. 709=1925 M. 248. But see 1928 M. 929=110 I.C. 752 (Parties can avail themselves of any camouflage that the law allows or does not forbid). But see 1935 A.M.L.J. 4. (Though Court-Fees Act is a fiscal enactment, Courts must see that it is not evaded). It has not been the practice of the Patna High Court from the time of its foundation, to depend exclusively on the averments of the plaintiff for the ascertainment of what should be the proper Court-fee payable, or to permit a plaintiff to escape liability by a vague and indefinite statement of facts in the plaint, or to penalize him because he may possibly ask for a declaration which may be unnecessary. 18 P.L.T. 438=1937 Pat. 514. Merely asserting that a suit is a suit for administration does not make it one, and if a party sues to recover an estate, the valuation of the suit must be the value of the estate he seeks to recover. 1937 Rang.L.R. 426=1937 Rang. 455. The question of the proper court-fee payable in a suit is to be determined on the substance of the claim to be gathered from the whole of the plaint and not merely on the language of the relief claimed in the plaint. A Court ought not to allow itself to be deceived by the language used for evading the payment of proper court-fee by concealing the real purposes of the suit. 13 Luck. 628=1937 O.W.N. 1186=1938 O. 1 (F.B.). See also 63 M.L.J. 764. The substance of the plaint and not merely the exact relief asked for, has to be looked into in order to determine the Court-fee payable on the plaint. 10 P. 432=130 I.C. 46=1931 P. 78. It is the duty of Court to see that proper value is put on the relief claimed. Where it is too small on the face of the plaint, the Court can question the same. 21 I.C. 404=40 C. 615. The question whether Court-fee should be paid or not is a matter that is important from the point of view of Government alone. 133 I.C. 465=1931 A.L.J. 727=1931 A. 659. The plaintiff's estimate of the value of land, if contrary to the section of the Court-Fees Act cannot be allowed to operate to the prejudice of the defendant at any stage of the suit. The defendant can object to the valuation whenever it is in his interest to do so. 49 A. 398=25 A.L.J. 258=1927 A. 308. The Court-fee payable on a plaint in a suit and the forum of trial depend on the allegations made in the plaint and not on the defence set up by the defendant. If the plaintiff can prove his allegations he would be entitled to the relief on the lines that he has claimed, and the forum of trial is the Court in which he has brought the suit. The fact that the defendant sets up a different title cannot alter the nature of the plaintiff's claim. If the facts are found to be as pleaded by the defendant, the proper course is to dismiss the suit and not to convert the suit into another of a different character. 182 I.C. 178. Court-fee is paid on the relief available at the time of the institution of the suit, but if after its institution circumstances change and it becomes necessary for the plaintiff to ask for any further relief, it is always open to him to apply to the Court for amendment of the plaint by adding new relief and to offer to pay Court-fee thereon. 20 P.L.T. 818

=1939 P.W.N. 61=1939 P. 219. Method provided in the Act for valuing property in suits should be followed. 1927 M. 825=105 I.C. 171. Appeal liable to ad valorem Court-fee but not valued as such—Ad valorem fee should be levied before admission of appeal. See 1937 Pat. 514=18 P.L.T. 438. As to refund of Court-fees, see under S. 13.

DETERMINATION OF—COMPROMISE BETWEEN PARTIES AND COURT.—The question of Court-fee cannot be settled by any compromise between the parties and the Court, in the absence of any one representing the fiscal authorities. 14 L. 558=144 I.C. 636=1933 L. 905. See also 1939 A. 659.

COURT-FEES AND LIMITATION.—Where no Court-fee stamp was affixed to the copy of the order appealed against filed along with the memorandum of appeal and in spite of the objection raised by the office the stamp was not affixed till long after the expiry of the period of limitation. Held, that the appeal was not properly presented within time. 147 I.C. 343=35 P.L.R. 142=1934 L. 272. A memorandum of appeal presented to the Court of the District Judge under the law applicable to appeals, which has been transferred to the High Court on an application by the appellant, should bear court-fee stamp as prescribed for a memorandum of appeal presented to the High Court. 41 C.W.N. 1083=65 C.L.J. 499=1937 C. 514.

JURISDICTION.—The Suits Valuation Act and the Court-Fees Act are purely fiscal enactments and they have no bearing on the question as to which is the proper Court for the institution of the suit having regard to the value of the property. 1932 A.L.J. 416=1932 A. 413. When a Court has finished with and disposed of a suit, it has no jurisdiction to take up the question of valuation of the suit for purposes of Court-fee or to direct the payment of additional Court-fee. There is no provision of law authorizing such a procedure. An order for additional Court-fee made under such circumstances is ultra vires. 1936 R.D. 390. If the deficiency in the Court-fee in the lower Court is not made up, the appellate Court may refuse to prepare or sign its decree until the deficiency is made up. 41 P.L.R. 491. See also 1939 Sind 279. There is no provision in the Court-Fees Act which justifies a process of attachment for recovery of court-fees after the Court finally parts with seisin of a case. 140 I.C. 191=1932 A.L.J. 165=1932 A. 316. See also 1933 M.W.N. 330=1934 A.L.J. 820. The only Court which can rectify an improper order as to Court-fee is the appellate Court and in cases where no appeal lies, the revisional Court. 81 I.C. 56=1923 All. 86.

COURT-FEE AND VALUATION CHARTS.—Charts showing the minimum values of lands of different classes in different parts of the district may be used for the purpose of S. 9 of the Court-

Fees Act. But such charts cannot and must not be put upon the parties as though they are evidence in themselves and any judicial officer acting in a judicial matter upon such charts is acting without evidence before him. 33 C.W.N. 952=50 C.L.J. 164. The Court-Fees Act provides that the Court may issue a commission for local investigation but there is no provision for a chart issued by the District Court to the subordinate Court in which the valuation is set out of the various classes of lands in the District. 33 C.W.N. 845=49 C.L.J. 562=1929 Cal. 717.

REFUND OF COURT-FEE.—The Court can order a refund of Court-fees (1) where the Court-fees Act applies, (2) where there is an excess payment by a mistake, and (3) where on account of a mistake of a Court a party has been compelled to pay the Court-fees either wholly or in part. Outside these cases the Court has no authority to direct a refund. Thus where an appeal is withdrawn and consequently dismissed, the appellant is not entitled to apply for a refund of the Court-fees paid on the memorandum of appeal. 57 M. 1028=1934 M. 566=67 M.L.J. 321. See also 159 I.C. 443=1935 C. 707 ; 1935 Pesh. 8 ; 46 L.W. 757=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 788. Where on a memorandum of appeal filed out of time a conditional order was made by the Court for its admission and the condition was not complied with by the appellant, he is not entitled to get a refund of Court-fees paid on the memorandum of appeal. 41 G. W. N. 1184. The Court has inherent jurisdiction to order a refund of court-fee even in cases which do not fall within Ss. 13, 14 and 15, Court-Fees Act. Where there has been no real trial of the main issues involved in the case in both the Courts below, the appellant is entitled to a refund of Court-fee paid by him in the lower appellate Court on the memorandum of appeal. 41 P.L.R. 796=1939 L. 257. See also (1939) 2 M.L.J. 867. Where a suit is properly filed in a Civil Court, the plaintiff being at the time entitled in law to institute such suit, but in the meantime the legislature takes by an amendment of the law, away the right to the relief claimed in the suit, the proper course for the Civil Court to adopt is to dismiss the suit. In such circumstances the Court cannot invoke its inherent powers to order the refund of the court-fee or grant a certificate under the Court-Fees Act. 51 L.W. 105=1940 M.W.N. 68=1940 Mad. 451. The District Court, as a Court of appeal, is not entitled to issue an order of refund of excess of Court-fees paid on the memorandum of appeal. Recovery of excess amount paid is a matter between the party concerned and the Revenue Authorities. All that the District Court can do is to certify that in its opinion the amount paid by the appellant is in excess of the amount required by law. Armed with the certificate the party may go to the Revenue authorities and claim a refund from them. The certificate is however merely the expression of the opinion of the Court which the executive orders of the Government require to be obtained where any person desires to make an application to the Revenue authorities for the refund of the fees paid in excess. 164 I.C. 639=1936 R. 352. The plaintiff who was called upon to make good a deficiency in Court-fee, without having done so, made an application to the Court to permit her to withdraw the suit and for liberty to sue again. Her application was granted but subsequently an attachment of her property was ordered to enforce the payment of the deficiency in Court-fee whereupon she paid. In revision, held, that it was not open to a Court to issue an order of attachment for realisation of deficiency in Court-fee stamp. Held, further that as no order permitting the plaintiff to withdraw the suit and to bring a fresh suit could have been made on the basis of an insufficiently stamped plaint, which was liable to be rejected, the plaintiff had paid what was due from her and was, therefore, not entitled to get back the money. 152 I.C. 816=1934 A.L.J. 820=1934 A. 989. A plaintiff whose plaint is rejected for non-payment of deficit Court-fee within the time fixed by the Court is not entitled to an order of refund of the Court-fee paid by him originally on his plaint. There is no specific provision for refund in such a case, and the Court has no inherent jurisdiction to refund the Court-fee in such a case. 1937 A.L.J. 481=1937 All. 505.

CHARGE FOR COURT-FEES IN PAUPER SUIT—LIABILITY OF PURCHASER FROM PAUPER.—The charge under O. 33, r. 10, C. P. Code, is created by law and a purchaser of a decree obtained by a pauper takes it subject to the charge. The charge however is only for the Court-fee and not for the fees of the Government Pleader also. 147 I.C. 751=1934 A. 438. SECS. 3 AND 4: SCOPE OF THE SECTIONS.—S. 4, Court-Fees Act, is imperative and enacts that no document of any kind shall be received unless it bears Court-Fees of the requisite value. Though S. 149, C. P. Code, which was subsequently introduced in the Code of Civil Procedure, vests in the Courts a discretion as to whether appeals with insufficient Court-fee should be allowed to be received when proper Court-fees are paid within the time allowed by the Court, the discretion should be exercised on correct judicial principles, and not in a way so as to nullify the express provisions of S. 4 of the Court-Fees Act. 61 C. 663=38 C.W.N. 650=1934 C. 659. S. 4 has no application to the ordinary original civil and criminal jurisdiction, or admiralty and matrimonial jurisdictions, etc., of the High Court. But S. 3 enacts that the procedure laid down in Chapter V, Ss. 25 to 28 for collections and the mode of levying the fees shall apply to the original jurisdiction as well as the appellate jurisdiction from the High Court and no Court-fee is leviable not applicable to Letters Patent appeal from the judgment of a single Judge of the High Court and no Court-fee is leviable thereon except Rs. 2 prescribed for an application to the High Court. 44 A. 13=19 A.L.J. 677. See also 13 R. 156; 1933 S. 148 (Income-tax Reference); 45 M. 849=1922 M. 421; 65 I.C. 675; 3 L. 420=1923 L. 275; 1 P. 384=3 P.L.T. 194; nor to appeals under Agency Rules referred by Government to High Court for disposal. 22 M. 162. A reasonably wide construction must be given to S. 3 and if a particular fee could have been imposed under the High Courts Act or the Government of India Act, it is payable in virtue of the power conferred by that Act within the meaning of the section, even although the High Court purported to impose the fee under a power derived from some other source. R. 204 of the Insolvency Rules (Calcutta) made under S. 112 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act could have been made by the High Court under the powers conferred on it by S. 15 of the Indian High Courts Act and the fees prescribed thereby are accordingly covered by S. 3 of the Court-Fees Act. 42 C.W.N. 1146=1938 Cal. 755. Suit transferred to High Court under Cl. 13 of the Letters Patent (Mad.) from Presidency Small Cause Court—Deficiency must be paid according to Court-Fees Act. 22 L.W. 15=91 I.C. 751=1925 M. 1216. Where a suit is transferred from the City Civil Court to the High Court under Cl. 13 of the Letters Patent and tried by the High Court as a Court of extraordinary original jurisdiction, the Court-fees payable are those in force in the High Court as a Court of Ordinary Original Jurisdiction (and not those payable under the Court-Fees Act) as the case is expressly governed by S. 14 of the Madras City Civil Courts Act

No document of any of the kinds specified in the first or second schedule to this Act annexed, as chargeable with fees, shall be filed, exhibited or recorded in, or shall be received or furnished by, any of the said High Courts in any case coming before such Court in the exercise of its extraordinary original civil jurisdiction ;

Fees on documents filed, etc., in High Courts in their extraordinary jurisdiction. or in the exercise of its extraordinary original criminal jurisdiction ; or in the exercise of its jurisdiction as regards appeals from the ³[Judgments (other than judgments passed in the exercise of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the Court) of one] or more Judges of the said Court, or of a Division Court.

Sec. 4 : MEMORANDUM OF APPEAL.—Under S. 4, "documents" includes memorandum of appeal. 12 A. 129 (F.B.). Appeal should not be entertained without payment of proper Court-fee. 30 I.C. 379 (Pat.) ; 3 P.L.J. 74 =42 I.C. 675 ; 25 M. 24 (memorandum of cross objections). See also 1929 A. 75. See also S. 28, infra. Under r. 19 of Chapter VII of the Patna High Court Rules the Stamp Reporter would be required to take action if he found that a memorandum of appeal which was insufficiently stamped had been accepted by mistake or inadvertence as sufficiently stamped and it cannot be said that when the appeal is once admitted and registered the functions of the Stamp Reporter are necessarily at an end. Where the law was changed after the decision of the Reporter by reason of a Bench decision of the High Court and additional Court-fee was sought to be levied under the later decision. Held, that the action of the Stamp Reporter was valid in law. 14 P.L.T. 180. S. 4 is imperative in its terms. Filing of an appeal on insufficient Court-fee stamp, with the knowledge that it is insufficient, with a view to save limitation cannot be allowed. 119 I.C. 700=1929 N. 294. See also 1930 N. 224.

APPLICABILITY—DOCUMENTS PRODUCED IN HIGH COURT UNDER INCOME-TAX ACT (1922), S. 66.—As no mention of the Court-fee payable on a reference under S. 66, Income-tax Act, is to be found in Schs. I and II, Court-Fees Act, S. 4 of that Act does not apply to documents produced in a reference to the High Court under S. 55, Income-tax Act, and therefore no Court-fee is chargeable on such documents. 145 I.C. 254=27 S.L.R. 243=1933 S. 148.

Sec. 5 : SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—See the observations of Collins, C. J., in 21 M. 269 (270). Conditions necessary for the operation of the section. See 12 A. 129 (F.B.) ; 4 P.L.J. 700 ; 3 P.L.J. 92=43 I.C. 521. Before S. 5 can be applied, it must be shown that the subject-matter of the reference is a fee covered by S. 3 of the Act. 42 C.W.N. 1146=1938 Cal. 755. The jurisdiction of a Taxing Officer does not raise like the jurisdiction of an arbitrator Procedure in case of difference as to necessity or amount of fee. that any fee is paid under this chapter and any suitor or attorney, as to the necessity of paying a fee or the amount thereof, the question shall, when the difference arises in any of the said High Courts, be referred to the taxing-officer, whose decision thereon shall be final, except when the question is, in his opinion, one of general importance, in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the Chief Justice of such High Court, or of such Judge of the High Court as the Chief Justice shall appoint either generally or specially in this behalf.

When any such difference arises in any of the said Courts of Small Causes, the question shall be referred to the Clerk of the Court, whose decision thereon shall be final, except when the question is, in his opinion, one of general importance in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the first Judge of such Court.

The Chief Justice shall declare who shall be taxing-officer within the meaning of the first paragraph of this section.

upon a difference of opinion between a Court clerk and a suitor and upon formal reference to decide the dispute. The intention of S. 5 is merely to ensure that the question should be raised before the Taxing Officer, that he should bring his mind to bear on the question and decide it. 52 C. 871=29 C.W.N. 879=1925 C. 1201. See also 20 M. 398; 44 L.W. 763=71 M.L.J. 677. S. 5 of the Act contemplates a decision of the Taxing Officer on the merits of the question. Where the Taxing Officer declines to entertain the question and to decide it, his order cannot be considered to be one under S. 5, so as to operate as a bar to the question of Court-fee being considered by the Court. 1933 A.L.J. 1537. The power of the Taxing Officer under S. 5 is not confined merely to memoranda of appeal filed in the High Court, but extends to deficiencies in stamp on a plaint or memorandum of appeal in the Courts below when the fact of detriment to the revenue is brought to his notice. 22 A.L.J. 1038=84 I.C. 822=1925 A. 184. The decision of the Taxing Officer of the High Court holding that ad valorem fees are payable in respect of a matter is final under S. 5 of the Court-Fees Act and final for every purpose and cannot be impeached before the Court at the time of the hearing. Venkatasubba Rao, O.C.J.—S. 5, like several other sections, is undoubtedly defective, as it makes no provision for the Taxing Officer being compelled to refer the question to the Judge of the Court. 44 L.W. 763=71 M.L.J. 677. See also 14 P. 658=159 I.C. 4=16 P.L.T. 433=1935 P. 396. Under S. 5 it is competent to the Chief Justice to refer a dispute re: Court-fee between a suitor or his attorney and the Officer of the Court, to the decision of a particular Judge of the High Court. 45 M. 849=43 M.L.J. 436=1922 M. 421. See also 71 M.L.J. 677. The decision of such Judge is final. 1927 B. 643=52 B. 61=106 I.C. 66 (2). It is not proper for a Judge to whom a Court-fee matter is referred to refer the matter to a Bench. 3 P. 146=75 I.C. 871. Nor has the Division Bench jurisdiction to decide the reference. 33 A. 20=7 A.L.J. 842 (30 M. 96, Foll.) A Division Bench of the High Court has no jurisdiction to reopen the valuation of the appeal after it is admitted. 4 P.L.J. 700=52 I.C. 508. S. 5 does not give the High Court Judge, deputed for the purpose of dealing with the questions of Court-fees under S. 5 to decide questions with regard to sufficiency of Court-fees paid in Subordinate Courts. He has jurisdiction only to deal with questions relating to Court-fees in the High Court. 12 R. 335=1934 R. 268. It is not within the province of a taxing Judge of the High Court under S. 5 to say whether the trial Court ought to have required payment of ad valorem Court-fee before the trial of the suit, while holding that an appeal in that suit is liable to ad valorem Court-fee. 18 P.L.T. 438=16 P. 491=1937 P. 514.

FINALITY OF THE DECISION OF THE TAXING OFFICER.—A decision of the Taxing Officer is final and is not open to appeal, review or revision. 4 P.L.J. 700=52 I.C. 508; 3 P.L.J. 92=43 I.C. 521; 60 C.L.J. 201=39 C.W.N. 131; 12 A. 129; 105 I.C. 119=1927 M. 940=53 M.L.J. 457; 1932 A.L.J. 244=1932 A. 319. It is final both as to the category under which the suit falls and the amount of the fee payable by the suitor. 12 A. 129; 23 A.W.N. 214; 32 A. 19=6 A.L.J. 972=4 I.C. 123; 15 A. 117. It is final though wrongly given. The Bench hearing appeal will not interfere with it. 2 P. 919=5 P.L.T. 315. See also 2 P. 198=4 P.L.T. 71; 4 P. 336=87 I.C. 137=1925 P. 392 (F.B.); 1926 P. 147; 52 C. 871=29 C.W.N. 89=1925 C. 1201. The remedy of the party aggrieved is to move the Board of Revenue to grant a refund. 1926 P. 147. See also 39 P.R. 1907. The effect of a wrong decision, however, by the Taxing Officer cannot be to prejudice the rights of the parties. 15 A. 117=13 A.W.N. (1893) 45.

OBJECTIONS AS TO INSUFFICIENCY OF COURT-FEE.—When once the Taxing Officer has decided the amount of Court-fee no objection can be taken by the respondent at the time of hearing. 20 M. 398; 20 A. 11 at 17. Where, however, no reference under S. 5 has been made at all, the Court hearing the appeal must decide such question. 47 A. 756=23 A.L.J. 725. See also 20 M. 328; 37 C. 914; 21 M. 269. In a case where there has been no decision by the Taxing Officer under S. 5, the Court is not precluded from taking notice at the hearing of the deficiency in the stamp duty. 1930 M. 597=58 M.L.J. 497. See also 12 R. 335=1934 R. 268.

CHAPTER III.

FEES IN OTHER COURTS AND IN PUBLIC OFFICES.

6. Except in the Courts hereinbefore mentioned, no document of any of the kinds specified as chargeable in the first or second schedule to this Act annexed shall be filed, exhibited or recorded in any Court of Justice, or shall be received or furnished by any public officer, unless in respect of such document there be paid a fee of an amount not less than that indicated by either of the said schedules as the proper fee for such document.

NOTES.

TAXING OFFICER—JURISDICTION.—The jurisdiction of the Taxing Officer is limited to cases in which it is alleged that a document filed, exhibited or received in the High Court is not sufficiently stamped. It does not extend to cases in which it is alleged that a party paid insufficient Court-fee on his plaint or memorandum of appeal in the lower appellate Court. To this class of cases, S. 12 (ii) is clearly applicable. 1934 A.L.J. 957=150 I.C. 653=1934 A. 805. The jurisdiction of the Taxing Officer of the High Court is confined to the question of Court-fee on the memorandum of appeal in the High Court only and he cannot decide the question of proper Court-fee payable in the Courts below. That has to be decided by the Court itself. 165 I.C. 213=17 P.L.T. 677. Taxing Officer of the High Court is the Registrar on the Appellate Side. 37 C. 914=8 I.C. 1145. In Madras, the Registrar was the ex officio Taxing Officer—Fort St. George Gazette, 29th September 1915, Pt. II, p. 1769. But under a recent Notification the Master has been appointed as the Taxing Officer. The Deputy Registrar is not the Taxing Officer and his order is not final under the section. The question decided by him can be raised at the hearing of the appeal. 37 C. 914=8 I.C. 1145. But see also 12 R. 335=1934 R. 268.

POWERS OF THE TAXING OFFICER.—To determine the amount of Court-fee payable, the Taxing Officer has power to investigate for himself the proper valuation of the appeal. He can take evidence for that purpose and should not exercise his powers in a summary manner. 4 P. 336=6 P.L.T. 262. A taxing Judge is bound to follow the law as laid down by a Division Bench of the High Court, whether he is acting administratively or judicially. 42 P.L.R. 101.

COLLECTION OF FEE ON APPEAL BY STAMP REPORTER—SUBSEQUENT DECISION BY HIGH COURT—Under R. 19 of Chapter VII of the Patna High Court Rules the Stamp Reporter would be required to take action if he found that a memorandum of appeal which was insufficiently stamped had been accepted by mistake or inadvertence as sufficiently stamped and it cannot be said that when the appeal is once admitted and registered the functions of the Stamp Reporter are necessarily at an end. Where the law was changed after the decision of the Reporter by reason of a Bench Decision of the High Court and additional Court-fee was sought to be levied under the later decision. Held, that the action of the Stamp Reporter was valid in law. 12 P. 694=14 P.L.T. 180=1933 P. 234.

REPORT OF STAMP REPORTER—NO OBJECTION IN TIME—POWER OF COURT NEVERTHELESS TO OVERRULE REPORT.—Though in view of R. 11 of Allahabad High Court Rules, Ch. III, it is not open to the advocate or the party to question the accuracy of the report of the Stamp Reporter; if it has not been made within three weeks from the date of the report, it does not and cannot prevent the Court from overruling his report or entering a question of the sufficiency of the Court-fee. 1933 A.L.J. 1537.

Sec. 6: DOCUMENTS.—A memorandum of appeal is a document within the meaning of this section, as also a plaint, and an application for review. 12 A. 57=A.W.N. (1889) 197. In a case to which S. 17 applies, S. 6 is controlled by S. 17. 141 I.C. 533 (1)=1933 M. 178. Documents not required to be stamped, see Ss. 33 and 19, infra. Application not required to be in writing does not fall within the section. 2 N.W.P. 418. Thus an application by an auction-purchaser for a certificate of sale need bear no stamp. 13 B. 670. So also an application for issue of succession certificate. 17 W.R. 489. As to Court-fee on application for letter of administration, see 154 I.C. 722=1935 A. 449. Also an application for refund of stamp duty. 9 W.R. 357; 1932 A.L.J. 601=1932 A. 590. No additional Court-fees are payable on a plaint returned for presentation to the proper Court. 8 B. 313. See also 1 B. 538; 7 C. 157; 2 A. 357. When a suit properly instituted before the Settlement Officer without a Court-fee under S. 8 of Reg. III of 1872 was under S. 5 of the Regulation transferred to the Civil Court, no institution Court-fee had to be paid in the Civil Court also. 12 C.W.N. 917. Under the section, a certificate under Act XL of 1858 cannot come into existence until the person, who has the permission of the Court to obtain it, deposits the requisite amount of stamp duty. 12 C. 542. A document not properly stamped is not a nullity. 1936 C. 277. It is always open to the Court to find out by looking into the allegations in the plaint in a suit whether or not the suit is really what it purports to be and whether the Court-fee paid is sufficient. In fact it is a duty cast upon the Court under S. 6 of the Court-Fees Act; and if it finds that the suit in substance is not what is ostensibly appears to be but one requiring a larger Court-fee, it can demand additional Court-fee. 1937 A.L.J. 562=1937 A. 411.

"FILED."—Meaning of. See 20 A. 11 (17).

"FURNISHED."—See 17 W.R. 489.

As to payment of stamp duty on documents insufficiently stamped, see under S. 28. The cause of action arose on 24th September, 1929,

7. The amount of fee payable under this Act in the suits ¹ next hereinafter mentioned shall be computed as follows :—

Computation of fees payable in certain suits—

NOTES.

and the suit was filed on 11th October, 1932, that is, on the day of the opening of the Courts after the long vacation. The plaintiff was stamped with a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 4 instead of Rs. 39, and on the office report the Court ordered that the deficiency should be made good within two days. The deficiency was made good on 13th October, 1932, and the suit was then registered. Held, that although the Court-fee had not been paid on 11th October, 1932, the order of the Court passed under S. 149 allowing the plaintiff two days in which to make good the deficiency undoubtedly had the effect of giving the plaintiff the same force and effect as if such fee had been paid in the first instance. 1934 A.L.J. 533=1934 A. 160. Document insufficiently stamped—Rejection of—Powers of single judge of High Court. See 157 I.C. 347=1935 A. 620=1935 A.L.J. 681 (F.B.).

Sec. 6, 13, 14 and 15.—Refund of Court-fee—Limitations on the inherent power of Court. See 157 I.C. 443=62 C.L.J. 298=1935 C. 707.

Secs. 6 and 17.—In a case to which S. 17 applies S. 6 is controlled by S. 17. 37 L.W. 74=1933 M. 173=65 M.L.J. 252.

Secs. 6 and 28.—Any conflict between S. 6 of the Court-Fees Act and Act, S. 149, C.P. Code is resolved by S. 28 of the Court-Fees Act. When an insufficiently stamped memorandum of appeal is received and comes before the Court, it falls to be dealt with under S. 149, C. P. Code, read with S. 28 of the Court-Fees Act. The Court acting under S. 149, C. P. Code, may reject the memorandum as inadmissible in cases in which it sees no good ground for extension of time to make good the deficiency or merely return it. In either case representation with proper Court-fee is not precluded. I.L.R. (1941) Nag. 467=1941 N.L.J. 258=1941 Nag. 220.

Sec. 6-A (as amended by United Provinces Act XIX of 1938).—When an appeal lies against an order directing payment of Court-fee, incidental orders which lead up to it can be set right. I.L.R. (1941) A. 558=1941 O.W.N. 704=1941 A. 298. The right of appeal given to a suitor under S. 6-A of U. P. Act XIX of 1938 is a part of procedure relating to determination of Court-fee and is purely a matter in which the Crown is interested and in which neither the plaintiff nor the defendant has such a vested right as cannot be affected by a subsequent enactment. The Act XIX of 1938, which allows an appeal against the order demanding Court-fee does not take away any right which was vested in the plaintiff on the date when he filed the plaint, it only confers upon him new right, and it does not take away any right which was vested in the defendant either. The defendant has no vested right in the procedure by which the proper Court is determined. A change in procedure cannot be said to deprive him of any vested right. Where in respect of a suit filed before the Act XIX of 1938 came into force, an order for payment of Court-fee is passed subsequent to the Act coming into force, the right of appeal under S. 6-A is available to the aggrieved party. I.L.R. (1941) A. 558=1941 A.L.J. 376=1941 O.W.N. 704=1941 A. 298. Where on an objection as to Court-fee paid being raised the Court decides the question of Court-fee along with the merits of the case and embodies everything in a single judgment and adds a direction that the decree is to be drawn up after the deficiency is made good, the procedure adopted by the Court is in flagrant violation of the provisions of the Court-Fees Act. Where the plaintiff in such a case does not make good the deficiency and appeals the appeal is an appeal against an order in accordance with S. 6-A, Court-fees Act and not against a decree under S. 96, C. P. Code, for no decree has been drawn up in the case. 1940 O.A. 1168=1941 A. 55.

Secs. 6-B and 6-C : REFERENCE BY WHOM COMPETENT—CHIEF INSPECTOR OF STAMPS, HOW TO MOVE HIGH COURT.—Under S. 6-C, Court-Fees Act it is only the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority that is given the power to make a reference to the High Court. The Chief Inspector cannot make a reference under that section. He is only entitled under S. 6-B within the prescribed period to move the prescribed Court "by an application in writing" for revision. A letter sent by the Chief Inspector containing a statement of his opinion and not bearing a stamp cannot be considered to be an application in writing for revision under S. 6-B. I.L.R. (1941) A. 585=1941 A.L.J. 487=1941 A. 369.

Sec. 7 : SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—S. 7 states the various processes by which the values in different suits are to be ascertained and the schedule then applies the proper Court-fee to these values. 6 N.L.R. 164=8 I.C. 1125. Once the value of a relief is ascertained for purposes of a plaint, the first schedule rates the relief at the same value for purposes of appeal. The value of the same relief remains unchanged all through the succeeding stages though the appeal is made against its grant or its refusal by the lower Court. (Ibid.) See also 1933 N. 362; 49 I.C. 962 (P.); 30 M.L.J. 402=39 M. 725. The value of the suit thus artificially ascertained is quite distinct from valuation for jurisdiction although it may be the same in many cases. 5 C. 489=4 C.L.R. 491; 4 B. 515; 15 C. 104; 12 B.L.R. 115 (Note)=18 W.R. 109. See Suits Valuation Act. The provisions of S. 7 are applicable equally to appeals as to original suits. But the Court-fee payable in appeal need not be the same as in the suit, as the nature of the litigation may be changed in appeal. See 25 O.C. 30=1922 O. 82. In suits to obtain a declaratory decree or order where consequential relief is prayed for, and in suits to obtain an injunction, where the Court finds the relief claimed as undervalued, it is under O. VII, r. 11 (b), entitled to require

- (i) In suits for money (including suits for damages or compensation, or arrears of maintenance of annuities, or of other sums payable periodically)—according to the amount claimed:

NOTES.

the plaintiff to correct the valuation stated by him in accordance with the provisions of S. 7, Court-Fees Act. But so long as there are no rules framed under S. 9, Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887), the Court would have no standard before it on which it may regard the plaintiff's valuation as an under-valuation, and its powers of correction would have to be exercised on that footing. 61 C. 796=38 C.W.N. 589=1934 C. 448 (F.B.). See 149 I.C. 109=1934 P. 234. See also cases cited under Sch. I, Art. 1, on the point. The application of any particular clause of S. 7 must depend on the substance of the claim and not on the mere words used in the plaint. 1925 M. 248=91 I.C. 709=50 M.L.J. 406; 29 L.W. 584. Court-fee is payable on the footing of the plaint and not on what is afterwards decided by the Court. 79 I.C. 913=5 P.L.T. 655.

OPERATION OF AMENDING ACTS.—Where a suit for injunction is filed before the amendment of the Court-Fees Act, by U. P. Act XIX of 1938 and court-fee paid according to the law then in force but a second appeal is filed after the amendment, on a question as to the court-fee payable on the appeal, it was held that it was the amount mentioned in the plaint which was the basis of valuation and that one must look back to the date of the institution of the suit to ascertain it. I.L.R. (1940) A. 793=1940 A.L.J. 904=1941 A. 134. See also 1941 A.L.J. 376=1941 O.W.N. 704=1941 A. 298.

Sec. 7, Cl. (i): SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—This clause has no application to suits or appeals in which no amount is claimed. 30 M. 96=16 M.L.J. 458. Suits for recovery of money by the sale of mortgaged property fall under this clause and not under cl. (ix). 30 A. 103; 58 C. 829=1931 C. 159; 18 B. 696; 7 Bom. L.R. 194. A co-mortgagee suing to recover his individual share in the mortgage must value his suit according to the full amount due under the deed and cannot value it according to his own share. One of several co-mortgagees who are in the position of tenants-in-common can sue to recover his own share of the mortgage debt, provided he makes his co-mortgagors defendants, if they refuse to join him as plaintiffs. He must ask for a preliminary mortgage decree in respect of the entire debt; he has to ask the Court to decide what is due on the mortgage as a whole and to fix a period for redemption of the mortgaged property in its entirety, as there can be no redemption in part. The plaint must be stamped accordingly on the value of entire mortgage-debt under S. 7 (i) of the Act; which is also the valuation for purposes of jurisdiction under S. 8 of the Suits Valuation Act. This principle applies also to the case of a charge on immovable property. 54 L.W. 679=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 986 (1939 M. 986) overruled. Sub-mortgage—Suit by sub-mortgagee impleading original mortgagor also—Prayer for sale of the properties mortgaged under original mortgage—Court-fee is payable on original mortgage amount not sub-mortgage amount. 1937 M.W.N. 1040. The stamp on a plaint on an instalment bond should be calculated not on the amount of the whole bond but on the amount claimed in the suit. 4 W.R. 12.

WHAT ARE MONEY SUITS.—A suit for the balance due on a commission agency account is a money suit under S. 7 (i). 64 I.C. 626=15 S.L.R. 82. See also 18 B. 696. Also a suit for a definite sum as commission. 1928 B. 476. So also a suit for arrears of maintenance in which no declaration as to future maintenance is asked for. 87 I.C. 911=1925 N. 435; 42 A. 356. A suit for arrears of maintenance. 1927 O. 623. See also 149 I.C. 982=1934 L. 150. A suit to obtain a declaration that the plaintiff is the sole and exclusive owner of G. P. Notes which are not mature for payment is not a suit for recovery of money. As such S. 7 (i) does not apply to such a suit. 188 I.C. 471=1940 Lah. 26. A suit for an order that the defendant should specifically perform a contract of guarantee or for compensation for breach of the contract falls under Cl. (1). Bom.P.J. (1890) p. 204. See also 2 R. 462=1925 R. 65; 47 I.C. 992. A suit for specific movable property of different kinds or their value as compensation, must be stamped under S. 7 (i) on the total value of the claim. 3 A. 131. Suit for an ascertained sum of cesses is governed by this clause (i). 11 P.L.T. 619. Also a suit for rent accrued due. 42 A. 353=55 I.C. 809; 17 I.C. 44. As to suit for enhancement of rent, see 61 C. 513=38 C.W.N. 527=1934 C. 674. A suit for taking of accounts of the assets and income of the joint family property for the purposes of partition of the share of the outstandings after taking accounts, is not a claim for money governed by S. 7 (i), so far as the assets of the family or even such funds as may be found to be in the possession of the defendants on the taking of the accounts are concerned, and the Court cannot refuse to accept the plaintiff's valuation even on the ground that it is arbitrary. 165 I.C. 412 (2)=1936 M.W.N. 401=1936 M. 562. See also 160 I.C. 935=70 M.L.J. 292. In a suit for accounts, the mere fact that the plaintiff refers in the plaint to the account set by the defendant wherein it is stated that a specific amount was remaining in the hands of the defendant, would not convert the suit into a suit for recovery of a specific sum of money stated in the letter so as to be chargeable to Court-fee on that amount. 163 I.C. 822=1936 M. 525. See also 1936 B. 166.

SUIT FOR MESNE PROFITS.—A suit for mesne profits falls under this clause and not under Cl. (6) of Art. 17, Sch. II. Court-fee should be paid on the amount claimed antecedent to the suit. 13 C.W.N. 815=1 I.C. 670. See also 1 P.L.W. 781=40 I.C. 579; 165 I.C. 972=44 L.W. 763=71 M.L.J. 677. No Court-fee need be paid on the amount claimed subsequent to the suit. 15 B. 416. See also under S. 11. In an appeal from a decree directing ejectment and awarding mesne profits, Court-fee must be calculated on the value of land

- (ii) In suits for maintenance and annuities or other sums payable periodically —according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and such value shall be deemed to be ten times the amount claimed to be payable for one year.
- (iii) In suits for movable property other than money, where the subject-matter has a market-value—according to such value at the date of presenting the plaint;
- (iv) In suits—

and the mesne profits. 16 M. 310. See also 23 M. 84; 43 I.C. 962.

Sec. 7, Cl. (ii).—Suits for declaration of right to periodical payment fall under the clause. 42 A. 353=18 A.L.J. 328=55 I.C. 809. If in addition to such declaration, arrears are claimed, Court-fee must be paid also on such claim under cl. (1). Ibid. See also 24 B. 386=163 I.C. 471=1936 M. 388=70 M.L.J. 128. Where a suit is to secure a certain sum as arrears of annuity and also to call upon the defendant to furnish security for the payment of a certain sum per mensem the second part of the prayer is chargeable under S. 7 (ii). 1886 A.W.N. 228. A suit to obtain a reduction in the amount of maintenance decreed to a Hindu widow on a change of circumstances does not come under the clause and may be presented on a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 10. 24 B. 386=2 Bom.L.R. 191. See also 1 A. 594; 59 M. 159=69 M.L.J. 202=1935 M. 655. Suit by A against B and C for a declaration of title to certain property and injunction restraining C from paying and B from receiving an allowance of Rs. 2,400 a year out of the income thereof falls under S. 7, cl. 4 (c) and (d) and not under S. 7, cl. (2). 17 B. 56.

OTHER SUMS PAYABLE PERIODICALLY.—Re: Court-fee payable for suits for arrears of maintenance, see 1 Luck. 648. See also Madras Amending Act V of 1922. In construing S. 7, cl. (ii) the expression "Other sums payable periodically" must be limited by the specific words precede it. Court-fee on a suit for assessment of rent and recovery of a specific sum of money as damages for use and occupation should be computed under cl. (iv) (c) of S. 7. 51 I.C. 15=4 P.L.J. 561. But see 59 C. 997=55 C.L.J. 303=1932 C. 674. On this section, see also 40 C.W.N. 1149.

Sec. 7, Cl. (iii).—A suit for the recovery of movable property pledged falls under this clause. See D.C.R. (Central Provinces) Part V, p. 3. Bonds have a certain market-value. A suit for bonds must be valued according to the amount secured by them and not on the value of the stamp paper. 10 P.R. 1871. See also 4 C. 322=3 C.L.R. 375.

Sec. 7, Cl. (iv), Court-Fees Act, must be read with O. 7, r. 11 (b), C. P. Code, S. 7 (iv) simply means that the relief sought is to be valued in the plaint or memorandum of appeal by the plaintiff. (1933 S. 322; 1931 S. 15 and 1934 C. 448, Rel. on.) 161 I.C. 384=1936 S. 25.

PLAINTIFF'S RIGHT TO PUT HIS OWN VALUATION IN SUITS COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—"The nature of the suits comprised in the six articles of the clause which in some instances renders it impossible, and in others either impossible or generally extremely difficult to lay down even approximately fair ad valorem scale as a means of fixing the Court-fee in such suits would appear fully to account for the legislature leaving it to the plaintiff to name the valuation." Per Westropp, C. J., in 2 B. 219. There is a conflict of rulings as to whether the Court has power to question or interfere with the plaintiff's valuation or whether the Court is bound to accept the valuation of the plaintiff however arbitrary it may be. The Calcutta High Court is of the view that it was never intended that the plaintiff should assign an arbitrary value and that if he puts an arbitrarily low value, it is open to the Court to determine the true value. 40 C. 245=15 C.L.J. 194=17 C.W.N. 591; 11 C.W.N. 705=6 C.L.J. 427. See also 31 C. 301; 14 C.L.J. 47=15 C.W.N. 823; 40 C.L.J. 150=79 I.C. 982=1924 C. 969; 27 C.W.N. 627=86 I.C. 853=1925 C. 814. But see 27 C.W.N. 457=1923 C. 329; 33 C.W.N. 231 (23 C.W.N. 753, P.C. Rel. on.) The Patna High Court and the Allahabad High Court are of the same view. 2 P. 198=4 P.L.T. 71; 56 I.C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703; 41 I.C. 95=2 P.L.W. 173; 5 P.L.J. 394; 131 I.C. 808=1931 P. 195; 36 A. 500=12 A.L.J. 844=24 I.C. 679. But the Bombay and Madras High Courts hold that the plaintiff has the right to put his own valuation on the claim and that the Court cannot revise such valuation. 44 B. 331=22 Bom.L.R. 289; 33 B. 307=11 Bom.L.R. 30. See also 2 B. 219 cited infra and 17 B. 56; 23 M. 490=10 M.L.J. 240; 38 M. 922=28 M.L.J. 118=28 I.C. 79. See also 27 M. 480; 30 M. 18; 24 M.L.J. 233 (F.B.). The Privy Council ruling in 23 C.W.N. 753=43 B. 376 would seem to support this view. There it was held that where a plaintiff sues for a declaratory decree and asks for consequential relief, then for purposes of Court-fee and for purposes of jurisdiction, it is the value that the plaintiff puts upon the plaint that determines both. See also 33 C.W.N. 231; 68 C.L.J. 144. In Punjab also the Court does not interfere with plaintiff's valuation of the suit. 1922 L. 236; 111 P.R. 1913=22 I.C.

A suit for a declaration that the person really interested in a promissory note is the plaintiff and not the defendant, though it is in the defendant's name, and for recovery of the note but not for recovery of the money due thereunder, to which the maker of the note is also a party falls under S. 7, cl. (iv) (a) of the Court-Fees Act, and the plaintiff has got to state the value at which he values the relief. Cl. (iii) of S. 7 does not apply to the case. 58 M. 228=40 L.W. 709=1934 M. 730 (1)=67 M.L.J. 680.

CASE UNDER U. P. AMENDMENT ACT, S. 7 (iv) (a).—When along with a declaratory relief there is sought some consequential relief in respect of immovable property, but such relief is not capable of valuation in money, then court-fee should be paid as if the relief was one for possession of immovable property. 15 Luck. 415=1940 O.W.N. 223=1940 O. 249.

Sec. 7 (iv) (b) : "RIGHT TO SHARE."—The expression "right to share" has been differently interpreted by the different High Courts. The Bombay High Court has held that the words refer to a suit for the enforcement of what may be called an abstract claim of right to share in any joint property. In such view the clause would apply only where the right which is sought to be enforced is a right to share as a joint sharer in joint family property, where the plaintiff's status as a coparcener is in dispute. See 33 B. 658=11 Bom.L.R. 1074=4 I.C. 243. Ordinary suits for partition would fall either under Cl. (v) or Art. 17 (6) of Sch. II according as the plaintiff is in joint possession or not. For cases where the Bombay High Court has held that ad valorem Court-fee should be paid under Cl. (v) see 33 B. 658 ; 18 B. 209. In a previous case (22 B. 315), however, this Court had held that the fee payable in a suit for partition would be according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint. [S. 7, Cl. (iv) (b).] The Calcutta High Court also has held the view that the clause refers to a suit for joint possession by a coparcener who is out of possession and not to a suit for partition which is governed by Art. 17, Cl. (6). 6 C.L.J. 651=12 C.W.N. 37. Where the plaintiff is already in possession of his share and all that he wants, is to obtain a partition which is merely to change the form of enjoyment of the property, the suit is incapable of valuation. 8 C. 757=11 C.L.R. 95 ; 5 C. 188=4 C.L.R. 418 ; 13 C.L.R. 253. See also 20 C. 762 ; 27 I.C. 465 (C.) ; 137 I.C. 519=36 C.W.N. 291=1932 C. 353 ; 22 C.W.N. 669 ; 38 C. 681. In a recent Full Bench decision, the Madras High Court also has taken the view that the clause does not apply to ordinary suits for partition between coparceners of a Hindu family. See I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 259=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 32=51 L.W. 11=1940 Mad. 113 (F.B.) overruling 21 M.L.J. 21. The Allahabad High Court and Patna High Court are of the same view. See 34 A. 184=8 A.L.J. 1329=13 I.C. 185 following A.W.N. (1900) P. 90 and 28 A. 340 ; 49 I.C. 115 (Pat.) ; 58 I.C. 236=5 P.L.J. 540 ; 2 P. 432. As also the Nagpur Judicial Commissioner's Court. See 15 C.P.L.R. 120 ; 1924 N. 86=81 I.C. 766 ; 19 N.L.R. 99 ; 101 I.C. 770=1927 N. 248. Where the plaintiff is out of possession of his share in the joint property he is required to pay ad valorem Court-fee under S. 7, Cl. (iv) upon the valuation of his share in the property. 58 I.C. 236=5 P.L.J. 540. See also 63 I.C. 203 (Pat.) ; 1924 N. 86=81 I.C. 766 ; 19 N.L.R. 99 ; 101 I.C. 770=1927 N. 248. [The plaintiff cannot give this value as he likes according to the view taken by these Courts—see cases cited supra on the point.] The Patna High Court went to the length of holding that a party seeking partition must ask for joint possession if he is out of possession as a condition precedent to a decree for partition and that in a suit so framed he must pay fixed fee in addition to an ad valorem fee. 3 P. 618=1924 P. 558=81 I.C. 1052. See also 6 P.L.J. 662=65 I.C. 294. (declaration of title prayed for regarding one of the items to be partitioned) ; 1 P.L.T. 529=56 I.C. 570. Where the suit is for partition of properties, alleged to belong to a joint family, of which the parties are said to be members, and which are stated in the plaint to be in the joint possession of the parties, a fixed court-fee of Rs. 10 is enough and no ad valorem court-fee need be paid. 40 P. L.R. 2=1938 L. 321. The Lahore High Court also is of the same view, viz., that the clause applies to a suit by a coparcener to enforce his right to share where it is disputed. Only the plaintiff is allowed by this Court to value the relief sought by him at any sum he pleases. See 2 L. 114=61 I.C. 628. For older decisions, see 104 P.R. 1895 ; 28 P.R. 1903=65 P.L.R. 1903. In all other partition suits, where the plaintiff is in joint possession a fixed fee is payable according to this Court. See 123 I.C. 525=1930 L. 839; 131 I.C. 283=1931 L. 170; 141 I.C. 175=1933 L. 208=34 P.L.R. 84. Where there is a jointness of title, each coparcener is in possession of every portion of the joint property while his share is not defined and in such cases the change in the mode of enjoyment is not capable of assessment in terms of money and therefore the residuary Art. 17 becomes applicable. Such jointness of title can ordinarily exist in the case of a coparcenary property only, but where the shares of co-owners are known and ascertained, a suit for partition is virtually a suit to enforce a right to a share in joint family property. Under the Mahomedan Law the share of each member of the family in the family property is specific and is known and the title of one member of such a family is not joint with that of any other member. Hence a suit by a Mahomedan co-owner in joint possession against the co-owners for possession by partition and separation of his share is a suit for the enforcement of that share which he claims in the family property under the Mahomedan Law. The suit therefore falls under S. 7 (iv) (b) and not under Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. 1939 L. 568. In a suit to enforce the right to share in joint family property, i.e., a suit to be restored to joint possession or enjoyment of joint family property, Court-fee would be payable under S. 7 (iv) (b), ad valorem on the value of the relief as fixed by the plaintiff; and in a suit for partition of joint property, whether owned by a joint family or otherwise, where the plaintiff alleges that he is in actual or constructive possession thereof, Court-fee payable would be Rs. 10 under Art. 17 (vi), Sch. II, Court-Fees Act. But if the Court finds, on a plea being raised by the defendant, this allegation to be untrue, then ordinarily the suit will be dismissed solely on the ground that the plaintiff being out of possession is not entitled to sue for partition without asking for possession of the property in dispute, unless for special reasons the Court deems it proper to allow an amendment of the plaint on payment of the requisite Court-fee stamp. 15 L. 531=150 I.C. 994=36 P.L.R. 48(F.B.); (1941) Lah. 152 (F.B.) S. 7 (iv) (b) will not apply to cases where the plaintiff is in joint possession of the joint family property but it must apply to cases where he is out of possession of it and seeks partition. In the former case the court-fee is levied under Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. 1939 O.L.R. 607=1939 O.W.N. 1055=15 Luck. 76=1940 O. 47. In Burma also, in a suit for partition, the plaint must be stamped according to the plaintiff's valuation of his share which he seeks to recover, 9 Bur.L.T. 97=35 I.C. 731. (The value given by the plaintiff in this case does not seem to have been arbitrarily but the value assessed by the Divisional Judge.) See also 7 R. 164=1929 R. 211 holding that in a suit by a Mahomedan for a share of inheritance, ad valorem Court-fee is payable under the clause. See also 1937 R.L.R. 447 cited under Ch. II, Art. 17 (vii).

NOTES.

"ANY PROPERTY."—The terms are wide enough to include movable property.

"JOINT FAMILY PROPERTY."—The old decisions of the Madras High Court as to the distinction between partition of joint family property and partition of other joint property are rendered obsolete by the Full Bench decision in I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 259=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 32. As for the previous decision on the point, see 90 I.C. 843=1926 M. 122; 1930 M.W.N. 508; 141 I.C. 80=64 M.L.J. 24; 129 I.C. 824=1931 M. 94; 43 M. 397=38 M.L.J. 92. See also for other High Court decisions as to the meaning of the words "joint family property" 20 I.C. 177; 1930 L. 839. See 7 R. 164=1929 R. 211, where the Rangoon High Court applied the clause to a suit by a Mahomedan for a share of inheritance.

SUIT BY PLAINTIFFS NOT IN POSSESSION.—Where the plaintiff is not in possession of the property, actual or constructive, Court-fee must be paid ad valorem as for suit for possession and partition. 27 I.C. 465=21 C.L.J. 253=20 C.W.N. 51; 137 I.C. 519=36 C.W.N. 291=1932 C. 353; See also 1941 Rang. L.R. 249=1941 Rang. 297. But mere denial by the defendant of the plaintiff's title and possession does not convert a partition suit into one of declaration of title and recovery of possession. 12 C.W.N. 37=6 C.L.J. 651. See also 38 C. 681; 35 C.W.N. 942. S. 7 (iv) (b) makes no difference between a plaintiff who is in actual possession and one who is merely in constructive possession of the property which is to be partitioned. Where a plaintiff never alleged that he was in actual or constructive possession but asked for delivery of his share to him and further asks for accounts and delivery to him of his share of the amount that might be found due to the estate, it clearly is not a case where a ten rupee stamp would be sufficient. 1941 Rang.L.R. 249=1941 Rang. 297. Taxing officers should be astute to see that a plaintiff should not avoid liability to pay Court-fee under S. 7 (iv) (c) or 7 (v) by merely omitting to insert a prayer for possession in what was essentially a title suit in the guise of a partition suit. 18 P.L.T. 438=16 P. 491=1937 P. 514. If a suit for partition of joint family property is really or actually in the nature of a title suit, ad valorem Court-fees are payable, whether the suit be regarded as falling under S. 7 (iv) (c), 7 (iii) or 7 (v). But where in substance the relief sought is the partition of the property of which the plaintiff claims to be in joint possession, the suit falls under Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II and ad valorem Court-fee is not leviable. The plaint has to be construed as it is and care should be taken not to import into it anything which it does not contain, either actually or by necessary implication. A relief not asked for cannot be imported so as to charge Court-fee thereon. 20 Pat. 780. Where on the face of the plaint the suit was in fact a suit by a purchaser of an undivided share to establish his title to recover possession of the same, a claim for partition being added to make the relief sought effectual, it was held that an ad valorem Court-fee was payable on the plaint and not a fixed fee. 28 A. 340. See also the Patna High Court decisions cited supra on the point. A co-owner is to be presumed to be in constructive possession on the ground that possession of one co-owner in possession on behalf of all. 79 I.C. 713=5 P.L.T. 655; 20 C. 762; 44 C. 524.

VALUE FOR JURISDICTION—PARTITION SUIT.—

for a declaratory decree and consequential relief;

(c) to obtain a declaratory decree or order, where consequential relief is prayed,

NOTES.

In a partition suit, it is the share claimed by the plaintiff which is the subject-matter of the claim and not the whole of the joint property which is sought to be divided. See 22 B. 315; 8 B. 31; 24 A. 381; 24 M.L.J. 233=18 I.C. 368 (F.B.); 20 M. 289=7 M.L.J. 90. See also 5 P.L.J. 540=58 I.C. 236; 1917 P.H.C.C. 301; 7 R. 164=1929 R. 211. But see the decision of the Calcutta High Court to the contrary in 10 C.W.N. 564=3 C.L.J. 257; 3 C.L.J. 197=10 C.W.N. 565 (foot-note); 4 C.L.J. 509; 12 C.W.N. 37=6 C.L.J. 651; 8 C. 757; 52 C. 128=29 C.W.N. 76=1925 C. 320 (S. 8 of the Suits Valuation Act does not apply.) In 2 P. 432=1923 P. 342, a distinction is made between suits for partition pure and simple, where the plaintiff is in joint possession and suits where the plaintiff seeks adjudication of his title or extent of share and for partition. In the former case, the value of the entire property is the value for jurisdiction and in the latter case, the value of the plaintiff's share. In a suit to establish plaintiff's right to share in joint family property, the value of the action is the value of the plaintiff's interest. 1929 P. 615.

WRITTEN STATEMENT CLAIMING SHARE.—A defendant in a partition suit, asking for a decree for his share need not pay Court-fee in order to make his claim effective. 55 M. 975=1929 Mad. 722=63 M.L.J. 845; I.L.R. (1940) Kar. 534=1941 Sind 50.

Sec. 7 (iv) (b) and (c), (iv-A) and (v) (as amended by Madras Act V of 1922).—Two Hindu sons filed a suit against their step-brothers and step-mother for a declaration that the properties in suit were the undivided ancestral properties of the family and that a sale-deed executed by their father in favour of their step-mother was invalid, and they prayed for separate possession of their shares after a partition by metes and bounds. They also alleged that there was a prior registered partition deed and that the sale-deed in favour of the step-mother was intended merely for the purpose of concealing the properties from them at that partition. Held, that S. 7 (v) of the Court-Fees Act governed the suit and that it did not fall under S. 7 (iv) (b) and (c) or under S. 7 (iv-A). 43 L.W. 582=1936 M. 411=70 M.L.J. 398. On this point, see also 68 M.L.J. 755; 1935 P. 452; 1935 A. 667; 1935 L. 698; 1935 C. 805; 62 C. 479; 68 M.L.J. 369.

Sec. 7 (iv) (c): CONSEQUENTIAL RELIEF.—Consequential relief means a substantial remedy in accordance with the title of which declaration is prayed for. 24 I.C. 316=1 L.W. 398. See also 24 C.W.N. 33 (P.C.); 42 P.L.R. 364. The expression "consequential relief" in S. 7 (iv)(c) means some relief which would follow directly from the declaration given, the valuation of which is not capable of being definitely ascertained which is not specifically provided for anywhere in the Act and cannot be claimed independently of the declaration as a substantive relief. 139 I.C. 32=1932 A.L.J. 684=1932 A. 485 (F.B.). [5 A. 331 (F.B.) Overruled.]. See also 171 I.C. 900=1937 Sind 248; I.L.R.

(1941) Lah. 451=43 P.L.R. 106=1941 Lah. 97 (F.B.). One declaration may be consequential relief to another. 44 C. 352=21 C.W.N. 834. The question whether there is really a prayer for consequential relief must depend upon the substance of the claim and not the words which the plaintiff chooses to use. 20 M.L.J. 791=5 I.C. 927; 30 M. 18; 38 M. 922 (F.B.). See also 35 I.C. 797=21 C.W.N. 375; 3 P. 915=80 I.C. 544; 1925 M. 713=48 M.L.J. 688; 29 L.W. 584=56 M.L.J. 394; 116 I.C. 895=1929 L. 463; 32 P.L.R. 729; 16 L. 752=37 P.L.R. 860; 152 I.C. 847; (1937) 1 M.L.J. 739=1937 M. 529=I.L.R. (1937) M. 672. When the first relief in the suit relates to a declaration as to the general title of the plaintiff to all the properties she inherited and the second to set aside a particular deed of transfer in respect of a particular property inherited by her, held, the reliefs are separate and necessary and ad valorem Court-fee must be paid. 5 P. 496=1926 P. 453. The prayer for the appointment of a receiver in a suit by a Hindu reversioner for a declaration that an alienation by the widow is not binding on the reversion cannot be regarded as a 'consequential relief' since both the reliefs are unconnected and independent of each other. The proper Court-fee payable is for declaration under Sch. II, Art. 17-B (Mad. Am. Act) and for Receiver under Sch. II, Art. 17-B (Mad. Am. Act). 51 M.L.J. 67=96 I.C. 129=1926 M. 678. But see 38 M. 922; 19 I.C. 859=93 P.R. 1913; 1931 A.L.J. 837; 36 I.C. 831 (M.); 62 I.C. 36 (P.). Even in 51 M.L.J. 67, cited above, there is an observation that it may be quite conceivable that the plaint may be so drafted that both the reliefs may be claimed on the strength of the same set of facts, in which case the second relief may be consequential upon the first. See also 45 L.W. 491=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 739. Consequential and substantial reliefs—Distinction—Suit for declaration that property is wakf and its alienation is void ad valorem Court-fee payable. 1941 Lah. 97 (F.B.).

CLAUSE INAPPLICABLE TO SUITS FOR BARE DECLARATION.—Under Sch. II, Art. 17 a fixed fee of Rs. 10 has to be paid on a plaint for a declaratory decree where no consequential relief is prayed for. 43 B. 507=46 I.A. 24=36 M.L.J. 437. See also 69 I.C. 577; 23 A.L.J. 344=47 A. 501=1925 A. 602. In such a case the Court need not go into the question whether the suit was bound to fail for not having prayed for consequential relief. 1932 A.L.J. 466=1932 A. 560. See also 20 P.L.T. 818=1939 P.W.N. 61=1939 P. 219. The question of Court-fee must no doubt be decided on the allegations in the plaint and the relief actually asked for. But it is a common fashion to attempt an evasion of Court-fees by casting the prayers in the plaint into a declaratory shape. The Court must therefore look into the substance of the relief claimed. When the allegations in the plaint clearly show that the plaintiff virtually seeks the cancellation of certain deeds, though in form the suit is declaratory, the suit, is one for a declaration with consequential relief, falling under S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Court-Fees Act,

A suit for declaration that a sale deed executed by the plaintiff is void and inoperative against him on the ground that he was made to execute it because of coercion, undue influence, and fraud exercised upon him need only be stamped with a Court-fee of Rs. 10. 138 I.C. 147=9 O.W.N. 440; 10 O.W.N. 133. But see 142 I.C. 705=1933 R. 40. (Arbitrary under-valuation not allowed). A suit for declaration that a certain alienation made by the plaintiff's father should not be binding upon their reversionary interest comes under Art. 17 of Sch. II. 5 L. 137=1924 L. 530=83 I.C. 332. So also a suit by reversioners to have certain alienations by widow declared invalid even though there is mention in the prayer about the grant of any other relief to which plaintiff may be entitled to. 18 P. 756=20 P.L.T. 850=1940 P. 158. So also a suit for a declaration that the plaintiff is the real owner of a decree obtained by defendants against a third party and praying for transfer of the decree to the plaintiff. 47 P.R. 1911=9 I.C. 673. Also a suit by a decree-holder to the effect that a deed of gift and a sale-deed executed respectively by his judgment-debtor and his judgment-debtor's wife are fictitious and void and that the property caused by them is capable of being attached and sold in execution of his decree. 130 I.C. 344=1931 O. 72. Also suit for a declaration that the plaintiffs were occupancy tenants and not tenure holders and that the survey entry describing them as tenants was wrong and not binding on them. 53 I.C. 298=4 P.L.J. 302. Suit by landlord for declaration that order of Revenue Officer fixing rent roll is wrong, illegal and not binding on plaintiffs and for enhancement of reduced rent to old rent—Court is to be paid under Sch. II, Art. 17 (iii) and not under Art. 17 (iv). 22 P.L.T. 453=1941 P. 463. Also a suit for declaration that certain property belonged to plaintiff and was not liable to be sold under a mortgage decree for sale, to which plaintiff was not a party. 1 O.W.N. 582. Where plaintiff sues for a declaration that his share in certain property is not liable to attachment and sale in execution of a decree against his father; the suit is one for a mere declaration without consequential relief and ad valorem Court-fee need not be paid on the amount due under the decree. 11 O.W.N. 617=1934 O. 212 (2). Also a suit to declare will a forgery and for cancellation of the will and the Sub-Registrar's order registering the same. 29 L.W. 584=1929 M. 396. See also 58 M. 448=1935 M. 203=68 M.L.J. 95. Suit for declaration of right to a cheque where drawee is not a party. 119 I.C. 158=1929 M. 572. Where an ex-minor sued alleging that he was a minor at the time of the execution of a mortgage deed by him and that it was therefore void against him, held, that all that was necessary for the minor was to ask that the document be declared to be void against him and the suit need not be treated as involving a prayer for a consequential relief, namely, the setting aside of the document. 11 R. 66=143 I.C. 541=1933 R. 109. As to other suits for bare declaratory relief, see 1939 O.W.N. 152.

SUITS WHICH FALL UNDER THE SUB-CLAUSE.—Suits for declaration and injunction. 17 B. 56; 18 B. 100; 17 S.L.R. 15=80 I.C. 969; 36 A. 500=24 I.C. 679=12 A.L.J. 844; 1922 N. 264; 1930 M.W.N. 656; 133 I.C. 120=1931 Lah. 307; 1936 L. 166; 43 P.L.R. 337=1941 Lah. 307; 43 P.L.R. 305=1941 Lah. 284; 41 Bom.L.R. 425. But a futile and denounceable claim for injunction is not a consequential relief. 42 P.L.R. 364. If there are other consequential reliefs prayed for along with an injunction, they should be valued according to law and the proper Court-fee would depend upon the total value. 43 I.C. 995=1918 M.W.N. 40. In a suit for a declaratory decree where consequential relief is prayed the plaintiff is entitled to put his own valuation on the suit subject to Ss. 4 and 9 of the Suits Valuation Act and he must do so by putting down one single and entire sum as representing the value of the total reliefs sought by him. He cannot put one valuation for purposes of Court-fee and another for purposes of jurisdiction. 57 C.L.J. 465. In a suit for declaration with consequential relief plaintiff is entitled to place any value on the suit and the value for purposes of Court-fee and jurisdiction is the value of the relief; but the defendant is entitled to take objection to the valuation given in the plaint, both as affecting the question of jurisdiction and as affecting the question of Court-fee. And when objection is taken the Court is obliged to enter into the question of whether the value is correct. 149 I.C. 109=1934 P. 234. A suit for a declaration that plaintiff is the sole shebait, and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with his possession of the endowed properties, falls within S. 7 (iv) (c). 40 C. 245=16 C.L.J. 194=17 C.W.N. 591. See also 31 S.L.R. 442=1937 Sind 241 (S.B.); 1922 L. 236; 163 I.C. 277=38 P.L.R. 688=1936 L. 990; 1930 C. 41. Also a suit for a declaration of plaintiff's right to a jungle and for an injunction restraining defendants from cutting trees. 32 C. 734=9 C.W.N. 690. Also a suit for declaration that a tax is illegal and for injunction to restrain collection. 105 I.C. 80; 165 I.C.

NOTES.

106=1937 N. 14; 1937 A.M.L.J. 28. Also a suit for declaration that a will is a forgery and that plaintiff is the legal heir and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with his property. 9 L.L.J. 579=29 Punj.L.R. 27. A suit was filed for a declaration, but pending the suit an injunction was obtained. The suit being dismissed, an appeal was preferred, the injunction subsisting at the time of appeal. Held, for purposes of Court-fees, the appeal fell within S. 7 (iv) (c) and ad valorem fee was payable on the consequential relief. 5 P. 211=94 I.C. 22=1926 P. 249. Where however an appeal is preferred only against the declaration it may be valued under Sch. II, Art. 17. 3 P. 640=2 P.L.R. 193=80 I.C. 563=1924 P. 582. A suit by a beneficiary under a trust to set aside certain alienations of trust property falls under the clause and the Court-fee must be calculated according to the proviso to cl. (iv) (c) (Mad.). 130 I.C. 449=1931 M. 24=61 M.L.J. 39. Where provision for residence and maintenance of a female is made in a family arrangement a suit for declaration of such right and injunction comes under S. 7 (iv) (c) and not S. 7 (ii). 123 I.C. 240=1930 S. 198. A suit for partition and possession of half share alleged to be held adversely comes under this sub-clause. 58 M.L.J. 497. A suit by a husband for restitution of conjugal rights with a prayer for an injunction restraining the wife's parents from obstructing recovery of the wife falls under S. 7 (iv) (c) and Court-fee is payable ad valorem on the amount of valuation put by the plaintiff for purposes of jurisdiction—the value for Court-fee and for jurisdiction being the same. Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II does not apply to the suit. 39 C.W.N. 131=60 C.L.J. 201. As to appeal questioning award in land acquisition cases, see 60 C.L.J. 216. Where in a suit for ejectment, there was an additional prayer for declaration of plaintiff's title as owner, the Court-fee, is payable under this clause and not under S. 7 (xi) (cc). 29 L.W. 760=1929 M. 529. The plaintiff, an inamdar, claimed that he was entitled to both warams in the inam land and though he had no proof of actually letting the defendants into possession he claimed the right to eject them after due notice by virtue of his title to the kudi-varam. The defendants did not dispute the plaintiff's right to melwaram but asserted occupancy right in the land. Held, that Court-fee was payable on the plaint under S. 7 (iv) (c) and not under S. 7 (v) or (xi) (cc) of the Act. 140 I.C. 462=63 M.L.J. 759. A suit to declare an execution sale illegal and for an injunction restraining the auction-purchaser and puisne mortgagee from taking possession falls under this clause. 58 C. 281=1930 C. 686. A suit for declaration that a revenue sale is invalid and for confirmation or restoration of possession falls under the clause. 46 I.C. 385=3 P.L.J. 448. See also 165 I.C. 213=17 P.L.T. 677; 70 M.L.J. 542. Also a suit for declaration of title as adopted son, a challenge having been directly thrown on the title, and for possession. 1922 P.H.C.C. 6 (C.W.N.); 1923 P. 100; 56 I.C. 422=5 P.L.J. 339. Also a suit by reversioner, after the death of the widow for a declaration and possession against an alienee of the widow. 2 P.L.T. 607=61 I.C. 565=6 P.L.J. 10. Also a suit to set aside an illegal sale held for arrears of revenue and a declaration of right and for possession, 6 C.W.N. 157. See also 115 I.C. 655. The following suits have been held to come within the sub-clause:— Suit for possession of Math properties as its Mahant. 152 I.C. 1003=1934 P. 641. Suit for injunction or possession against co-trustees by one claiming to be a joint trustee. (1939) 1 M.L.J. 317=49 L.W. 270=1939 M. 380. A suit for a declaration that a sale held in execution of a decree against some members of a Hindu family was null and void. 1 P. 197=1922 P. 404. A suit for assessment of rent and recovery of a specific sum of money as damages for use and occupation. 4 P.L.J. 561=51 I.C. 16. A suit under S. 104-H of the B. T. Act for a declaration that the plaintiff is a raiyat and not a tenure-holder, and for settlement of fair rent. 18 I.C. 188=17 C.L.J. 426. See also 11 C.L.J. 156=5 I.C. 141; 6 P. 17=100 I.C. 913=1927 P. 123. A suit for a declaration that the plaintiff is a raiyat and the defendants, his under-raiyats and for ejectment of the latter. 65 I.C. 240 (P.). A suit for a declaration that plaintiff is entitled to a certain annuity and to recover the same as an heir. 27 Bom.L.R. 247=87 I.C. 801=1925 B. 282 (1). A suit for declaration of right to administration of the estate and appointment of an interim Receiver. 27 C.W.N. 457=1923 C. 326. A suit by an insolvent to declare a sale-deed by Official Receiver not binding upon him and for appointment of another Receiver. 32 M.L.J. 447=40 I.C. 620. A suit for a declaration that defendant is the wife of the plaintiff and for the restitution of conjugal rights. 28 C. 567. A suit to set aside a lease and to have the buildings erected by the lessee demolished. 4 A. 320 (F.B.). See also 62 C. 417=1935 C. 279. A suit to set aside a trust deed and for recovery of trust-money. 10 C. 380. See also 156 I.C. 13=1935 L. 611. A suit for a declaration that the defendant was not entitled to execute a certain decree. 40 P.L.R. 204. The plaintiff prayed to declare a prior partition and certain alienations not to be binding on them. They further prayed for a re-partition and for possession. Held, (1) that the suit has not to be valued on the value of the entire family property but only on the plaintiffs' shares; (2) that declarations sought were ancillary to the prayer for possession and the case fell within S. 7 (iv) (c) and not under S. 7 (iv-a); (3) that the valuation under S. 7 (v) should be adopted. 1932 M.W.N. 1322=140 I.C. 585=36 L.W. 793. See also 1930 M.W.N. 358=1931 M. 94=129 I.C. 824; 32 S.L.R. 124=1938 Sind 189. See also I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 102=1941 Sind 154 holding that Art. 17 (vi) has no application to the case. In Bihar and Orissa so far as a partition suit happens to be actually in the nature of a title suit, ad valorem court-fee is payable by the plaintiff, whether the suit is regarded as governed by S. 7 (iii) or S. 7 (v). It makes no practical difference whether the suit is to be regarded as a suit for declaration with consequential relief falling under 7 S. (iv) (c), or a suit for possession of movable and immovable property governed by S. 7 (iii) and (v), since in the Court in Bihar and Orissa, where the consequential relief sought is recovery of possession of land the plaintiff is not permitted to value the land at a lower rate than would be assessed under S. 7 (v). 18 P. 267=1939 P.W.N. 197=1939 Pat. 274.

SUITS NOT COMING UNDER THE SUB-CLAUSE.—A suit for declaration and consequential relief prima facie comes within S. 7, Cl. (iv) (c) but if at the same time it comes within any of the other clauses of suits specified in the section, it must be treated. 38 M. 922=28 M.L.J. 118. See also 38 M. 1184; 56 M. 212=63 M.L.J. 764; 41 L.W. 562; 1940 M. 273=68 M.L.J. 369=1935 M. 346; (1937) 1 M.L.J. 739=I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 672=45 L.W. 491 & 1937 Mad. 529.

Sec. 7 (iv) (c), proviso (as amended by Madras Act V of 1922).—Applicability.—Suit for declaration of right to get water free of irrigation tax claiming refund of tax levied. 59 M. 962=160 I.C. 939=43 L.W. 192=70 M.L.J. 625.

CASES UNDER CL. (V) AND (IV) (C).—See 45 L.W. 49=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 739; 1927 A.W.R. 417. If in a suit the principal relief claimed is one for possession and the relief for declaration is merely ancillary to it, it is enough to pay the Court-fee on the relief as to possession. On the other hand, if the principal relief is for a declaration and the plaintiff's right to possession depends upon his being entitled to the declaration, then the relief for possession must be regarded as a consequential relief and the Court-fee will be payable according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint or in the memorandum of appeal. If a case falls under the first class the Court-fee is payable on five times the Government revenue. In the latter class the plaintiff must pay Court-fee on the valuation put by him on the disputed property for purposes of jurisdiction. Where a Hindu son sued questioning the validity of certain alienations made by his father and claimed a decree for possession of his share and a declaration that the father had no right to make the alienations, held, that the suit was one for declaration with a consequential relief and not merely one for possession for purposes of Court-fee. 6 O.W.N. 1105=1930 O. 104. See also 1930 O. 368. In all cases where possession is claimed, the plaintiff has to establish his title before he can get a decree for possession. Where a suit is in reality one for possession, the fact that the plaintiff asks in his plaint for something in the nature of a declaration will not make it a suit for declaration and consequential relief for the purposes of Court-fee. The suit being really one purely for possession, Court-fee is payable only on that basis. 193 I.C. 538=21 P.1063=1941 P. 167. Where the essential claim made by the plaintiff is one for possession, the fact that the plaintiff attempts to anticipate a possible defence and says that the defendants will rely upon certain dispositions of the property falsely alleged to have been made, the suit is one for possession under S. 7 (v) and there cannot be any pretence that the claim is one for a declaration with consequential relief falling under S. 7 (iv) (c). Merely because the defendants challenge the title of the plaintiff, the suit does not become one for a declaration with consequential relief. 16 P. 766=18 P.L.T. 977=1938 P. 22 (S.B.). See also 21 P.L.T. 609. Where a plaintiff asks for declaration and a consequential relief, though it is enough for his purposes to merely ask for possession the suit must be treated as one falling under S. 7 (iv) (c). 1938 N.L.J. 130. In a suit by the Hindu sons for a declaration that a decree obtained by the defendant against their father is not binding on them and the joint family property, Court-fee is payable—not as one a mere declaration—but ad valorem because the obvious effect of the decree would be to save property from liability to the decretal amount. (24 O.C. 361; 10 M. 187; 5 P.L.J. 394; 8 L. 531, Foll.) 8 Luck. 668=150 I.C. 722=11 O.W.N. 488=1934 O. 212 (1). A prayer for confirmation of possession includes a prayer for recovery of possession if the Court thinks the plaintiff is out of possession. 2 P. 198=4 P.L.T. 71; 179 I.C. 586=1939 Pat. 254. Where a Magistrate passes an order under S. 146, Cr. P. Code, and interferes with possession, relief regarding possession should also be prayed for. 105 I.C. 351=1927 N. 316. A suit to set aside an execution sale of certain properties on the ground that the decree having been previously adjusted could not be executed and that the sale was therefore null and void, is one substantially for possession and comes under Cl. (v) and not under S. 7 (iv) (c). 49 C. 880=27 C.W.N. 566=38 C.L.J. 74=1922 C. 506. See also 94 I.C. 179=13 O.L.J. 124=1926 O. 380. Where the prayer was that upon the determination of the plaintiff's proprietary interest in a house, the defendants who were merely tenants at will may be ordered to vacate the house, held, the suit was one for ejectment falling under S. 7, Cl. (v). 5 P. 631. The clause is not applicable to a suit for recovery of possession by cancellation of a document. 1929 O. 419. But in Madras there is a special cl. (iv) which would apply. See 64 M.L.J. 127. As to a suit for the removal of the manager of the religious institution on the ground that it is a private one and that the plaintiff alone has the power to appoint and dismiss the manager, see 17 I.C. 270=216 P.L.R. 1912. Possession—Alternative relief for declaration that certain property was acquired with joint family funds and for joint possession also—Court-fees. 1937 A.W.R. 218=1937 A.L.J. 308=1937 A. 148. On the point, see also 12 M. 223; 15 M. 501. At partition suit, allegation of joint possession in respect of estate and subordinate tenure—Allegation that defendant in joint possession for maintenance but had set up proprietorship—Finding that plaintiff had no title or joint possession—Appeal from Court-fee payment payable—ad valorem fee. 18 P. L.T. 438=16 P. 491=1937 P. 514.

SUITS FOR CANCELLATION OF A DECREE OR DOCUMENT.—See 152 I.C. 847. [Separately provided for, so far as Madras is concerned, by Cl. (iv-a) inserted by Madras Act V of 1922.]

(1) DECREE.—S. 7 (iv) (c) is applicable to a suit in which having regard to the substance of the plaint, it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to obtain a declaratory decree or order to perfect his right to the consequential relief that he claims; for instance, where the plaintiff seeks relief to which he is not entitled unless and until some decree or document or alienation of property is avoided a suit in which a declaration in that behalf is claimed is within S. 7 (iv) (c). 9 R. 401=134 I.C. 1263=1931 R. 319. A suit to declare a decree or document to which the plaintiff was a party is not binding on him falls within this clause. 38 M. 922=28 M.L.J. 118. See also 43 I.C. 962=3 P.L.J. 92; 118 I.C. 465=1929 N. 71. Where a party to a decree sues for a declaration that it is illegal and void, the granting of such a declaration in his favour has the effect of setting aside that decree and relieving him of the obligations thereunder. Even though a consequential relief may not be expressly prayed for, yet if such a relief is implicit in the declaration and is a necessary consequence of it, it must be deemed to be included in the declaration prayed for. To such case it is S. 7 (iv) (c) which applies and not Art. 17 (iii) Sch. II and an ad valorem court-fee is payable. 13 Luck. 628=1938 O. 1 (F.B.). A suit in which the only prayer is to have the decree set aside as null and void is a suit for declaration without consequential relief falling under Art. 17 of Schedule II. 20 B. 736; 30 C. 788; 34 C.W.N. 1129; 150 I.C. 1030=1934 R. 152. See also under Art. 17 (3) of Schedule II. A suit to set aside a decree on the ground of fraud would fall under this sub-clause. 7 L.L.J. 15=86 I.C. 680=1925 Lah. 346; 16 N.L.R. 84=36 I.C. 360. See also 1934 Pesh. 109; 8 L. 531=9 L.L.J. 400=102 I.C. 46=1927 L. 399; 116 I.C. 895=1929 L. 463. A suit for a declaration that a decree was fraudulent and incapable of execution and that the family property should be released from execution falls under S. 7 (iv) (c) and is not a suit for possession under Cl. (iv). 40 C. 615=21 I.C. 404. See also 51 I.C. 536=24 M.L.T. 254; 56 I.C. 550. A person was a bona fide purchaser for value of lands which were found to be burdened with a charge of a maintenance decree. The person brought a suit for a declaration, "that the lands were not liable for the maintenance charge." Question was whether S. 7 (iv) (c) or Art. 17 (iii), Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act applied. Held, that the relief although asked for a mere declaration, yet it involved the consequential relief of amendment of the maintenance decree and hence S. 7 (iv) (c) applied. 174 I.C. 891=1938 N. 183. A suit for declaration that the decree obtained by the defendant is fraudulent and for an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff's possession of the property in suit falls under Cl. (iv) (c). 40 C.L.J. 150=79 I.C. 982=1924 C. 969; 137 I.C. 240=33 P.L.R. 488; 1930 M.W.N. 656. Suit by a minor on attaining majority to set aside a mortgage decree against him as void, falls within Cl. (iv) (c). 65 I.C. 980=24 O.C. 361. See also 32 P.L.R. 729. In Madras such a suit would fall under Cl. (iv-a). 139 I.C. 317=1932 M. 605=43 N.L.J. 764; 141 I.C. 80=64 M.L.J. 124=1933 M. 430. A person not a party to the decree, may sue to have it declared void without asking for any consequential relief and the suit is not governed by Cl. (iv) (c). 73 I.C. 767=1933 L. 373. The question whether a decree sought by a plaintiff is a mere declaratory decree without any consequential relief coming under Art. 17 (iii) of the second schedule of the Court-fees Act, or whether it is a decree with consequential relief governed by S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Court-Fees Act, depends not on whether or not the plaintiff was a party to the decree which he is seeking to avoid but on whether or not the relief claimed comes under S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act. 177 I.C. 550=1938 O.W.N. 889=1938 O. 201 (F.B.). A suit by certain members of a Malabar tarwad for declaration that a certain decree obtained against the Karnavan was not binding on them and for possession of tarwad properties sold in execution of the decree falls under this clause. 1930 M.W.N. 579.

(2) DOCUMENTS.—A suit for declaration of the in validity of a mortgage deed for cancellation and for an injunction restraining the defendant from enforcing its terms, would fall within the sub-cl. (iv) (c). 13 I.C. 864=7 N.L.R. 190. See also 1937 L. 698. So also a suit to declare a gift deed executed by the plaintiff's husband in favour of the defendant was void, as he was a lunatic, and praying that possession be delivered to plaintiff as manager on behalf of her lunatic husband comes under cl. (iv) (c). 22 A.L.J. 945=47 A. 78. Also a suit for declaration by a member of a joint Hindu family that a mortgage deed executed by a deceased coparcener is not binding on him and also for possession of the property. 26 A.L.J. 316=1928 A. 248. Even where the suit is framed as one for possession, the suit would fall under the sub-cl. (iv) (c) if the defendant holds the property under a document executed by the plaintiff and it is necessary first to obtain cancellation. 38 M. 321; 24 M.L.J. 592. Where the suit was for the cancellation of a sale-deed executed by the plaintiff and for recovery of possession of the land and the plaintiff paid Court-fee for the cancellation of the sale-deed on the amount of the consideration specified in the deed. Held, that the claim for recovery of possession was merely ancillary to the main claim, namely, setting aside the sale-deed, and that separate Court-fee was not payable in respect of the prayer for possession. 64 M.L.J. 127=56 M. 401=1933 M. 231. A suit for cancellation of a registered instrument under S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act, is a suit for declaration and consequential relief. 45 I.C. 238=3 P.L.J. 194. See also 23 M. 490; 29 B. 207=6 Bom.L.R. 1125; 35 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 435; 1929 O. 491; 43 P.L.R. 252=1941 Lah. 265. But see 139 I.C. 32=1932 A.L.J. 684=1932 A. 485 (F.B.). So also suit for cancellation of a will falls under the clause. 36 I.C. 95=87 P.R. 1916. Where a will is attacked not only on the ground and it is not genuine and not properly registered, but is also attacked as being brought about by fraud, undue influence, etc., the plaintiff virtually asks for the cancellation of the will and it must be deemed to involve a consequential relief. The plaint has to be stamped ad valorem under S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Act. 14 Luck. 536=1939

NOTES.

O. 125. A suit for a declaration that a deed is inoperative is in substance one for its cancellation. 20 M.L.J. 791=5 I.C. 927. See also 118 I.C. 465=1929 N. 71. If in substance the plaintiffs ask for cancellation of a deed of gift, they ask for a declaration with consequential relief and the case clearly falls under the clause. 10 P. 432=130 I.C. 46=1931 P. 78. Persons who are not parties to a document need not sue for its cancellation. Thus a suit for a declaration that mortgage deed is not binding on the plaintiff who was not a party to the same, falls under Sch. II, Art. 17-A and not S. 7 (iv) (c). 87 I.C. 660 (2)=1925 M. 713=48 M.L.J. 688; 10 O.W.N. 19=1933 O. 116. See also 5 A. 331; 1924 M.W.N. 210=78 I.C. 118 (2)=1924 M. 611 (2). A claim to have a registered agreement entered into before a Debt Conciliation Board, declared invalid, is equivalent to have it adjudged void or voidable and would therefore fall under S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act under which the Court may adjudge the document void or voidable and order it to be delivered up and cancelled. In such a case the plaintiff must be deemed to have asked for the relief which the Court can grant under S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act and this amounts to consequential relief and hence the suit would fall under S. 7 (iv) (c). 1940 N. L. J. 96. Where an ex-minor sued alleging that he was a minor at the time of the execution of a mortgage deed by him and that it was therefore void against him, held, that all that was necessary for the minor was to ask that the document be declared to be void against him and the suit need not be treated as involving a prayer for a consequential relief, namely, the setting aside of the document. 11 R. 66=1933 R. 109. Where the mother as the guardian of her minor sons executed a release deed on behalf of the minors, the release deed is not void but only voidable and must be set aside. Hence a suit for declaration by the sons after attaining majority that the release deed is invalid and for injunction must be treated as one for cancellation falling under cl. (iv-a). 1928 M. 663. Where however cancellation is specifically asked though unnecessarily, the suit would fall under this sub-clause. 44 A. 629=20 A.L.J. 587=1922 A. 358. A suit by a plaintiff for declaration of his title and injunction alleging the settlement deed relied on by defendant to be a sham one falls under cl. (iv) (c) and the document need not be set aside. 1929 M. 478=120 I.C. 378=30 L.W. 796. A suit to declare a sale fraudulent and fictitious does not involve a consequential relief and ad valorem court fee is not necessary. 1939 Cal. 363; 1941 O.W.N. 471. A suit for cancellation of a deed of adoption should be stamped, whether under S. 7 (iv) (c) or Sch. II, Art. 17 (v) at Rs. 10, for the Court-fee on a suit to declare an adoption invalid, where the consequential relief claimed is that of cancellation of the deed, cannot be more than the Court-fee to set aside an adoption, which is Rs. 10. 1937 R. 400. A plaintiff in possession suing for the cancellation of a sale deed alleged to have been obtained from her by fraud and undue influence could not be required prior to the passing of the U. P. Court-Fees Amendment Act of 1938 to pay ad valorem Court-fee on the market-value of the property, namely, a house, which is the Court-fee payable in a suit for possession. 15 Luck. 531=1940 O.W.N. 389=1940 O. 248.

WHAT DETERMINES THE VALUE IN A SUIT UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Where the plaintiff prays for a declaration and consequential relief, the value of the consequential relief determines the Court-fee. 3 P. 640=80 I.C. 563. See also 4 P.L.J. 297=46 I.C. 24=5 P.L.J. 394; 133 I.C. 687=12 P.L.T. 656; 131 I.C. 808=1931 P. 195. A suit for a declaration that a certain decree is not binding on the plaintiffs or the properties in their hands and for possession of a portion of those properties which had been sold in execution of the decree is a suit for declaration and consequential relief and Court-fee is to be paid only on the relief for possession. 38 M. 1184=25 I.C. 683=1 L.W. 824. In a suit for a declaration and consequential relief, the plaintiff is bound to pay ad valorem fees in proportion to the loss from which he seeks to be relieved. 56 I.C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703. A suit by the next heir of an inalienable estate for a declaration that would prevent the then holder's contemplated sale should bear ad valorem Court-fee on the sum of the intended sale. 1928 N. 243. In a suit for declaration of right to office of the shebait of a temple and also for permanent injunction restraining the defendant from interfering with that right the plaint is to be valued for purposes of jurisdiction and Court-fee at the value of the debutter property. (28 B. 567, Dist.) 1930 C. 41. Such portion of the property only as is the subject-matter of dispute need be valued. (Ibid.) 89 I.C. 930=1925 M. 1143.

VALUATION IN SUITS FALLING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—There is considerable divergence of judicial opinion on the question whether in cases coming under sub-cl. (c) and (d) of Cl. (4) the plaintiff is absolutely at liberty to put his own valuation. The Calcutta High Court has recently held that he can give his own value and the remedy lies not in nullifying the words of the Act, but in the rule-making power of the High Court conferred on it by S. 9 of the Suits Valuation Act. See 34 C.W.N. 321=127 I.C. 665=1930 C. 473; 58 C. 281=1930 C. 686=34 C.W.N. 870. See for earlier decisions of that Court, 1928 C. 55=105 I.C. 80; 32 C. 734; 1922 C. 242; 79 I.C. 982=1924 C. 969. For decisions to the contrary, see 6 C.L.J. 427=11 C.W.N. 705; 40 C. 245=17 I.C. 162; 1941 C. 509. [In order to remove the doubts S. 8-C has been enacted in Bengal giving the Court power to revise value on enquiry, see 42 C. W. N. 504=I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 64=1938 C. 865.] In a suit for a declaration of title to a certain property and for an injunction falling within Cls. (c) and (d) of S. 7 (iv) the amount of Court-fee is, no doubt, computed according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint. But where it is possible for the Court on the facts stated to question the plaintiff's valuation, it can exercise its powers of correction under S. 8-C of the Act. 175 I.C. 261=66 C.L.J. 462=1938 C. 302. Where a suit is instituted for a declaration of title of the plaintiff to a certain provident fund money and for injunction restraining the defendant from withdrawing that money, it cannot be said that there is no objective standard of valuation, and the correct valuation of the relief claimed is the amount of the provident fund. 177 I.C. 893 = 42 C.W.N. 192 = 1938 C. 161. In a suit for rectification of a solenama upon which a preliminary decree was made in a partition suit, on the ground of fraud or mutual mistake of parties, the value of the property which would be affected by the preliminary decree which would be made in the partition suit if the plaintiff ultimately succeeded in his suit, cannot be taken as an objective standard for the purpose of determining the value of the relief in the suit. In the absence of any other satisfactory objective standard, the plaintiff's valuation must be taken as correct and final. 42 C.W.N. 614 = 68 C.L.J. 413. A Hindu widow brought a suit to cancel a deed of family settlement executed between her and her husband's brother alleging that she was induced to sign it by fraud and misrepresentation, and praying that a copy of the decree be sent to the registration office for a note being made that the document has been cancelled. She alleged in her plaint that her husband died separate from his brother and that on his death, she as his widow and heir got possession of his entire estate. The deed, however, recited that her husband and his brother were joint and that the plaintiff on her husband's death was entitled to maintenance in lieu of which she was given properties worth Rs. 20,000. She originally paid a court-fee of Rs. 15 as on a declaratory suit but on being directed by the Court to value the relief, she valued it at Rs. 5,100 on which amount court-fees were paid. It was held by the lower Court that she should pay court-fee on the market value of the properties involved, which came to about Rs. 41,000. Held, that the proper method of valuing the suit was according to the injury or loss from which plaintiff sought protection, and that loss could not be valued at the total value of the properties in suit, though such a value might be proper if the plaintiff were out of possession or if the document sought to be cancelled denied her any right and title whatsoever; in this case since the plaintiff came to Court for some more or better rights than what the document gave her, it was for her to value her relief in the suit. Since the valuation put by her was neither wholly unreasonable nor arbitrary, the Court should prima facie be disposed to accept the same, and was not justified in demanding court-fee on the market-value of the properties in suit. 20 P.L.T. 638 = 1939 P. 531. In a suit for a declaration that a compromise decree passed in a partition suit was obtained by fraud, and for partition, it is difficult to say that the value of the relief setting aside this decree can possibly be the total value of the joint property. There is really no objective standard of valuation at all, and in the absence of rules made under S. 9 of the Suits Valuation Act, it is impossible to say that the plaintiff's valuation of the relief is incorrect. 70 C.L.J. 158 = 43 C.W.N. 1116 = 1939 Cal. 627. Also 44 C.W.N. 1038 = 1940 C. 552. In a suit for a declaration that a certain decree obtained by the defendant against the plaintiff is void and for an injunction restraining the defendant from executing that decree, it cannot be said that there is no objective standard for valuing the relief claimed, as such standard must be taken to be the value of the plaintiff's property which he would stand to lose if the decree against him is put into execution. It would follow, therefore, that if the value of the decree exceeds the value of the assets, the valuation should be based on the valuation of the assets, or, if the assets are of greater value than the decree, the valuation should be based upon the value of the decree. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 409 = 1940 Cal. 482. See also 44 C.W.N. 860. The Bombay High Court has always held that the plaintiff has the right to value his claim as he pleases. See 44 B. 331 = 56 I.C. 340 and other cases cited supra under the main Cl. (iv). So also the Lahore High Court. 137 I.C. 240 = 33 P.L.R. 488; 9 L. 366 = 1927 L. 890; 140 I.C. 73 = 33 P.L.R. 458; 9 L.L.J. 579 = 29 P.L.R. 27; 40 P.L.R. 204. Also the Nagpur Judicial Commissioner's Court. 1927 N. 375. But see 110 I.C. 163 = 1928 N. 243; 165 I.C. 106 = 1937 N. 14. But according to the later rulings of the Nagpur High Court—The Court can interfere with any value put on a relief sought by a plaintiff in a suit falling under S. 7 (iv) (c), if the valuation appears to be arbitrary and unreasonable. But a Court should not endeavour to correct a plaintiff's valuation except in a clear case where the disparity is so great as to show that the plaintiff has not endeavoured to fix a fair value at all, but has simply set down a figure which is unreasonable and bears no relation to the value of the right litigated. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 558 = 1938 N.L.J. 327 (F.B.). The plaintiff cannot put any arbitrary value on his consequential relief. Where a person in possession of an item of gifted property sues for a declaration and consequential reliefs of cancellation of the gift and possession of the remaining items, then he has to pay a Court-fee only on the value of the properties, possession which is asked for. 1938 N.L.J. 130. Where a plaintiff sues for a declaratory decree and asks for consequential relief and puts his own valuation upon that consequential relief, then for the purpose of court-fee and also for the purposes of jurisdiction, it is the value that the plaintiff puts upon the plaint that determines both. It is not however open to the plaintiff to put an arbitrary value of his claim. 1937 N. 316. The Allahabad High Court expressed the opinion that the plaintiff cannot give an arbitrary value. See 36 A. 500. See also 50 A. 610 = 1928 A. 248 on the point. The Rangoon High Court has held that the plaintiff is not at liberty to place an arbitrary value to the suit. See 142 I.C. 705 = 1933 R. 40. But see 3 Bur.L.J. 128 = 1924 R. 378 (2). According to the Oudh Chief Court there is no direct authority for the Court to interfere with the valuation set up by the plaintiff unless the Court can take advantage of S. 151, C. P. Code. See 1928 O. 260 = 107 I.C. 330 (The case is of over-valuation and not under valuation). In Sind it has been held that a suit for injunction to restrain enforcement of a money decree should be valued according to the amount of the decree.

for an injunction ; (d) to obtain an injunction,

NOTES.

130 I.C. 445=1931 Sind 15. The Patna High Court has uniformly held that the plaintiff cannot give an arbitrary value. See 2 P. 198 ; and other cases cited under cl. (iv). Although it is for the plaintiff to state the amount at which he values the relief sought, it is open to the Court to determine the question as to the true valuation of the suit if such question is raised. 1931 P. 195=131 I.C. 808. Where an order to succeed in a suit for possession, it is necessary for the plaintiff to obtain a declaration that a document or decree is void or inoperative, the Court-fee to be paid must be calculated on the actual value of the property. 43 I.C. 962=3 P.L.J. 92. See also 179 I.C. 586=1939 P. 254. P brought a suit for setting aside a sale held in a certificate case. The property had been found to be worth at least Rs. 12,000 in another proceeding inter partes, but it had been purchased by the certificate holder for one pice. P however was in possession. In the suit he prayed that the sale might be held to be illegal and might be set aside and that a permanent injunction should issue restraining the auction-purchaser from taking possession on the basis of the said auction sale. P framed the suit under S. 7, Cl. (iv), sub-cl. (e), Court-Fees Act, and put the valuation at the price for which it had been purchased, viz., one pice and paid court-fee thereon. Held, that as no objective standard of valuation was available in so far as P's claim was concerned he was entitled to put his own valuation. 184 I. C. 106=1939 Cal. 278. In a suit for permanent injunction restraining a decree-holder from executing his decree on the ground that the same was obtained by fraud and collusion and was therefore void and incapable of execution, the plaintiff must be required to value his suit according to the amount of the decree which he seeks to avoid, and to pay ad valorem Court-fee on that amount. 182 I. C. 188=1939 Pat. 572. In Madras, the plaintiff was at liberty to value the relief arbitrarily prior to the amendment of 1922. See 27 M. 480. Now under the proviso a suit for declaration and consequential relief regarding immovable property should be valued at one half the value computed under Cl. (v). See 1930 M.W.N. 656. A suit for cancellation of a document or a decree has to be valued under Cl. (iv-a). Where the plaintiff is interested only in a portion of the property in respect of which the decree was passed the suit must be valued only according to the extent of the plaintiff's claim. 42 C. 370=36 I.C. 111=19 C.W.N. 895. See also 4 P.L.J. 191=44 I.C. 891. In a suit to set aside a partition deed so far as the plaintiffs are concerned, Court-fee is payable only on the value of the plaintiff's share of the property. 138 I.C. 303=1932 M. 491=62 M.L.J. 712. As a general rule the amount at which the plaintiff values the relief sought by him for purposes of Court-fee is to be taken despite anything to the contrary in the plaint as the value for purposes of jurisdiction. 140 I.C. 73=33 P.L.R. 458. Under S. 8, Suits Valuation Act, the value for jurisdiction follows value for the Court-fee and not vice versa. 58 C. 281

=1930 Cal. 686. But where a person values his claim at a certain figure for purposes of jurisdiction and he is subsequently called on to pay Court-fee on the footing that the suit falls under S. 7 (iv) (c), it is not open to the plaintiff to modify the valuation for purposes of Court-fee. 32 P.L.R. 729 ; 40 P.L.R. 938=1938 Lah. 647. See also 36 A. 500 on the point. But see 1930 M.W.N. 358=129 I.C. 824=1931 M. 94 ; 58 C. 281=1930 C. 686.

SEC. 7 (iv) (c) AND SCH. II, ART. 17 (iii).—Sch. II, Art. 17 (iii) only applies when no consequential relief is sought where consequential relief by way of injunction is asked for then S. 7 (iv) applies and ad valorem court-fee on the value of the claim has to be paid, a single valuation covering both declaration and injunction. 1939 A.M.L.J. 80. The relief originally prayed for was a declaration that the plaintiff was the owner of certain property. A Court-fee of Rs. 10 was paid. Subsequently the prayer was sought to be amended thus : "On account of that (a particular) decree is null and void, and ineffectual, it may be declared, etc." Held, that the effect of the amendment was to add to the original relief a prayer for a further declaration for which a further Court-fee of Rs. 10 should be paid and that the second relief asked for was not consequential relief within the meaning of S. 7 (iv) (c) so as to necessitate the payment of ad valorem fees. 55 A. 274=1933 A.L.J. 311=1933 A. 350. The valuation of the relief sought in a suit for an injunction is left entirely to the discretion of the plaintiff or appellant as the case may be and the Court is not entitled to question the correctness of the amount so declared. (43 B. 376 and 31 Bom. L.R. 841, Foll.) 12 R. 335=1934 R. 268. (See Suits Valuation Act, S. 8.) Plaintiff can put his own valuation and where the lower Court finds that the valuation is reasonable, the High Court will not interfere with it. 94 I.C. 103 (2)=1926 P.H.C.C. 102=1926 P. 334. See also the cases noted under Cl. (iv) (c). A suit for rent and for declaration of title with injunction falls under S. 7 (1) (iv) (d) as the injunction is a distinct and independent relief. 17 I.C. 44=6 S.L.R. 114 ; 19 A. 60. valuation on the relief claimed by him, nor can the relief be valued according to the value of the property which would be affected by the injunction. In a case of this sort the objective standard of valuation must be taken to be represented by the extent to which the plaintiff will be benefited if he succeeds in his suit. It would be necessary during the course of an enquiry under S. 8-C of the Court-Fees Act to estimate the value to the plaintiff of the property without the permanent injunction and also on the assumption that a permanent injunction could be obtained. The difference in the amounts of these two estimates would be the measure of the value of the relief sought by the plaintiff and it would be according to the figure thus obtained that the plaintiff's suit should be valued. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 33=44 C.W.N. 591=1940 Cal. 560.

Sec. 7 Cl. (iv) (e).—This sub-clause would apply to suits in respect of right of way, right to light and air and other rights of easements over immovable property. In a suit for injunction restraining municipality from demolishing thara, the plaintiff can put any valuation and R. 4, Cl. 10 (Vol. 3, Rules and Orders) of Lahore High Court are not applicable. 116 I.C. 908=1929 L. 566.

Sec. 7 Cl. (iv) (f): ARBITRARY VALUATION, NOT PERMISSIBLE.—The provisions of the Court-Fees Act are controlled by O. 7, r. 1 (2) and R. 11 (b), C. P. Code, and where the Court finds that the relief has been valued arbitrarily or improperly the Court can compel the plaintiff to revise valuation and pay proper Court-fee thereon. 1933 Sind 322. See also 31 S.L.R. 442=1937 Sind 241 (F. B.); 150 I. C. 1090=1934 A.L.J. 643=1934 A. 807; 163 I.C. 822=1936 M. 525=43 L.W. 300=70 M.L.J. 292. Where a plaintiff brings a suit for recovery of a sum of Rs. 900, the mere fact that he adds a prayer for relief for any other sum that may be found due, cannot have the effect of converting the money suit into a suit for accounts, and S. 7, Cl. (iv) (f) of the Court-Fee Act will not apply and the case would be governed by Art. 17 of Sch. II. 196 I.C. 441=1941 O. W. N. 1095=1941 Oudh 622. It cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that the right of a plaintiff in a suit for accounts of a partnership to put a notional value upon the relief he claims extends throughout the whole course of the proceedings up to second appeal and that it extends to appellants or respondents who file cross-objections. The Court is not bound in every case to accept the valuation put by the appellant upon the relief sought by him. As the suit proceeds and circumstances change and the preliminary decree is followed by a final decree, the relief claimed by an appellant in an appeal from the final decree is no longer tentative and uncertain, but is ascertained and can be accurately valued; and the Court therefore is not bound to apply in such an appeal the principle of notional valuation applied or accepted at the beginning of the suit when everything was uncertain. If the appellant is able to ascertain the amount then remaining in dispute, he must pay Court-fee on the value of the relief he seeks in his appeal and cannot be allowed to put a mere notional value. 31 S.L.R. 37.

SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY OF SECTION.—The value of a suit for accounts is the approximate value stated in the plaint, which determines the Court-fees as well as the forum. 6 C.L.J. 225. See also 100 I.C. 632=8 P.L.J. 145; 37 B.L.R. 148; 1936 L. 978. A suit for accounts of the rent recovered by the defendants, falls under S. 7 (iv) (f) and the plaintiff is at liberty to value it as he pleases. The fact that the plaintiff issued, prior to the institution of his suit, a notice claiming a definite sum does not have the effect of making the suit fall under S. 7 (i). 162 I.C. 227=38 Bom.L.R. 218=1936 B. 166; 1936 M. 525. The plaintiff is entitled to value the relief at any figure he chooses and the stamp will have to be made up subsequently if relief of greater value is granted to him. 8 L.L.J. 78=94 I.C. 650=1926 L. 242 (1). It is open to the plaintiff to value a suit for account as he likes, even though such valuation may be arbitrary and even if during the course of the trial he should make admissions that for larger amounts are due to him it is not open to the Court to require him to revise the valuation and pay additional Court-fee. 139 I.C. 105=1932 M. 656. See also 156 I.C. 424=1935 B. 212; 156 I.C. 718=1935 L. 689; 1936 R.D. 237. The plaintiff is entitled to pay Court-fee on the value he has thought fit to give to the relief sought notwithstanding that he has through mistake or inadvertence stated the value for purposes of jurisdiction at a different figure. 35 L.W. 358=137 I.C. 871=1932 M. 565. (25 C.W.N. 768; 15 Bom.L.R. 1123 and 58 C. 281, Foll.) The Court trying such suit does not lose its jurisdiction because the amount found due exceeds the jurisdiction of the Court. 9 N.L.R. 112=20 I.C. 928; 25 M. 543; 40 M. 1=32 M.L.J. 221; 16 A. 286; 33 A. 97; 56 B. 23=34 Bom.L.R. 44=137 I.C. 702=1932 B. 111. The Calcutta High Court has however held that the Court can only award a sum up to the limits of its pecuniary jurisdiction. 13 C.W.N. 493. S. 11 provides the means of recovery of excess Court-fee due on the excess decreed. 46 I.C. 165=22 C.W.N. 669; 45 C. 634. In a partnership suit, the subject-matter would be the severance of the final relationship and determination of the relative shares of the partners. The aggregate of the specific amounts will represent the value of the subject-matter of the suit, even though the plaintiff's tentative value be less or more. 1930 L. 725.

SCOPE OF THE SUB-CL. (iv) (f).—The sub-clause would cover all suits which involve accounting between parties. Thus a claim for accounts in a partnership suit would fall under the sub-clause. 46 I.C. 165=22 C.W.N. 669; 15 Bom.L.R. 1123=22 I.C. 71; 7 B. 125; 13 C.L.R. 160; 64 M.L.J. 576. So also a

An administration suit is a suit for an account and Court-fees thereon are payable under Cl. (iv) (f) of S. 7 of the Court-Fees Act. It is open to the plaintiff to value the relief that he claims as he pleases for purpose of Court-fee. 12 R. 512. In a suit for the administration of the estate of a Muhammadan lady, for accounts and for division of the assets among the heirs under the Muhammadan Law, on the question whether the provisions of S. 7 (iv) (f) or Art. 17-B of Sch. II applied to the case. Held, that as an administration suit is not merely a suit for accounts and ought not to be so regarded for any purpose relating to Court-fee, especially where the suit is not one by a creditor for the administration of the assets of a deceased but one where a division of properties may have to be made, it should be valued under Art. 17-B of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act. (Judgment of Wadsworth, J., in C.M.A. No. 235 of 1938, Foll.) Held, further, that in such a case the jurisdiction is to be determined by the market-value of the property. Where the lower Court had erred in holding that it had jurisdiction the High Court can interfere in revision to correct such error when the suit was still in its earlier stages though if the suit had been decreed in favour of the plaintiff the defendant would have been entitled to raise the question of jurisdiction in appeal. 54 L.W. 663=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 962. A suit for administration is a suit for accounts and falls under sub-paragraph (f) of Cl. (iv) of S. 7, Court-Fees Act. The valuation for the purposes of jurisdiction must be the same as the valuation for the purposes of Court-fees. In such a suit the valuation for purposes of Court-fees and/or for jurisdiction made by the plaintiff cannot be questioned by the defendant. In the case of its turning out that too small a sum had been paid in Court-fees, provision is made in S. 11 for payment of additional Court-fees. 1941 Rang.L.R. 512=1941 Rang. 322 (F.B.). See also 1939 Rang. L. R. 134=1939 Rang. 115. In an appeal from a decree in a suit for administration the appellant is entitled to value his relief for purposes of court-fee at such figure as he may fix. He is not bound to pay court-fee on the ad valorem value of the appeal. 42 P.L.R. 101. The claim of the creditor in pursuance of the notification of Court after a preliminary decree in an administration suit cannot be deemed to be a 'plaint' as to require Court-fee to be paid thereon. 134 I.C. 1137 (2)=1931 M. 683=61 M.L.J. 933. A claim for mesne profits is not a claim, the value of which cannot be ascertained, and ad valorem Court-fee is to be paid thereon and plaintiff cannot recover anything in excess of the valuation put by him. 40 I.C. 579=3 P. L.J. 67. A suit for partition and accounts against karta of joint family is not a suit for account and would not fall under this sub-clause. 10 Pat.L.T. 491=1930 Pat. 1. In a suit for partition by metes and bounds after division in status, a prayer for accounts is leviable to Court-fee under this clause. 64 M.L.J. 576=1933 M. 431=143 I.C. 755.

DUTY OF PLAINTIFF.—According to S. 8, Suits Valuation Act, the valuation for the purpose of jurisdiction and of assessment of Court-fees must be the same. The plaintiff must state an approximately correct valuation and S. 11 makes provisions for additional Court-fee if original valuation is found to be incorrect. But this does not mean that the plaintiff having valued his claim is entitled to select one or two items and leave the rest for assessment under S. 11 after the final decree has been obtained. 1929 P. 626.

APPEAL IN CASES FALLING UNDER THE SUB-CL. (iv) (f).—An appellant against a decree dismissing a suit for an account cannot in appeal change his valuation when the subject matter of the appeal is the same as in the trial Court. The scheme of the Court-Fees Act does not allow the plaintiff to change in appeal the valuation adopted by him in the plaint in the trial Court. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 1031=1938 Mad. 887=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 557 (F.B.). A plaintiff in a suit for accounts is no doubt entitled to place his own valuation on the relief claimed. If his suit fails and he appeals against the refusal to take an account, the appeal would relate solely to a right to an account, and the appellant might place his own value on the memorandum of appeal. But if the suit results in a decree for a certain amount against the plaintiff, his appeal against such decree is not merely in relation to an account, but is really an appeal against a money decree and he must pay ad valorem of Court-fee on the amount of the decree. He cannot be permitted to place an arbitrary value on his appeal for purposes of Court-fee. I.L.R. (1941) Bom. 477=43 Bom.L.R. 475=1941 Bom. 242. Where a person appeals from a preliminary decree in a suit for account, he is allowed the option of placing his own valuation upon the memorandum of appeal and he is not bound by the valuation put upon the claim in the plaint. 44 A. 542=20 A.L.J. 416=1922 A. 228 ; 47 A. 756=23 A.L.J. 725=89 I.C. 122 ; 3 P. 146=1924 P. 161 ; 91 I.C. 32=1926 L. 189 ; 141 I.C. 277=1933 N. 127 ; 9 Rang. 165=133 I.C. 91=1931 R. 146 (F.B.). But see contra 1921 M.W.N. 558=70 I.C. 392 ; 39 M. 725=33 I.C. 602=30 M.L.J. 402 (F.B.) ; 23 M. 490=20 I.C. 328=9 N.L.R. 112 ; 79 I.C. 923 (Sind) ; 7 P.R. 1925=28 I.C. 262 ; 14 P. 658=159 I.C. 4=16 P.L.T. 433=1935 P. 396 ; 31 S.L.R. 37. See also 50 I.A. 232 cited below. It is no doubt, settled law that in an appeal against a preliminary decree in a suit for the taking of accounts, the defendant-appellant is not bound by the valuation of the relief made in the plaint and is at liberty to make a fresh valuation for the purposes of the appeal. But in an appeal against a final decree by which it has been decided that a certain specific sum of money is due by the defendant-appellant to the plaintiff-respondent, the only valuation which the defendant-appellant can be permitted to put upon his appeal is the amount of the decree which he seeks to have set aside. 1937 Rang.L.R. 369. A defendant appealing from a preliminary decree for an account has to stamp his memorandum of appeal according to the plaintiff's valuation and cannot value his appeal at whatever may seem to him to be approximately correct. Where a defendant appeals against a final decree, he should pay Court-fee on the amount of the decree passed against him, except in cases where he appeals only against a portion of the decree. S. 7 (iv) (f) applies to appeals by a defendant. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 598=47 L.W. 488=1938 M. 435=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 628 (F.B.) It was held in a recent case in Sind that in an appeal from a preliminary decree passed in a suit for accounts, the valuation once fixed by the plaintiff must be adhered to in appeal unless the subject-matter of the appeal is not identical with that of the suit, in which case, it is open to the appellant to value the subject-matter of the appeal differently and to pay the Court-fee thereon. 21 S.L.R. 377=98 I.C. 909=1927 Sind 100. See also on the point 11 Pat.L.T. 629; 131 I.C. 337=1931 L. 143. On an appeal against the preliminary decree for winding up a partnership, a Court-fee of Rs. 10 is sufficient, other questions relating to allowing or disallowing certain items being incidental. 1 L. 6=19 P. L.R. 1920=57 I.C. 185. See also 1936 L. 458; 31 S.L.R. 37; 1937 A. L. J. 480=1937 A. 465 (Suit for accounts by principal against agent—Appeal by Defendant from preliminary decree—Court-fee). See also 1938 N.L.J. 341=1938 Nag. 527; I.L.R. (1941) Nag. 344. In a suit for dissolution of partnership and accounts a decree was passed in favour of the plaintiff for a sum of Rs. 10,000. The defendant appealed against the decree, claiming a decree in his favour for such sum as may be found due and valued the appeal at Rs. 1,000 and paid Court-fee of Rs. 107-8-0. Held, that the valuation was arbitrary and could not be accepted; and that the subject-matter of the appeal being the decree for Rs. 10,000 and interest, ad valorem Court-fee must be paid on that amount. 150 I. C. 1090=1934 A.L.J. 643=1934 A. 807. But see also 141 I.C. 277=29 N. L. R. 34=1933 N. 127; 31 S.L.R. 31; 18 Lah. 196=39 P.L.R. 884=1937 Lah. 694. Where in a suit for accounts the same party appeals first from a preliminary decree having paid ad valorem fee on the amount mentioned in the plaint and before the decision of that appeal appeals to the same Court from the final decree, he need not again pay ad valorem Court-fee on the entire amount awarded by the final decree but need only pay on the amount, if any, in excess of that on which Court-fee was already paid. 55 M. 664=1932 M. 453=62 M.L.J. 624. The mere fact that in such a case the plaintiff will have to pay fee under S. 11 of the Court-Fees Act to enforce the liability under the decree does not relieve the defendant-appellant from paying fee on the entire amount decreed. 33 C.W.N. 743=1929 C. 815. Art. 17 of the Act could not apply to such a case. Where a person with a definite decree for a particular sum of money seeks to set it aside. (Ibid.). Where there was a claim for Rs. 3,000 and a cross-claim for Rs. 29,000 and plaintiff's claim was dismissed but cross-claim allowed for Rs. 19,000 and the plaintiff valued his appeal at Rs. 19,991 it was held that the valuation applied for the appeal in its entirety both to reverse the decree passed grant a decree in his favour inasmuch as he can fix his own valuation in appeal. 50 I.A. 232=57 M.L.J. 281=1929 P.C. 147 (P.C.). Where a plaintiff definitely fixes a certain sum as the amount of his claim, this must be considered as the value of the original suit as well as the appeal. But when he fixes a certain sum as the amount of his claim only approximately, the amount found due by Court determines the forum of appeal. 34 C. 954=11 C.W. In a suit for accounts the determination of the forum of appeal from the preliminary decree depends upon the valuation of the suit for purposes of jurisdiction. 31 P.L.R. 536=1930 L. 832. AS AMENDED BY MADRAS ACT V OF 1922, S. 7 (iv-a) AND (v).—Where the suit was for the cancellation of a sale-deed executed by the plaintiff and for recovery of possession of the land and mesne profits, and the plaintiff paid Court-fee for the cancellation of the sale-deed on the amount of the consideration specified in the deed and also paid Court-fee on the mesne profits. Held, that the claim for recovery of possession was merely ancillary to the main claim, namely, setting aside the sale-deed, and that separate Court-fee was not payable in respect of the prayer for possession. 56 M. 401=142 I.C. 29=64 M.L.J. 127. An order of the liquidator under S. 42 (2) (b) of the Co-operative Societies Act is not a "decree for money" within the meaning of S. 7 (iv-a) of the Court-Fees Act as amended by Madras Act V of 1922, not having been passed by any Court in a suit. S. 7 (iv-A) cannot therefore apply to a suit for a declaration that an order of a liquidator determining the amount of contribution payable by the plaintiff under S. 42 (2) (b) of the Co-operative Societies Act is null and void. The suit is governed by Art. 17-A of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Madras. 169 I.C. 698=1937 M. 604=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 640. NOTES.

N. 230=45 L.W. 380. The worshippers of a temple representing the temple, brought a suit for a declaration that a decree obtained against the temple properties by a grocer in a suit on a promissory note executed by the hereditary trustee for goods supplied by the grocer, was not binding on the temple as it was collusively obtained. Both the temple and the trustee for the time being were put in the array of defendants. It was held that the plaintiffs were in substance praying on behalf of the temple for cancellation of the decree obtained against the temple, and the suit was therefore liable to court-fee under S. 7 (iv-a). I.L.R. (1941) Mad. 708=1941 Mad. 493=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 414. Suit to declare right to properties by survivorship as joint family properties and for possession—Allegation that will execute by deceased member is forgery—Claim for return of pronote on the ground of discharge—Court-fee payable. 163 I.C. 837=43 L.W. 696=70 M.L.J. 542. It is clear that the proper prayer in a suit by the creditors of a person under S. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act is a prayer for a declaration that the alienation complained of is not binding upon the creditors to the extent of their debts and not a prayer for the cancellation of the deed of alienation. The suit therefore falls in substance under Art. 17-A of Schedule as amended in Madras and does not come under S. 7 (iv-a). 50 L.W. 248=1939 M. 894=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 400. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 73. The documents which require to be set aside are documents where by rights are transferred or released such as sales gifts, mortgages, leases, releases, etc., and to fall under S. 7 (iv-a), the document sought to be set aside must of itself have secured the property, i.e., there must have been a conveyance of the said property or a release of right thereunder which would operate to extinguish the right of the person conveying or releasing, and not merely a confirmation of an already existing right. 48 L.W. 623=1938 Mad. 824. A plea that a document purporting to be executed by another person in favour of the plaintiff does not amount to a due fulfilment of the contract entered into by that other with the plaintiff is certainly not what in law will be spoken of as a prayer for 'cancellation' of that document. So when such a plea is raised or when a prayer in respect of such plea is added by amending the plaint, the case will not fall under S. 7 (iv-a) of the Court-Fees Act, as amended in Madras. Nor will the addition of such a prayer in suit for money make the plaint one comprising distinct subjects within the meaning of S. 17. 161 I.C. 184=1936 M.W.N. 510=1936 M. 266. A suit by a minor after attaining majority to set aside an alienation made by his guardian during his minority and for possession of the properties alienated is governed for purposes of Court-fee by S. 7 (iv-a) of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Madras. The plaintiff has to pay the Court-fee based on the actual value of the property as shown in the sale deed which he seeks to avoid; and not the artificial value prescribed by S. 7 (v) of the Act. 1938 M. 921=48 L.W. 277. Razinama decree—Suit to declare null and void—Plaintiffs minors in prior suit represented by defendants or guardians—Court-fee payable. 71 M.L.J. 383=1936 M. 470=43 L.W. 715; 141 I.C. 80=64 M.L.J. 24 (Suit for declaration that prior decree is not binding on plaintiff).

SUIT FOR PARTITION BY MINOR HINDU COPARCENER—DECREES ALSO IMPEACHED AS NOT BINDING—In respect of the decrees passed in suits in which plaintiff had been eo nomine impleaded as a party, he has to pay court-fee according to S. 7 (iv-a) as he must be held to have impliedly asked for a cancellation of the decree. He must pay ad valorem Court-fee on the amount of the decrees and not merely on his share fraction, as his liability is for the full amount though limited to the extent of his share in the family assets. It makes no difference that the plaintiff was a minor or merely a junior member. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 259=1940 M. 113=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 32 (F.B.). That is a distinction between an obligation imposed on a party by a decree and an obligation imposed on a party by his personal law by which he is governed in pursuance of a decree. In one case he seeks to get rid of the obligation existing under the decree; in the other he seeks to have it declared that he or his interest in the property or estate, which is sought to be made liable, cannot be rendered liable under the decree by virtue of the said personal law. In the latter case he is not bound to sue for cancellation of the decree; in the former he is so bound. Where a Hindu reversioner brings a suit to have it declared that a decree obtained against the widow of the last male-holder is a collusive decree and does not affect the plaintiff or his vested remainder interest in the properties of the last male-holder, and that the decree-holder should be restrained by a permanent injunction from bringing to sale in execution the interest of the plaintiff, in the estate, the suit does not fall under S. 7 (iv-a) of the Act. 45 L.W. 380=1937 M. 449. Suit to reduce rate of maintenance awarded by a decree does not fall under this clause. 59 M. 159=69 M.L.J. 202=1935 M. 655=42 L.W. 42.

COMPUTATION OF VALUE UNDER S. 7 (IV-A) (MADRAS).—In a suit for cancellation of a deed of conveyance and for possession of the property, falling under S. 7 (iv-a) as amended in Madras, the proper method of calculating the value of the subject-matter is the market value of the property on the date of the plaint. The valuation should not be in accordance with S. 7 (v). I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 764=1939 M. 462=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 702 (F.B.).

NOTES.

Sec. 7, Cl. (v) : APPLICABILITY.—See 45 L.W. 541; 45 L.W. 491 = (1937) 1 M.L.J. 73. The distinction which is drawn in S. 7 between land, houses and gardens indicates that lands with buildings upon them come within the definition of 'houses' and therefore a mill assessed to land revenue should be assessed for purposes of Court-fee on its market value. 1941 Pesh. 69. In a suit for possession of lands and buildings against the defendant alleging that the plaintiff is a Mahant of certain temple and that the property mentioned in the plaint is owned by the idol which is installed in that temple and that the defendant has taken illegal possession of the property, and for an injunction to the defendant restraining him from interfering with the plaintiff's management of the same, the plaintiff is bound to pay ad valorem Court-fee on the market value of the property. This, however, is subject to the proviso that where the properties are not capable of being valued owing to the character of the user to which they are put Court-fee under Art. 17 (vi) is payable in respect thereof. Such properties ordinarily are the materials and the site of the temple and the materials and the sites of such buildings as are adjunct to the temple and are not directly productive of any income for the temple. 40 P.L.R. 113. Where a plaintiff sues for possession of a temple on the strength of an agreement for management by rotation the Court-fees are payable according to Sch. II, Art. 17 (6) of the Court-Fees Act. The temple so long as it stands as a temple remains the property of the deity and has no market value within the meaning of S. 7 (v) (e) of the Act. 1938 N.L.J. 214 = 1938 Nag. 481. A suit which does not fall under S. 92, C. P. Code, and which is not for the administration of any trust but is in substance one for the administration of the property of a caste, wherein all the members of the caste are interested, after ejection of persons who are in exclusive possession thereof and who refuse to have the same administered for the common benefit, falls directly under S. 7 (v) of the Court-Fees Act and must be valued for purposes of Court-fee as a suit for possession. Recovery of possession being a necessary and substantial relief in such a suit, and being sought on behalf of all the members of the caste, the suit comes within the purview of S. 7 (v). 1937 M.W.N. 217 = 45 L.W. 510. A suit for declaration of title as adopted son and for possession is a suit that comes within Cl. (4) (c) and not within Cl. (5). 1923 P. 100; 5 P.L.J. 339 = 56 I.C. 422. See also 38 M. 1184 = 1 L.W. 824 = 25 I.C. 683. (Suit for declaration that a decree is void and for possession of properties sold in execution thereof). Where the declaration as to validity of adoption was neither claimed nor necessary the suit fell under Cl. (v) and not under Cl. (iv) (c). 9 R. 401 = 134 I.C. 1273 = 1931 R. 319. See also 1929 N. 276. Where the suit is by a junior member for partition of the Thavazhi properties for the purpose of determining the Court-fee payable, the point to be considered is whether on the date of suit it can be said that the defendant's possession was possession on behalf of the Thavashi. If he is not in such possession, Court-fee should be paid under S. 7 (v). 1938 M.W.N. 131 = 1938 Mad. 474. Suit for possession—Defendant challenging plaintiff's title, and plaintiff anticipating possible defence on that ground—Suit, if one for possession or falls under S. 7 (iv) (c). 18 P.L.T. 977 = 1938 Pat. 22 (S.B.) In a suit for declaration that a decree obtained against the plaintiff was void on the ground that the plaintiff then a minor was not properly represented, and for recovery of possession of the properties covered by the decree, the main relief is recovery of possession and the suit falls under Cl. (v). 139 I.C. 317 = 1932 M. 605 = 63 M.L.J. 764. If a person is out of possession of property to which he considers he is entitled on the strength of any right title or interest that he claims in relation thereto, and seeks to obtain possession thereof from the person who is keeping it back from him, there being no jointness of possession or title between the two his suit is one for possession, bare and simple to which the provisions of S. 7 (v) of the Act apply and no occasion arises to invoke Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. I.L.R. (1938) Lah. 240 = 1938 Lah. 275. Where in a suit for partition and possession among co-sharers the plaintiff alleges his exclusion from possession of the property, the court-fee payable is ad valorem under S. 7 (v). I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 309 = 1938 M. 278 = (1938) 1 M.L.J. 29. Suit to avoid claim order—Court-fee payable—Value of suit for purposes of jurisdiction—Mode of determining value of land. 56 M. 716 = 1933 M. 439 = 64 M.L.J. 568. A suit for possession by a trustee or manager of a religious endowment falls under this clause and not Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. 1932 A.L.J. 773 = 1932 A. 593. In such a suit immovable property has to be valued under cl. (v) but the temple should be left out of account as having no market value (ibid.) A suit by a landlord against his tenants occupying a holding under him, to eject them from a tank-bed which they are alleged to have encroached upon, praying for an injunction restraining them from interfering with his possession and for a mandatory injunction directing them to remove the mud thrown by them on the land to make it cultivable, is governed by Art. 17-B of Sch. II, of the Court-Fees Act, as the tank-bed claimed had no market value. S. 7 (v) has no application to the case. 40 L.W. 718 = 1934 M. 714 = 67 M.L.J. 688. The plaintiff, an inamdar, claimed that he was entitled to both warams in the inam land and though he had no proof of actually letting the defendants into possession he claimed the right of eject them after due notice by virtue of his title to the kudivaram. The defendants did not dispute the plaintiff's right to melwaram but asserted occupancy rights in the land. Held, that court-fee was payable on the plaint under and such revenue is settled, but not permanently—five times the revenue so payable :

But a suit for possession against a tenant holding over in defiance of a notice to quit, is one against a trespasser and is governed by this clause and not by cl. (xi) (cc). 1923 N. 310=8 N.L.J. 63. A suit for possession and also for an order to compel defendant to execute and register a sale deed, the plaintiff alleging that the land had been sold to him and that the defendant had received part of the consideration is a suit for possession only within the clause and not also for specific performance. 60 I.C. 512 ; 14 C.L.J. 159. In a suit to enforce a mortgage by a decree for sale, Cls. (v) (vi), (ix) and (x) of S. 7 have no application and court-fee is payable on the ad valorem scale. 58 C. 829=130 I.C. 876=1931 C. 159. A suit by a mortgagee to recover possession under the terms of the deed of mortgage is one under cl. (ix) and not under this clause and the court-fee is payable on basis of principal. 1929 O. 321 (1). But a suit by mortgagee for possession from prior mortgagees was held to be governed by this clause and not clause (9). 134 I.C. 597=1931 O. 366. A suit by a person, alleging that he was a tenant dispossessed by his landlord, against the landlord and a third person who is in possession of the property, is not one between landlord and tenant and Court-fees should be paid according to S. 7 (v). (32 C. 268, Foll.) 29 N.L.R. 367=1933 N. 312. See also 1938 O.W.N. 453=1938 O. 139. In a suit for possession against a mortgagor who had not delivered possession of property mortgaged, an ad valorem Court-fee on the market-value must be paid as the defendants are allegedly in possession and as there is no special provisions in the Court-Fees Act as regards suits of this kind. 1940 A.M.L.J. 49.

APPEAL.—An appeal by alienee defendant against a decree setting aside a sale of joint family property on condition that plaintiff paid a certain sum of money, should be stamped under S. 7 (v). 47 M.L.J. 919=48 M. 652=1925 M. 323. An appeal claiming that the appellant must be appointed trustee of durgas in suit in the place of plaintiffs appointed by the Court falls under S. 7 (v) and not under Art. 17-B, Sch. II, 88 I.C. 209=1925 M. 804=48 M.L.J. 571. See also 1930 M. 597. In a suit for declaration of jote right and for possession, a decree was passed in trial Court. The appeal by the defendant was dismissed. The second appeal was governed by S. 7 (v) of the Court-Fees Act. 34 C.W.N. 217. Where in a suit for recovery of possession of certain property on payment of the necessary Court-fees on the value of the property, the claim is decreed and the defendant appeals against the decree, he is bound to pay the same Court-fee though he is in possession of the property. 1929 Sind 161.

Sec. 7 (v) (a).—A share in an under-proprietary tenure in a village is a definite share within sub-clause (a). 24 O.C. 29=58 I.C. 132. See also 7 O.W.N. 956. As to a suit by a subordinate tenure holder, see 8 C. 192.

Sec. 7 (v) (b).—'Definite share' of an estate means an undivided tangible fraction of an estate. 10 M.L.T. 206=33 I.C. 683. As to the meaning, see also 3 P.L.T. 511 ; 16 A. 286 ; 1937 N. 100 ; 167 I.C. 909=1937 A.L.J. 88=1937 A. 206 ; 55 A. 531=1933 A.L.J. 398=1933 A. 414. The words "fractional shares" in Government notification No. 358, dated 10th September, 1921 cover also a case where the plaintiff claims a definite area within the survey number forming a complicated fraction of the whole. See 54 M.L.J. 67=105 I.C. 881=1927 M. 1022. But see contra 16 A. 493; 34 M.L.J. 558; 33 A. 630=11 I.C. 816; 1 R. 492=75 I.C. 217=1923 R. 246; 116 I.C. 209=1930 L. 182. Remissions of revenue granted in any particular year cannot be taken into account in calculating the value of land for purposes of Court-fee under S. 7 (v) of the Court-Fees Act; the calculation should be based on the revenue fixed at the settlement. The words "the revenue so payable" and the words "such revenue is settled" undoubtedly refer to the revenue fixed at the settlement and cannot refer to the revenue less remissions in any particular year. 1937 A.L.J. 838=1937 A.W.R. 747=1937 A. 657. Suits for possession of inam lands wrongly classed as ryotwari may be valued as such under Cl. (b). 41 I.C. 167 (Mad.). On this sub-clause, see also 1933 O. 505; 156 I.C. 884=1935 L. 331.

Sec. 7 (v) (c).—'Such revenue' means an annual revenue payable to Government on an entire estate or defined share thereof, fixed permanently or not. Lands subject to fluctuating assessment are within this sub-clause and not within S. 7 (v) (d). 40 P.R. 1919=50 I.C. 142. "The year next before the date of presenting the plaint"—Meaning. See 3 A.L.J. 244=28 A. 411. As to revenue free land, see 155 I.C. 668=1935 A. 642. If the subject-matter of the suit is land paying no revenue and has produced no profits during the year next preceding the suit, the valuation should be made with reference to similar land in the neighbourhood, irrespective of the fact that the land is 'religious land.' 60 I.C. 5=(1920) 3 U.B.R. 236. S. 7 (v) (c) does not give the Court any option to consider whether or not the nett profits for the year preceding the presentation of the plaint are exceptional or unusual. Such profits cannot be excluded from consideration for purposes of Court-fee on the ground that they partake of the nature of a windfall. 52 L.W. 146=1940 Mad. 821=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 176. Under S. 7 (v) (c), the plaintiffs must pay Court-fee on fifteen times the nett profits arising during the year immediately preceding the institution of the suit. If the amount of the nett profits stated by the plaintiff in his valuation statement is accepted by the Court the matter ends. But if the Court sees reason to think that such profits have been wrongly estimated then it has to proceed to make enquiries on the two heads mentioned in the concluding portion of sub-cl. (a) of S. 7 (v). It must proceed to ascertain (1) the nett profits of the land, building or garden as the case may be in the year immediately preceding the presentation of the plaint; and (2) its market-value. If the nett profits are not readily ascertainable or assessable it is to ascertain the market-value, but if the nett profits are readily ascertainable or assessable it is under the obligation to direct its enquiry on both the heads—on the market-value also. It can then only require the additional Court-fee to be paid (if payable) on the lower of the two figures arrived at such enquiry. The Court cannot merely ascertain the amount of net profits and assess Court-fee on fifteen times such profits without determining the market-value. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 450=44 C.W.N. 822=1940 Cal. 438. A defendant is not estopped from valuing the appeal correctly, simply because he did not object to the valuation of the plaintiff in the suit. The plaintiff paid Court-fee on the market-value. The suit was decreed. The defendant in appeal paid Court-fee on fifteen times the nett profits. Defendant's valuation was correct. 49 A. 398=25 A.L.J. 258=1927 A. 308. On this section, see also 159 I.C. 636=42 L.W. 765.

Sec. 7 (v) (d).—A suit for possession of a plot of land but not a definite fractional share, sold out of a holding is governed by S. 7 (v) (d) and the Court-fee should be calculated on the market-value of the land where it is impossible to find out the actual revenue on the said plot, 33 A. 630=8 A.L.J. 798. See also 55 A. 531=1933 A.L.J. 398=1933 A. 414; 1 R. 492=1923 R. 246; 6 P.R. 1883; 16 A. 493; 1930 L. 182=116 I.C. 209; 1937 N. 100; 167 I.C. 909=1937 A.L.J. 88=1937 A. 206. But see 54 M.L.J. 67, cited under sub-clause (b). So also a suit for a portion of a Survey number not separately assessed. 34 M.L.J. 558=47 I.C. 543=8 L.W. 88; and a suit for a land forming an indefinite share of an estate. 41 C. 812=18 C.W.N. 659. Suit for declaration of title as ghatwal and for recovery of possession of ghatwali did not fall within Art. 17, Cl. (vi) of Sch. II, that as the ghatwali was part of an estate paying revenue to Government but not a definite share of such an estate and not separately assessed to Government revenue, the Court-fee ought to be calculated on the market-value of the land under S. 7 (v) (d) and not under

Proviso as to Bombay Presidency ;

Provided that, in the territories subject to the Governor of Bombay in Council the value of the land shall be deemed to be—

(1) where the land is held on settlement for a period not exceeding thirty years and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to five times the survey-assessment ;

(2) where the land is held on a permanent settlement, or on a settlement for any period exceeding thirty years, and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to ten times the survey-assessment ; and

(3) where the whole or any part of the annual survey-assessment is remitted—a sum computed under paragraph (1) or paragraph (2) of this proviso, as the case may be, in addition to ten times the assessment, or the portion of assessment, so remitted :

Explanation.—The word “estate” as used in this paragraph means any land subject to the payment of revenue, for which the proprietor or farmer or raiyat shall have executed a separate engagement to Government, or which, in the absence of such engagement, shall have been separately assessed with revenue :

For houses and gardens ;

(e) where the subject-matter is a house or garden—according to the market-value of the house or garden :

A ryoti land on which no building can be put up without the consent of the landlord cannot be valued as a building site. 142 I.C. 195=1933 M. 367. Basis of taxation under the Act is the actual value of the property and not its probable value under more efficient management. 62 I.C. 513=6 P.L.J. 411.

Sec. 7 (v) (e).—For purpose of computing valuation of the subject-matter in a suit for possession, the legislature had drawn a distinction between the case where the subject-matter is land and where the subject-matter is house or garden. If the subject-matter in suit is a garden, it would come under Cl. (e), sub-S. (v), S. 7 and Court-fee will have to be paid on the market value of the garden and not on the basis of annual revenue of land. 162 I.C. 810=1936 C. 264. As to the meaning of the word ‘garden,’ see 40 M. 824=39 I.C. 254=2 L.L.J. 362 ; 68 I.C. 345 ; 30 I.C. 845=18 M.L.T. 243. A suit for possession of garden land, though assessed to land revenue is governed by Cl. (v) (e). 71 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 545 ; 146 P.R. 1908. See also 117 I.C. 781=1930 Sind 15. A person claiming under proprietary rights in land by virtue of a permanent lease executed in his favour brought a suit for possession of the land and the building and a guaga grove thereon. The building was not a tenant's house or any other building necessary for the enjoyment of the land but a substantial structure used as a tannery. Similarly the trees were not self-grown but were planted. Held, that in such circumstances the building and grove could not be said to be appurtenant to the land and hence a separate Court-fee under S. 7 (v) (e) should be paid on the market-value of the building and the grove. 1938 O.W.N. 23=1938 O. 40. There is no market-value for a temple and a suit for recovery of possession of temple falls under Sch. II, Art. 17 (b) and not under S. 7 (v) (e). 46 M. 782=45 M.L.J. 274 (F.B.). Easement over land or building—Suit to establish right of—Court-fee. 100 I.C. 263=1927 M. 348=52 M.L.J. 121.

Sec. 7 (v) and Sch. II, Art. 17-B (as amended in Madras).—Mahomedan co-sharers—Suit by one for share of properties as his share—Claim to properties alienated by defendant co-sharer impeaching alienation as inoperative—Court-fee payable—Alienated and unalienated properties—Distinction. Sec. 7 (v) and (x).—In a suit for specific performance of a contract for conveyance of immovable properties, there is no question of primary and secondary relief ; both the execution of the conveyance and delivery of possession are essential reliefs. In such a suit the purchaser seeks to enforce the terms of his contract. The seller as much agrees to put the purchaser in possession as he agrees to execute a conveyance in his favour. The fact that the purchaser claims possession in the suit will not make the suit one for possession, as the specific provision in Cl. (x) of S. 7 for specific performance will exclude the applicability of the general provision in S. 7 (v) relating to suits for possession where the claim to possession is involved in the claim to specific performance, the suit remains one for specific performance and must be dealt with on that basis. 1937 M.W.N. 236=1937 M. 831. See also 1936 A.M.L.J. 114.

(ix) In suits against a mortgagee for the recovery of the property mortgaged,

NOTES.

Sec. 7 (vi).—The Court-fees in a pre-emption suit in respect of a sale of land paying revenue should be calculated according to S. 7 (v). 15 P.R. 1919=49 I.C. 358. See also 1934 L. 424. In a suit for pre-emption in respect of separate plot of land which does not constitute any definite fraction of a distinct revenue paying area and is not separately assessed to revenue, the Court-fee should be paid on the market-value of the land in suit, and not, as is the case where the suit is for a definite fractional share, on five times the Government revenue. 1933 O. 533. In a suit for pre-emption, the Court-fee payable is to be calculated on ten times the land revenue assessed on land and the amount of Court-fee has nothing to do with the consideration of the sale or the amount of encumbrance on the property. 1933 L. 767 ; 32 A. 19=6 A.L.J. 905 ; 3 A.L.J. 244=28 A. 411. The market-value of the property in a suit for pre-emption is to be determined with reference to its value at the date of the sale and not with reference to its value at the date of the institution of the suit. 1924 L. 380. See also 1937 L. 239=39 P.L.R. 511.

APPEAL IN CASES COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Where appeal is by the vendees objecting that plaintiff is not entitled to the land, the Court-fee to be fixed will be in accordance with S. 7 (vi). 76 P.R. 1913=19 I.C. 961. See also 6 A. 488 ; 1929 L. 879. But where the objection is only to the amount to be paid by the pre-emptor, it should be calculated ad valorem on the difference between the amount awarded and that claimed are admitted. 32 A. 19 ; 1929 L. 190=113 I.C. 538 ; 117 I.C. 480=1929 O. 240 (2). See also 40 A. 353=44 I.C. 666=16 A.L.J. 174.

Sec. 7 (viii).—A suit to set aside a sale on the ground that the attachment was not binding is virtually a suit to set aside the attachment within the clause. 14 M.L.J. 144. As to suit by unsuccessful claimant of property attached, see 35 C. 202=12 C.W.N. 169 (P.C.). See also 80 P.R. 1886. A suit by decree-holder for restoration of attachment falls under this clause. U.B.R. (1897-1901), Vol. II, p. 355.

Sec. 7 (ix).—See 69 M.L.J. 45 ; 154 I.C. 550=1935 B. 693 ; 1935 Pesh. 8 ; 63 C. 657. In a second appeal from a decree in a suit against a mortgagee for the recovery of the mortgaged property the Court-fees must according to S. 7 (ix) of the Court-fees Act, be calculated ad valorem on the principal money expressed to be secured by the instrument of mortgage. Though the result may seem to be somewhat extraordinary the Act has to be construed as it stands. I.L.R. (1941) All. 469=1941 A.L.J. 409=1941 All. 357. The phrase "recovery of property mortgaged" in Cl. (ix) of S. 7 does not mean recovery of possession of the mortgaged property from the mortgagee, but is a phrase convertible with the word "redeem," the ordinary significance of the term to "redeem" being to recover a pledge, to get property freed from a charge or mortgage. 63 C. 657. The Court-fee payable in a suit to redeem kanam is in accordance with the provisions of this clause. 23 L.W. 758=95 I.C. 26 (1)=1926 M. 667. Where in a suit for redemption of a kanom, the plaintiff seeks to deduct from the kanom amount certain damages to which he claimed to be entitled, he is not bound to pay Court-fee on the amount of damages till after it is ascertained and a set-off is allowed. 50 M.L.J. 493=1926 M. 764.

SUITS FOR REDEMPTION, FORECLOSURE, ETC.—In such suits Court-fee is payable only upon the principal amount secured by the mortgage. 57 I.C. 673. The plaintiff is not bound to pay Court-fee upon the surplus amount claimed as mesne profits. 45 A. 154=1923 A. 261. See also 60 M.L.J. 698=132 I.C. 317=1931 M. 479 ; 19 M. 16 ; 29 A. 471. But see the observation to the contrary in 17 I.C. 442=12 M.L.T. 493. See also 13 O.C. 32=5 I.C. 444 ; 1924 N. 346 ; 31 A. 44 ; 113 I.C. 34=1929 N. 1. Nor on interest due on the mortgage. 13 A. 94 ; 14 M. 480. The jurisdiction value in a redemption suit is also the principal amount though S. 8 of the Suits Valuation Act does not apply. 60 M.L.J. 698=1931 M. 479, relying on 5 M. 284 (F.B.) and 39 M. 447 ; 31 A. 44. But see 1927 R. 304 holding that it is the value of the mortgaged property. See also 13 B. 489 ; 51 C. 737=1924 C. 783. Suit for sale on mortgage is not governed by the clause. 7 B.L.R. 194 ; 58 C. 829=1931 C. 159. Also a suit for possession brought after a decree for foreclosure has been obtained. 1 C.L.R. 473. See also 134 I.C. 597=1931 O. 366. The proper valuation of a suit for redemption is the amount of the mortgag admitted by the plaintiff to be binding on him and not that of the mortgages set up by the defendant. 37 M. 420=15 I.C. 587. In a suit for redemption by a co-mortgagor of his share of the mortgaged property, the Court-fee is to be calculated on the amount of the mortgage debt charged on his share of the property. 45 I.C. 300=5 O.L.J. 43. See also 6 B. 324. A suit by a mortgagee to recover possession of the mortgaged property under the terms of the deed is one under cl. (ix) and Court-fees on the principal amount secured should be paid. 1929 Oudh 321. But in a suit by a mortgagee with possession for recovery of the mortgaged property from prior mortgagees it was held that Cl. (v) and not this clause was applicable. 134 I.C. 597=1931 O. 366. On this section, see also 63 C. 657; 40 C.W.N. 90.

APPEAL FROM MORTGAGE DECREE DISPUTING ONLY PERSONAL LIABILITY—COURT-FEE.—Where, in an appeal from a mortgage decree ordering the sale of the mortgaged property and enabling the plaintiff to apply for a personal decree for any balance left after the sale, the appellant does not dispute the liability of the property but disputes only his personal liability, the value of the subject-matter of the appeal is not the whole mortgage amount but the excess of the mortgage amount over the net sale proceeds for which alone he is by the decree likely to be made liable. 1933 M.W.N. 1408.

APPEALS IN SUITS FOR REDEMPTION AND FORECLOSURE.—There is a conflict of rulings on the question whether the clause is applicable to appeals and whether the fee in such appeals should also be calculated on the principal amount under the clause or on the amount in dispute under Art. 1, Sch. I, according to Allahabad High Court, the Court-fees should be calculated on the value of the subject-matter of the appeal. 35 A. 94=18 I.C. 365; 30 A. 547; 36 A. 40=21 I.C. 723 (F.B.); 31 A. 295; 47 A. 926=88 I.C. 888=1925 A. 734 (13 A. 94 not now good law). So also according to the Punjab High Court. 14 I.C. 78=54 P.R. 1912; 1 L. 234=3 L.L.J. 370. So also in Oudh. 1930 O. 329; 2 O.L.J. 257=30 I.C. 322. (54 I.C. 733=22 O.C. 289, contra.) The Madras High Court also was of the same view in 29 M. 367=16 M.L.J. 287; but in a later case (20 M.L.J. 121=3 I.C. 459) it was held that, where there is a denial of the right to redeem, the fee should be computed according to the principal amount secured by the mortgage. This view is to be found also in earlier cases (14 M. 480 and 16 M. 326). In Bombay it was held that Court-fee should be calculated on the principal debt as in original suits. 10 B. 44. See also under Art. 1, Sch. I. In an appeal, where the question raised is the right to redeem or foreclosure for an adjudged sum, Court-fee is payable on the principal mortgage money. 54 I.C. 733=22 O.C. 289;

67 I.C. 130=3 Lah.L.J. 156. See also 20 I.C. 257=9 N.L.R. 86; 6 N.L.R. 164=8 I.C. 1125; 1933 L. 155; 134 I.C. 124=1931 L. 633; 134 I.C. 604=1931 O. 353. Thus if a suit for redemption were dismissed, the plaintiff-appellant can prefer an appeal paying Court-fee under Cl. (ix). 134 I.C. 124=1931 O. 633. But in an appeal by the mortgagor against a decree for redemption, seeking reduction of the decretal amount, ad valorem Court-fee must be paid on the amount sought to be reduced; and not on the principal amount of the mortgage. 1 L. 234=57 I.C. 215; 1923 L. 309; 58 P.R. 1915=30 I.C. 104; 55 I.C. 177=156 P.W.R. 1910 (second appeal against enhancement of the amount by the appellate Court). See also 30 I.C. 322=2 O.L.J. 257; 5 N.L.R. 130=3 I.C. 920; 1930 L. 601=122 I.C. 736; I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 49=1937 Nag. 295. (F.B.) So also where the respondents in an appeal by the mortgagee, file cross-objections to the same effect. 134 P.W.R. 1911=11 I.C. 198=213 P.L.R. 1911. So also where enhancement of amount is sought, fee is to be paid on the amount sought to be recovered. 54 I.C. 733=22 O.C. 289. See also 25 O.C. 30=1932 O. 82; 11 N.L.R. 83=29 I.C. 609; 1931 N. 180; 134 I.C. 124=1931 L. 633. Where the plaintiffs in a redemption suit file appeals both from the preliminary decree and final decree, claiming a reduction of amount fixed as payable by them the appeal against the final decree is only of a formal nature and it is enough if a Court-fee of Rs. 2 is paid thereon, if ad valorem Court-fees are paid in the other appeal. 4 L. 406=1923 L. 632. See also 39 A. 452=41 I.C. 346=15 A.L.J. 464. Where the mortgagee in an appeal against a decree in a redemption suit contests not only the finding of the lower Court as to the amount payable by the mortgagor before he can redeem the mortgage but also that the transaction is a sale and not a mortgage as held by the lower Court, the Court-fee on the appeal is payable on the principal sum secured on the mortgage and not on the amount claimed. 1933 L. 155. The expression "suits" used in cl. (ix) of S. 7 means "appeal" as well, as the expression has been used to cover the entire litigation from its beginning to the end. 167 I.C. 577=1937 N. 6. In a suit for redemption, or for foreclosure or for enforcement of a mortgage by conditional sale, the claim cannot be properly valued in accordance with the value of the property, but an artificial value has to be fixed in accordance with S. 7 (ix), Court-Fees Act, and the value so fixed cannot vary, but must remain constant throughout all stages of the litigation, because the word "suit" in cl. (ix) covers both the claim in the original Court, as well as that in appeal. 167 I.C. 577=1937 N. 6. In an appeal from a decree for redemption of a mortgage and surplus profits, where the appellant challenges bona fide both the right of redemption and the amount

- (a) of a contract of sale—according to the amount of the consideration ;
- (b) of contract of mortgage—according to the amount agreed to be secured ;
- (c) of a contract of lease—according to the aggregate amount of the fine or premium (if any) and of the rent agreed to be paid during the first year of the term ;
- (d) of an award—according to the amount or value of the property in dispute :

between landlord and tenant.

(xi) In the following suits between landlord and tenant :—

- (a) for the delivery by a tenant of the counterpart of a lease,
- (b) to enhance the rent of a tenant having a right of occupancy,
- (c) for the delivery by a landlord of a lease, of profits, the appellant is liable to pay Court-fees under S. 7 (ix) of the Court-Fees Act only on the principal sum secured by the mortgage. I.L.R. 1937 N. 49 (F.B.). No doubt in the case of a mortgage where the right to redeem or foreclose is challenged, amount of Court-fee payable on appeal is provided for in S. 7 (ix), for "suit" there includes "appeal." But when none of these is challenged as where only the amount of the price fixed for redemption is challenged, such a relief is neither for foreclosure nor for sale, nor is it for redemption. The only dispute is with reference to the difference between the amount fixed in the lower Court, and the amount claimed in appeal. Such a claim does not come under S. 7, Cl. (ix), nor does it fall under any other provision in the Act. It is therefore not "otherwise provided for" and so Court-fee must be paid on the memorandum of appeal in accordance with Art. 1, Sch. I, that is, the fee must be paid ad valorem on the value of the subject-matter in appeal. 167 I.C. 577=1937 N. 6.

NOTES.

Sec. 7 (x) (a).—See 40 C.W.N. 90=62 C.L.J. 405 ; 63 C. 657. S. 7, Cl. (x) (a) applies to a suit for specific performance of a contract to sell, in which the plaintiff seeks to force the vendor to execute and register a sale-deed and also to hand over possession of the property. 38 A. 292=14 A.L.J. 434 ; 45 M.L.J. 431=47 M. 150=1924 M. 360. See also 1937 M.W.N. 236=1937 M. 831. But in Punjab such suit was held to fall under S. 7 (v) and not under S. 7 (x) (a). 128 P.W.R. 1918=46 I.C. 534 ; 60 I.C. 512 ; 107 P.W.R. 1916=34 I.C. 192. But now in Punjab also such suits are held to fall under S. 7, Cl. (x) (a). 1923 L. 456 ; 1924 L. 439=5 L. 75 ; 1928 L. 635. In Calcutta such a suit falls under Cl. (v). 14 C.L.J. 159=11 I.C. 228. So also in Patna. 118 I.C. 134=1929 P. 645. For Court-fee for such suits in Bombay, see Bom.P.J. 1890, p. 204. Court-fees are payable on both the reliefs according to 60 I.C. 654 (O.). The clause covers also exchange. 1923 L. 456.

Sec. 7 (x) (c).—A suit for specific performance of a contract of lease should first be valued for Court-fees under S. 7 (x) (c) and the same is the value for purposes of jurisdiction. 34 C.L.J. 94=66 I.C. 268=25 C.W.N. 768.

As to suits falling under the clause, see 17 C.W.N. 160=15 I.C. 46 ; 25 C.W.N. 768=34 C.L.J. 94 ; 1939 A.M.L.J. 80 ; I.L.R. (1939) Mad. 367=1939 Mad. 360=(1939) 1 M.L.J. 268 (F. B.) ; 1936 A.M.L.J. 114. A suit for possession by lessee is not a suit for specific performance but one falling under cl. (v). 16 C.L.J. 375=16 I.C. 963 ; 5 A.L.J. 586 ; 14 L.R. 539 (Rev.)=1933 O. 363. A executing lease of property in favour of B—Death of A—Court of Wards taking superintendence leasing same property to C and D—Suit by B for possession is one for specific performance and Court-fee payable as such. 1937 Sind 93. See also 1936 A.M.L.J. 114.

Sec. 7 (xi).—A suit for fixation of rent under S. 45 of the Agra Tenancy Act has to be valued for purposes of Court-fee at the annual rent asked for by the plaintiff, as required by S. 7 (xi). 1936 R.D. 390. In a suit for assessment of rent, there being no rent previously, cl. (xi) does not apply. 1927 P. 123.

Sec. 7 (xi) (b).—A tenure-holder is a tenant within the meaning of S. 7 (xi) and the words "right of occupancy" used in cl. (b) of the section are to be understood in the popular and more general sense of a right by virtue of which a tenant remains in actual and physical possession as it were of the tenancy and so does not include the rights of a tenure-holder. 61 C. 513=38 C.W.N. 527=1934 C. 674.

Sec. 7 (xi) (cc) : PUNJAB.—Holding over after determination of tenancy. See 154 I.C. 615=1935 P. 90. Where a fiscal distinction is made between two causes of action, they can properly be regarded as two distinct causes of action. 1935 A.M.L.J. 4. This section is not confined to cases where the defendant is clearly estopped from denying the plaintiff's title. 99 I.C. 981=1927 M. 331=52 M.L.J. 100. See also 116 I.C. 374. The word "tenant" means a person who was a tenant but had ceased to be so. 33 C.W.N. 769=1930 C. 42. In a suit for ejectment of an under-raiyat, the Court-fee payable is one year's rental. 133 I.C. 689=54 C.L.J. 68. The words "including a tenant holding over" are sufficient to indicate that the provision is meant to cover even those cases where a person was a tenant before but his tenancy has been determined since. 14 P.L.T. 616=1933 P. 664 ; 42 P.L.R. 784=1941 L. 39. See also I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 391=1938 Nag. 162 (Suit against former tenant who set up an adverse title himself). Where a person claimed to be on the land on payment of rent and it appeared that his father had during his lifetime held over the land for a number of years after the expiration of the lease, and the landlord instituted a suit in ejectment. Held, that the suit was governed by S. 7 (xi) (cc). 1933 C. 822. Tenant holding over—Assignee from lessor—Suit by for possession—If one by landlord against tenant—Jurisdiction—Determination. 44 L.W. 800=71 M.L.J. 342. Suits between landlord and tenant have to be valued for Court-fees upon the rent for the previous year and the same is the value for jurisdiction. 25 I.C. 975=12 A.L.J. 933. A suit to recover possession of land from a tenant is valued according to a year's rental next before date of presenting the plaint under S. 7 (xi) (cc) and not under S. 7, Cl. (v) (d). 39 M. 873=29 M.L.J. 572; 27 P.R. 1910=5 I.C. 910; 2 P. 260=4 P.L.T. 662; L.R. 5 A. 709; 83 I.C. 1=1925 A. 142. See also 38 M. 795=24 I.C. 374=26 M.L.J. 573; 99 I.C. 438 (2)=1927 N. 156; 93 I.C. 291. This is so even where plaintiff is in possession of part of a house and wants to recover another part from his alleged tenant. 104 I.C. 412=1927 Sind 248. In such a case Court-fee is payable on proportionate rent. 139 I.C. 95=1932 Sind 73. A suit by a landlord against his tenants holding over after the period of their tenancy, for recovery of possession also falls under this clause. 55 I.C. 178=24 C.W.N. 151; 33 Bom.L.R. 263=1931 B. 234. But where the tenant holds over in spite of notice to quit, he is a trespasser and a suit for possession against him falls under S. 7 (v). 1923 N. 310=8 N.L.J. 63; 20 N.L.R. 124; 84 I.C. 202=1925 N. 131. See also 1928 C. 753. Where a relief against a trespasser is claimed along with a relief against a tenant, the former portion does not fall under the clause. 91 I.C. 488=1926 C. 504. In suits under the clause, the Court will not go into the question of title. 27 I.C. 162=27 M.L.J. 475; 5 P. 208=1936 P. 251. But see 91 I.C. 488=1926 C. 504. Where in a suit for ejectment there was an additional prayer for declaration of plaintiff's title as owner, the Court-fee is payable under S. 7, Cl. (iv) (c) and not under this sub-clause. 29 L.W. 760=1929 M. 529. See also 5 P. 208=94 I.C.

19=1926 P. 251. But where in an ejectment suit the question of title was raised by the defendant, the suit should be valued under this sub-clause. 33 C.W.N. 769=1930 C. 42. See also 138 I.C. 88=1932 M. 409. A suit for declaration of kudiwaram right and ejectment of tenant falls under Cl. (iv) (c) and not under this clause. 63 M.L.J. 759=140 I.C. 462. In suit for possession of properties from tenants, if a decree is passed conditional on the plaintiff paying a certain sum of money for value of improvements due to the defendants, the plaintiff appealing against the decree awarding compensation, there being no question about possession, must pay Court-fee on the value of improvements. The subject of the appeal is the value of improvements and not possession of land as in the suit in the lower Court, and it is not therefore enough if the appeal be valued as a suit for possession. 48 L.W. 661=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 840.

Sec. 7 (xi) (d).—In a case to contest a notice of ejectment the relief claimed may be in the alternative (a) non-ejectment, (b) compensation, but the suit is valued on the rental of the land without any regard for compensation claimed, the claim for compensation being regarded as ancillary. If ejectment were decreed with compensation and the tenant appealed claiming still non-ejectment and in the alternative more compensation, he would still pay on the original subject-matter that is the rent. But where the landlord defendant appeals and the relief which he denies to get rid of is simply the amount of the compensation, he should pay ad valorem Court-fee. 11 L.L.T. 116. See also 20 L.L.T. 155.

Sec. 7 (xi) (e).—A suit for possession by a tenant against his landlord falls within S. 7, Cl. (xi) (e). 16 C.L.J. 375. The clause should not be limited to suits where the landlord and tenant alone are parties. It applies to cases where to avoid delay, etc., other persons also are impleaded. 87 I.C. 1002=1925 S. 275. But see 32 C. 268 where the clauses have been held not to apply to such cases. A suit for possession by a tenant against the landlord and persons claiming only melwaram rights is not governed by this clause but by Cl. (5). 31 M. 11=17 M.L.J. 478. The value for purposes of jurisdiction also is the same as that for Court-fee. 39 M. 873=29 M.L.J. 572=31 I.C. 104.

Sec. 8 : SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY.—S. 8 is a special provision applicable to appeals against all orders of awards relating to compen-

9. If the Court sees reason to think that the annual nett profits or the market-value of any such land, house or garden as is mentioned in section 7, paragraphs 5 and 6, have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court may, for the purpose of computing the fee payable in any suit therein mentioned, issue a commission to any proper person directing him to make such local or other investigation as may be necessary, and to report thereon to the Court.

10. (i) If in the result of any such investigation the Court finds that the nett profits or market-value have or has been wrongly estimated, the Court, if the estimation has been excessive, may in its discretion refund the excess paid as such fee; but, if the estimation has been insufficient, the Court shall require the plaintiff to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the said market-value or nett profits been rightly estimated.

(ii) In such case the suit shall be stayed until the additional fee is paid. I sation under the Land Acquisition Act, and overrides the general provision contained in Art. 17 (iv) of Sch. II. 21 M. 269; 159 I.C. 274=1935 L. 448. See also on the section, 21 A. 354; 21 M. 309; 39 C. 906; 17 I.C. 724=17 C.W.N. 933; 35 C.W.N. 1103. An appellant is bound to include in the valuation of his appeal the amount of 15 per cent. of the excess market-value and pay Court-fee thereon. 57 M.L.J. 357=1930 M. 45. Section inapplicable to appeal by the Crown on the ground that the award is excessive. 46 M.L.J. 150=1924 M. 489 (2); 1928 R. 197=6 R. 281; 138 I.C. 199=1932 O. 224. The memorandum of appeal by a claimant to land acquired in a Land Acquisition proceeding should bear a Court-fee stamp ad valorem on the value of the land claimed. 45 Bom. 277=64 I.C. 582 (584)=23 Bom.L.R. 148. In appeals against orders passed in reference under S. 30, Land Acquisition Act, ad valorem Court-fee payable under Art. 1, Sch. I, and S. 8 is inapplicable. 56 M.L.J. 337=1929 M. 223. See also 60 C.L.J. 216. Where the appellant definitely claims a share in the compensation awarded for the land acquired by Government under the Land Acquisition Act, Court-fee is payable on the ad valorem scale on the value of the appellant's claim. 134 I.C. 127=1931 L. 343. Where the compensation money is in custodia legis and the question in the appeal merely is, which of the rival claimants is entitled to it, a mere declaration by the appellate Court will be sufficient and Court-fee is therefore payable only on that basis. 55 M. 641=1932 M. 438=62 M.L.J. 541. The Court-fee payable in respect of a memorandum of appeal against an award by a tribunal constituted under the U. P. Town Improvement Act, is under S. 8 of the Court-Fees Act which applies to the case, on the difference between the claimed and awarded amount. The appeal will not come under Sch. II, Art. 17 (iv). I.L.R. (1939) All. 142=1938 A.L.J. 1124=1939 All. 127.

Sec. 9.—The Court is not bound to appoint a commissioner to hold an investigation. It may itself hold an enquiry. 29 A. 749=4 A.L.J. 636. The decision of the Court as to the market-value of immovable property passed after objection made, if final, even though no enquiry was made under a commission.

14 W.R. 451. The commission may issue at any stage of the suit. 2 M. 308=4 Ind. Jur. 285. If a commission is ordered under S. 9 not at the instance of the plaintiff, there is no power to make the plaintiff deposit the costs of the commission. 33 C.W.N. 952=50 C.L.J. 164=1930 C. 65. Where the question of deficit Court-fees was not apparent on the face of the record, payment of Court-fees cannot be made a condition precedent to the filing of appeal. The proper course is to order judicial enquiry under this section after the appeal is filed. (Ibid.) See also 1929 C. 717.

Secs. 9 to 11: SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—Ss. 9 to 11 do not relate to appeals. 12 A. 129 (F.B.). The sections are not in conflict with S. 28. (Ibid.) As to the effect of dismissal of a suit under the sections, see 12 A. 129; 8 A. 282.

Sec. 10: SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—See 12 A. 129. The specific provisions of S. 28 are not cut down by the section. (Ibid.) The Court has no jurisdiction to order the deficit Court to be paid by the plaintiff after the dismissal of his suit and on his default, to order, the attachment of his properties. 46 C. 520; 52 I.C. 435. See also 152 I.C. 799=1935 L. 75; 32 I.C. 534=9 Bur.L.T. 43; 1925 L. 131; 142 I.C. 225=1933 M. 321. If the Court finds that sufficient Court-fee has not been paid it is bound to stay the suit and to fix a time within which the additional fee can be paid, without any regard to the fact, whether that be a time within or beyond, the period of limitation. 4 A.L.J. 636=29 A. 749. If the fee is paid within the time so fixed, the plaint is as valid as if it had been properly stamped in the first instance. 29 A. 749. See also 34 C. 20 (F.B.). A plaintiff who fails to pay additional Court-fee within the time allowed by the Court, is liable to have his suit dismissed under S. 10 and not to have his plaint rejected under O. 7, r. 11, C. P. Code. 26 I.C. 746=16 Bom.L.R. 763; 29 A. 749. But only a Court having jurisdiction to try the suit can so dismiss it. 51 B. 236=29 B.L.R. 280=101 I.C. 343=1927 Bom. 257. The dismissal, however, has the same effect as rejection. 12 A. 129. It could not operate as res judicata. 8 A. 282. An order rejecting a memorandum of appeal for deficient Court-fee is not a decree or final order and does not preclude the appellant the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

(ii) 1[* * * * *]

11. In suits for mesne profits or for immovable property and mesne profits, or for an account, if the profits or amount decreed are or is in excess of the profits claimed or the amount at which the plaintiff valued the relief sought, the decree shall not be executed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits or amount so decreed shall have been paid to the proper officer.

LEG. REF.

¹ Cl. (iii) was repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891). The clause was as follows:—"S. 180 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be construed as if the words 'the market-value of any property or' were inserted after the word 'ascertaining' and as if the words 'or annual net profits' were inserted after the word 'damages.'" from presenting a fresh memorandum on proper Court-fee. 59 C. 388=138 I.C. 643=1932 C. 482. A suit can be dismissed under the section at any stage of the case. 2 M. 308. See also 56 I.C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703. Once a Court finds that the market-value of the property is different to that alleged in the plaint, the plaintiff should be at once called upon to make up the proper Court-fee as determined, before the trial of the suit takes place. It is obviously improper for the Court to hold up the decision on the question of Court-fee until the end of the suit and incorporate the order passed in the decree which is perfectly useless. (1935 L. 75 Rel. on.) 40 P.L.R. 88=1938 Lah. 311. The plaintiff can abandon a portion of the claim and retain that part for which he had already paid Court-fee. 27 A. 151. But see contra 16 Bom.L.R. 763=26 I.C. 746. Where a Court returns a plaint for presentation to a proper Court, the latter Court to which the plaint is presented should give credit to the fee already paid. 51 B. 236=29 Bom.L.R. 280=1927 B. 257; 35 M. 567=21 M.L.J. 533.

NOTES.

Sec. 11: SCOPE AND APPLICATION.—See 12 A. 129. S. 11 of the Court-Fees Act casts a duty on the executing Court to collect the deficit Court-fee when it finds that execution is sought for the recovery of an amount over and above what was claimed in the plaint. The power of the executing Court in this behalf does not depend on any direction in the final decree. The executing Court has also the power to determine whether this amount should be borne by the decree-holder himself or can be recovered by him from the judgment-debtors as costs relating to execution. 38 L.W. 572=1933 M. 787=65 M.L.J. 526. S. 11 refers only to suits for mesne profits for immovable property or for accounts and does not apply to mortgage suits where on account of the interest pendente lite a decree for a much larger amount than was claimed is passed. 3 P.L.T. 146=1922 P. 59. See also 105 I.C. 395=1 P.L.T. 331. There is no provision of law authorising the assessment of additional Court-fee by reason of the accrual of interest pendente lite. 1927 P. 230; 1928 P. 58; 17 B. 41; 1928 P. 58. In cases within the first paragraph of S. 11 of the Court-Fees Act non-payment of the balance of Court-fee merely postpones the date on which the decree can be executed while the second paragraph under which the Court has power to dismiss the suit is only applicable "where the amount of mesne profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree." Where the account directed by a decree is not an account of mesne profits nor is it so described, and it involves among other things an account of the sums received from a money-lending business, and further the amount due to the plaintiff thereon is not "left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree," the case does not fall within the second paragraph and the Court has, therefore, no jurisdiction to dismiss the suit for non-payment of the additional Court-fee. Further, an order dismissing a suit for non-payment of additional Court-fee is improper, if passed with a minimum of circumspection and no warning. Where, therefore, at no time was there in existence an order fixing the amount of additional Court-fee and limiting a time for payment still less was there a peremptory order on the footing that the plaintiff was in default, an order dismissing the suit for non-payment is not a reasonable one and cannot be allowed to stand. 64 I.A. 191=18 Lah. 502=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 1=1937 P.C. 163 (P.C.). In the case of suits for accounts, S. 11 of the Court-Fees Act only furnishes one method for protecting the interest of the Crown. The proper procedure, if the appellate Court after the hearing and consideration of the appeal comes to a conclusion in favour of the appellant in respect of a larger amount than what he has paid Court-fees for, would be to post the case for orders and direct the appellant to pay additional Court-fee and only then the judgment should be delivered and the decree allowed to be drawn up. 64 M.L.J. 122=141 I.C. 602=1933 M. 330. The penalty mentioned in the final provisions of S. 11 does not apply to the cases coming under the first para. 11 I.C. 73 (C.). The Court has no power to fix any time for payment, in such cases; only the decree cannot be executed until the additional fee is paid. 59 I.C. 385 (M.). See also 30 M. 82. If the appellate Court grants a decree for an amount larger than that claimed in the Court below, Court-fee must be paid on the difference and unless this is done the decree cannot be executed. 3 P.L.T. 813=1923 P. 28. The word 'decree' in S. 11, para. 2 as

Where the amount of mesne profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree, if the profits so ascertained exceed the profits claimed, the further execution of the decree shall be stayed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

NOTES.

applied to a suit for partition and mesne profits means the final and not the interim decree. 59 I.C. 385 (M.). Where the value of the reliefs is ascertained after trial, the Court-fee on the difference between the plaint valuation and the amount decreed should be paid, under the 2nd paragraph. 24 I.C. 643=1 O.L.J. 281. A Court has discretionary power under S. 11 to enlarge the time originally fixed for the payment of the Court-fees in such cases, even when application to enlarge the time is made after the expiry of the time originally granted. 10 I.C. 268=13 C.L.J. 432. Where a plaintiff claimed mesne profits from a certain date till delivery of possession of property, but no Court-fee was paid on that claim but a statement was made that Court-fee on that relief would be paid when ordered by the Court. Held, that the plaintiff ought to have given a tentative valuation for the claim for mesne profits and on that valuation Court-fees ought to have been paid, and that an amendment of the plaint so as to remove that technical defect could be permitted even in appeal. 72 C.L.J. 14=1941 Cal. 1.

MESNE PROFITS.—A decree for mesne profits does not become operative till after the amount has been ascertained, and the Court-fee under S. 11 paid. 27 I.C. 300 (P.). The second part of S. 11 applies only to a claim for mesne profits accruing subsequently to the date of suit of which the plaintiff is unable to calculate the approximate value because he cannot say for how long a period he is likely to be kept out of possession. 13 P.L.T. 810=12 P. 188=1933 P. 81. The Court-fee payable is an ad valorem fee. 55 I.C. 24=1 P.L.T. 235. On this point, see also 50 M. 488=52 M.L.J. 128. The mere fact that Court-fee had not been paid on a decree granted does not prevent the decree-holder from making an application for execution and all that S. 11 provides is that the decree should not be executed (34 Bom. 189 and 1930 Nag. 241 Rel. on.) 178 I.C. 202=1938 Lah. 326. The plaintiff can obtain execution of a portion of the decree granting reliefs other than mesne profits without paying Court-fee on such mesne profits. 12 B. 98. See also 24 C. 174; 54 M. 98=1931 M. 717=61 M.L.J. 424. The term 'suit' is to be construed as confined to that part of the suit which relates to mesne profits. 12 B. 98. So in case of default, the claim in respect of mesne profits alone is to be dismissed. 24 C. 173=1 C.W.N. 243. After such dismissal, application for execution of the decree for mesne profits cannot be entertained. 24 C. 173. Approximate amount to be stated for mesne profits accrued due before suit. 24 I.C. 232 (C.). The plaintiff in a suit having omitted to claim future mesne profits, subsequently applied for permission to amend his plaint by including a claim therefor, but the application was rejected. Against the decree for possession the defendant appealed to the High Court and the plaintiff filed a memorandum of objections claiming future mesne profits, but, his contention that no Court-fee was payable on the claim for mesne profits was overruled by the Taxing Officer, who held that ad valorem Court-fee was payable on the amount claimed. At the time of the hearing of the appeal, plaintiff questioned the decision of the Taxing Officer and claimed refund of the amount of Court-fee paid by him on the claim for future mesne profits. Held, (1) that no Court-fee was payable in respect of claim for future mesne profits, and under S. 11 of the Court-Fees Act, as amended in Madras, no Court-fee is payable in respect of future mesne profits before the final decree is passed, a claim to mesne profits being in respect of a cause of action not arising at the date of the suit, although the Court is empowered to grant the same by way of exception to the general rule, and that the decision of the Taxing Officer was therefore wrong; (2) that under S. 5 of the Court-Fees Act, the decision of the Taxing Officer had become final for every purpose and could not be impeached before the Court at the time of the hearing of the appeal and the Court could not consequently make an order granting a refund of the Court-fee paid. 165 I.C. 972=44 L.W. 763=71 M.L.J. 677.

COURT-FEES IN APPEAL.—Where in a suit for partition and mesne profits, the Court awarded in the preliminary decree mesne profits for three years before suit but made provision for its subsequent determination, in the appeal therefrom, the defendant need not pay any Court-fees in respect of this decree for mesne profits. 58 M.L.J. 497=1930 M. 597 (52 M.L.J. 128 to the contrary not approved). But see 8 P. 906=1929 P. 731. Where the applicant for the recovery of mesne profits appeals from the decision of the trial Court awarding him a smaller amount than what he claimed he is not bound to pay ad valorem Court-fee on the amount of his claim. No Court-fee apart from the fixed fee can be claimed from him until the amount of mesne profits actually due to him has been ascertained. 11 P.L.T. 703.

FUTURE MESNE PROFITS.—As to whether Court-fee is payable on future mesne profits under the section, there is a conflict of rulings between the various High Courts. See 20 M.L.J. 98=5 I.C. 880; 15 B. 416; 17 B. 41; 6 O.C. 351; 13 C.W.N. 815; 24 I.C. 232; 21 M. 371 (appeal); 2 A. 642; 3 C.L.J. 94; 16 C.L.J. 564; 15 I.C. 572; 1938 M. 727= (1938) 1 M.L.J. 750. A direction in a decree for payment of extra fee in respect of such mesne profits does not form part of the decree. The execution of the decree is not conditional upon the payment of the extra-fee. 30 M. 32=16 M.L.J. 543. See also 33 C. 1232. The law on the subject has been made clear so far as Madra is concerned. See para 3 of S. 11 substituted by Madras Act V of 1922. See I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 1050=1938 M. 727=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 750. Court-fee is payable on future mesne profits but it can only be exacted after the amount has been ascertained by enquiry and the Court has no jurisdiction to dismiss such an application for non-payment of Court-fee in advance. 5 P. 361=93 I.C. 939=1926 P. 218 (F.B.). See also 108 I.C. 801=9 P.L.T. 657; 1930 R. 246. Fees are payable on the difference between the amount paid on the mesne profits claimed in the plaint and the amount ascertained to be due subsequent to the filing of the suit. 10 L.B.R. 276=62 I.C. 175; 1929 L. 753. Collection of excess Court-fee. See 152 I.C. 608=1935 L. 40.

ACCOUNT SUITS.—The plaintiff has a right to value his claim on estimate and the Court has power to decree larger amount. 24 O.C. 209=64 I.C. 101. See also 25 M. 543; 12 M.L.J. 35; 9 B. 22; 27 Punj.L.R. 187=94 I.C. 650=1926 L. 242 (1).

ADMINISTRATION SUIT.—The Court-Fees Act is a fiscal statute and must be construed strictly and S. 11 of the Act, therefore, cannot be applied by analogy. In an administration suit by a creditor, till the decree is passed it is the plaintiff who is the dominus litis and has the carriage and conduct of the proceedings. Other creditors impleaded as defendants cannot be said to occupy the position of a plaintiff up to that stage at any rate. Though administration suit is analogous to an account suit up to a certain stage, the two are not identical for all purposes, at least so far as the ultimate decision of the Court is concerned. Hence where in a suit by a creditor for administration of the estate of a deceased debtor, other creditors are impleaded as party defendants before the preliminary decree and they set out in their written statements their claims against the estate of the deceased aggregating to certain amount, but the Court has allowed certain dividends to be paid to the creditors on a basis of certain percent, upon the amounts found to have been due to them, those creditors cannot be ordered to pay Court-fees upon the entire amount of their claims, irrespective of what are being actually paid to them as dividends. 43 C.W.N. 52=68 C.L.J. 345=1938 Cal. 785. See also 54 L.W. 663=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 692; 1941 Rang.L.R. 512=1941 Rang. 312; 42 P.L.R. 101. It is the practice in the moffusil to demand payment of Court-fees from defendants, who come in under a preliminary decree in administration suits and they cannot obtain relief under the decree without payment of the proper Court-fee. 1939 Rang.L.R. 134=1939 Rang. 115. See also 17 Pat. 542.

POWER OF COURT TO PASS DECREES FOR SUMS BEYOND PECUNIARY JURISDICTION.—In suits for accounts and mesne profits, even if the sum found due exceeds the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court, it is competent to the Court to give a decree for such amount. 40 M. 1=32 M.L.J. 221=39 I.C. 439 (F.B.); 33 A. 97; 28 Bom.L.R. 1461=1927 B. 83; 89 I.C. 353=1925 Sind 324. But see the decisions of the Calcutta High Court to the contrary. 13 C.W.N. 493; 21 C.W.N. 310; 43 C. 650=15 C.W.N. 506=13 C.L.J. 132. See also 1929 L. 107; 49 P.R. 1906=94 P.L.R. 1906; 2 R. 408. The case of future mesne profits stands on a different footing from a suit for accounts, see 53 C. 14=1925 C. 1076 (F.B.).

Sec. 12: CONSTRUCTION OF SECTION.—The provisions of section are to be strictly construed. The additional fees should be levied in exact conformity with the words of the statute. 39 C.L.J. 217=82 I.C. 292=1924 C. 953. The question of the sufficiency of the stamp on the memorandum of appeal should always be regarded as open until the appeal is finally heard and disposed of. 14 P.L.T. 180=12 P. 694=1933 P. 234. When a Court has passed a judicial order fixing the correct court-fee payable on a memorandum of appeal, it is not open to that Court to vary it afterwards either at the instance of a party or of its own motion. [(1937) 1 M.L.J. 89 and (1935) 69 M.L.J. 439 followed]. 48 L.W. 461=(1938) 2 M.L.J. 647. After the suit is decided, the Court is no longer seized of the case and has no jurisdiction to require the plaintiff to make good the alleged deficiency in Court-fee. (82 I.C. 588 and 52 I.C. 435, foll.) 34 P.L.R. 84=1933 L. 208. See also 18 P.L.T. 864. Once on an objection taken by the office or by a defendant, the Court applies its mind and gives its considered decision, holding that the Court-fee paid was sufficient and correct, the decision is final under S. 12 (1) and the Court has no power to revise the valuation. Nor can the High Court, in revision against an order of the lower Court from the later order passed in supersession of the first order, act under S. 12 (2) of the Act, because the suit itself is not before the High Court. The condition precedent to the exercise of powers under S. 12 (2) is that the suit, i.e., the subject-matter of the suit, should be before the Court of appeal, reference or review. 45 L.W. 206=1937 M. 325=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 89. The expression "every question relating to valuation" in S. 12 (1) is of a comprehensive nature and cannot be construed in the restricted sense of a question relating to appraisal of Court-fee as distinguished from the question of category; nor is there any justification for putting the same limited interpretation on the words "the said question" in cl. (ii) of the section. I.L.R. (1937) M. 275=1937 M. 81=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 1 (F.B.).

SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—A decision on the question of Court-fee in the Court of First Instance is final between the parties under S. 12 (1) but can be reopened by an appellate

(ii) But whenever any such suit comes before a Court of appeal, reference or revision, if such Court considers that the said question has been wrongly decided

NOTES.

Court under S. 12 (2) in the interest of revenue. 25 I.C. 506 (M.). See also 60 C.L.J. 201=39 C.W.N. 131; 43 B. 507 (P.C.); 40 I.C. 904=106 P.W.R. 1917; 90 I.C. 321 (2)=1925 P. 488. The valuation made by the Court of first instance for the purpose of assessing Court-fee is final and cannot be challenged in appeal, when there is no question as to the class in which the suit falls and the question is merely of valuation in that class. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 166=44 C.W.N. 745=1940 Cal. 451. It cannot be held that a decision would be final under S. 12 (1) only if it has been finally arrived at after both parties have been heard. The words "decided" and "decision" are used without any qualifications at all and they must clearly apply to any adjudication by the Court whether both parties have been heard or only one party has been heard or even if no party at all has been heard. The only essential is that the Court should apply its mind to the questions at issue in arriving at the true calculation of the Court-fee. The real object of S. 12 (1) is to ensure that the Court at as early a stage as possible should finally determine what was the amount of the Court-fee payable before the subject-matter of the suit itself was to be embarked upon; and once the Court did so determine, the parties were not to be permitted to raise the question again before it. 1941 M.W.N. 406=53 L.W. 740=1941 Mad. 626=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 796. The decision is not final within the meaning of S. 12 unless it is reached after both sides have had a chance to be heard. After a plaint is filed and summons is issued to the other side, it is open to the other side to contend that the Court-fee paid is insufficient. It is on deciding such a plea that the Court would come to a 'decision' which under S. 12 of the Act would be final as between the parties. 1941 N.L.J. 303=1941 Nag. 217. If the Court comes to the conclusion under S. 7 (v) (a) of the Court-Fees Act that a certain amount is the net profit in the year immediately preceding the institution of the suit or investigates the question of market value and arrives at a certain figure, its finding is final and conclusive under S. 12 (1) only as regards the amount or figure so arrived at. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 450=44 C.W.N. 822=1940 Cal. 438. Appeal requiring ad valorem Court-fee filed as miscellaneous appeal and allowed—Application by respondent after remand for stay of proceedings until payment of proper Court-fee—Order rejecting—Revision—High Court would not interfere if the order is mandatory correct. 18 P.L.T. 864=1937 P.W.N. 893.

FINALITY OF DECISION UNDER SUB-S. (1).—An appeal would lie from the decision of a Court in respect of the class in which a suit ranks but no appeal would lie from a decision in respect of the valuation of the suit in that class. 28 A. 411; 23 B. 486. See also 1935 L. 698; 1935 A. 455; 27 B. 140; 17 B. 56; 15 B. 82; 16 I.C. 963=16 C.L.J. 375; 6 C. 249; 23 C. 723; 28 C. 334; 51 C. 216=28 C.W.N. 683=1924 C. 731; 14 M. 169; 1925 M. 713=48 M.L.J. 688; 90 I.C. 321 (2)=

1925 P. 488; 3 P. 930=1924 P. 673; 87 I.C. 911=1925 N. 4; 49 I.C. 442; 16 P.R. 1919=49 I.C. 711; 16 I.C. 773=6 S.L.R. 72; 105 I.C. 610; 106 I.C. 817; 130 I.C. 643=1931 Lah. 378; 33 Bom.L.R. 263=1931 Bom. 234. Nor is such an order revisable. 1927 M. 1021. Though there is no appeal against a decision as to the correct valuation for any particular class of suits, still there is an appeal against a decision that any particular suit falls within a particular class, where, though the suit is nominally one for accounts, still it is part of the case for the defendants that the suit is really one for an ascertained sum of money, there is a conflict between the plaintiffs and the defendants as to the class within which the suit falls, and there is, therefore, an appeal available. 162 I.C. 227=38 Bom.L.R. 218=1936 B. 166. S. 12 makes the valuation for the purposes of Court-fees final. It has got nothing to do with the question of valuation for the purposes of jurisdiction. If, therefore, a trial Court comes to the conclusion that the value of the subject-matter of a suit is beyond its jurisdiction and returns the plaint under O. 7, R. 10, in an appeal from that order the appellate Court can enter into the question of valuation, and if it finds that it is within the jurisdiction of the trial Court it should direct it to entertain the suit. 44 C.W.N. 394. See also 1938 N.L.J. 214=1938 Nag. 481. Where, in a suit for declaration that a certain revenue sale is illegal and ultra vires and not binding on the plaintiff, the plaintiff values the suit as one for a declaration only and pays a Court-fee of Rs. 200, and the Court decides the question of Court-fee as a preliminary issue and decides that that Court-fee paid is sufficient, no appeal lies against such decision. The order of the Court holding that the Court-fee paid was correct cannot also be taken to be a decree which would be appealable under the C. P. Code. 63 C.L.J. 16=1936 C. 784. Where an order rejecting a plaint necessarily involves a decision of the category or class under which a suit falls, even though it incidentally decides a question of valuation, the order is appealable. 49 I.C. 442=4 P.L.J. 57. If the dispute involves questions of principle as to the nature of the suit and the retrospective operation of statutes an appeal against an order for payment of Court-fee is maintainable. 51 C. 216=28 C.W.N. 683=1924 C. 731. The section does not also apply where the question relates to the competency of the Court of first instance to entertain the suit. 17 C.W.N. 503=16 I.C. 575=16 C.L.J. 371; 3 P. 930=1924 P. 673. Thus an order returning a plaint for representation on the basis of the valuation made by the Court, is appealable. 52 I.C. 1001=1919 M.W.N. 599. See also 47 I.C. 7=151 P.W.R. 1918. The decision to be final must be a decision made between the parties on the record after plaint is filed. 20 A. 11 (F.B.).

Sec. 12 (ii) : SCOPE OF.—Under S. 12 (ii) of the Court-fees Act, the appellate Court has power to require a party to make good the deficiency in the Court-fee payable by him in the lower Court in cases in which to the detriment of the revenue, it shall require the party by whom such fee has been paid to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided, and the provisions of S. 10, paragraph ii, shall apply.

NOTES.

the lower Court has expressly or impliedly decided the question of the category in which the suit ought to be placed for purposes of Court-fee, but which decision is, in the opinion of the appellate Court, erroneous. I.L.R. 1937 M. 275=1937 M. 81=(1937) 1 M.L.J. 1 (F.B.). The words "any such suit" in S. 12 (ii) cannot be construed to mean the entire suit and not a part of the suit. S. 12 (ii) therefore applies not only when the whole decree has been appealed against but also when the appeal is only with regard to a portion of the claim in suit. 63 C. 720=40 C.W.N. 406. There is nothing in S. 12 (2) of the Act to justify the view that a Court may not reconsider an order which it has already passed under the sub-section. 53 L.W. 740=1941 Mad. 626=(1941) 1 M.L.J. 796. There is no warrant for holding that S. 12 (2) applies only to cases where the plaintiff is the appellant. Applying S. 10 (2) to appeals and reading it with S. 12 (2), the word "suit" should be deemed to include an appeal. The actual wording of S. 12 (2) shows that the appeal is considered as an extension of the suit. 51 L.W. 434 (2)=1940 M.W.N. 348=1940 M. 674=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 478 (2). Where only a part of the subject-matter of the suit is the subject of appeal and is before the appellate Court, that Court acting under S. 12 (ii) of the Court-Fees Act can realise the deficit Court-fee only in respect of that part and not on the entire subject-matter of the suit. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 309=47 L.W. 70=1938 Mad. 278=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 29. The jurisdiction of the Taxing Officer is limited to cases in which it is alleged that a document filed, exhibited or received in the High Court is not sufficiently stamped. It does not extend to cases in which it is alleged that a party paid insufficient Court-fee on his plaint or memorandum of appeal in the lower appellate Court. To this class of cases, S. 12 (ii) is clearly applicable. 1934 A.L.J. 957=1934 A. 805. An appellate Court cannot under S. 12 (ii) order payment of additional Court-fee stamps, unless the first Court has decided the question of valuation. 36 I.C. 957=10 Bur. L.T. 242. But see contra 31 C.W.N. 1045=1927 C. 775. But where the Court proceeds to the trial of the suit, it must be assumed that the Court has tacitly decided that the fees paid is correct. 109 P.R. 1912=15 I.C. 463. S. 12 (2) gives an appellate Court power when an appeal comes before it to correct a mistake made below, and has jurisdiction to require payment of the difference between the Court-fee actually paid and the proper Court-fee payable, although no question was raised when the case was in that Court. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 646=1940 Mad. 383=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 425. The act of the chief ministerial officer entrusted with the duty of receiving plaints and seeing that proper Court-fee is paid thereon, in accepting the plaint amounts to such decision. 1926 M. 96=49 M.L.J. 608. The question of deficit Court-fees should be dealt with by the appellate Court as soon as it is discovered, though it may be postponed at the Court's discretion in exceptional cases. 62 I.C. 43=6 P.L.J. 293. If the question arises on appeal, the appeal should first be admitted so as to remove doubts, as to jurisdiction, and this point should be decided before other issues, and appeal should be stayed till the deficit is paid. 62 I.C. 43=6 P.L.J. 293. See also 58 I.C. 271=5 P.L.J. 508. Until the appeal is admitted, it is not competent to the appellate Court to pass an order dismissing the suit for non-payment of Court-fee. 1 M.L.J. 528. So also where deficit Court-fee was not paid on a document in the lower Court, the same cannot be recovered as a condition precedent to the filing of the appeal. The proper procedure is to allow the filing of the appeal and thereafter take steps to recover the deficit Court-fees. 33 C.W.N. 952=50 C.L.J. 164=1930 C. 65. See also 31 C.W.N. 1045=1927 C. 775. It is the duty of the High Court to see that proper Court-fees are paid to the High Courts as well as in the Courts below. 43 I.C. 489=3 P.L.J. 101. See also 235 P.L.R. 1913=19 I.C. 856. If the appellant has failed to pay sufficient Court-fees in the Court below, his appeal will not be heard till the deficiency has been made good. Where it was the respondent who was in default, no decree shall be executed in his favour till the deficiency has been made good. 3 P.L.J. 443=44 I.C. 53. One effective way of enforcing payment of deficiency of Court-fees is to refuse in second appeal to hear counsel of that party. 1929 A. 577=27 A.L.J. 808. See also 58 I.C. 271=5 P.L.J. 508. If a plaintiff-respondent fails to make good a deficiency in the Court-fee paid on the plaint, it is competent to the appellate Court, to call upon him to pay the deficit; and in the event of his failure, dismiss the suit. 56 I.C. 316=4 P.L.J. 703; 60 I.C. 654=23 O.C. 388; the procedure prescribed in S. 10 (2) being applicable. 20 A. 362. The Court cannot dismiss the appeal for non-prosecution in such a case. 33 C.W.N. 845=1929 C. 717. Where there was deficiency in the Court-fee paid on cross-objections in the lower appellate Court, the High Court can insist on the payment of the same even though the second appeal does not relate to the subject-matter of such memorandum of cross-objections. 1 P. 471=1922 P. 284. Once an appeal has been dismissed, the High Court ceases to have seisin of the appeal or case and is powerless to call upon the respondent to pay any deficiency. 4 P.L.J. 472=51 I.C. 756. See also 58 I.C. 271=5 P.L.J. 508; 1925 L. 131 (1); 7 A. 528; 18 M. 415; 142 I.C. 25=1933 M. 321. Nor can an appellant be required to pay additional Court-fees after the disposal of the appeal. 1929 O. 483 (1). See also 141 I.C. 175=1933 L. 208. Once the decree in a suit has been signed and sealed, the Judge making that decree becomes functus officio and cannot thereafter make order for payment of deficient Court-Fee, but

13. If an appeal or plaint, which has been rejected by the lower Court on any of the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure, is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in S. 351¹ of the same Code for a second decision by the lower Court, the Appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorising him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal:

Provided that if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand shall not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

of the matter comes to the High Court in revision the High Court has power, if it considers that the question as to Court-fees has been wrongly decided, to require payment of such additional fee as would be payable. I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 469=1939 Sind 279. See also 41 P.L.R. 491. Where a plaint is returned for presentation to the proper Court, as being beyond the Court's jurisdiction and an appeal is preferred against that order, it is open to the appellate Court to go into the question relating to the Court-fee and decide that the lower Court had jurisdiction to entertain the suit. S. 12 of the Court-Fees Act is not a bar to such a course. It only makes a decision final as to any question which relates to valuation for the purpose of determining the amount of any fee. It does not apply where there is a dispute as to the class in which the suit falls. If there is any doubt as to what section would apply to a suit, then it raises a question of principle, the jurisdiction to determine which is not impaired by S. 12 of the Court-Fees Act. 178 I.C. 97=1938 N.L.J. 214=1938 Nag. 481. See also 44 C.W.N. 394. The Act does not apply to decided cases but applies only to pending cases. 32 I.C. 534=9 Bur.L.T. 43; 1925 L. 131.

WHETHER APPELLANT CAN ABANDON A PORTION OF CLAIM.—The appellant who has not properly stamped the appeal and is unable to do so may leave a part of the claim retaining only that much as is covered by the stamp. 10 I.C. 207=11 P.R. 1912; 29 Punj.L.R. 64; 1926 L. 477. There is nothing to prevent an appellant from attacking only a portion of the decree by paying Court-fee only thereon, though the reason for the attack might cover the whole decree. 38 M. 18=16 I.C. 877. A defendant appealing on the ground that the suit ought to have been dismissed in toto as time barred must appeal on the whole case and pay stamp duty on the whole claim. 44 I.C. 890=14 P.W.R. 1918. Whether an appellate Court has power to allow a valuation of claim in the Court below to be reduced in order to relieve a party from liability to pay the proper Court-fee, see 43 I.C. 489=3 P.L.J. 101.

Secs. 12 (ii) and 28.—Where a written statement claiming a set-off is accepted by the trial Judge, through mistake or inadvertence although not stamped, and the trial Judge although he subsequently directs the party to pay the Court-fees does not realise the full Court-fees, the High Court can in second appeal under S. 12 (ii), and S. 149, C. P. Code, direct the payment of the additional Court-fees. 1936 C. 277.

Sec. 13: SCOPE OF SECTION.—The Court has the power under S. 151 to grant a certificate for refund of Court-fee, in cases not covered by Ss. 13, 14 and 15 of the Court-Fees Act. The discretion of the Court is not barred by the fact that the excess fee was paid by the mistake of the party and not in consequence of any direction by the Court. (55 M. 641, Foll.) 38 L.W. 983=66 M.L.J. 35. See also I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 519=1937 N. 268; 1939 M.W.N. 1143=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 867; 41 P.L.R. 96=1939 Lah. 257; 1940 Mad. 208; 18 P.L.T. 804; 1937 P.W.N. 893. S. 13 of the Court-Fees Act is not exhaustive; the High Court in suitable cases may exercise its inherent powers vested in it by S. 151, C. P. Code, and order refund of Court-fees paid. Where therefore, the memorandum of appeal was not registered as out of time and the delay was due—not to any negligence on the part of the plaintiff but to some gross negligence on the part of his legal adviser held, it was a fit case, for refund. 152 I.C. 215=38 C.W.N. 185=1934 C. 615. See also 39 C.W.N. 1074. If a remand can be deemed to have been made on any of the grounds mentioned in O. 41, r. 23, C. P. Code, the appellant is entitled to a refund certificate under S. 13 of the Court-Fees Act, although the appellate Court erroneously purports to make the remand under S. 151, C. P. Code. 40 L.W. 372=1934 M. 643.

APPLICABILITY OF THE SECTION.—The section applies where a decree in favour of the respondents is set aside and the case is sent back for a second decision. Where the decision in favour of the respondents is set aside qua a portion only of the subject-matter of the suit, the proviso applies. 39 I.C. 28=14 A.L.J. 671. But where the decree is set aside against some respondents only and the case remanded, the successful appellant cannot get a refund of Court-fee. (Ibid.). Where the plaintiff appealed to the High Court only against the order in favour of some of the defendants and the High Court remanded the case to the Court of first instance only to that extent, held, that the certificate to be granted under S. 13 should authorise the appellant to receive only so much of the fee as would have been originally payable on the part, of the subject-matter of the suit remanded. 54 A. 523=140 I.C. 466=1932 A.L.J. 320=1932 A. 550. See also 14 R. 173 (F.B.). The words of S. 13 do not appear to contemplate the grant of a certificate in respect of Court-fee paid in the lower appellate Courts. 47 L.W. 300=1938 M. 479. If an appeal is remanded, the Court is bound to grant a certificate under S. 13. Refusal to grant such certificate is a material irregularity within S. 115, C. P. Code. 42 B. 363=45 I.C. 552. Where the High Court reverses the decision of the first Court on a preliminary point, an order under S. 13 for refund of fee should be made. 15 I.C. 610=15 C.L.J. 658; 54 A. 523=1932 A. 550. Where the Court of second appeal remands a case to the lower appellate Court on any of the grounds mentioned in O. 41, r. 23, C. P. Code, a suit is remanded within the meaning of S. 13 of the Court-Fees Act and the appellant is entitled to claim a refund of the Court-fee paid on the memorandum of appeal. 140 I.C. 56=1932 A.L.J. 745=1932 A. 641 (F.B.). Where an appellate Court remands a case for re-trial in a case not coming within O. 41, r. 23, C. P. Code, no order for refund of Court-fee can be passed. 42 I.C. 304. See also 36 I.C. 241=12 N.L.R. 126; 3 P.L.J. 116=43 I.C. 855; 18 P.L.T. 864; 100 I.C. 49=1927 L. 196; 1927 C.W.N. 761. (But see the cases cited below). Where an order of remand does not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, an order directing refund of the whole Court-fees paid is wrong according to the provisions on the proviso to S. 13. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 538=1940 Nag. 349. Where a Court remands a case under its inherent powers it can also order refund of Court-fee under the same inherent powers. 34 P.L.R. 270; 141 I.C. 400=1933 L. 135; 136 I.C. 559=1932 L. 219. Where a remand is made under the inherent powers, the refund of the stamp duty is discretionary while in the case of a remand under O. 41, r. 23, the refund is mandatory under S. 13. 1930 L. 441. See also I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 519=1937 Nag. 268. A certificate under this rule should be granted when the suit is dismissed because a document relied upon is inadmissible. 102 I.C. 298 (1)=1927 L. 592. S. 13 does not apply to the case of an appeal against a preliminary decree. 3 P.L.J. 116=43 I.C. 855. The trial Court dismissed the suit against defendants 4, 5 and 6 and decreed the claim against defendants 1, 2 and 3. The plaintiffs appealed to the District Judge claiming that the decree should be passed in their favour against defendants 4, 5 and 6 also. They made defendants 1, 2 and 3 pro forma respondents. The District Judge dismissed the appeal. On second appeal against the same parties, the High Court allowed the appeal and set aside the decree of the lower appellate Court as well as that of the first Court and sent the case back to the first Court. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to a refund of the Court-fee paid in the High Court but not in the lower appellate Court. 56 A. 526=1934 A.L.J. 41=1934 A. 106 (F.B.). As to the scope of the proviso, see 6 W.R. 65. An application under S. 13 for refund of Court-fee is covered by S. 19, Cl. (xx) and no Court-fee is chargeable in it. 1932 A.L.J. 601=1932 A. 590.

REFUND IN GENERAL.—Where counsel stamps the memorandum a time-barred appeal and is heard on the point of limitation and the appeal is dismissed, he cannot set up the plea of the failure of the Court Clerk to inform him of the practice about stamping appeal memoranda as a ground of claiming refund of the Court-fee paid. 22 I.C. 884=7 L.B.R. 90. Where excess Court-fee is paid, credit for the excess paid in the Original Court may be allowed in appeal to the plaintiff-appellant. 1886 A.W. N. 228. The Court has power to make an order for refund of excess Court-fee paid under a bona fide mistake. 107 I.C. 320=9 P.L.T. 240; 102 I.C. 193 (1)=1927 Sind 192; 40 C. 365=20 I.C. 498. See also 1928 P. 35; 107 I.C. 825 (P.). The High Court can under its inherent powers assist an appellant who has erroneously paid excess Court-fee on his memorandum of appeal. What it does judicially in such a case is to decide what is the proper Court-fee and then issue a certificate to the party that excess Court-fee has been levied. It still lies with the revenue authorities to decide whether or not they will refund the excess in the circumstances. 55 M. 641=62 M.L.J. 541=1932 M. 438. See also 40 C. 365; 57 I.C. 26. The High Court has no power to issue a certificate authorizing the Collector to refund the excess stamp duty paid by a suitor by reason of over-valuation of his suit. 20 W.R. 106; 102 I.C. 193=1927 S. 192. So also with regard to excess fee paid according to the wrong decision of the taxing officer. 39 P.R. 1907. See also 1925 P.H.C.C. 359=92 I.C. 626 (1)=1926 P. 147. But see 3 P.L.J. 452=46 I.C. 27; 40 C. 365=20 I.C. 428. Government however may order such refund, notwithstanding the absence of any special provision in the law authorizing them to do so. 39 P.R. 1907. Where owing to an erroneous order of the lower Court the defendant was obliged to pay Court-fee in excess of what was really payable and though ultimately he succeeded in second appeal the High Court then did not include the excess Court-fee paid by the defendant in his costs and the lower Court, when applied to, held it had no power in the matter, held, that justice should be done and the excess should be refunded. 36 C.W.N. 190=1932 C. 450=137 I.C. 791. Court-fees paid on appeal from final decree during pendency of appeal from preliminary decree should be refunded. 83 I.C. 829=1925 O. 39. Where appeal is dismissed for non-payment of additional Court-fee, Court-fee already paid cannot be refunded. 105 I.C. 742=6 P. 602. Whether High Court can order refund of Court-fee when second appeal is dismissed for want of jurisdiction, see 6 Pat. 599. The Chief Court has jurisdiction to order a refund of Court-fee even in cases which do not fall within Ss. 13, 14 and 15. Where the appeal was found to be wholly unnecessary and no proceedings except the admission of the appeal had taken place in respect thereof, held, that an order for refund

14. Where an application¹ for a review of judgment is presented on or after the ninetieth day from the date of the decree, the Court, unless the delay was caused by the applicant's laches, may, in its discretion, grant him a certificate authorizing him to receive back from the Collector so much of the fee paid on the application as exceeds the fee which would have been payable had it been presented before² such day.

15. Where an application for a review of judgment is admitted, and where, on the rehearing, the Court reverses or modifies its former decision on the ground of mistake in law or fact, the applicant shall be entitled to a certificate from the Court authorizing him to receive back from the Collector so much of the fee paid on the ³[application] as exceeds the fee payable on any other application to such Court under the second schedule to this Act, No. 1, clause (b) or clause (d).

But nothing in the former part of this section shall entitle the applicant to such certificate where the reversal or modification is due, wholly or in part, to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing.

16. [Additional fee where respondent takes objection to unappealed part of decree.]
Rep. by Act V of 1908.

of Court-fee might be passed. 7 Luck. 588=1933 O. 170.

Secs. 13, 14 and 20.—Custody fees though paid in Court-fee stamps as a matter of convenience are not Court-fees paid for any particular document under the Court-Fees Act. The money is legally payable in advance and hence no question of mistake or inadvertence, as in Ss. 13 and 14, Court-Fees Act comes in, Ss. 13 and 14 of the Act therefore do not apply to this case. The payment is contingent payment and if contingency does not happen the person depositing the fees in advance is entitled to get them back. Apart from any rules, the Court has inherent jurisdiction to grant a refund of the custody fees when lying unspent. 64 C.L.J. 492=1937 C. 86=I.L.R. (1937) 1 Cal. 624.

Secs. 13 to 15.—The Court has no power, after the appeal has been disposed of, to recover the deficient Court-fee on the memorandum of objections. [140 I.C. 191; 46 C. 520; 82 I.C. 588; 51 I.C. 756 (F.B.), Foll.] 142 I.C. 25=37 L.W. 300=1933 M. 321. In cases not falling under Ss. 13, 14 and 15 of the Court-Fees Act, the Revenue Authorities are not bound to make a refund to the party even if he has obtained a certificate of the Court. In such cases the Court has no power to order refund or to give a certificate to say that a party is entitled to it. All that the Court can under those circumstances certify is that he has paid excess Court-fee. 38 L.W. 983=66 M.L.J. 35. See also 39 C.W.N. 1074.

Sec. 14.—In calculating 89 days referred to in Art. 5, Sch. I, the time during which the Court is closed for vacation cannot be excluded. 9 M. 134. The apparent intention of S. 14 is to require full stamp in every case of delay after the 89th day from the date of the decree and to permit refund at the discretion of the Judge when the delay is not due to the appellant's laches (Ibid.) see also 9 C.L.R. 479. On the section. See also 39 C.L.J. 344=80 I.C. 794=1924 C. 994.

The requirements of S. 15 are perfectly definite: (1) the admission of the application for review of judgment irrespective of the correctness of the grounds for the admission; (2) a reversal or modification of the former decision on the ground of mistake in law or in fact, such reversal or modification not being due wholly or in part to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing. A delay of six months in making the application was considered to be no bar to the relief under section. 10 P. 649. When a case came clearly within O. 47, R. 1, C. P. Code and conditions requisite under S. 15 of the Court-Fees Act were present, refund was ordered though the Court proposed to act under S. 151, C. P. Code, instead of O. 47, r. 1. 1924 C. 1054=28 C.W.N. 928. See also 7 R. 88=1929 R. 158, where the Court ordered refund for the ends of justice and to prevent the abuse of the process of the Court although S. 15 was not applicable to the case. See also I.L.R. (1937) Nag. 519=1937 Nag. 268.

17. Where a suit embraces two or more distinct subjects, the plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the fees to which the plaints or memoranda of appeal in suits embracing separately each of such subjects would be liable under this Act.

Nothing in the former part of this section shall be deemed to affect the power conferred by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 9.¹

NOTES.

Sec. 17 : SCOPE AND APPLICATION OF SECTION.—The object of the section is to prevent loss of revenue to the State. 6 I.C. 715. This section applies to cumulative reliefs for several distinct causes of action and has no application to distinct reliefs arising out of the same cause of action. 2 B. 219; 21 A. 200. See also 78 I.C. 415=1924 P. 596; 50 I.C. 470=4 P.L.J. 195. The words 'distinct subjects' are synonymous with distinct causes of action. 5 L.B.R. 95 (F.B.). See also 16 A. 401; 158 I.C. 780=39 C.W.N. 1146=1935 C. 573; 27 A. 184; 2 A. 679 (F.B.); 1 P.L.T. 444=57 I. C. 685; 110 I.C. 191=1928 P. 274; 156 I.C. 135=1935 M. 262=68 M.L.J. 316 (two security bonds by the same judgment-debtor—Suit on—They constitute distinct subjects for purpose of Court-fee); 68 M.L.J. 280 (declaration as regards adoption and wills). They are not to be interpreted with reference to S. 7. 50 I.C. 470=1922 P. 359; 57 I.C. 685=1 P.L.T. 444. As to the meaning of the word 'subject,' see 47 M. 150=45 M.L.J. 431=1924 M. 360; 9 P.L.T. 199=7 P. 402=1928 P. 274. The word 'distinct subjects' in S. 17, Court-Fees Act, means distinct causes of action. Where a suit is on more than one mortgage the Court-fee shall be paid on each mortgage. S. 67-A of the T. P. Act does not control S. 17 of the Court-Fees Act. When a subsequent general enactment cannot override or interfere with a special Act, one special Act cannot override or interfere with the provisions of another special Act. 1940 Rang.L.R. 767=1941 Rang. 95. Where two reliefs are claimed in the alternative in respect of the same cause of action, they cannot be considered to be "distinct subjects" within the meaning of S. 17 of the Court-Fees Act. 47 L.W. 64=1938 Mad. 241=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 139; 1925 Pat. 193. S. 17 applies to suits and appeals from suits and not to applications and appeals from orders passed on applications. 27 S.L.R. 312=1933 Sind 343. A suit for khas possession of zerait lands against several persons holding the same, is based upon a single right and the Court-fee payable is upon a single cause of action. 9 P.L.T. 199. S. 17 applies to alternative reliefs claimed with reference to more causes of action than one. The section is not necessarily confined to cases where cumulative reliefs are claimed. 47 I.C. 866 (N.); 11 O.C. 173; 16 M.L.J. 462=30 M. 61. But see 44 I.C. 143 (P.). Where it has been held that Court-fee must be paid on the relief which appears to be of the higher value. See also 78 I.C. 530=1925 P. 193 (2); 6 B. 302; 16

O.C. 354; 15 B. 82. Where reliefs claimed are alternative S. 17 of the Court-Fees Act does not apply and the Court-fee is payable on the relief which bears the highest valuation. 1939 A.M.L.J. 80. See also 1925 Pat. 193. Where plaintiff has paid Court-fee on smaller of two alternative reliefs, that relief alone should be tried. 1923 L. 456. Where however the alternative reliefs are based exactly on the same cause of action they are not two distinct subjects within the section. 5 L. 114=1924 L. 494; 39 C.L.J. 209; 96 I.C. 826=1926 L. 467. See also 62 M.L.J. 150=55 M. 336; 120 I.C. 411=1930 N. 55 (2). In such a case, Court-fee must be paid on the higher relief. But if a fixed Court-fee is payable in respect of one relief and ad valorem Court-fee in respect of another, even though the former is valued higher than the latter, the higher Court-fee should be paid. 55 M. 336=62 M.L.J. 150. Where in respect of a settlement deed executed by the last male holder, his reversioner sues for a declaration that the said deed is not binding on him as having been brought about by fraud, coercion and undue influence, also praying for an alternative relief that if the deed is found to be valid, he should be given a decree for the amount payable under the deed, the cause of action is only one, namely, the execution of the deed; and though two reliefs are claimed in respect thereof, one on the footing of its validity and the other on the footing of its invalidity, they are not distinct subjects and the plaintiff need not therefore pay separate Court-fees on each of the two reliefs. 47 L.W. 664=1938 M. 241=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 139. Suit for money on a promissory note from legal representatives of the executant or in the alternative from an alleged agent of the executant is on alternative reliefs based on the same cause of action. 1930 N. 55. The plaintiff sued as endorsee of a promissory note. The defence was that the note offended the provisions of the Paper Currency Act. Thereupon the plaintiff obtained an assignment of the original obligation and applied to add it in his plaint. There was no question of limitation: Held, the amendment introduced a fresh cause of action, extraneous to the old and so the plaintiff should be directed to pay Court-fees afresh on the new cause of action. 131 I.C. 1=1931 M. 533. See also 159 I.C. 340=1934 L. 605. (independent reliefs).

SUIT FOR IMMOVABLE PROPERTY AND PAST MESNE PROFITS.—A suit for possession and for mesne profits is not a suit embracing two distinct subjects. 16 A. 401. See also 8 C. 593 (F.B.); 19 C. 615. For decisions to the contrary, see 12 B. 96; 2 A. 676; 4 P.L.J. 195=50 I.C. 470 (each case depends on its own peculiar circumstances). In Madras, the question is now settled by the Full Bench decisions cited below. In a suit for possession of movable property and past mesne profits Court-fee is payable on the aggregate value of both the reliefs and not separately on the value of each relief. 1930 M. 833 (F.B.) [8 C. 593 (F.B.) ; and 16 A. 401, Rel. on ; 38 M. 829 (F.B.). Expl. and Dist.] ; they are not "distinct subjects within the meaning of S. 17 (ibid.). A plaintiff suing for redemption of a mortgage and asking for surplus profits is not asking for two distinct reliefs, and the suit does not comprise distinct subjects, within the meaning of S. 17 of the Court-Fees Act. The value which the plaintiff places on the relief for redemption covers the relief in regard to surplus profits as well, and the latter need not be valued separately. 1940 M.W.N. 1153=1941 Mad. 115=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 867. O. 2, rr. 2 and 4. C. P. Code, clearly indicate that a claim for mesne profits would not be barred under O. 2, R. 2, C. P. Code, if such a claim was not included in a previous suit for possession and that the claims for possession and mesne profits are not based on the same cause of action. The cause of action in respect of the claim for arrears of royalty is also separate and distinct from the cause of action for khas possession and mesne profits. Consequently, a suit for khas possession, mesne profits and arrears of royalty being based on three separate and distinct causes of action is a multifarious suit and falls within the purview of S. 17. 1942 C. 40. See also 45 C.W.N. 996.

SUITS FALLING WITHIN THE SECTION.—S. 17 of the Act applies to suits where the plaintiff in the same suit united several causes of action against the same defendant or the same defendants jointly and to appeals arising out of those suits. 15 Luck. 395=1940 O.W.N. 165=1940 O. 243. Suits on different hundies affording distinct causes of action (9 A. 252) ; suit on several promissory notes executed in plaintiff's favour by defendant (5 L.B.R. 94=4 I.C. 289) ; suit against the principal debtor and several persons who have guaranteed the amount by separate pro-notes or mortgages (8 Bur. L.T. 217=30 I.C. 705). A suit to enforce two different mortgages executed by the same person in respect of the same properties. 2 P. 874=1924 P. 77 ; 57 I.C. 685=1 P.L.T. 444 ; 63 C. 720=40 C.W.N. 406. Suit to recover moneys due to plaintiff under three deposits made on different dates. 1931 M. 712=61 M.L.J. 680. Suit to enforce specific performance of an agreement to sell land with an alternative claim for pre-emption (29 A. 155=4 A.L.J. 127 ; 96 P.R. 1895) ; claims for rent in suits for redemption (16 M. 415) ; suit by landlord against several sets of tenants for declaration that their several lands were held under the Batai system (4 P.L.J. 299=51 I.C. 767). Suit by ryots in respect of several holdings for declaration that rent accorded by the settlement authority was much higher than the rents payable. 50 I.C. 328=4 P.L.J. 297. Suit for declaration arising from distinct cause of action. 1923 A. 306 ; 18 M. 459 (declarations in respect of various alienations) ; and claim for costs on appeal independently of the result of the main contest between the parties. (3 P.L.J. 443=4 P.L.W. 223=44 I.C. 50) have been held to come within the section. See also 53 M. 248=1930 M. 376=58 M.L.J. 510 (F.B.) ; 53 M. 262=1930 M. 381=58 M.L.J. 521 (F.B.).

Where the plaintiff in whose favour the first defendant had surrendered the suit lands for consideration, finding the land belong to another person files a suit against both, asking for possession against the latter or for refund from the former of the consideration paid the suit embraces two distinct reliefs. 78 I.C. 703=1924 N. 169. Where the plaintiffs who are not in possession of any portion of the properties sought to be partitioned, pray for joint possession and partition they are bound to pay Court-fee on two subject-matters within S. 17. The plaintiffs must pay the fixed fee for partition in addition to ad valorem fee in a suit for possession. 3 P. 618=81 I.C. 1052=1924 P. 558. A declaratory suit in respect of properties, partly in the Collector's possession and partly, in the plaintiff's possession, each valued separately, is for two distinct subjects and the aggregate value of both the properties constitutes the value of the suit. 36 B. 628=14 Bom.L.R. 757=16 I.C. 1005. [On appeal, 50 I.C. 280=43 Bom. 507 (P.C.).] Where the plaintiff claims a sum of money as being due from the defendant on dealings between the parties, and also includes in the suit claims to certain items of money spent by him in connection with a lawyer's notice issued by him to the defendant and registration charges thereof, the latter items cannot be valued as separate and distinct subjects from the other items relating to the dealings, so as to be leviable to separate Court-fee under S. 17 of the Court-Fees Act. 59 M. 739=1936 M. 420=70 M.L.J. 308.

"DISTINCT SUBJECTS."—Suit for money—Plea in plaint that deed executed by defendant was not a due fulfilment of agreement between parties—If separate claim for cancellation liable to separate Court-fee. 1936 M. 266.

SUITS NOT COMING WITHIN THE SECTION.—Suit for pre-emption of shares in two villages conveyed by a single sale deed does not comprise two distinct subjects as there was only one cause of action. 27 A. 186=1904 A.W.N. 210. So also a suit to recover a rent or mesne profits for a number of years. 7 A. 761 ; a suit to recover land and trees thereon. 40 M. 824=39 I.C. 254. Sale of land. Suit by plaintiff for his possession as owner or in alternative, by pre-emption, Sec. 17 not applicable. 40 P.L.R. 33. Where certain creditors, who had taken for their common protection a mortgage for the entire sum due to them in lieu of their separate claims against the debtor sued to enforce the mortgage as a whole for their common benefit, held, that Court-fee was payable on the entire amount claimed as one subject and that the suit did not embrace distinct subjects within the meaning of S. 17. 1932 M. 737=63 M.L.J. 316. S. 17 is inapplicable to a suit by an assignee of mortgagee rights against mortgagee the mortgagor and his surety, as the cause of action against the mortgagee is not distinct from the cause of action against the mortgagor and his surety, and separate Court-fee is therefore not payable. 40 P.L.R. 528=1938 L. 566. A suit to set aside a mortgage of family property and a subsequent charge created over it for a subsequent loan, which was to be redeemed along with the mortgage, does not embrace two subjects. 142 I.C. 641=1933 L. 382. Where in respect of a deed of relinquishment dealing with a number of items of property several declarations are asked for in respect of the various items, only a single Court-fee is payable as the relief arises only out of a single cause of action, namely, the deed of relinquishment. 1939 A.M.L.J. 80. A suit filed by a landholder against the ryots of a village, under S. 193 of the Madras Estates Land Act does not comprise "distinct subjects" within the meaning of S. 17 of the Court-fees Act. The Court-fee payable is on the total of the annual rents of the immovable property to which the suit relates and not on the aggregate of the Court-fees separately payable in respect of the rent of the holding of each particular ryot calculated in accordance with the provisions of S. 7 (xi) (b) of the Act. 1932 M. 667=63 M.L.J. 73. As to appeal against disallowance of claim made under S. 9 of the United Provinces Encumbered Estates Act. 15 Luck. 395=1940 O.W.N. 165=1940 O. 243. For such a case the Bengal Government have framed a Rule Notification No. 6954, L.R., dated 21st July, 1922, according to which Court-fee is to be paid separately for each tenancy. See 59 C. 997=1932 C. 674. See also 3 Pat.L.J. 299=51 I.C. 767, supra. Claim for possession and damages for use and occupation after the tenancy terminates are not distinct subjects within S. 17 as they arise out of the tenancy having come to an end. A claim for rent however is a distinct subject as it arises out of the contract of tenancy and can be enforced by a separate suit. 10 Bur.L.T. 60=36 I.C. 883. A suit for recovery of possession of lands with mesne profits from defendants who held different parcels of land separately is based on a single right and S. 17 did not apply. 1928 P. 274. In a suit for specific performance and possession, Court-fee need be paid only for one prayer. 47 M. 150=45 M.L.J. 431. But see 60 I.C. 654=23 O.C. 388. See also the cases noted under S. 7, cl. (x). In a suit for cancellation of a compromise, the preliminary decree and the final decree, Court-fee is payable on the value of the final decree only, as they are not distinct subjects. 1932 A.L.J. 684=1932 A. 485 (F.B.). In a suit for a balance on a Khata (accounts), which would ordinarily contain a number of items, each item does not constitute a distinct subject. The subject-matter of the suit is the balance due on the account and Court-fee is payable on the aggregate amount. 64 I.C. 486 (2)=23 Bom.L.R. 995.

MAXIMUM FEE.—The rule laid down in the section is subject to Sch. I, Art. 1, proviso and the maximum fee in a multifarious suit is Rs. 3,000. 3 A. 101 (F.B.). See also 29 C. 140.

CONSOLIDATION OF APPEALS.—In a case of consolidation of appeals for purposes of hearing, the appeals are to be separately treated for purposes of stamp on memorandum of appeal. 117 I.C. 692=1929 C. 135. If two sums of Rs. 600 and Rs. 400 respectively are claimed in a suit on two pro-notes, Court-fee is payable on the two sums separately, the lower scale prescribed under Art. 2 being payable for the second sum. 1933 M. 178=65 M.L.J. 252. S. 17 as amended in Bengal. See 45 C.W.N. 996; 1942 Cal. 40.

Sec. 19 (iii).—Written statement pleading a set-off is not exempt. The exemption from stamp duty on written statements in S. 19 (iii), Court-Fees Act, is not limited to written statements in suits, but also applies to written statements in miscellaneous cases. Written statements filed in answer to an application by the official (xiii) Written authority to an agent to distrain.

(xiv) First application (other than a petition containing a criminal charge or information) for the summons of a witness or other person to attend either to give evidence or to produce a document or in respect of the production or filing of an exhibit not being an affidavit made for the immediate purpose of being produced in Court.

(xv) Bail-bonds in criminal cases, recognizances to prosecute or give evidence, and recognizances for personal appearance or otherwise.

(xvi) Petition, application, charge or information respecting any offence when presented, made or laid to or before a Police-officer, or to or before the Heads of ²Villages or the Village Police³ in the territories respectively subject to the Provincial Governments of Madras and Bombay.

(xvii) Petition by a prisoner, or other person in duress or under restraint of any Court or its officers.

Sec. 19 (xvii).—Sub-S. (xvii) of S.19 of the Court-Fees Act contemplates a petition by a prisoner claiming some relief or indulgence or right on behalf of himself in his capacity as a prisoner. An application by a prisoner praying that an order of acquittal of the opposite party should be set aside and that they should be convicted and sentenced according to law, is wholly unconnected with the applicant's condition or status as a prisoner and asks for no relief affecting him in his capacity as a prisoner. That being so, his application does not fall within sub-S. (xvii) of S. 19 and is, therefore, not exempt from stamp fees. 1936 A.L.J. 453=1936 A. 318. The petition mentioned in Cl. (xvii) of S. 19 must be a petition in respect of, or connected with or arising out of, the matter in connection with which the petitioner is in prison, in duress or under restraint. 1941 A.W.R. (H.C.) 357=1941 A.L.W. 1083. No Court-fee is leviable on the memorandum of appeal against an order rejecting an application by a judgment-debtor whilst in custody, to be declared an insolvent. 10 C. 61. A petition of appeal or revision presented by a pleader on behalf of the prisoner is exempted from Court-fees. 45 I.C. 158=14 N.L.R. 77; 1 R. 510=1924 R. 160. Relief where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate.

executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act.

Such authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But when, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable under the said Act when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate.

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates.

Sec. 19-C.—The section does not apply where property in question has never yet paid any duty in India under the Succession Act. 4 C. 725. But see also 21 B. 673. Where a full fee chargeable on the probate at the time it was granted has been paid, no further fee shall be chargeable when the second grant is made in respect of that property as comprised in that estate. 43 C. 625=20 C.W.N. 472=30 I.C. 394. The full fee chargeable must be determined with reference to the point of time when the second grant is sought. (ibid.). When an executor to whom probate is granted dies leaving a part of the testator's estate unadministered and a new representative is appointed for completing the administration, there is no new succession and no new devolution of the estate. Therefore no fresh succession duty should be levied. (ibid.). (3 C. 733, Foll.) In the case of an appointment de bonis non there is no new succession and no new devolution of the estate, which would justify demand of fresh Court-fees. 3 R. 90=88 I.C. 759=1925 R. 217. An applicant for probate of his wife's will is bound to pay the full Court-fees due even though the bulk of the property dealt with in the will was included in the wife's father's will of which probate had been granted on full payment of Court-fees. 5 P.L.J. 36=54 I.C. 703.

Sec. 19-D.—Trust properties are exempted from payment of 2 per cent. ad valorem fee prescribed by Sch. I, Art. 11. 11 B.L.R. (App.)39=19 W.R. 230. See also 33 M. 93=19 M.L.J. 591=4 I.C. 1064; 29 B. 161. When a person chooses to apply for Letters of Administration, whether the Letters are absolutely necessary or not and they are granted, he must pay the proper Court-fee according to Art. 11, Sch. I, of the Court-Fees Act. S. 19-D does not in any way exempt from payment of Court-fee letters obtained by a coparcener of a Hindu joint family in respect of property which he takes by survivorship, and not by inheritance as heir. A co-sharer member of a joint Hindu family interested to the extent of an undivided share in the whole of the joint family property cannot be held to be "trustee" for the other co-sharers within the meaning of S. 19-D. Whether an application by the surviving coparceners for Letters of Administration in respect of the undivided share of a deceased coparcener is necessary or not, is not a matter to be decided by the Court to which the application is made; when once an application has been made for Letters of Administration, it is necessary to pay the Court-fee according to the Act and no exemption can be had. 17 Pat. 542. Where property is joint trustee, notwithstanding the amount or value of such property is not included in the amount or value of the estate in respect of which a court-fee was paid on such probate or letters of administration.

19-E. ¹Where any person on applying for probate or letters of administration has estimated the estate of the deceased to be of less value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has in consequence paid too low a court-fee thereon, the Chief Controlling Revenue authority ¹[for the local area] in which the probate or letters has or have been granted may, on the value of the estate of the deceased being verified by affidavit or affirmation, cause the probate or letters of administration to be duly stamped on payment of the full court-fee which ought to have been originally paid thereon in respect of such value and of the further penalty, if the probate or letters is or are produced within one year from the date of grant, of five times, or, if it or they is or are produced after one year from such date, of twenty times, such proper court-fee, without any deduction of the court-fee originally paid on such probate or letters :

Provided that, if the application be made within six months after the ascertainment of the true value of the estate and the discovery that too low a court-fee was at first paid on the probate or letters, and if the said Authority is satisfied that such fee was paid in consequence of a mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, and without any intention of fraud or to delay the payment of the proper court-fee, the said Authority may remit the said penalty, and cause the probate or letters to be duly stamped on payment only of the sum wanting to make up the fee which should have been at first paid thereon.

19-F. In case of letters of administration on which too low a court-fee has been paid at first, the said Authority shall not cause the same to be duly stamped in manner aforesaid until the administrator has given such security to the Court by which the letters of administration have been granted as ought by law to have been given on the granting thereof in case the full value of the estate of the deceased had been then ascertained.

But see contra 19 M.L.J. 591=4 I.C. 1064=33 M. 93. As to the conflict of rulings on this point, see also cases noted below. In obtaining probate on a will, the legatees must pay full duty leviable on the property comprised in the will. No exemption is allowed to persons capable of inheriting in their natural rights. A Hindu, getting residue of his father's property under the will, is not entitled to any exemption on the ground that he is entitled to the property by survivorship. 5 P.L.J. 510=58 I.C. 1007=1 P.L.T. 710. See also 1935 A. 449. A widow who was an executor under a will owning life interest in the property bequeathed jointly to her and certain others was not a trustee, and the other legatees applying for letters of administration after her death, under the will cannot claim exemption under the section read with Sch. III, Annexure B. 30 Bom.L.R. 54. A private company in which a provident fund is deposited cannot be deemed to be trustee for the dependent or the nominee of the depositor and such a deposit is not exempt from Court-fees in letters of administration by the nominee. 6 R. 558=1928 R. 312.

Sec. 19-E : APPLICATION OF THE SECTION.—S. 19-E contemplates an application on the part of a person who has taken out probate and produces the same as duly stamped. Where the estimated value of the estate is less than what the value has afterwards been proved to be, then only a Revenue Court can impose penalty. Where there is no determination of value by the Probate Court, S. 19-E has no application. 43 C. 230=20 C.W.N. 504. A suit lies in the Civil Court by the Secretary of State for recovery of a penalty lawfully imposed under S. 19-E. 43 C. 230.

(4) If the petitioner does not amend the valuation to the satisfaction of the Collector, the Collector may move the Court before which the application for probate or letters of administration was made, to hold an inquiry into the true value of the property :

Sec. 19-H.—The grant of probate cannot be delayed on account of the Collector's omission in making the motion under S. 19 (H) (4). 40 I.C. 576 (C.). As to procedure under the section, see 6 C.W.N. 898. The valuation fixed by the Dt. Judge after objection made by Collector is final and no appeal lies therefrom. 78 I.C. 901=1925 C. 357. A proceeding under S. 19-H merely decides a revenue dispute between the Collector and the holder of probate. The Court has no power to award costs in such proceeding. 50 C. 239=1923 C. 406.

(3) : CONSTRUCTION — UNDER-ESTIMATION OF VALUE.—MEANING OF.—The value of an estate is under-estimated if part of it is wrongly exempted on the ground that it is held in trust. The valuation is for the purposes of assessing the duty payable and such valuation is under-estimated if assets which should not have been excluded from that valuation, are excluded. 62 C. 114=1935 C. 509.

(4).—Scope.—Application for letters of administration—Claim to exemption from Court-fee on the ground of the fund being held in trust not beneficially—Certificate by Registrar of High Court exempting from Court-fee—If bars application by Collector. 62 C. 114. Per Curiam.—If a husband enters any shares in the names of himself and his wife, then it is an advancement for the benefit of the wife absolutely if she survives her husband. Hence on the wife's survival, such shares are not property of her deceased husband. The wife then is not liable to pay Court-fees on the value of the shares (English cases considered). 9 Luck. 370=1934 O. 72.

STARTING POINT.—Per Smith, J., in order of Reference.—The period of six months prescribed in the proviso to sub-S. 4, S. 19-H must be taken to run from the time of the presentation of the revised inventory. (41 Cal. 556 (P.C.) Rel. on.) 9 Luck. 370=1934 O. 72.

Provided that no such motion shall be made after the expiration of six months from the date of the exhibition of the inventory required by section 277 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or, as the case may be, by section 98 of the Probate and Administration Act, 1881.

(5) The Court, when so moved as aforesaid, shall hold, or cause to be held, an inquiry accordingly, and shall record a finding as to the true value, as near as may be, at which the property of the deceased should have been estimated. The Collector shall be deemed to be a party to the inquiry.

(6) For the purposes of any such inquiry, the Court or person authorized by the Court to hold the inquiry may examine the petitioner for probate or letters of administration on oath (whether in person or by commission), and may take such further evidence as may be produced to prove the true value of the property. The person authorized as aforesaid to hold the inquiry shall return to the Court the evidence taken by him and report the result of the inquiry, and such report and the evidence so taken shall be evidence in the proceeding, and the Court may record a finding in accordance with the report, unless it is satisfied that it is erroneous.

(7) The finding of the Court recorded under sub-section (5) shall be final, but shall not bar the entertainment and disposal by the Chief Controlling Revenue authority of any application under section 19-E.

(8) The Provincial Government may make rules for the guidance of Collectors in the exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (3).

¹[19-I. (1) No order entitling the petitioner to the grant of probate or letters of administration shall be made upon an application for such grant until the petitioner has filed in the Court a valuation of the property in the form set forth in the third schedule, and the Court is satisfied that the fee mentioned in No. 17 of the first schedule has been paid on such valuation.

(2) The grant of probate or letters of administration shall not be delayed by reason of any motion made by the Collector under section 19-H, sub-section (4).]

NOTES.

Sec. 19-I : CONSTRUCTION.—The word “property” in S. 19-I is used in its inclusive and not in its exclusive sense, and means all the property of the deceased. What the section requires is a full and honest account of all the property of the estate in respect of which a grant is applied for. 30 S.L.R. 201=165 I.C. 202=1936 Sind 150. The expression “valuation of the property” in S. 19 means valuation of the property of the deceased. 9 Luck. 370=1934 O. 72. Court-fee payable on the value as on the date of the application and subsequent alteration of law, enhancing the Court-fee does not affect the petitioner’s rights. 39 C.L.J. 209=1924 C. 987. The practice in Calcutta is to pay Court-fees to the Registrar whose certificate should be produced in Court to obtain the grant. 26 C. 404; 26 C. 407. See also L.B.R. (1893-1900) 623. In Subordinate Courts the fees must be paid to the Court clerk who will certify the amount to the Court. L.B.R. (1893-1900) 623. A Court will hear the application for Probate or Letters of Administration where the applicant has not paid but has undertaken to pay whatever fees would be found due. 14 O.C. 14=8 I.C. 695. On this section, see also 31 I.C. 460. On a petition for letters of administration for part of property Court-fee on the value of the whole property cannot be levied. 90 I.C. 620=1925 L. 493. See also 1935 Sind 150. The section does not apply to provident fund money. 1925 N. 108 (1)=82 I.C. 128. An executor cannot be compelled to pay probate duty until the Collector has finished his work with regard to valuation of the property. 1929 C. 733. The question whether a certain property is or is not trust property comes under S. 19-I and an order in respect of that property by a Financial Commissioner under S. 19-G without proceeding under S. 19-H is ultra vires. 1928 L. 947. [33 M. 93 (F.B.), Foll.] The date of the payment for the valuation of the estate for the purpose of assessment of probate duty is the date on which the application for grant of probate is made. The Court-fee ought to be levied as a preliminary on the valuation put forward by the applicant for probate but the duty chargeable may subsequently be revised as a result of a reference made by the Collector under S. 19-H of the Act. 12 L.L.T. 37. O. VIII, r. 14 of the Madras High Court (Original Side) Rules, which relates to paupers, refers not only to suits but also to proceedings. An application for probate is clearly a proceeding within the meaning of this rule, and it is open to the Court not only to entertain the application in forma pauperis but also to make a further order granting probate to the applicant without payment by him of the requisite Court-fee (succession duty) under Art. 11, Sch. I of the Court-Fees Act. In this respect, S. 19-I of the Court-Fees Act should be reasonably interpreted ; the section cannot be read as altering the policy of the pre-existing law. In such cases, on the analogy of O. 33, r. 10, C. P. Code, the Government has a first charge on the subject-matter of the pauper application, i.e., the estate of the deceased. (1937) 2 M.L.J. 899. Application for probate—Duty called for and paid and application refiled—Receipt of dividends in the meantime—Date for valuation of estate. See 14 L. 526 = 1933 L. 936. NON-COMPLIANCE WITH—EFFECT—IF RENDERS PROCEEDINGS NULL.—It does not follow that because an application for letters of administration with the will annexed, is not in proper form, because of non-compliance with the provisions of S. 19-I of the Court-Fees Act the proceedings are a nullity. The Court may not pass an order granting letters until the application is made in proper form and fulfils the requirements of the law. The Court can give the applicant an opportunity to amend the application and make good the debts, and then proceed, to make a grant. It is not necessary that the application should be dismissed and that the applicant asked to start the proceedings de novo. 30 S.L.R. 201 = 1936 Sind 150.

Sec. 19-J.—Where S. 19-J is properly applicable, the petitioner is entirely in the hands of the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority who is at liberty to refuse to stamp probate till the penalty has been paid. 43 C. 230 = 20 C.W.N. 504 = 31 I.C. 460.

Sec. 20.—A commission issued to an Ameen to make local investigation, is not a process within S. 20. 17 C. 281. The provisions of S. 93, C. P. Code (now O. 48, R. 1), do not appear to give a Court any power to depart from the rules of the High Court on the subject of the levy of process-fees or to remit these fees. 26 C. 124. The Court of a Special Judge is a Civil Court within the meaning of S. 20. In appeals before the special Judge, process fees should be paid according to the scale laid down in the High Court Rules framed under the section. R. 65 of the rules framed by the Government under S. 189 of the B. T. Act is not applicable to such a case. 58 C. 995 = 35 C.W.N. 253 = 1931 C. 572. Court has no inherent jurisdiction to consolidate Civil Revision Petition in cases disposed of by a single judgment of the lower Court so as to enable the party to file one vakalat in the petitions and pay one process-fee for the common respondents. 53 M. 262 = 1930 M. 381 = 58 M.L.J. 521 (F.B.). The rules made by the Local Government and the High Court are that stamps of the highest denomination should be used. But the plaintiffs presented a plaint with two stamps one for Rs. 20 and another for Rs. 10. The Court returned the plaint to file fresh Court-fees—a single impressed stamp as per rules. The plaintiff represented it with proper stamp and applied for refund. The Court should grant him a certificate for refund of the stamps originally filed. 11 P.L.T. 708. There is nothing illegal in the Court permitting a plaintiff to file a plaint with Court-fee stamps of a denomination smaller than the one required by the rules under the Court-Fees Act, if the requisite stamps are not available. Nor is there anything in the rules which prohibits the receipt by the Court of a plaint with Court-fee stamps of a denomination lower than the one required by the rules. On the other hand, the rules provide that Court-fee stamps of a lesser denomination may be affixed if the stamp of the required value is not available. Where the Court-fee stamps of the requisite denomination are not available, and the plaintiff files his plaint with insufficient Court-fee, the Court is bound to receive the plaint, for a time within which the deficiency should be made up, and if it is not complied with within the time fixed, then to reject it. It is illegal and unjust to refuse to receive the plaint, especially when the plaint is presented on the last day of limitation. The order refusing to receive the plaint is liable to be set aside in revision. 44 L.W. 830 = 71 M.L.J. 804.

Sec. 28: SCOPE OF THE SECTION.—The specific provisions of the section are not cut down either by Ss. 9 to 11 of this Act or by O. VII, r. 11 (Old S. 54) of C. P. Code. 12 A. 129 (F.B.). The effect of the section is that if the necessary Court-fees on a document are paid within the time allowed by the Court, the document may be treated as valid from the date on which it was filed. 8 R. 538 = 129 I.C. 500 = 1931 R. 38. The mistake or inadvertence referred to in this section is that of the Court and its officers and not of the party. 1901 A.W.N. 21 ; 12 A. 129 ; 20 M. 319. On this point, see also 4 A.L.J. 636 = 29 A. 749. Where an appeal is not properly stamped, whole appeal will not be dismissed but amount covered by Court-fee will be decreed. 96 I.C. 135 = 1926 L. 558. See also 131 I.C. 297 = 1931 L. 237. It is always open to plaintiff or an appellant to reduce his claim and effect a saving of Court-fee if otherwise permissible. In so far as he submits to the decree appealed against, it becomes final, and the appeal is limited to the amount in contest on which alone Court-fee need be paid. 27 A.L.J. 547 = 116 I.C. 82 = 1929 A.

Judge or the head of the office, as the case may be, or, in the case of a High Court, any Judge of such Court, may, if he thinks fit, order that such document be stamped as he may direct; and, on such document being stamped accordingly the same and every proceeding relative thereto shall be as valid as if it had been properly stamped in the first instance.

29. Where any such document is amended in order merely to correct a mistake and to make it conform to the original intention of the parties, it shall not be necessary to impose a fresh stamp.

30. No document requiring a stamp under this Act shall be filed or acted upon in any proceeding in any Court or office until the stamp has been cancelled.

Such officer as the Court or the head of the office may from time to time appoint shall, on receiving any such document, forthwith effect such cancellation by punching out the figure-head so as to leave the amount designated on the stamp untouched, and the part removed by punching shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed.

CHAPTER VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

31. [Repayment of fees paid on applications to Criminal Courts.] Rep. by the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act (XVIII of 1923), S. 163.

NOTES.

308. See also 27 A. 151. Even Revenue Officer has the powers under S. 28 to direct the payment of Court-fees in revision. 30 I.C. 862 (2)=22 C.L.J. 57. But this power must be exercised before making the final decision in the case. 7 A. 528=5 A.W.N. 140 (But see the judgment of Mahmood, J., contra, in the same case). S. 28 of the Court-Fees Act does not empower the Court to call upon the parties to pay the deficit Court-fee after judgment has been pronounced. The Court is then functus officio. 11 P. 532=1932 P. 228. See also 140 I.C. 191=1932 A.L.J. 165=1932 A. 316; 46 C. 520. Where a plaint is returned by one Court, for presentation to another Court, the latter Court should give credit to the stamp on the plaint. 35 M. 567=21 M.L.J. 533; 29 Bom.L.R. 280. See also 8 B. 313; 8 B. 380; 51 B. 236=1927 B. 257. Where a plaint with insufficient Court-fee stamp is presented, opportunity must be given to the party to pay the proper stamp. 106 I.C. 817=1928 L. 221. Written statement claiming set off not stamped—Effect—Subsequent order for payment of Court-fee—If validates proceedings. See 1936 C. 277.

LIMITATION.—Doubts as to whether payment of deficit Court-fee after limitation time would save limitation, have been set at rest by the enactment of S. 149 of G. P. Code. Under that section it is in the discretion of the Court to exercise the powers. The Court will not exercise the discretion unless it is satisfied that some ground exists. 1 L. 234. Where a deficiency in Court-fee is made good within the time allowed by the Court but beyond the period of limitation prescribed for the suit, the suit is not barred by time. 23 I.C. 408. See also 133 I.C. 122 (R.). Plaint and memorandum of appeal insufficiently stamped—Second appeal to High Court properly stamped—High Court has power, on levying the additional stamp duty on the plaint and memorandum of appeal, to hear the second appeal as there was an existing suit at the time the period of limitation expired and the provisions of S. 28 were applicable. 24 M. 331; 25 M. 380=11 M.L.J. 119. See also 18 M. 29; 1 M.L.J. 598; 2 A. 682 (F.B.); 29 A. 749; 2 C.L.J. 68. Payment of Court-fee after the period of limitation but during the enquiry into pauperism of the plaintiff, saves limitation. 2 A. 241; 24 M. 493. See also 22 B. 849; 26 C. 592 (Court-fee paid after rejection of pauper application). Where there was an entry in the proceedings by the Judge to the effect that the memorandum of appeal was properly stamped, it was held that the counsel for the appellant having thus been deceived into believing that the stamp which he had affixed was quite correct, it would seem to be unfair to dismiss the appeal on the ground that the appeal was incorrectly stamped. It was further held that S. 28 of the Court-Fees Act gave power to the High Court to make such orders as seem to it suitable in the circumstances of each case and that the order of the lower Court in the particular case dismissing the appeal should be set aside. In the result the appellant was directed to make good the deficiency and thereafter the appeal was directed to be heard and disposed of according to law. 1940 A.M.L.J. 19.

Sec. 29.—A party who filed a suit in a Revenue Court which referred him to the Civil Court regarding a portion of the claim is not exempted under S. 29 from paying the usual Court-fees in his suit in the Civil Court. 132 P.R. 1892.

Sec. 30.—See 35 M. 567=21 M.L.J. 533=10 I.C. 201; 29 Bom.L.R. 280 and 51 B. 236 cited under S. 28 (stamp on plaint returned for presentation to proper Court).

33. Whenever the filing or exhibition in a Criminal Court of a document in respect of which the proper fee has not been paid is, in the opinion of the presiding Judge, necessary to prevent a failure of Justice, nothing contained in section 4 or section 6 shall be deemed to prohibit such filing or exhibition.

(2) All such rules shall be published in the Official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

(3) Any person appointed to sell stamps who disobeys any rule made under this section, and any person not so appointed who sells or offers for sale any stamp, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.]

35. The ³[Appropriate Government] may, from time to time by notification in the Official Gazette reduce or remit⁴ in the whole or in any part of ⁵[the territories under its administration] all or any of the fees mentioned in the first and second schedules to this Act annexed and may in like manner cancel or vary such order.

can be awarded only out of the fine levied from the accused under S. 545 of the Cr. P. Code. (1872-1892) L.B.R. 595; 24 M. 305=2 Weir 722; 1 Weir 723. See also 1 L.B.R. 209. The fee ordered to be paid is an integral part of the sentence and must be treated as a fine imposed by the Court. 5 M.H.C.R. App. 28; 2 Weir 724. But see contra 1 Weir 724 (No imprisonment in default of payment). See also 26 M. 421=2 Weir 488; 20 C. 687. The making of an order under S. 31 does not amount to an enhancement of sentence and an appellate Court can order the accused to pay the complainant's Court-fees. 47 M. 914=47 M.L.J. 355. (Old rulings to the contrary are not now good law.) See also 1925 Mad. 136=47 M.L.J. 355.

APPEAL AND REVISION.—The appellate Court cannot set aside an order passed by a Criminal Court under S. 31. 11 Cr.L.J. 194=4 I.C. 1130. But see also 1923 A. 86, infra. If under S. 31 the order directing payment to complainant is not proper, it can be corrected in appeal or revision. 3 A. 187 (Cr.)=1923 A. 86.

Sec. 34.—The case of mukhtear who purchases a Court-fee stamp for a client and transfers it to another client is not covered by S. 34. Where a pleader's munshi instead of obtaining refund on an unused stamp altered the name on the stamp and used it for another client for the first time, held, that the accused was not liable to be convicted under S. 468, I. P. Code, and S. 34 Court-Fees Act, in the absence of proof that he acted dishonestly or fraudulently. 133 I.C. 645=1931 L. 337. See also 30 C. 921. To establish a charge of an offence under S. 34 (3) it is necessary for the prosecution to identify the stamps alleged to have been wrongfully sold. Where the only evidence on the point was that of three entries in a particular exhibit, it was held that it was not enough to sustain the charge. 174 I.C. 513=42 C.W.N. 246=1938 C. 195.

36. Nothing in Chapters II and V of this Act applies to the commission payable to the Accountant-General of the High Court at Fort William, or to the fees which any officer of a High Court is allowed to receive in addition to a fixed salary.

Saving of fees to certain officers of High Courts.

SCHEDULE I.

Ad valorem fees.

Number.		Proper Fee.
1. ¹ Plaint ² [written statement pleading a set-off or counter-claim] or memo-	When the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed five rupees.	Six annas.

LEG. REF.

¹ To ascertain the proper fee leviable on the institution of a suit, see the table annexed to this schedule.

² Inserted by S. 155 and the 4th Schedule of the Code of Civil Procedure (V of 1908).

NOTES.

SCOPE OF SCHEDULE I.—Schedule is supplementary and not alternative to S. 7. 6 N.L.R. 164=8 I.C. 1125. The proviso to Art. 1 is of general application and is not confined to plaints and memoranda of appeals under Art. 1 only. 3 A. 108 (112); 29 C. 140. Multifarious suits under S. 17 are also subject to it. 3 A. 108.

Sch. and Ss. 4, 6 and 7: SCOPE—IMPOSITION OF LIABILITY.—The schedules to the Court-Fees Act, when read with Ss. 4 and 6 of the Act, do impose a liability. S. 7 refers only to suits and, in certain cases specifically mentioned, memoranda of appeal. The fees chargeable in respect of all other documents are those laid down in the Schedules to the Act, liability being imposed by the Schedules read with S. 4 or S. 6 as the case may be. 1939 Rang.L.R. 474=1939 Rang. 375.

Art. 1: APPLICABILITY.—Art. 1 applies only to those cases which are not otherwise specially provided for under the Act. 61 P.R. 1919=47 I.C. 992. Suit for cancellation of instrument under S. 39, Specific Relief Act, falls under the residuary Article, Sch. I, Art. 1. 139 I.C. 32=1932 A.L.J. 684=1932 A. 485 (F.B.). See also cases cited on the point under S. 7, Cl. (iv) (c) (IV-A Mad.). If prayer for this relief is attached to a prayer for a declaration, the question which then arises is whether the cancellation should be regarded as consequential on the declaration or as a substantial relief in itself which requires separate valuation. In the former case, a single Court-fee will have to be paid on the value of the reliefs sought under S. 7 (iv)(c). In the other event, a Court-fee will have to be paid on the value of the subject-matter in dispute under Art. 1 of Sch. I, if the subject-matter is capable of valuation, otherwise a fixed fee of Rs. 10 under Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. 43 P.L.R. 252=1941 Lah. 265; I.L.R. 1941 Lah. 451=43 P.L.R. 106=1941 Lah. 97 (F.B.) (Distinction between consequential reliefs and substantial reliefs pointed out). There is no particular section in the Court-Fees Act for assessment of fair rent and so ad valorem fee has to be paid. 100 I.C. 913=8 P.L.T. 366=1927 P. 123. See also 1929 C. 141. An application for restitution under S. 144, C. P. Code, may be stamped as a mere application. Ad valorem fee is not necessary. 21 C.W.N. 544. But an appeal against an order passed under S. 144, C.P. Code, is an appeal against a decree and an ad valorem stamp duty is payable thereon. 82 I.C. 321=22 A.L.J. 881. See also 41 C.W.N. 157=1937 C. 152; 113 I.C. 270; 42 C.W.N. 152; 1938 Rang.L.R. 635; 1937 Pesh. 3=167 I.C. 879. But see contra 1927 L. 635. (See also under Sch. II, Art. 1). So also on an appeal against an order under O. 21, r. 50 (2). 10 Bur.L.T. 42=35 I.C. 429; 1930 L. 825; 37 C.W.N. 227. See I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 589=1939 Sind 161 (F.B.). (Case under Bombay Amending Act and notification). Also on an appeal against an order under O. 21, r. 99. 10 B. 238; 8 C. 720. See also 29 M. 172; 4 M. 221. Regarding Court-fees in appeals in land acquisition cases, see 1927 C. 45=97 I.C. 140; 29 L.W. 237=1929 M. 223; 35 C.W.N. 1103; 138 I.C. 199=1932 O. 224. (See also under S. 8). An application for settlement of fair rent and for declaration under Ss. 105 and 105-A of the Bengal Tenancy Act ad valorem Court-fee is payable on the value of the subject-matter. 117 I.C. 701=1929 C. 141. The principle of valuation in appeal is the same as in original plaint. 1930 R. 164. When a dispute is at the stage of an appeal by a defendant who seeks to set aside the whole decree, then the value of the subject-matter in dispute must necessarily be the value of the relief granted by the decree which the appellant wishes to disembarass himself of. In such a case one has to ask oneself the question "what is the value to the appellant of immunity from the decree." Upon the answer depends the value at which the appeal ought to be assessed. It is not open to the appellant defendant to avoid assessing his appeal at its full valuation merely because it may prove, as a result of the appeal itself, that the plaintiff's valuation was excessive. 1941 A.L.J. 381=1941 All. 295. An ad valorem Court-fee has to be paid on a memorandum of appeal against a decree or order having the force of a decree. A memorandum of appeal against an order rejecting a plaint must be stamped ad valorem. 1929 P. 615. See also 60 C. 530=37 C.W.N. 227=1933

C. 546; I.L.R. (1939) Kar. 589=1939 Sind 161 (F.B.). [appeal from order under C. P. Code, O. 21, r. 50 (2)]. Where a plaint is rejected under O. 7, r. 11, C. P. Code, as the deficiency in Court-fee was not made good and an appeal is preferred therefrom, the subject-matter of the appeal is not the amount of the claim in the suit but the sum of money rightly claimable as Court-fees. Ad valorem Court-fee on the difference between the amount demanded by the Court and that paid by the plaintiff, ought to be paid on the memorandum of appeal. 1939 N.L.J. 32. Court holding additional Court-fee necessary and returning plaint for necessary amendments instead of demanding additional Court-fee and rejecting plaint on failure to pay—Proper procedure pointed out—Court has no power to direct amendment. See 1938 M. 645=47 L. W. 523. Order rejecting plaint for failure to pay additional Court-fee—Appeal from—Same Court-fee is payable as on the plaint. See 1935 N. 83 (F.B.). See also 1939 N.L.J. 32.

COURT-FEES ON SET-OFF.—The words “set-off” and “counter-claim” are not defined in the Court-Fees Act but they have a definite meaning attached to them. They refer to a cross-claim against the plaintiff which entitles the defendant to refuse to pay the amount demanded by the plaintiff and to assert that the result of setting off the cross-claim of the defendant would be that the defendant would on the contrary be entitled to a decree for the balance. 1933 Sind 247. See also 13 L.L.T. 45; 1935 P. 110; 1940 N.L.J. 176. Where the defendant claims set-off, the amount of which exceeds the amount of claim made against him, he must pay ad valorem Court-fees on the entire sum claimed by him and not merely on the difference between the two amounts. 45 A. 218=20 A.L.J. 1005=1923 A. 118. See also 8 A. 396; 13 B. 672; 15 M. 29. The expression “set-off” includes an equitable set-off also and is not confined to legal set-off coming under O. 8, r. 6, C. P. Code. 147 I.C. 719; 1933 M. 203; 142 I.C. 719 following 45 All. 218. Suit for possession of share by partition—Defendant claiming to be in possession under wakfnama—Decree by trial Court finding wakf invalid—Appeal seeking to set aside decree—Claim by appellant that declaration of validity of wakf will be enough—Court-fee payable. 159 I.C. 727=1936 A. 216. Where on a suit brought on the basis of a promissory note the defendant claimed in his written statement a specified amount by way of damages, setting out the particulars of the claim made by him as one arising from the transaction of sale which led to the execution of the promissory note in favour of the plaintiff and by reason of the breach of covenant alleged to have been committed by the plaintiff. Held, that the claim by way of set-off came under Art. 1, Sch. I. (Ibid.) In a suit for accounts and to recover moneys of a dissolved partnership the defendant’s claim for decree on accounts is not a counter-claim. No Court-fee need be paid thereon until the amount has been ascertained. 27 I.C. 316=8 S.L.R. 122; 27 I.C. 320=8 S.L.R. 124. See also 1933 M. 353. Pending a suit, the disputes were referred to arbitration out of the Court and it was found that the money was payable to defendant. The Court could direct the defendant to plead the award as an adjustment and claim the amount awarded, paying Court-fee thereon. 18 S.L.R. 111=88 I.C. 61 (2)=1925 Sind 266.

CROSS-OBJECTIONS.—A memorandum of cross-objections must bear Court-fees ad valorem on the value of the subject-matter in dispute. 46 C. 160=45 I.C. 939=27 C.L.J. 443; 15 A.L.J. 886; 1933 O. 528; 155 I.C. 293=1935 O.W.N. 505; 39 P.L.R. 586; 185 I.C. 623; 43 C.W.N. 838=1939 Cal. 415. Petition stating reasons on which the respondents supported the decree, does not amount to cross-objection for which ad valorem fee is payable. 44 A. 577=1922 A. 280. Nor mere criticism of judgment. 1 P. 258; 25 O.C. 275=1923 O. 44 (1). Where the suit of the plaintiff-appellant was entirely dismissed by the Court below and therefore there was nothing in that decree against which the defendant-respondent was required to object, objections filed by him supporting the decree on some of the grounds that have been decided against him in the Court below are strictly speaking not cross-objections but are really only a means of giving notice to the appellant of his intentions, and an ad valorem Court-fee is therefore not payable on them. 1937 O.L.R. 554=1937 O.W.N. 1057=1937 O. 512. See also I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 981=1938 Mad. 498= (1938) 1 M.L.J. 662. In the case of cross-objections relating to possession of land, ad valorem fee is payable on its value and not on the basis calculated under S. 7 (v). 22 A.L.J. 911. Cross-objections in a suit for declaration must bear ad valorem fee under this Article as Art. 17 of Sch. II does not refer to cross-objections. 3 P.L.J. 197=45 I.C. 568. See also 40 A. 93=43 I.C. 179. On a cross-objection as to the finding of the lower Court on a portion of sale consideration being not for legal necessity, Court-fees should be paid on the amount held to be not for legal necessity. 45 A. 537=1924 A. 175. See also 40 A. 93=43 I.C. 179=15 A.L.J. 886; 1939 Rang. 375. A respondent who files a memorandum of objections cannot claim to have Court-fees reduced simply because the appellant has paid more than what he should have paid. 46 C. 160=45 I.C. 939. A memo. of cross-objections filed in the High Court on the question of costs only does not fall under Art. 1, Sch. I, but may be treated as a petition under Art. 1 (d) of Sch. II and a Court-fee of Rs. 2 is leviable thereon. 64 I.C. 606=25 C.W.N. 934. But see contra 2 R. 637=1926 R. 145; 98 I.C. 272=1926 L. 645; 8 P. 543=1929 P. 286; 1930 A. 1097. No Court-fee is chargeable on a memorandum of objections filed under O. 41, r. 26, C. P. Code. 54 A. 465=1932 A. 526. Where the defendant is not putting forward any counter-claim, but is making various claims as to items in the particular account to be taken in the suit, he cannot be asked to pay Court-fees on those sums. 1933 M. 353. See also 1940 Rang. L.R. 529=1940 Rang. 300. The plaintiffs and the defendants were tenants in common in certain property. The plaintiffs sued for partition of that property. In their written statement the defendants said that the plaintiffs had been managing the property and recovering the rents. They did not value their relief for account of the rent or pay Court-fee thereon. Held, that it was incumbent on them to value their relief and to pay necessary Court-fees. 1933 S. 304.

THE AMOUNT OR VALUE OF THE SUBJECT-MATTER IN DISPUTE.—The words "value of the subject-matter in dispute" in Art. 1, Sch. I, in the case of a suit, to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and in the case of an appeal, to the value of the subject-matter in dispute in appeal. The subject-matter of the suit and the subject-matter of the appeal may not be the same. Where the appellant appeals against the decree in a suit on merits and also challenges the order of costs independently, then the value of the subject-matter in dispute in appeal is the total amount consisting of the value of the subject-matter in the suit and the amount of costs challenged. 15 Luck. 392=1940 O.W.N. 167=1940 Oudh 182. S. 7 prescribes the value that shall remain unchanged in all stages of a case. Once the value of the relief is ascertained for the purposes of the plaintiff, the 1st schedule rates the relief at the same value for the purposes of the appeal. 6 N.L.R. 164=8 I.C. 1125. See also 25 P.R. 1916=32 I.C. 121. The words "the subject-matter in dispute" in Art. 1, Sch. I, mean, in reference to a cross-objection, the subject-matter in dispute in the cross-objection. If, therefore, in an administration suit the respondents, who have been ordered by the preliminary decree to pay to the appellants a certain sum as special costs in any event (the ordinary costs being ordered to abide the passing of the final decree), file a cross-objection relating to the findings in the suit and also to the special costs, the cross-objection, so far as it relates to the special costs, is chargeable with Court-fees ad valorem on the amount of the costs. 1939 Rang.L.R. 474=1939 Rang. 375. An appeal filed by some only of the plaintiffs need only be stamped to the extent required by the interests of those parties. 10 L.L.T. 23. Where the valuation of the original suit is over Rs. 5,000, but the appellant is interested only to the extent of Rs. 200, he can value his appeal at Rs. 200. 37 A. 208=13 A.L.J. 283. In a second appeal from a dismissal of an appeal for non-payment of deficient Court-fee, the dispute in the lower Court having reference only to the Court-fee payable, the subject-matter in dispute in second appeal is the amount of stamp in dispute between the parties, in other words, the difference between the Court-fee paid and the Court-fee demanded is the matter in dispute in second appeal. 1938 Mad. 498=I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 981=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 662. See also 1937 O. 512. The subject-matter of every appeal does not necessarily coincide with the subject-matter of the suit in regard to which the appeal has been filed. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 981=1938 Mad. 498=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 662. See also 1940 O. 182.

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.—The value of an appeal is not in all cases the value of the suit as originally filed but the value of the relief granted which is sought to be got rid of. 45 M. 246=41 M.L.J. 587. Where a decree for possession is given to the plaintiff conditional on his paying a certain amount to the defendant an appeal by him against the condition must be valued ad valorem on the amount he was asked to pay. (Ibid.); 59 I.C. 667=21 P.W.R. 1921; 92 I.C. 624=1926 M. 225; 108 I.C. 379 (2)=10 L.L.J. 55; 45 M. 246=1922 M. 211. Where a plaintiff asks for a declaration that a certain decree against him is void and illegal, it involves the setting aside of the decree and relieving plaintiff of the obligations arising thereunder and, therefore, involves a consequential relief and the plaintiff is liable to pay an ad valorem Court-fee under

NOTES.

Art. 1, Sch. I and not fixed fee as given in Art. 17 (iii) of Sch. II. 1940 O.W.N. 1121=191 I.C. 413=16 Lcuk. 526. Where the plaintiff's suit for possession was decreed on condition of the plaintiff paying off the encumbrances on the property, an appeal against the condition should bear an ad valorem Court-fee on the value of the encumbrance. 1 P.L.T. 738=57 I.C. 481. See also 59 I.C. 667. Where a suit for possession in which the defendant admits plaintiff's title but claims a charge of Rs. 700 over that property is decreed but without upholding defendant's claim and the defendant files an appeal, he should pay ad valorem Court-fee on Rs. 700, the amount claimed by him. 1936 L. 935. Where in a suit for ejectment, the defendant set up title in himself and also claimed Rs. 500 as compensation for improvements, and a decree was passed for the plaintiff the claim in respect of improvements being disallowed, an appeal by defendant again raising both the questions should bear Court-fee only as on a suit for possession. 23 M. 84. See also 48 M. 652=47 M.L.J. 919=1925 M. 323. Thus in a case where the claim for improvements is incidental to a decree for possession Court-fee payable is as in a suit for possession. See 1926 Mad. 225. See also 1940 O.L.R. 92 (Appeal against order disallowing claim under S. 9, U. P. Encumbered Estates Act). Though the real subject-matter in dispute has reference only to the amount of compensation, still a party can as a mere camouflage raise a question of title in order to escape liability for Court-fees. There is no provision of law authorising him to bring the case under S. 7, Cl. (v). See 1928 M. 929=110 I.C. 752. See also 1931 L. 633. Where the defendant's plea in a suit for possession that the plaintiff cannot get possession without payment of her dower debt, was rejected by the lower Court and the suit decreed, and the defendant appealed, held, that she was not bound to pay any Court-fee on the dower amount and the Court could grant a decree to plaintiffs conditional on payment of dower debt to defendant. 36 A. 322=25 I.C. 935=12 A.L.J. 481. Where in the decree of the lower Court a charge is created over the lands purchased by the defendants for payment of certain amounts to the plaintiff and the defendants appeal to remove the charge, they should pay ad valorem Court-fee on the value of the properties or on the decretal amount whichever is less. 5 P. 721=8 P.L.T. 284=1927 P. 46; 11 P.R. 1916=33 I.C. 138; 7 L. 215=96 I.C. 473

=1926 L. 408 (appeal from the decree rendering a property liable for the decree amounts). The plaintiff sued to recover dower. The trial Court decreed the suit against the person and personal property of 1st defendant but refused to pass a decree against the assets of deceased in the hands of defendants 2 to 5. The plaintiffs besides claiming a further sum by way of interest also prayed for a further declaration that the assets of the deceased might be made liable for the decree debt. Held, that Court-fee was payable on the ad valorem scale on the value of the debt in respect of which the liability of the properties was sought to be established. 54 A. 608=1932 A. 406=1932 A.L.J. 387. An appeal against one defendant only to establish his liability on a hypothecation bond must bear Court-fee calculated on the amount of the debt sought to be recovered. 13 M. 508; 24 Bom.L.R. 313. See also 86 P. R. 1912=222 P.L.R. 1912. Where a decree gives the plaintiff a partial relief, the plaintiff appellant is bound to pay Court-fee on the difference between the value of the relief he claims and that granted by the decree appealed from. 19 C. 272. See also 6 P. 17=1927 P. 123. In an appeal from instalment decree Court-fee must be paid on the difference to the appellant between getting his money on the date of the decree and getting it by instalments as ordered. 12 P.R. 1915=24 I.C. 931. See also 19 C.272; 167 I.C. 26=1937 Pesh. 31; 1936 Pesh. 232. A plaintiff appellant who seeks to get rid of an order for payment of a sum of money should value his appeal at the amount of that sum of money. In a suit for possession of property, the plaintiff got a decree for possession but subject to his paying a sum of Rs. 3,000 and odd being his share of the debts binding on the property. Plaintiff appealed against the order requiring him to pay the sum of Rs. 3,000 and odd. Held, that he should value his appeal not on the basis of possession being the subject-matter, but should value it on the basis of the value of the order for payment which he was seeking to get rid of in the appeal. 52 L.W. 397=1940 Mad. 955=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 406. The plaintiff sued for the recovery of a certain amount from a company and from certain debenture-holders of that company and for a declaration that the amount was recoverable in priority over the debentures in favour of certain other persons. The debenture-holders appealed to the High Court to modify the decision of the trial Court by refusing the declaration as to priority. Held, that Court-fee payable was ad valorem on the decretal amount or on the value of the debentures whichever was less. 54 A. 553=1932 A.L.J. 385. If in a suit to contest a notice of ejectment falling under S. 7 (xi) (d), the landlord defendant appeals and the relief which he desires to get rid of is simply the amount of compensation awarded to the plaintiff, he should pay ad valorem Court-fee. 11 L.L.J. 116. If in an appeal in a partition suit, the appellant claims sums as due from the other party further than what was allowed by the lower Court, Court-fees should be paid ad valorem on the amounts claimed. 33 P.L.R. 12. See also 32 P.L.R. 854. Appeal from order as to restitution under C. P. Code, S. 144, ad valorem Court-fees to be paid. See 41 C.W.N. 157=1937 C. 152; 167 I.C. 879=1937 Pesh. 3 (order by trial Court refusing to allow costs directed to be paid by Privy Council). See also 42 C.W.N. 152; 1938 Rang.L.R. 635. Where an appeal is filed against an order of the trial Court awarding interest on the decretal amount to be refunded under S. 144, C. P. Code, claiming additional interest, the Court-fee payable is ad valorem Court-fee on the amount claimed. So also where the opposite party making the refund files a cross-objection praying for reduction of the interest awarded by the trial Court, it must pay ad valorem Court-fees on the interest sought to be reduced. 167 I.C. 879=1937 Pesh. 3.

FUTURE INTEREST.—Where the amount due could be ascertained from the judgment and decree appealed from that should be the value of the appeal or cross-objection and future interest need not be taken into account. 36 A. 40=21 I.C. 723=11 A.L.J. 1016. See also 3 P.L.J. 443=44 I.C. 50; 171 I.C. 79=1937 N. 95; 3 P.L.T. 813=1923 P. 28; 6 P.L.J. 676=1922 P. 386; 23 S.L.R. 277; 104 I.C. 391=1927 Sind 251. But if any future interest is determined by the trial Court and is entered in the decree, additional Court-fee on such interest has to be paid. 1923 Pat. 28. See also 1 Pat. 19; 104 I.C. 391=1927 S. 251; 167 I.C. 577=1937 N. 6; 165 I.C. 279=1936 O.W.N. 916; 1937 N. 95. Where the appellant claims sums of money a definitely ascertainable sum among others by way of pendente lite interest which is disallowed by the trial Court, the sum must be held to be part of "amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute" and ad valorem Court-fee is payable under Sch. I, Art. 1, on the sum claimed as pendente lite interest. 52 A. 1029=1931 A. 351. Where the mortgagee appealed on the ground that interest ought to have been allowed till the date of realization, Court-fee is payable under Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II. 27 A. 559. There is no provision of law authorising assessment of additional Court-fee by reason of accrual of interest pendente lite where the plaintiff appeals. 1927 P. 230; 1923 P. 28; 10 M.L.J. 144. See also 150 I.C. 653=1934 A.L.J. 957=1934 A. 805; 18 B. 696; 35 A-94=11 A.L.J. 20. It is otherwise if the defendant appeals. 8 P.L.T. 555=1927 P. 230. In Madras the practice is to include the subsequent amount in the value of an appeal by defendant. Where the plaintiff appealed from a mortgage decree as regards the amount of interest disallowed and did not pay the full ad valorem Court-fee, but the Court-fee paid was, however, sufficient to cover the amount of interest disallowed on one of the two mortgages on which the decree was passed, it is the duty of the appellate Court to ask the appellant what portion of his appeal he wished to have decided, having regard to the amount of Court-fee paid. 40 P.L.R. 123.

INTEREST PENDENTE LITE.—There is no provision in the Court-Fees Act under which a plaintiff can be called upon to pay Court-fee on the interest which accrues after the institution of the suit. The holder of a mortgage decree who has already paid Court-fee on the amount due at the date of suit can execute a decree for a higher amount on account of interest pendente lite without being liable to pay additional Court-fee thereon. When a wrong order is made for such payment and complied with, the decree-holder cannot execute the decree for such payment made by him, as the amount cannot properly be regarded as costs in the case recoverable from the judgment-debtor. 152 I.C. 244=15 P.L.T. 548=1934 P. 571 (S.B.). See also 154 I.C. 470; 1939 Pat. 83=17 P. 687=1939 P.W.N. 162. As to future interest, see also 157 I.C. 633=1935 O.W.N. 919.

MESNE PROFITS—APPEALS.—The value of an appeal by defendant from a decree awarding future mesne profits must include the future mesne profits decreed from the date of plaint till the date of appeal. See 50 M. 488. An appeal from a final decree under O. 30, r. 12 (2), C. P. Code, in respect of subsequent mesne profits is chargeable with ad valorem fee. 45 M. 280=42 M.L.J. 184=1923 M. 19; 11 P. 532=1932 P. 228; 12 P. 188=13 P.L.T. 810=1933 P. 81. No Court-fee is payable on future mesne profits in an appeal from the preliminary decree. 20 M.L.J. 98=5 I.C. 880; 21 M. 371; 13 C.W.N. 815. Where the appellants have paid full Court-fee on the claim for mesne profits, in appeal against the preliminary decree, they need not pay any additional fee on their appeal against the mesne profits ascertained subsequent to their original appeal. 15 I.C. 572=16 C.L.J. 564. See also 3 P. 875=1924 P. 694. Where the suit involves a claim for mesne profits ad valorem Court-fee is payable on the amount for which the appellant seeks to avoid liability or on the amount by which he seeks to enhance the value of the decree. This rule applies to all appeals whether the profits have accrued before suit or after the institution of the suit. 14 P.L.T. 180=12 P. 694=1933 P. 234. See also 1937 P.W.N. 893=18 Pat.L.T. 864. Where the plaintiff's claim to mesne profits was disallowed, an appeal filed by him should bear Court-fee on the amount of mesne profits which had been claimed and disallowed. 1931 A.L.J. 413=1931 A. 538. Where mesne profits are left to be ascertained in execution, an appeal from a decree awarding mesne profits must be valued at the same valuation as the suit. 49 I.C. 962; 1 I.C. 670=13 C.W.N. 815; 1929 P. 731. Tentative valuation of a claim is permissible only in suits for account and mesne profits. Defendant who in a suit for damages sets up a cross-claim for damages suffered by him on account of the acts and conduct of the plaintiff and asks for a set-off against the plaintiff's claim must estimate his claim as accurately as he can and pay ad valorem Court-fee thereon and cannot be allowed to put a tentative valuation for the claim. 183 I.C. 373=43 C.W.N. 838=1939 Cal. 415.

RELIEF AS TO COSTS.—When relief is sought with regard to costs independently of the main contest between the parties, Court-fees must be paid on the costs decreed. 3 P.L.J. 443=44 I.C. 50; 19 M. 350; 35 P.L.R. 656=1933 L. 739. See also 157 I.C. 96=1935 L. 379.

ACCOUNT SUITS.—See also under S. 7, Cl. (iv) (f). Ten rupees stamp is sufficient for an appeal in a preliminary decree for dissolution of partnership dealing with certain items disallowed, as such disallowance is only incidental to the main relief. 1 L. 6=57 I.C. 185. In a suit for an account it is open to the defendant to say that on the accounts being gone into, money would be due to him and that a decree should be passed in his favour for such amount as may be found due to him. In such cases the Court should not refuse to pass a decree in favour of the defendant or refer him to a separate suit if, as the result of an inquiry held by it at the instance of the plaintiff, it finds that the plaintiff is indebted to the defendant. In the absence of any express provision in the Court-Fees Act, there is no obligation on a defendant to claim any specific sum as due to him in his written statement or to pay Court-fee thereon on pain of being debarred from obtaining a decree in his favour in the same suit. Nor where a defendant nominally values his relief in his written statement on which he pays Court-fee and offers to pay additional Court-fee on such sum as may be found due to him on a settlement of accounts can he be deemed to have relinquished his claim

COMPROMISE.—Suit to declare compromise and decree void—Court-fee payable. See 1934 A.L.J. 955=1934 A. 1071.

APPEALS IN MORTGAGE SUITS.—Where the plaintiff in a mortgage suit for sale appeals against the decree for sale, in order to establish the liability to the debt of certain property exonerated by the lower Court, Court-fee is payable on the decree amount but not exceeding the market value of the property. 16 M.L.J. 458=30 M. 96 (F.B.) See also 37 C. 914; 33 A. 20; 44 C.W.N. 482. So also where the defendant appeals on the ground that certain property was not liable under the mortgage. 10 M. 197. See also 5 O.L.J. 663=43 I.C. 535; 1928 N. 316; 5 P. 721. The method of valuation mentioned in S. 7 (5) cannot be adopted in such a case. 1931 M. 710. See also 54 L.W. 526=(1941) 2 M.L.J. 774 (Suit for money claiming first charge on certain assets—Decree for money without charge—Appeal claiming charge on assets—Court-fee to be paid on value of assets). Where a decretal amount has been ordered to be recovered from a certain property and an appeal is preferred to get that property released from the liability the value for the purposes of Court-fee would be the price of the property or the decretal amount whichever is less. 176 I.C. 319=1938 Pesh. 38. Where mortgage decree for sale declares the separate liabilities of different properties from different sums of money, the Court-fee on appeal by one of the defendants whose property had been held liable for a specific sum of money must be calculated on the sum for which the property had been held liable. 35 A. 92=18 I.C. 577=11 A.L.J. 33. Members of a joint family have no specified shares in the family property and where some of them appeal against a decree in a suit to enforce a mortgage of the family property, Court-fees must be paid on the amount decreed and not on the appellant's share of the amount. 55 I.C. 233 (P.). Art 1, of Sch. I applies to appeals in mortgage suits and Court-fee is payable on the subject-matter in dispute in the appeal and not on the principal money secured by the mortgage. 30 A. 547=5 A.L.J. 531. See also 47 A. 926=23 A.L.J. 853=1925 A. 734; 162 I.C. 729=38 P.L.R. 12=1936 L. 17; 1 L. 234; 29 A. 471=107 I.C. 671 (1). On this point, see also the cases noted under S. 7, Cl. (ix). In an appeal against decree for redemption or foreclosure claiming a higher amount than that fixed by the Court, Court-fee should be paid on the excess amount claimed. 5 P.R. 1911=9 I.C. 676; 74 I.C. 88 (1)=1924 O. 170; 22 I.C. 642=16 O.C. 354; 29 I.C. 609. See also 1939 M.L.R. 81 (Civil).

I. Plaint, etc.—(Contd.)	When such amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, for every five thousand rupees, or part thereof, in excess of fifty thousand rupees :	Twenty-five rupees.
	Provided that the maximum fee leviable on a plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be three thousand rupees.

NOTES.

Quære: whether the Court-fee payable in redemption appeal is ad valorem or on the diminution claimed in the appeal. 122 I.C. 736=1930 L. 601; 134 I.C. 124=1931 L. 633; 1937 N. 6. Cross-objections in appeals arising out of redemption suits must be stamped ad valorem on the amount by which the decretal amount is sought to be reduced. (11 I.C. 198, Rel. on.) 11 O.W.N. 559=1934 O. 246. An appeal filed by certain defendants in a mortgage suit whose claim to priority of their mortgage was negatived by the lower Court, praying for a declaration that they were the prior mortgagees should bear ad valorem Court-fee and Art. 17 (iii) has no application. 54 A. 347=1932 A.L.J. 45=1932 A. 221. But see contra 61 C. 320=148 I.C. 1084=58 C.L.J. 542=39 C.W.N. 248=1934 C. 377. In a suit for sale of mortgaged property, the puisne mortgagee and mortgagor were impleaded. The mortgagor denied the puisne mortgage, but the Court found it to be subsisting, and in the decree, ordered that the balance, after paying off the plaintiff mortgagee should be paid to the puisne mortgagee and the surplus, if any, should be given to the mortgagor. In an appeal by the mortgagor challenging the portion of decree in favour of the puisne mortgagee, held, that ad valorem Court-fee on amount due on the mortgage should be paid and not merely for a declaration. 146 I.C. 1003=1933 L. 954. Appeal against a mortgage decree on the ground that a condition of priority should be removed requires an ad valorem fee. 4 P.L.J. 323=51 I.C. 786. Ad valorem Court-fees must be paid on an appeal from an order refusing to make a personal decree under O. 34, r. 6, C. P. Code. 40 A. 553=47 I.C. 562=16 A.L.J. 437; 195 I.C. 239=1941 Pesh. 56. Where the mortgagor objected to the passing of final decree pleading an uncertified payment which the Court rejected and final decree was passed, it was not an order in execution but a judgment in the mortgage suit and an appeal therefrom must bear stamp ad valorem. 1928 R. 194=6 R. 285. [35 A. 476 (F.B.) and 22 Bom.L.R. 811, Foll.] An appeal against a final decree on the ground that the mortgagor should or should not have been allowed further time in which to pay the mortgage-debt is not an exception to the general rule that an appeal against a final decree requires an ad valorem Court-fee. 7 N.L.R. 41; 130 I.C. 98=1931 N. 1 (F.B.). The plaintiff sued for a declaration that the property mortgaged by certain deeds executed by a Mahant is the property of a certain math and that the mortgagees have no right to have the property sold by auction. Held, that the plaintiff sought, in effect, to have the mortgage deeds in question adjudged void and the suit must be regarded as falling under S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act and as being not of a purely declaratory nature, and that, therefore, an ad valorem Court-fee was payable. [1932 A.L.J. 684 (F.B.), Appl.] 1936 A.L.J. 798=1936 A. 710. As to Court-fee on appeal from personal decree in mortgage suit, see 62 C. 568=39 C.W.N. 315.

APPEALS IN PARTITION SUITS.—In partition suits whether the plaintiff is in joint possession or out of possession the plaint or memorandum of appeal must bear ad valorem Court-fees on the value of share. Art. 17 (6), Sch. II, will not apply. 73 I.C. 788. See also the cases noted under S. 7, Cl. (iv) (b). Where in a partition suit, the appellant claims certain sums from the other party and also pleads that he should not have been made liable for certain other sums, Court-fee is payable on the several sums on the ad valorem scale. 32 P.L.R. 854. See also 33 P.L.R. 12.

PARTITION SUIT, APPEAL IN—COURT-FEES.—See 157 I.C. 787=1935 L. 14.

APPEALS IN PRE-EMPTION SUITS.—Where one of the grounds of appeal in a suit for pre-emption is that the right to pre-empt has or has not been established as the case may be, the subject-matter of the dispute continues to be the right of pre-emption, and its value must be determined with reference to S. 7, Cls. (v) and (vi). 6 A. 488. But when the question in appeal relates solely to the amount to be paid by the pre-emptor, the Court-fee must be calculated on the difference between the amounts allowed as the sale price and that claimed or admitted by the party. (Ibid.) See also 131 I.C. 751=1931 L. 490; 76 P.R. 1913=19 I.C. 961. In the above classes of cases it may happen that the appeal against the whole decree is chargeable to less Court-fee than an appeal against part of the decree. It has been held that an appellant is entitled notwithstanding his admitted intention to attack only part of a decree to take advantage of anomaly existing in the law of Court-fee and to appeal against the whole decree in order to avoid payment of a higher Court-fee applicable to an appeal if only an appeal against part of the decree is preferred. See 32 P.L.R. 591=1931 L. 633. Where in a suit for possession of house by pre-emption is decreed on payment of Rs. 700, the Court-fee on memorandum of appeal should be paid ad valorem PROMISSORY NOTE—SUIT ON.—Where on a suit brought on the basis of a promissory note the defendant claimed in his written statement a specified amount by way of damages, setting out the particulars of the claim made by him as one arising from the transaction of sale which led to the execution of the promissory note in favour of the plaintiff and by reason of the breach of covenant alleged to have been committed by the plaintiff. Held, that the claim by way of set-off came under Art. 1, Sch. I. 142 I.C. 719=1933 M. 203. Suit on promissory note—Decree against defendant personally—Appeal alleging that defendant is not personally liable but only as trustee.—Court-fee payable is ad valorem. 52 L.W. 903=1941 M. 313=1940 2 M.L.J. 946.

RENT, ENAHNECMENT OF.—A suit for enhancement of rent under S. 7 of the Bengal Tenancy (Amended) Act is not governed by S. 7 (i) of the Court-Fees Act, because it is not a suit for recovery of money; or by S. 7 (ii) because a claim to enhancement of rent is not similar to a right to maintenance or annuity and the words "other sums payable periodically" must be construed as implying sums payable in the nature of maintenance and annuities upon the rule of ejusdem generis (4 P.L.J. 561, Foll.); or by S. 7 (iv) (c), because there was no consequential relief; or by S. 7 (xi) because the words "rights of occupancy" in cl. (b) denote such rights under which a tenant could be in actual physical possession and not to others who hold superior interests, as a tenure holder. The Court-fee in such a suit is therefore payable under Sch. I, Art. 1 of the Court-Fees Act on the difference between the rent actually paid and the rent claimed on appeal on the difference between the rent awarded by the first Court and that claimed. 61 C. 513=38 C.W.N. 527=1934 C. 674. As to Court-fee on suit by tenant under S. 112, Madras Estates Land Act and appeal from the decree by landlord, see I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 980=46 L.W. 263=1937 M. 786=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 347. An appeal from a decree passed by the Special Judge under S. 14 of the U. P. Encumbered Estates Act falls under Art. 1, Sch. I and ad valorem Court-fee has to be paid. Neither Art. 11 nor Art. 17 of the Second Schedule applies to the case. I.L.R. (1938)

APPEALS ARISING FROM A SINGLE SUIT.—Where several defendants who could have preferred a single appeal prefer separate appeals against a decree, each must pay full Court-fee on his appeal. 48 I.C. 424=91 P.R. 1918. See also 13 P.L.T. 810. Two second appeals by the same party against two decrees passed in the appeals filed by both the parties against a mortgage decree, must be stamped separately and cannot be consolidated. 43 A. 56=58 I.C. 230=18 A.L.J. 894.

MAXIMUM FEES—PROVISO.—Although the proviso to Art. 1, Sch. I, refers only to the maximum fee leviable on a plaint or memorandum of appeal and leaves out any reference to written statement pleading a set-off or counter-claim, there is no authority for charging a larger sum on a written statement than that specified as maximum in the schedule. 1930 O. 140. The proviso is of general application and is not confined to plaints or memoranda of appeal under Art. 1 only. 3 A. 108 (112); 29 C. 140. Multifarious suits under S. 17 are also subject to it. 3 A. 108.

SUITS OF SMALL CAUSE NATURE—ART. 2 (MAD.).—In Madras a lower scale of fee is prescribed for suits of a small cause value by Art. 2. In a suit for two sums, viz., Rs. 600 and Rs. 400 due respectively on two pronotes, it has been held that S. 17 applies and Court-fee is payable at the lower scale for the second item. 141 I.C. 533=1933 M. 178. Order rejecting plaint for failure to pay additional Court-fee, appeal from—Court-fee. See 1935 N. 83. See also 1939 N.L.J. 32.

Arts. 1 and 2 (As Amended by Madras Act V of 1922)—SUIT IN MOFUSSIL FOR TWO SUMS OF RS. 600 AND 400—COURT-FEE PAYABLE.—If two sums of Rs. 600 and 400 respectively are claimed in a suit on the basis of two promissory notes, the Court-fee is payable on the two sums separately. The first item is governed by Art. 1 of Sch. I but the other by Art. 2 and so they are distinct. And S. 6 is controlled by S. 17. 1933 M. 178=65 M.L.J. 252.

Art. 1 and United Provinces Encumbered Act 1934, S. 14 (5), Explanation.—Where the amount decreed was subsequently increased by an amendment in virtue of S. 14 (5), Expln. of the U. P. Encumbered Estates Act and an appeal is preferred against the order of amendment, it is in substance on appeal really directed against the amended decree passed by the learned special Judge, though the memorandum of appeal merely purported to appeal against the order amending the decree and the case therefore falls under Art. 1, Sch. I, and ad valorem Court-fee is payable. 1941 O.W.N.

Art. 2—See 1894 Bom.P.J. 346.

Art. 4.—The decision of a Court dismissing an appeal under O. 41, r. 11, C. P. Code, is a judgment and an application for review of the decision comes within the article. 30 C.W.N. 334=93 I.C. 909 (2)=1926 C. 638. Upon an application for review, no matter what may be the actual relief sought the Court-fee payable is the fee actually leviable upon the plaint or memorandum of appeal upon which the judgment of which review is sought was passed. 20 I.C. 3=254 P.L.R. 1913; 31 A. 294=6 A.L.J. 215=1 I.C. 209. The word "leviable" is used to provide for an application for review in forma pauperis. 31 A. 294=6 A.L.J. 215. See also (1941) 2 M.L.J. 500. On the point, see also 20 A. 410; 91 P.R. 1895. An application for review of the judgment in a second appeal passed before the Court-Fees Amendment Act of 1922 was presented after the passing of the Act. Held, the Court-fee leviable was that which fell to be levied under the amended Act calculated as if the application for review were a plaint or memorandum of appeal for the relief sought for. 50 M. 488=1927 M. 360=52 M.L.J. 128. But see contra 28 C.W.N. 403=1924 C. 881; 1932 A.L.J. 908. The words "the plaint" in column 3 mean nothing else than the plaint which was actually filed and which has resulted in the judgment which is sought to be reviewed. They do not mean an imaginary plaint which might be filed at the time of the application for review, asking for the same relief as in that application. 57 C. 679=1930 C. 631. As to the fee leviable, see 74 I.C. 255=1924 O. 108 cited under Art. 4. In computing the period of 89 days, the applicant cannot deduct the time which may have been spent in obtaining a copy of the judgment. 2 O.C. 302. See also 39 P.R. 1879. Nor the days during which the Court is closed for vacation. 9 M. 134; 9 C.P.L.R. 479. See also 80 I.C. 794=1924 C. 994. Application presented on 90th day, 89th day being Sunday must be stamped with full fee under Art. 4. 15 C.L.J. 505=15 I.C. 455. Where after the appeal was dismissed and before the application for review was presented, the Court-fee was enhanced, the application is correctly stamped with half the Court-fees paid on the memorandum of appeal. 28 C.W.N. 403=1924 C. 881. See also 1932 A.L.J. 908. But see the cases cited under Art. 4. The proper Court-fee payable on an application for review of a judgment is that payable on the actual relief sought for in the application and not the entire Court-fee paid on the plaint or memorandum of appeal. Thus where the applicant seeks review only so far as it affects the question of the costs awarded to him Court-fee is payable only on the relief asked for. 11 R. 120=1933 R. 203.

Arts. 4 and 5.—APPLICATION FOR REVIEW—COURT-FEE PAYABLE.—Under Arts. 4 and 5, the Court-fee to be paid on an application for review of judgment must be either the fee or one-half of the fee leviable on the plaint or memorandum of appeal (i.e.) which is prescribed for the original plaint or original memorandum of appeal, and the application cannot be valued in proportion to the value of the relief sought in review. 18 L. 238=1937 L. 439. An application for restoration of an appeal dismissed for non-payment of printing costs should be treated as an application for review and not as an application under O. 41, r. 19 and should be required to be stamped under Arts. 4 and 5 of Sch. I, Court-Fees Act. 17 Pat. 252=19 P.L.T. 17=1938 P. 111.

Art. 5 and S. 14.—When considering the obligation of an applicant for a review to pay Court-fee according to Art. 5 of Sch. I of the Act, an obligation that depends to some extent on the time at which the application is made, the calculation of the 90 days' time is not to be according to rules applicable to times laid down in the Limitation Act but the 90 days mentioned in the Court-Fees Act is to be taken as simply 90 days. Holidays and time taken for obtaining copies, could not be excluded. But in cases of hardship where delay is not due to laches on the part of the applicant the Court has a discretion under S. 14, Court-Fees Act, to give a certificate directing the refund of the excess fee in proper cases. Arts. 6 to 9: COPIES NOT STAMPED—ACCEPTANCE BY DEPUTY REGISTRAR—EFFECT.—Where the Deputy Registrar whose duty is to see that all documents presented in the High Court are duly stamped, accepts copies of judgments and decrees filed with an application under S. 81 (2), Government of Burma Act, which have not been stamped as required by Arts. 6 to 9, Court-Fees Act, it is an implied decision that the copies are in order and when an objection is raised that it is not in order the applicant is entitled to time to furnish the necessary stamps. 196 I.C. 892=1941 R. 294.

Arts. 6 and 7.—Notes of judgment furnished to parties under the Rules of Practice for the guidance of Small Cause Courts are copies of decrees and require a stamp under Art. 7. 6 M.H.C.R. App. xxiii.

This Article is intended to authorise the levy of 8 annas in the case contemplated under O. 13, r. 9 of the Civil Procedure Code, which deals with the return of admitted documents 43 I.C. 383. A copy of a general power-of-attorney produced in Court for verification does not require a Court-fee stamp of annas 8 under this Article. (Ibid.)

Art. 7.—S. 47, C. P. Code, applies to execution of decrees of their lordships of the Privy Council. An order by the trial Court, refusing to allow costs directed to be paid by their lordships of the Privy Council has the force of a decree and its copy filed with the appeal from the order, must bear a stamp of Re. 1 under Art. 7, Court-Fees Act. Where, however, the copy is under-stamped owing to a bona fide mistake, the appellate Court, can under S. 149, C. P. Code, allow the appellant to make up the deficiency and can condone under S. 5, Limitation Act, the period from which the appeal was filed with an insufficient stamped copy up to date. 167 I.C. 879=1937 Pesh. 3; 1940 A.M.L.J. 91; 196 I.C. 892=1941 Rang. 294.

Art. 9.—There is no provision of law and there is nothing in the Civil Rules of Practice or in any rule which governs the procedure in a Civil Court authorising the levy of search fees for supplying copies to litigants when an application is made; all that is required by a party is to supply stamps for copies and if the required number of stamps are supplied, it is the Court's duty to furnish the copies asked for. 51 M. 599.

ificate is to be calculated according to the amount of the individual items comprised in the application and not according to the total amount of those items. 151 I.C. 262=1934 O. 414. The Court-fee is not to be paid in the application for the issue of a succession certificate, but on the certificate itself. Therefore, the relevant date for calculating the amount of Court-fee is not the date when the application for the issue of the certificate is made. It is either the date when the certificate is drawn up or the date when the Court passes an order that such certificate should be drawn up. 160 I.C. 709=1936 A.L.J. 55=1936 A. 309.

APPLICATION FOR SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE BY MARRIED SISTER OF DECEASED—COURT-FEE.—The married sisters of the deceased are not "dependents" as defined in S. 2 (c) of the Provident Funds Act. Where they are not nominees, they can only get the money by producing probate, letters of administration or a succession certificate, and Court-fee is payable on the deceased's provident fund as being his property. 26 S.L.R. 429=1933 S. 101. See also 1939 Sind 52.

AS AMENDED IN BENGAL, SCH. I, ART. 12.—CERTIFICATE FOR SUM LESS THAN RS. 1,000—SUBSEQUENT EXTENSIONS.—DUTY PAYABLE.—Where the original application, is in respect of an amount less than Rs. 1,000 but the amount is exceeded by a later application.

Court-fee is payable at 2 per cent. on the original certificate and at the enhanced rate of 3 per cent. under Bengal Act II of 1922 in respect of the extensions. 60 C. 1262=37 C. W.N. 930.

AS AMENDED BY C. P. COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1935, SCH. I, ART. 12—APPLICABILITY.—Where an application for a succession certificate relates to several items of debt or securities aggregating to more than Rs. 1,000 but no single items of debt or security by itself exceeds Rs. 1,000, no Court-fee is payable in respect of it, under Sch. I, Art. 12 of the Court-Fees Act as amended by C. P. Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1935. The word 'Any' occurring in that article indicates one out of a number of persons or things more than two. 1940 N.L.J. 495=1940 Nag. 400.

Art. 13.—An application for revision against an order refusing to set aside an award is really one against the award decree and is chargeable with ad valorem fee under Sch. I, Art. 13. 9 I.C. 388=4 P.L.R. 1911. See also 108 I.C. 382. 1931 Rang.L.R. 54=1941 Rang. 126 (Reunion application from suit under S. 9, Specific Relief Act—Court-fee payable is same as on the plaint.)

NOTES.

Art. 1, Cl. (d).—No Court-fee is payable in respect of a memorandum of objection filed under O. 41, r. 26, C. P. Code. The object of the memorandum of objection is to give notice to the opposite party of the grounds on which the finding is proposed to be contested. It does not seek any relief from the Court and does not contain any request for any order being passed on it. It can, therefore, hardly be regarded as an application or petition within the meaning of Art. 1, Cl. (d) of Sch. II. 160

Code. 10 B. 238; 8 C. 720; 29 M. 172. Though decision under S. 47 of the C. P. Code is a decree, an appeal therefrom should be stamped under this article by a Notification of the Governor-General. The Madras Court-Fees Act removes all doubts by specially including orders under S. 47 and S. 144 of the C. P. Code. An application by way of restitution under S. 144, C. P. NOTES.

Code, for it expressly excludes from its purview appeal "from a decree" or an order having the force of a decree" and it is distinctly laid down in sub-r. (3) of R. 50 of O. 21, that where the liability of any person has been tried and determined under sub-r. (2), the order made thereon shall "have the same force and be subject to the same conditions as to appeal or otherwise as if it were a decree." The wording of this rule is very wide and the word "otherwise" here means "in all other respects." An appeal from such an order is governed by Sch. I, Art. 1 under which the Court-fee is payable is ad valorem on the subject-matter in dispute. 35 P.L.R. 565=1934 L. 958. See also 1939 Sind 161 (F.B.). Where an appeal is directed against the order of remand it should be filed as a miscellaneous appeal under O. 43, r. 1 (u), C. P. Code, and a Court-fee of Rs. 2 is payable as on a Civil Miscellaneous Appeal. 144 I.C. 967=10 O.W.N. 143=1933 O. 191. This article applies to appeal under Rules of Madras amendment Relief Act. I.L.R. An order under S. 5 (1) of the U.P. Agriculturists' Relief Act, has not by itself the force of a decree and is not capable of execution by itself. AS AMENDED IN MADRAS, SCH. II, ART. 11.—An order rejecting an application under O. 20, r. 12, C. P. Code, asking for an inquiry into future profits, which has been left open in the decree in the suit, and for an order directing the defendants to pay the amount found due, is not a decree as defined by S. 2 (d), C. P. Code. An appeal from the order rejecting the application, which cannot be regarded even as an order having the force of a decree, has to be valued for purposes of Court-fee under Sch. II, Art. 11 of the Court-Fees Act, as amended in Madras, and a Court-fee of one rupee is sufficient. The appellant cannot be ordered to estimate the amount at which he values his relief and to pay an ad valorem Court-fee on the figure stated by him. 49 L.W. 652=1939 Mad. 667=(1939) 2 M.L.J. 356. Art. 12.—A petition by which a party upon whom citation has been issued, opposes the grant of probate is not a caveat and need not be stamped as such. 36 I.C. 38=20 C.W.N. 787.

Art. 17 : APPLICABILITY—MEMO. OF CROSS-OBJECTIONS.—Court-fee on memo. of cross-objections should be paid ad valorem under Art. 1, Sch. I and not as under Sch. II, Art. 17, as the word "cross-objection" is to be found only in Art. 1, Sch. I and not in Sch. II, Art. 17. 1933 O. 528. But see 1934 A.L.J. 743=1934 A. 728 contra. Art. 17 (i) : SUIT TO SET ASIDE SUMMARY ORDER.—A plaint in a suit under O. 21, r. 63, C. P. Code, is governed by this article. 26 C.W.N. 126=1922 C. 166; 64 I.C. 49; 3 P. A suit to cancel the order on the claim petition, to declare the plaintiff's title to the property, to raise the attachment and to obtain a permanent injunction against the execution being continued to sale is in substance one to avoid the attachment and Court-fee was payable under Art. 17 of Sch. P. Code, a suit for a bare declaration under O. 21, r. 63, will lie. In such a suit the proper Court-fee payable is Rs. 10 and the valuation of the suit for Court-fee and the valuation thereof for jurisdiction will always be different, the valuation for the latter purpose being the value of the attached properties. 12 R. 670=1934 R. 332; 45 C.W.N. 50=72 C.L.J. 526=1941 Cal. 28; 18 Pat. 323=20 Pat.L.T. 710=1939 P. 571. A suit under O. 21, r. 103, C. P. Code, though the plaintiff claims possession of property of which he had been dispossessed, nevertheless falls under Art. 17 of Sch. II. The restoration of possession is implicit in the setting aside of the executing Court's order. The consequential relief in substance is not one to seek possession but reversal of the executing Court's order. 1938 N.L.J. 107=1938 Nag. 300. A suit for cancellation of a certificate which was signed by the certificate officer under S. 6 of the Public Demands Recovery Act, comes within Art. 17, Cl. 1 of Sch. II, and only a fixed Court-fee is payable. 44 C.W.N. 255=1940 Cal. 215. A suit under Madras Act (XXVII of 1860) to contest the award of a Settlement Officer falls within this clause. 4 M. 204. The proper Court-fee payable on an application under S. 84 of the Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (II of 1927) is that fixed by Art. 17-A (1) of the Madras Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1922, and not that fixed by Art. 17 (1). The Board of Commissioners for Hindu Religious Endowments is not 'Civil Court' under Art. 17 (1) of the Madras Court-Fees (Amendment) Act of 1922. 113 I.C. 88=1929 M. 52. But see 1929 M. 334. The Court-fee payable on such petitions under S. 84 (2) is Rs. 15, the fee prescribed in Art. 17.

52 M. 388=1929 M. 334. Arts. 17-A and 17-B cannot be regarded as parts of Art. 17 but only as new articles. 1929 M. 334=52 M. 388 (1929 M. 52, Diss. from.) See also 68 M.L.J. 327; 68 M.L.J. 329; 68 M.L.J. 280.

MADRAS AMENDMENT—SCH. II, ART. 17-A.—Art. 17-A (1) governs only cases where no consequential relief is prayed for. If as incidental to his remedy by way of partition, a plaintiff contents that a mortgage executed on the joint family property is not for family purposes, it cannot be said that the suit is one which no consequential relief is prayed. 1938 M.W.N. 131=1938 M. 474. Where a suit for a declaration without consequential relief is instituted in the first instance in a District Munsiff's Court, but it is later transferred to a Subordinate Judge's Court for trial by that Court, along with another suit in that Court, and disposed of there, an appeal against the decree passed in such suit must be stamped with a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 100 and not Rs. 15. The decree appealed against is a decree of a sub-Court; the fact that the suit was originally filed in the Court of the District Munsiff cannot make it a decree of that Court for purposes of court-fee under Art. 17-A of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act. I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 646=51 L.W. 228=1940 Mad. 383=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 425. MADRAS AMENDMENT—SCH. II, ART. 17-B.—The word "estimate" in Art. 17-B of Sch. II of the Court-fees Act (as amended in Madras) involves the idea of approximation and cannot be interpreted as meaning accurate valuation. Where in a suit to recover a sum of Rs. 18,897 and odd from the defendant as a first charge from and out of certain properties as trust money, the plaintiff gets only a decree but no charge, and the plaintiff appeals against the decree declining to give a first charge and seeks to get a charge on the properties which are valued in the memorandum of appeal at Rs. 9,500 it cannot be said that the relief is incapable of valuation so as to attract, Art. 17-B of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act. The Court-fee payable on the memorandum of appeal is the amount which would be payable under Art. 1, Sch. I, on the sum of Rs. 9,500 which is the value placed by the plaintiff on the property over which the charge is claimed. 54 L.W. 526= (1941) 2 M.L.J. 774. The appellants were executants of three promissory notes on which suits were instituted. Two of the notes were executed by them simply in their personal capacity while in the third there was a reference to a trust in the body of the instrument, though the appellants had not signed as trustees. In all the three suits the claim was against the appellants in their personal capacity and decrees were passed rendering them personally liable. The appellants preferred second appeals and contended that as the debts had been contracted for trust purposes they should not be made personally liable, and that the decree should have been against them as trustees and against the trust property in their hands. The appellants claimed that the appeals were incapable of valuation and that they were only liable to Court-fee under Art. 17-B of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Madras and that no ad valorem Court-fee was payable. Held, that the appellants were seeking to get rid of their liability to the extent of both their persons and property in respect of the amounts decreed against them, and it could not therefore be said that the subject-matter of the appeals was incapable of valuation so as to permit Court-fee being paid under Art. 17-B of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Madras and that therefore Court-fee must be paid ad valorem on the value of the decree in each suit. 52 L.W. 903=(1940) 2 M.L.J. 946=1941 Mad. 313. A suit under S. 112 of the Madras Estates Land Act is not a suit in which it is not possible to estimate at a money value the subject matter in dispute; and therefore Art. 17-B of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Madras cannot apply to such a suit. An appeal by the landlord against a decree in a suit filed by the tenant is not also governed by Art. 17-B. The value of the subject-matter in such a suit or appeal is not more than the annual rent the recovery of which is resisted, and ad valorem Court-fee must be paid on such amount under Sch. I, Art. 1. I.L.R. (1937) Mad. 980=1937 Mad. 786=(1937) 2 M.L.J. 347. A suit by a defeated claimant under O. 21, r. 63, C. P. Code, for a declaration of his title to the property in suit, and for a permanent injunction on the defendant so that no delivery of possession of the property in suit may take place, and to prevent the defendant from taking any illegal action whatsoever to the detriment of the plaintiff, is governed for purposes of Court-fee by Sch. II, Art. 17 (i) of the Court-Fees Act as amended in Bihar and Orissa and the Court-fee payable is that prescribed by that article and not ad valorem Court-fee. 193 I.C. 782.

U. P. AMENDMENT, SCH. II, ART. 17 (i).—See 1941 Pat. 174=21 P.L.T. 1019; 193 I.C. 782.

Art. 17, Cl. (iii).—See Cl. (i) of Art. 17-A of Madras Act.

CROSS-OBJECTION IN DECLARATORY SUIT—AD VALOREM COURT-FEES, IF PAYABLE.—A cross-objection in a declaratory suit where no other relief is asked for, does not require ad valorem Court-fees. The Court-fees Act lays down the principles for Court-fees and the Schedules merely apply those principles in detail. The principle of the Act to be deduced from S. 7 is that ad valorem Court-fee are not to be charged in a declaratory suit where consequential relief is not prayed for. On that view, the omission of the words "cross objection" from Schedule II, Art. 17 (iii) is a mere clerical error and it is no doubt intended that by a memorandum of appeal a cross-objection should also be included. A cross-objection and an appeal are very intimately connected and there is no essential difference from the point of view in Court-fee between the one and the other, and there is no reason why a person who files a cross-objection should have to pay ad valorem Court-fee, whereas if he filed an appeal instead of a cross-objection he will not have to pay Court-fee. 152 I.C. 196=1934 A.L.J. 743=1934 A. 728. But see 1933 O. 528, contra.

SUITS FOR DECLARATION WHERE NO CONSEQUENTIAL RELIEF IS PRAYED.—Where a plaint or a memorandum of appeal asks only for a pure declaration, the Court in calculating Court-fees cannot go into the question whether he should also have asked for consequential relief. The effect of failing to ask consequential relief is for the final decision

A suit solely to declare that a sale-deed executed by the plaintiff is void and inoperative against him, on the ground that he was made to execute it because of coercion, undue influence and fraud falls under this Article. 9 O.W.N. 440=138 I.C. 147. The plaintiff who was not a party to the deed sued to have it declared null and void. There was no prayer for the document being delivered up after cancellation. Held, that the suit was one for a mere declaration and was leviable to Court-fee on that basis. 141 I.C. 798=10 O.W.N. 19=1933 O. 116. But see 63 M.L.J. 764=139 I.C. 317=1932 M. 605, holding that a party cannot alter the nature of the suit or its eventual effect by wording the plaint as one for a declaration and that a suit for possession or cancellation of decree cannot be framed as one for declaration and that the decree was not binding on the plaintiff in order to pay a smaller Court-fee. Even where relief is prayed for it may be a mere surplusage in which case, the suit may be stamped as a mere declaratory suit under this article. 3 P. 795=80 I.C. 655=1925 P. 44. A suit to declare that a previous declaratory decree is not binding on the plaintiff on ground of fraud, is governed by article because no consequential relief is needed or sought for. 35 I.C. 797=12 C.W.N. 375. Where the plaintiff merely asks for a declaration that the previous decree is not in any way binding upon him and is altogether void and ineffectual, his suit is one for obtaining a declaratory decree only and falls under Art. 17 (3), Sch. is for a mere declaration and need bear a Court-fee of Rs. 10 only. 33 A. 705=11 I.C. 977=8 A.L.J. 821. Where in a Land Acquisition proceeding, the compensation money awarded is kept in Court deposit on behalf of a widow owning life interest in the property, an appeal filed by the rival claimant claiming that the compensation money must be payable to him alone should bear only a fixed fee as for declaration. 55 M. 641=62 M.L.J. 541=139 I.C. 131=1932 M. 438. An award having been made in favour of an alienee from Hindu widow in respect of lands sold by her and acquired by the Government compulsorily, the reversioners of the widow's husband claimed the proceeds on the ground that the alienation was not legally binding on them and prayed that the amount should not be paid to the alienee but might be invested under S. 32 of the Land Acquisition Act. The claim was disallowed and they appealed. Held, that the appeal was not one under S. 8 of the Court-Fees Act but fell under Art. 17 (iii) of Sch. II of the Act and that the Court-fee was Rs. 20. 39 C.W.N. 110=60 C.L.J. 216. The Bombay practice of valuing suits for declaration at Rs. 130 and paying a Court-fee of Rs. 10 thereon is misleading and unwarranted by law. A fixed fee of Rs. 10 is to be paid thereon. 43 B. 507=46 I.A. 24=36 M.L.J. 437 (P.C.). No ad valorem fee need be paid when a suit is brought for a declaration that money is jointly due, plaintiff not objecting to its being received by the defendants. 1923 L. 359. A declaratory suit that a registered release deed be considered cancelled, must be valued for Court-fees at the amount at which the relief is valued. 35 P.R. 1914=25 I.C. 435. Suit by a Hindu reversioner for declaration that a release deed executed by the widow in favour of defendants 1 to 4 would not be binding on them and for the appointment of a Receiver—Decree that the release deed would not be binding on the reversioners but that the defendants 1 to 4 should be paid a certain amount spent to the benefit of the estate—Appeal by defendants 1 to 4 impugning the declaratory decree and also claiming that they should be paid a larger amount than that awarded—Appellants bound to pay Court-fee only in respect of the declaration and not also on the amount claimed by them in the alternative. 63 M.L.J. 822. A suit for declaration that a certain wakfnama is valid as against a defendant who is in possession and claims the properties (covered by the deed) as his own private property is not maintainable without a consequential relief by way of joint possession, injunction or the like. Such a suit cannot, therefore be brought upon a fixed Court-fee payable under Sch. II, Art. 17. 34 C.W.N. 1129. A suit by a beneficiary under a trust to set aside certain alienations of trust property by the trustees does not fall under this Article. 61 M.L.J. 39=130 I.C. 449=1931 M. 24. A suit for declaration that a previous decree declaring certain wakfnamas invalid is not binding on the plaintiff falls under Art. 17, Sch. II and not under S. 7, Cl. Where the declaration sought by a plaintiff amounts to no more than that she has a right to recover her dower debt from a certain property, the subject of the waqf, the plaintiff is only suing for her right as to the property, namely, the right to attach and put to sale that property for recovery of her dower debt. The declaration sought falls within the purview of S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act and hence the relief is for a mere declaratory decree without any consequential relief coming under Art. 17 (iii) of the Second Schedule to the Court-fees Act and does not fall under S. 7 (iv) (c). 1939 O.W.N. 152=1939 O.A. 293. Where an ex-minor sued alleging that he was a minor at the time of the execution of a mortgage deed by him and that it was therefore void against him. Held, that all that was necessary for the minor was to ask that the document be declared to be void against him and the suit need not be treated as involving a prayer for a consequential relief, namely, the setting aside of the document. 11 R. 66=1933 R. 109.

For an appeal by the Secretary of State against the compensation award of the Court, a Court-fee of Rs. 10 only is required under article. 37 P.R. 1913=17 I.C. 764. Proceedings before the Court on a reference by the Collector under S. 19, Land Acquisition Act, cannot be described as a suit to set aside an award under this Art. 17 (4) Where a suit is for a declaration that an award made by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies which directed the plaintiff to pay the opposite party

CONSTRUCTION AND SCOPE.—Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act should be very strictly interpreted, the article cannot be invoked

when a suit is otherwise provided for. 60 C.L.J. 201=39 C.W.N. 131. To bring a case within the scope of this clause, it must be established that it is not possible, even to state approximately a money value for the subject-matter in dispute. 1 I.C. 670=13 C.W.N. 815. See also 59 C.L.J. 447=1934 C. 786. Thus a suit for restitution of conjugal rights would fall under the clause. 34 C. 352=11 C.W.N. 458=5 C.L.J. 400. See also 60 C.L.J. 201; 8 C.W.N. 705=31 C. 849; 28 A. 545; 9 I.C. 186=8 A.L.J. 889; 33 A. 767=11 I.C. 186. So also a suit under S. 92, C. P. Code. 14 C.W.N. 932=12 C.L.J. 211=7 I.C. 92; 1927 M. 940=53 M.L.J. 457; 8 L. 730=1928 L. 113. See now Cl. (iii) of Art. 17 of Madras Act. Also a suit for removal of a trustee of a religious endowment. 23 M. 537; 19 A. 104; 24 C. 418; 31 B. 48; 1934 P. 647. See also 1938 N.L.J. 357=1938 N. 537. A prayer for temporary mandatory injunction to compel defendant to deposit in Court an amount due by him to the trust, in a scheme suit under S. 92, C. P. Code, does not alter the character of the suit and the fee fixed in Sch. II, Art. 17 (ii) is sufficient. 47 M.L.J. 656=1924 M. 882. See also 110 I.C. 264=1928 L. 113; 48 M.L.J. 514=1925 M. 722; I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 259=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 32=1940 Mad. 113 (F.B.). (Prayer for appointment of interim receiver in partition suit). A suit under Registration Act, S. 77 to compel registration falls under the article. 21 P.R. 1895; 3 C. 515. A temple as such has no market value and a suit for recovery of possession of temple falls under Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (iv). 46 M. 782=45 M.L.J. 274=1924 M. 19 (F.B.). An appeal against an order refusing grant of letters of administration is governed by Art. 17 (vi) as the subject-matter in dispute cannot be estimated at a money value. 22 I.C. 98=35 A. 448. The Court-fee payable on a memorandum of appeal presented to a High Court from an order refusing or granting letters of administration or probate of a will is Rs. 2 under Art. 11, Sch. II. Neither Art. 1 of Sch. I, nor Art. 1 or Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II, is applicable to such a case. 1938 Rang.L.R. 72=1938 Rang. 141. The memo. of appeal against a redemption decree absolute on the ground that the money was deposited at a later date than that allowed and that it should not have been so received falls within the clause. 10 I.C. 736=7 N.L.R. 41. As to appeal against an order rejecting an appeal memo. for non-payment of Court-fee, see 98 I.C. 663 (2)=1927 N. 100. But see 1935 N. 83 (F.B.), contra. As kyaung cannot be transferred by sale, mortgage or gift, it has no market-value and the plaint in a suit by Hypongyi to recover possession of kyaung should bear a fixed stamp. 57 I.C. 953=13 Bur.L.T. 40. Where the plaintiff alleging that he was the duly elected Mahant sued for possession of the Math properties, held, the case was governed by S. 7 (v) and not this Article but that the temple should be left out of account as having no market value. 1932 A.L.J. 777=1932 A. 593. See also 7 R. 245=1929 R. 134 and 372 (F.B.); 40 P.L.R. 113; 1938 N.L.J. 214 (Suit for possession of temple). A mere intention to dedicate property for religious purposes is not sufficient to convert that property into religious property. Court-fee to be paid for recovery of possession of such property will be ad valorem. 178 I.C. 232=1938 R. 303. A suit under S. 92, C. P. Code, that a mahant may be removed and new mahant may be appointed along with a committee and that the trust property may be made over to them falls under Sch. II, Art. 17 (6) and not under S. 7 (iv) (c). 110 I. C. 264=1928 L. 113. Where the subject-matter of the suit is the right to mutwalliship and the office does not carry any salary or any other material enjoyment, it is not capable of monetary valuation and therefore the proper Court-fee is the fixed fee of Rs. 15 provided by Sch. II, Art. 17, para 6. 1934 P. 647. See also 1938 N.L.J. 357=1938 N. 537 (Suit for removal of mutwalli and rendition of accounts). In a suit the plaintiffs prayed that they be appointed mutawallis and the defendant be ordered not to interfere with their management and worship. The suit having been dismissed, the plaintiffs preferred an appeal. On the question of proper Court-fee to be paid by the appellants, Held, that the relief claimed should not be presumed to be one for possession of the trust property, the latter part of the relief may be considered a superfluity, the case comes under Art. 17 (vi) of the second schedule, as it is not possible to estimate at a money value the subject matter in dispute namely, the appointment of the plaintiffs as mutawallis in the place of the defendant. The criterion is to see whether by obtaining the particular relief claimed, the plaintiffs can obtain possession of the property by execution of the decree. 171 I.C. 468=1937 O.W. N. 1149=1937 O.L.R. 555. An appeal preferred against the decree in an interpleader suit which declares the title of one of the claimants and directs the delivery of the property to him upon payment of costs to the plaintiff should be stamped under the Art. 2 P.L.T. 280=61 I.C. 820. A suit for partition of property which was alleged to be joint (and not proved otherwise) need only be stamped with a Court-fee of Rs. 10. No ad valorem fee is necessary. 34 P.L.R. 84=1933 L. 208. In respect of a suit for partition by the plaintiff who was in joint possession of a part of the property in dispute, a Court-fee of Rs. 10 is sufficient when his title to a share is not denied by the defendants. (1930 L. 839, Foll.; 1932 L. 421, Dist.) 34 P.L.R. 772=1933 L. 780 (2). See also 1938 Rang. 76; 40 P.L.R. 27; 32 S.L.R. 124. Court-fee is necessary on the claim for interest from date of suit to date of realization made in appeal, either ad valorem the sum up to the date of the appeal or at least a Court-fee of Rs. 10 as provided by Art. 17 (6). 1933 L. 941. An objection on appeal as to the manner in which a decree in a suit for dissolution of partnership is to be enforced is covered by this article. 90 I.C. 629=1925 L. 496. Where in an appeal from the final decree in a mortgage suit, the only question is whether the property should be sold or whether the mortgagee should foreclose, it is difficult to place an exact money value on the appeal for the calculation of ad valorem Court-fees and under Art. 17 (6) of Sch. II of the Court-fees Act, the memorandum of appeal should bear a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 15. 15 P.L.T. 696=1934 P. 473 (1). But see also 61 C. 320=38 C.W.N. 276=1934 C. 377. Suit for money against joint family consisting of two brothers B and G—Personal decree against G only but decree against both with respect to share in family property—Appeal by plaintiff praying for personal decree against B also.—Court-fees must be under Art. 17 (vi). See 171 I.C. 13=1937 Pesh. 89. Where in an appeal from a final decree for sale in a mortgage suit, the amount of the decree is not challenged, but the only reliefs prayed were extension of time for payment and permission to pay by instalments, the reliefs claimed are incapable of valuation and as such Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II applies. In respect of each of the two reliefs separate Court-fee has to be paid. I.L.R. (1938) Nag. 423=1938 N.L.J. 269=1938 Nag. 409 (F.B.). Memorandum of objections by ryot only attacking the finding of the lower appellate Court as to the amount of rent legally due is capable of being estimated in money-value within the meaning of Cl. 17 (6) of Sch. II. 57 M.L.J. 260=1930 M. 22. Second appeal by a ryot from a suit by him under S. 112, Madras Estates Land Act, was held to be a case not possible to be estimated at a money value. 52 M. 972=1930 M. 43=57 M.L.J. 510. Relief originally prayed for was a declaration that the plaintiff was the owner of certain property. A Court-fee of Rs. 10 was paid. Subsequently the prayer was sought to be amended thus: "On account of that (a particular) decree is null and void and ineffectual it may be declared, etc." Held, that the effect of the amendment was to add to the original relief a prayer for a further declaration for which a further Court-fee of Rs. 10 should be paid and that the second relief asked for was not consequential relief within the meaning of S. 7 (iv) (c) so as to necessitate the payment of ad valorem Fees. 55 A. 274=1933 A.L.J. 311=1933 A. 350. S. 45, U. P. Encumbered Estates Act, the appellant does not object to the amount of the decree but only to certain conditions imposed by the special Judge, the appeal comes under Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi) of the Court-Fees Act in that it is not possible to estimate the subject-matter of the appeal at a money value. An appeal which does not relate to the amount of the decree passed but only to the manner in which the decree can be enforced or executed falls only under Art. 17 (vi) of the second schedule to the Court-Fees Act. 15 Luck. 321 = 1940 O.W.N. 26 = 1940 Oudh 183. See also 1940 O.W.N. 207 = 15 Luck. 413. In a suit on mortgage the mortgagee was granted a decree for certain sum payable in annual instalments and was held entitled to possession under O. 34, r. 2, C. P. Code, on mortgagors' failure to pay the instalments regularly. The mortgagee appealed from it claiming a decree under O. 34, r. 4, C. P. Code. Held, that the Court-fee payable in appeal was under Art. 17 (6), Sch. II. 167 I.C. 26 = 1937 Pesh. 31. See also 1936 R. D. 236. The amount of future interest cannot be determined as it depends upon the date of payment of the amount decreed, by the judgment-debtor. Therefore, a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 10 only is payable on cross-objections filed with regard to future interest. 163 I.C. 928 = 38 P.L.R. 276 = 1936 L. 668.

CASES NOT COMING UNDER THE CLAUSE.—Art. 17 could not apply to a case where a person with a definite decree for a particular sum of money against him seeks to set it aside. The question whether or not the decree is at the moment capable of execution without payment of certain amount by plaintiff as additional Court-fees need not be considered. 33 C.W.N. 743 = 1929 C. 815. Where in a suit for the enforcement of a mortgage or charge against certain property the trial Court held the charge to be enforceable only against a portion of the property, an appeal to have the charge declared against the whole property must bear ad valorem fee on the value of the property in dispute. 65 I.C. 114 = 24 O.C. 295. So also an appeal in a mortgage suit claiming priority for the mortgage held by the appellants. 54 A. 347 = 1932 A. 221. See also 46 L.W. 524 = 1937 M. 840. Art. 17 (vi) cannot apply to the case of property which clearly has a money value although it may be difficult to estimate such value correctly. Where the plaintiff-appellants sought to render certain property in the hands of the defendants liable for a certain money claim, held, that ad valorem Court-fee was payable. 54 A. 608 = 1932 A.L.J. 387 = 1932 A.406. Where an appeal relates only to the manner in which the decree is directed to be executed, a declaratory Court-fee is sufficient for it. 15 Luck. 413 = 1940 O.W.N. 207 = 1940 A.W.R. (C.C.) 112. See also 15 Luck. 321 = 1940 O.W.N. 26. When a plaintiff who obtained a decree for the full amount sued for against one of the defendants appealed with a view to make the other defendants also liable, held, he was bound to pay ad valorem Court-fee on the amount for which the other defendants were sought to be made liable and not a fixed fee under this article. 24 Bom.L.R. 313 = 46 B. 840. See also 86 P.R. 1912 = 16 I.C. 777; 59 C.L.J. 447 = 1934 C. 786 (valuation of appeal by defendants in a suit for accounts). Tank bed, suit for recovery of Court-fees. See 67 M.L.J. 688. In a suit for sale of mortgaged property, the puisne mortgagee and mortgagor were impleaded. The mortgagor denied the puisne mortgage, but the Court found it to be subsisting, and in the decree, ordered that the balance, after paying off the plaintiff mortgagee should be paid to the puisne mortgagee and the surplus, if any, should be given to the mortgagor. In an appeal by the mortgagor challenging the portion of decree in favour of the puisne mortgagee, held that ad valorem Court-fee on amount due on the mortgage should be paid and not merely for a declaration. 146 I.C. 1003 = 1933 L. 954.

SUITS FOR PARTITION.—[See also under S. 7, Cl. (iv) (b)]. A suit for partition, pure and simple, where the plaintiff is in joint possession of his share and there is no dispute as to his title or share falls within the clause. 2 P. 432 = 4 P.L.T. 257; 49 I.C. 115 (P.). on behalf of all. Where a plaintiff alleges that the family has continued joint Court-fee has to be calculated on the basis of that allegation and the suit does not fall under S. 7 (v) of the Court-Fees Act merely because the plaintiff does not specifically allege joint possession or enjoyment. 45 L. W. 541=1937 M. 606. Where however some of the family properties had been alienated by the father or manager of the family, the suit in respect of that property should be valued as a suit for possession under S. 7 (v). I.L.R. (1940) Mad. 259=(1940) 1 M.L.J. 32=1940 Mad. 113 (F. B.). Suit to set aside decree effecting partition by metes and bounds and for fresh partition of all properties held by plaintiff and defendants exclusively since date of prior partition. It cannot be said that in such a case the plaintiff is in joint possession with the defendants, so as to take the suit out of S. 7 (iv) (c), and to bring it under Sch. II, Art. 17 (vii), as being liable to a fixed Court-fee instead of ad valorem Court-fee. The fact that the plaintiff is already in possession of a portion of the property of which he seeks a re-partition cannot entitle him to credit for Court-fees payable in respect of that part of the property. I.L.R. (1941) Kar. 102=1941 S. 154. The suit for partition is not converted into a case of claim to possession because the defendants set up that the house is not joint property and that the plaintiff has no title to it. 35 C.W.N. 942. See also 12 C.W.N. 37=6 C.L.J. 651; 38 C. 681; 1937 Rang.L.R. 447=1938 R. 76; 32 S.L.R. 124=40 P.L.R. 27. The wording of Art. 17, Sch. II, Court-Fees Act shows clearly and indubitably that when a suit falls under any one of the clauses of that article, the plaintiff as well as the memorandum of appeal arising from such a suit, is chargeable with a fixed Court-fee of Rs. 10 only, irrespective of whether the subject-matter in appeal is or is not capable of being estimated in money value. I.L.R. (1941) Lah. 234=43 P.L.R. 147=1941 Lah. 123 (F.B.). Where in defence to a suit for partition by a Mahomedan heir, the widow pleads that her right to remain in possession in lieu of dower is paramount to that of the plaintiff's and her defence is rejected, the test to be applied to find out the proper Court-fee payable in respect of an appeal against the rejection of such a plea is, to consider what would be the position, if the appellant was endeavouring to establish in a suit in which she was plaintiff the same right as she is trying to maintain in the appeal. Applying the test it was held, that the Court-fee payable was not an ad valorem Court-fee but Court-fee under Art. 17 (vi) of the second Schedule of the Court-Fees Act. 1940 A.L.J. 789=1940 All. 521. A decision as to the amount of Court-fee should be founded solely on a consideration of the cause of action on which the plaintiff is suing and not on pleas of defendant. 16 I.C. 773=6 S.L.R. 72. On the application of one of the co-sharers in a partition suit the Court directed the properties to be sold as they were not capable of partition.

Another sharer appealed against this order. Held, that the Court-fee payable was Rs. 10 under this article. 100 I.C. 17 (2)=1927 L. 189; 1930 R. 164. A suit, however, in which plaintiff prays for declaration of his title and partition as a consequential relief, falls within S. 7, Cl. (iv) (c) and the plaintiff's share becomes also the valuation of the suit for jurisdiction. 2 P. 432=4 P.L.T. 257. See also 81 I.C. 643=1924 N. 105; 84 I.C. 538=1925 P. 703. So also in a suit intended to recover possession, plaintiff must pay ad valorem fee upon the value of the share. 8 C. 757; 8 P. 818=1930 P. 1; 1935 Pesh. 30. See also cases noted under S. 7 (iv) (b). A memorandum of appeal against an order of the Court in a partition suit, directing the defendants to put in properly stamped applications if they wished to have their respective shares separated off by the Court, must be stamped with a Court-fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (vi). 274 P.L.R. 1913=20 I.C. 177=183 P.W.R. 1913. Where in a suit for declaration and partition the defendant appeals from the decree for partition he is not entitled to stamp the appeal memorandum with Rs. 10 Court-fee stamp simply on the ground that he is in possession of the property. 1930 R. 164. A plaintiff sued for partition alleging that he was in joint possession and paid Court-fees under Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi). The Court found that he was not in joint possession and called upon him to pay ad valorem Court-fee. The suit was dismissed on plaintiff's failure to pay the deficient Court-fee. The Court-fee for appeal by plaintiff was under this sub-clause until the question of joint possession was finally decided in appeal. 1930 A. 443. So also for the appeal by the defendant if the lower Court finds the plaintiff to be in joint possession. 1930 L. 839. A suit for partition of a joint property is with reference to the matter of Court-fees governed by Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (vi). In appeals against decrees in partition suits the Court-fee payable is Rs. 15. It does not matter whether the ground of attack is with reference to the allotment of specific portion of immovable or movable property or the ground of attack is the question of costs. 56 C. 188=116 I.C. 383=1928 C. 878. Where the plaintiff sued for partition, his father and step-brother alleging a previous partition, it was substantially for a declaration that the prior partition was not binding on him and for other reliefs and falls under S. 7, Cl. (4) (c) and not under this article. 129 I.C. 824=1931 M. 94. Where in an appeal in a suit for partition the only proper relief is the claim for partition and the relief regarding the declaration and injunction are unnecessarily put in, the Court may permit the appellant to give up the unnecessary reliefs and limit his claim to partition. 35 C.W.N. 942. Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act is inapplicable to an appeal from an order under O. 21, r. 50 (2). C.P. Code. Sub-rr. (2) and (3) of r. 50 of O. 21 show that the subject-matter in dispute in proceedings under them is the liability of the person against whom execution is sought for payment of the decretal amount, on the ground that he was a partner in the judgment-debtor firm. The subject-matter in appeal against an order passed under sub-r.(2), therefore, is the liability of the judgment debtor for the same amount. This amount is clearly ascertainable and it cannot, therefore, be said that the subject-matter of the appeal is one where it is not possible to estimate it at a money value. Such an appeal is governed by Art. 1 of Sch. I, under which the proper Court-fee payable is ad valorem on the subject-matter in dispute. 35 P.L.R. 565=1934 L. 958. As to suits for maintenance, see 149 I.C. 982=1934 L. 150. Appeal in suit for partition—Property subject to charge to meet marriage expenses—Court-fee payable. 159 I.C. 802=1936 A. 221.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE, SUIT FOR.—The plaintiff sued for specific performance of a contract to execute a deed of trust in favour of certain institutions in respect of certain joint properties belonging to and in possession of both the plaintiff and the defendant. Under the trust deed, both the plaintiff and the defendant were made trustees. Held, that the suit did not come under any of the specified classes of suits for specific performance which are contemplated by S. 7 (x) of the Court-Fees Act, that the relief claimed was not the property itself but merely specific performance of the agreement, the money value of which it was not possible to estimate, and that consequently the suit was governed by Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi) of the Court-Fees Act. I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 411=42 C.W.N. 667.

SUIT ON PROMISSORY NOTE—DECREE SILENT AS TO INTEREST AFTER DATE OF SUIT TILL REALISATION—APPEAL AS TO—COURT-FEE.—Where a decree in a suit on a promissory note awards interest at the contract rate up to the date of suit, but is silent as to the claim for interest from the date of suit till realisation for an appeal from such decree on the ground that interest should have been allowed up to the date of realisation of the amount, the proper Court-fee payable is Rs. 10 as provided for by Art. 17 (vi) of Sch. II to the Court-Fees Act, 154 I.C. 470.

SUIT FOR SCHEME SO THAT PLAINTIFFS AND DEFENDANTS MAY ENJOY EMOLUMENTS SEPARATELY.—A suit to obtain an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the service by the plaintiffs of an idol and asking the Court to frame a scheme so that they and the defendant might be entitled to carry on the service of the idol and to enjoy the emoluments of the office separately and without interference from each other cannot, be described as a suit for partition; yet it is, in a sense, a suit which may be regarded as a suit of a similar nature for the purpose of estimation of Court-fees. Such a suit is one to which Art. 17 (vi) of the Second Schedule applies. 1935 A.L.J. 295=1935 A.W.R. 251.

ORDER REJECTING PLAINT FOR FAILURE TO PAY ADDITIONAL COURT-FEE—APPEAL FROM—COURT-FEE.—Per Full Bench.—Where an appeal is filed from an order rejecting a plaintiff for failure to pay additional Court-fee demanded, the subject-matter in appeal is capable of valuation. 1935 N. 83 (F.B.)=157 I.C. 186=18 N.L.J. 207. Per Grille, J.C. and Pollock, A.J.C., (Niyogi, A.J.C. holding contra).—An order rejecting a plaintiff for failure to pay additional Court-fee demanded is such a complete and final determination of the rights of the parties that there is no room in any appeal from such an order for the proposition that the subject-matter in appeal is not the same as the subject matter in the original suit, and the same Court-fee is payable on the appeal as on the plaintiff. (Ibid.).

DISTINCT RELIEFS—TEST.—Where the relief sought consists of two parts which are such that the first is the foundation for the second and the second part is a necessary consequence of the granting of the first part then the two can be taken together as really constituting one relief which is quite enough for the purpose of decreeing the plaintiff's claim. On the other hand, if the two parts are such that the second does not necessarily follow from the first or that the first goes farther than what is necessary for the granting of the second part of the relief, then one sum of Rs. 10 as Court-fees would not be sufficient. Where the relief claimed is that it may be declared that the property in suit is wakfalalaulad and is not attachable and saleable, the declaration that the property is wakfalalaulad is the foundation for and would necessarily involve the granting of the relief that the property is not attachable and saleable and only one sum of Rs. 10 is payable as Court-fees. But where the relief claimed is that it may be declared that the property in suit is owned and possessed by the plaintiff and is not fit for attachment and sale in satisfaction of a certain decree, the plaintiff in asking for a declaration as to possession is asking for more than is actually necessary for the granting of the second part of the relief, as the plaintiff would succeed if he establishes that he is the owner of the property. In such a case, therefore, two distinct reliefs are claimed by the plaintiff and two sums of Rs. 10 are payable as Court-fees. 1936 A.L.J. 1155 = 1936 A. 874.

WRITTEN STATEMENT CLAIMING PARTITION.—A defendant in a partition suit asking for a decree for his share need not pay Court-fee in order to make his claim effective. 55 M. 975 = 1932 M. 722 = 63 M.L.J. 845.

PRAYER FOR EXPUNGING REMARKS FROM JUDGMENT.—The prayer in an appeal was that certain findings in the lower Court judgment should be expunged from the judgment or that they may be declared to be obiter dicta and consequently not binding on the parties. The appellants did not pay Court-fee stamps on this part of the appeal and on a preliminary objection being raised, held, that the appellants were entitled to invoke the aid of the High Court without paying Court-fee stamps and that as the relief claimed by them was not capable of being estimated in money value, a Court-fee stamp of Rs. 10 under Art. 17 (vi) should be paid. 144 I.C. 620 = 1933 L. 678 (2).

Art. 20.—A Court-fee of Rs. 20 is sufficient in a suit for divorce, whatever damages are claimed. 12 L. 266 = 1931 L. 1 (S.B.). The Court-fee applicable to the Divorce Act cannot be applied to a petition under the Indian and Colonial Divorce Jurisdiction Act, 1926. Hence Art. 20 does not apply. 158 I.C. 621 = 1935 A.L.J. 988 = 1935 A. 791.

Where in a suit by a reversioner for a declaration that an alienation of a certain land by a widow following customary law would not affect his reversionary rights, the plaintiff alleged a special custom which restrained the widow from alienating ancestral property and stated that the land was ancestral. Held, that having regard to the allegations in the plaint, the Court-fee leviable on an appeal by the reversioner was Rs. 20 under Art. 22 of Sch. THE CROWN GRANTS ACT (XV OF 1895).¹

[10th October, 1895.]

An Act to explain the Transfer of Property Act, 1882,² so far as relates to grants from the Crown, and to remove certain doubts as to the powers of the Crown in relation to such grants.

WHEREAS doubts have arisen as to the extent and operation of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882,² and as to the power of the Crown to impose limitations and restrictions upon grants and other transfers of land made by it or under its authority, and it is expedient to remove such doubts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called THE CROWN GRANTS ACT, 1895.

It is the duty of the Crown and of every branch of executive to abide by and obey the law. If there is any difficulty in ascertaining it, it is the duty of the executive in cases of doubt to ask for directions from the Court to ascertain the law, in order to obey it, and not to disregard it. 16 P. 159=18 Pat.L.T. 95=1937 P. 65 (S.B.).

Sec. 2.—The Crown in British India has power to grant or transfer lands and limit its descent in any way it pleases; but a subject has no power to impose on lands or other property, any limitation of descent at variance with the ordinary law applicable. 40 A. 470=23 C.W.N. 101=45 I.A. 134 (P.C.).

Secs. 2 and 3.—Transfer of Property Act has no application to grants of Crown lands. 10 P. 203=1931 P. 268=131 I.C. 811. It is not only the T.P. Act, that is affected by the Crown Grants Act. S. 3 of the Act declares the unfettered discretion of the Crown to impose such conditions and limitations as it thinks fit, no matter what the general law of the land be. By reason of this section, a restrictive clause in a Crown lease which compels the lessee to refer any boundary dispute with the adjoining lessee, only to revenue authorities, is not affected by S. 28 of the Contract Act. But such a clause cannot be availed of by a lessee of an adjoining lot, to oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court, for the reason, that his predecessors in interest were not parties to the contract entered into between the Secretary of State in Council and the other lessees' predecessors in interest. I.L.R. (1938) 1 Cal. 626=42 C.W.N. 81=1938 Cal. 211. See also 1939 All. 263. The provisions of Ss. 2 and 3 do not include all leases executed by or on behalf of Government from the operations either of S. 107, T.P. Act, or of the Registration Act which provides for the cases of documents exempt from registration when executed by or on behalf of Government. 36 A. 176=22 I.C. 933=12 A.L.J. 219. A provision in a lease granted by Government of land situate in Malabar that the lessee will not erect buildings on the ground, is not consistent with S. 19 of the Malabar Compensation for Tenants Improvements Act and is saved by S. 3 of the Crown Grants Act. 43 M. 65=53 I.C. 345=37 M.L.J. 532. The expression "grant" in S. 2 denotes not only the transfer of prerogative rights possessed by the Crown but also transfers of land of every description. (Ibid.) Where a Crown grant consists of a lease of land in the Malabar District containing a reservation of the right to terminate the tenancy on six months' notice and the lessee expressly covenanted to surrender, held, that under S. 3, the lease must take effect according to its tenor and the Government is entitled to a decree for ejectment without paying for improvements. 41 M.L.J. 494=69 I.C. 475. The exemption of waste lands from payment of land revenue does not ipso facto exempt such land from Land Revenue Act and Tenancy Act. 28 N.L.R. 169=1932 N. 75 (F.B.). Where certain property which had been acquired by the Secretary of State under the Land Acquisition Act was sold in Court auction. Held, that the sale was immune from a claim for pre-emption in view of the provisions of S. 3 of the

Sec. 3.—An inam which is a Crown grant will be governed by S. 3 of the C. G. Act which excludes the application of the personal law. If there is any ambiguity in the inam certificate, the question would have to be decided in accordance with the Inam Rules of 1859. I.L.R. (1940) Nag. 244=1940 N.L.J. 78=1940 Nag. 129. The effect of S. 3 is that when a grant has been made by the Crown, the Crown is not with reference to that grant, bound by any of the sections of either the Tenancy Act or the Transfer of Property Act or the Contract Act. 181 I.C. 584=1939 A.L.J. 164=1939 All. 263. See also 1931 Pat. 258; 1938 Cal. 211; (1938) 1 M.L.J. 656. All that S. 3 means is that the Crown is entitled to put such conditions in a grant which a private individual could not but the only advantage to the grantee is that the grant to him is not invalid if given by the Crown when it might be invalid if given by an individual. It cannot be said to confer the right to sue on the grant if he had no such right, had the grant in his favour been made by an individual. 1938 O.A. 353=1938 O.W.N. 462=1938 Oudh 175. It is competent to the Crown to make a heritable grant of a village, conferring on the grant not an absolute estate, but a limited interest to enjoy the rents and profits of the village for his life and a similar interest on his heirs who will succeed him; it is open to the Crown to create successive life estates or limited interests, and prohibition as to alienation may be imposed by the Crown either by virtue of an enactment or by a grant. S. 3 is clear and expressly mentions that all limitations contained in a Crown grant shall be valid and take effect according to their tenor notwithstanding any statute or enactment of the Legislature, which would take in S. 60 C.P. Code. I.L.R. (1938) Mad. 767=1938 Mad. 623=(1938) 1 M.L.J. 686. See also 1937 A.L.J. 567=1937 All. 533. The estate was subsequently forfeited to Government, and in 1881, there was a formal dispensation with the services which the jagirdar had to render as barkandaz, and a new grant was created of the tenure freed of those services at an annual rent. The new grant created a jagir for the descendants of an earlier jagirdar to enjoy so long as any of his descendants should survive. APPENDIX A.

I.—THE ASSAM COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT (II OF 1922).

[Not in force—Expired on 1st May, 1928.]

An Act to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, with reference to the scale of Court-fees in Assam.

WHEREAS it is necessary to revise the scale of Court-Fees for Assam by amendment of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to Assam, in the manner hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called THE ASSAM COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1922.

(2) It extends to the whole of Assam.

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of May, 1922 and shall remain in force for a period of [six]* years.

2. The Court-Fees Act, 1870, as amended by subsequent legislation, shall be amended, in its application to Assam, in the manner hereinafter provided.

3. In S. 18 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, hereinafter referred to as "the said Act," for the words "a fee of eight annas" the word "a fee of one rupee" shall be substituted.

4. In item VIII, in S. 19 of the said Act, for the words "one thousand rupees" the words "two thousand rupees" shall be substituted.

5. For Art. 1 in the First Schedule to the said Act the following shall be substituted namely:—

Number.	Proper Fee.
"1. Plaint, written statement, pleading, a set-off or counter-claim or memorandum of appeal (not otherwise provided for in this Act) or of cross-objection presented to any Civil or Revenue Court except those mentioned in S. 3. "
When the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed one hundred rupees, for every five rupees or part thereof, of such amount or value,	Six annas.
and
when such amount or value exceeds one hundred rupees, for every ten rupees or part thereof, up to one thousand rupees,	One rupee two annas.
and
when such amount or value exceeds one thousand rupees, for every one hundred rupees, or part thereof in excess of one thousand rupees, up to seven thousand five hundred rupees,	Seven rupees eight annas.
and
when such amount or value exceeds seven thousand five hundred rupees, for every two hundred and fifty rupees, or part thereof, in excess of seven thousand five hundred rupees, up to ten thousand rupees,	Fifteen rupees.
and
when such amount or value exceeds ten thousand rupees, for every five hundred rupees or part thereof, in excess of ten thousand rupees, up to twenty thousand rupees,	Twenty-two rupees eight annas.
and
when such amount or value exceeds twenty thousand rupees, for every one thousand rupees, or part thereof, in excess of twenty thousand rupees, up to fifty thousand rupees,	Thirty-rupees.
and
when such amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, for every five thousand rupees, or part thereof, in excess of fifty thousand rupees:	Thirty - seven rupees eight annas.

NOTES.

*Sec. 1 (3).—The word "six" was substituted for the word "three" by Assam Act (III of 1925), S. 2.

Number.	Proper Fee
Provided that the maximum fee leviable on a plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be ten thousand rupees.

6. In the third column in Art. 6 in the same schedule to the said Act,—
 (a) for the words "Four annas," opposite clause (a) in the second column, the words "Six annas" shall be substituted; and

(b) for the words "Eight annas" opposite the first item in clause (c) in the second column, the words "Twelve annas" shall be substituted, and for the words "One rupee" opposite the second item in that clause, the words "One rupee eight annas" shall be substituted.

7. For the entries above the proviso in the second column and for the entries in the third column, in Art. 11 in the same schedule to the said Act, the following shall be substituted namely:—

Number.	Proper Fee.
"When the amount or value of the property in respect of which the grant of probate or letters is made exceeds two thousand rupees, [on such amount or value up to ten thousand rupees.]	Two per centum on such amount or value.

and
when such amount or value exceeds ten thousand rupees [* * * * ] [on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of ten thousand rupees, [up to fifty thousand rupees.]	Three per centum [ * * * *]

and
when such amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, [* * * * ] [on the portion] of such amount or value which is in excess of fifty thousand rupees, [up to a lakh of rupees,]	Four per centum [ * * * *]

when such amount or value exceeds a lakh of rupees, [on the portion] of such amount or value which is in excess of a lakh of rupees.	Five per centum [* * * * *]"

8. For the entry in the second column in Art. 12 in the same schedule to the said Act, and for the first paragraph in the third column in the said Article, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

["When the original amount or value of any debt or security specified in the certificate under S. 8 of the Act, or such amount or value combined with the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under S. 10 of the Act, exceeds one thousand rupees,	Two per centum on such original amount or value and three per centum on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under S. 10 of the Act.

and
"when such original or combined amount or value exceeds ten thousand rupees on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of ten thousand rupees.	Three per centum on such original amount or value and four and a half per centum on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under S. 10 of the Act.

"when such original or combined amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of fifty thousand rupees up to one lakh of rupees,	Four per centum on such original amount or value and six per centum on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under S. 10 of the Act.

"when such original or combined amount or value exceeds a lakh of rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of a lakh of rupees."	Five per centum on such original amount or value and seven and a half per centum on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under S. 10 of the Act.]"

9. For the table of rates of ad valorem fees leviable on the institution of suits, at the end of the same schedule to the said Act, the table set forth in the Schedule to this Act shall be substituted.

10. In Article 1 in the second schedule to the said Act,—

(a) in clause (a) after the words "Municipal Commissioner" in the third entry in the second column the words "or member of a Local Board" shall be inserted;

(b) (i) for the words "One anna", opposite clause (a) in the second column, the words "Two annas" shall be substituted,

(ii) for the words "Eight annas," opposite clause (b) in the second column, the following shall be substituted, namely:

"In the case of a complaint or charge of an offence presented to a Criminal Court one rupee, and in other cases ten annas; and

(iii) for the words "One rupee" opposite clause (c) in the second column, the words "One rupee and eight annas" shall be substituted.

11. In the third column in Article 10 in the same schedule to the said Act,—

(1) for the words "Eight annas," opposite clause (a) in the second column, the words "One rupee" shall be substituted; and

(2) for the words "One rupee," opposite clause (b) in the second column, the words "One rupee and eight annas" shall be substituted.

12. For Article 11 of the same schedule to the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

	Number.	Proper Fee.
"11. Memorandum of appeal when the appeal is not from a decree or an order having the force of a decree, and is presented—
(a) (i) to any Revenue Court or Executive Officer other than the High Court or Chief Controlling Revenue or Executive Authority;		Eight annas.
(ii) to any Civil Court other than a High Court		One rupee.
(b) to a Chief Controlling Executive or Revenue Authority.		Two rupees.'

13. Above the words "Five rupees" where they occur in the third column, opposite Articles 12 and 13, in the same schedule to the said Act, the words "Ten rupees" shall be inserted opposite Article 12, and the bracket between Articles 12 and 13 in the second column shall be omitted.

14. (1) The words "Ten rupees" in the third column opposite Article 17 in the same schedule to the said Act and the bracket opposite that article in the second column in the same schedule shall be omitted.

(2) In the third column in the said Article—

(a) opposite entries (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (vi), the words "Fifteen rupees" shall be inserted.

III.—BENGAL ACT NO. VI OF 1922.

THE BENGAL COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT NO. II) ACT, 1922.

[26th July, 1922.]

An Act further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, with reference to the scale of Court-fees in Bengal.

WHEREAS it is necessary further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to Bengal in the manner hereinafter appearing;

1. (1) This Act may be called THE BENGAL COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT NO. II) ACT, 1922.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

2. In Article 1 in the first schedule to the Court-Fees Act, 1870 [as amended by the Bengal Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1922], hereinafter referred to as the said Act,—

(a) the commas before and after the word "pleading" in the first column shall be omitted,

(b) for the words "in value" in the first entry in the second column the words "or value" shall be substituted, and

(c) the word "and" between the third and fourth entries in the second column shall be omitted.

3. (1) In the second column of Articles 11 and 12 in the first schedule to the said Act,—

(a) for the words "but does not exceed ten thousand rupees" the words "on such amount or value up to ten thousand rupees" shall be substituted.

(b) for the words "for the portion", wherever they occur, the words "on the portion" shall be substituted,

(c) the words "but does not exceed fifty thousand rupees" and the words "but does not exceed a lakh of rupees" shall be omitted, and

(d) after the words "in excess of ten thousand rupees" the words "up to fifty thousand rupees" and after the words "in excess of fifty thousand rupees" the words "up to a lakh of rupees" shall be added.

(2) In the third column of Article 11 in the first schedule to the said Act, the words "on such amount or value", wherever they occur, shall be omitted.

4. The amendments set forth in sections 2 and 3 shall be deemed to have been made with effect from the commencement of the Bengal Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1922.

THE COURT-FEES (BENGAL AMENDMENT) ACT (VII OF 1935).

An Act further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870.

WHEREAS it is expedient to revise the law relating to Court-fees in Bengal by amendment of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to Bengal, in the manner hereinafter appearing;

AND WHEREAS the previous sanction of the Governor-General has been obtained under sub-section (3) of section 80-A of the Government of India Act to the passing of this Act;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called THE COURT-FEES (BENGAL AMENDMENT) ACT, 1935.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force in whole or in part on such date as the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint and for this purpose different dates may be appointed for different provisions of this Act.

2. The Court-Fees Act, 1870, hereinafter referred to as the said Act shall, in its application to Bengal, be amended in the manner hereinafter provided.

3. For section 2 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) 'appeal' includes a cross-objection;

(2) 'Chief Controlling Revenue-authority' means the Board of Revenue;

(3) 'Collector' includes any officer not below the rank of Sub-Deputy Collector appointed by the Collector to perform the functions of a Collector under this Act;

(4) 'suit' includes an appeal from a decree except in section 8-A."

4. In Chapter II of the said Act, for the heading "Fees in the High Courts and in the Courts of Small Causes at the Presidency Towns" the heading "Fee payable in Courts and in Public Offices" shall be substituted.

5. In Chapter III of the said Act, for the heading "Fees in other Courts and in Public Offices" the heading "Computation of fees" shall be substituted.

6. (1) Section 6 of the said Act shall be transferred from Chapter III and inserted after section 5 in Chapter II and section 6 as thus transferred shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of section 6 and in that section as so re-numbered for the words "be paid" the words "has been paid" shall be substituted.

(2) To the said section as so re-numbered and amended the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or in any other Act, a Court may receive a plaint or memorandum of appeal in respect of which an insufficient fee has been paid, subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(a) no such plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be registered unless the plaintiff or appellant has, before such date as the Court may have fixed in this behalf, paid to the Court such reasonable sum on account of Court-fee as the Court may direct;

(b) the Court shall reject the plaint or memorandum of appeal if the sum referred to in clause (a) is not paid before the date fixed by the Court."

7. In section 7 of the said Act,—

(1) clause (b) of paragraph iv shall be omitted.

(2) in paragraph iv, after the words "memorandum of appeal" the following words, figure and letter shall be inserted, namely:—

"subject to the provisions of section 8-C";

(3) for paragraph v the following paragraph shall be substituted, namely:—

"v. In suits for the possession of land, buildings or gardens—

(a) according to the value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be deemed to be fifteen times the nett profits which have arisen from the land, building or garden during the year next before the date of presenting the plaint, or if the Court sees reason to think that such profits have been wrongly estimated, fifteen times such amount as the Court may assess as such profits or according to the market-value of the land, building or garden,

whichever is lower;

(b) if, in the opinion of the Court such profits are not readily ascertainable or assessable, or where there are no such profits, according to the market-value of the land, building or garden:

Explanation.—In this paragraph “building” includes a house, out-house, stable, privy, urinal, shed, hut, wall and any other such structure, whether of masonry, bricks, wood, mud, metal or any other material whatsoever:—

(4) for paragraph vi the following paragraph shall be substituted, namely:—

“vi. In suits to enforce a right of pre-emption—according to the market-value of the land, building or garden in respect of which the right is claimed:

Explanation.—In this paragraph ‘building’ has the same meaning as in paragraph v:—

(5) after paragraph vi the following paragraph shall be inserted, namely:—

“vi-A. In suits for partition and separate possession of the share of joint family property or of joint property; or to enforce a right to a share in any property on the ground that it is joint family property or joint property—if the plaintiff has been excluded from possession of the property of which he claims to be a coparcener or co-owner, according to the market-value of the share in respect of which the suit is instituted:—”.

8. After section 8 of the said Act the following sections shall be inserted, namely:—

“8-A. In every suit in which an ad valorem Court-fee is payable under this Act on the plaint, the plaintiff shall file with the plaint a statement of particulars of the subject-matter of the suit and his own valuation thereof unless such particulars and the valuation are contained in the plaint. The statement shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed by the Local Government by notification in the Calcutta Gazette. In every such suit the plaintiff shall also, if the Court so directs, file a duplicate copy of the plaint and of the said statement.

8-B. (1) In every suit in which a Court-fee is payable under this Act on the plaint or memorandum of appeal the Court shall, as soon as may be after the registration of the plaint or memorandum of appeal, and in every case before proceeding to deliver judgment, record a finding whether a sufficient Court-fee has been paid.

(2) If the Court records a finding that an insufficient Court-fee has been paid on the plaint or memorandum of appeal the Court shall—

(a) stay all further proceedings in the suit until it has determined the proper amount of such Court-fee payable and the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, has paid such amount or until the date referred to in clause (b), as the case may be:

Provided that if the plaintiff or appellant gives, within such time as the Court may allow, security, to the satisfaction of the Court, for the payment of any additional amount for which he may be found liable the Court may proceed with the suit,

(b) fix a date before which the plaintiff or appellant shall pay the amount of Court-fee due from him, as determined by the Court under clause (a).

(3) If the plaintiff or appellant fails to give the security referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) or to pay the amount referred to in clause (b) of that sub-section within the time allowed, or before the date fixed, by the Court, as the case may be, the suit shall be dismissed.

8-C. If the Court is of opinion that the subject-matter of any suit has been wrongly valued it may revise the valuation and determine the correct valuation and may hold such inquiry as it thinks fit for such purpose.

NOTES.

Sec. 8-C.—For recent cases under S. 8-C, see notes under S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Court-Fees Act (VII of 1870), supra. Sec. 8 (c) of the Bengal Court-Fees Amendment Act is applicable to a case falling within S. 7 (iv) (c) of the main Act. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 166 = 44 C.W.N. 745 = 1940 Cal. 451. S. 7 (iv) of the Court-Fees Act is subject to the provisions of S. 8 (c) of the Court-Fees (Bengal Amendment) Act, 1935. If, therefore, in a suit to obtain a declaratory decree in which consequential relief is prayed, the plaintiff puts an entirely unreasonable valuation on the consequential relief, this valuation may be revised by the Court by adopting the procedure laid down under S. 8 (c) of the Court-Fees (Amendment) Act. 68 C.L.J. 144. Where the plaintiff sues for a declaration and prays for, besides other reliefs, a perpetual injunction as a consequential relief flowing from the declaration, the suit, so far as it relates to these two reliefs, is a suit for a declaration with a consequential relief within the meaning of S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Court-Fees Act. Under S. 8-C, the Court has power to revise the valuation put by the plaintiff and determine the correct valuation for the purposes

8-D. (1) For the purpose of an inquiry under section 8-C the Court may depute, or issue a commission to, any suitable person to make such local or other investigation as may be necessary and to report thereon to the Court. Such report and any evidence recorded by such person shall be evidence in the inquiry.

(2) The Court may, from time to time, direct such party to the suit as it thinks fit to deposit such sum as the Court thinks reasonable as the costs of the inquiry, and if the costs are not deposited within such time as the Court shall fix, may, notwithstanding anything contained in any other Act, dismiss the suit if such party is the plaintiff or the appellant and, in any other case, may recover the costs as a public demand.

8-E. (1) The Court, when making an inquiry under section 8-C and any person making an investigation under section 8-D shall have, respectively, for the purposes of such inquiry or investigation, the powers vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of the following matters, namely:—

(a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath or affirmation;

(b) compelling the production of documents or material objects; and

(c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses.

(2) An inquiry or investigation referred to in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code.

8-F. If in the result of inquiry under section 8-C the Court finds that the subject-matter of the suit has been undervalued the Court may order the party responsible for the undervaluation to pay all or any part of the costs of the inquiry.

NOTES.

of Court-fees. The Court for that purpose may hold such enquiry as it thinks fit. 42 C.W.N. 504=I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 64=1938 Cal. 865. See also 1937 Cal. 748. Although a satisfactory valuation may not be possible in the majority of suits falling within S. 7 (iv) of the Court-Fees Act, when once the Court has formed the opinion that the plaintiff's estimate is wrong, it becomes the duty of the Court to estimate a correct and reasonable valuation of the relief claimed and it follows that it will be for the Court to decide on the merits of each particular case whether the provisions of S. 8 (c) should be invoked for the purpose of revising the plaintiff's valuation. I.L.R. (1940) 1 Cal. 409=1940 Cal. 482. Under S. 8-C, it is of course competent for a Court, in fact in many cases, it is the duty of the Court to hold an enquiry regarding the proper valuation of the subject-matter of suits under S. 7 (iv) of the Act in cases in which there is reason to suppose that the relief sought has been under-valued. But where having regard to the nature of the prayers in the plaint, it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to estimate the precise value of the relief sought by the plaintiff, such an enquiry by the Court would be unnecessary. 43 C.W.N. 167. See also I.L.R. (1937) 2 Cal. 501=41 C.W.N. 977. An enquiry under S. 8-C might be usefully held in a suit by a Mahomedan against a Hindu for a declaration of his right to perform certain religious ceremonies on the occasion of the Muharram every year in a Courtyard attached to the palace of the Hindu. If the plaintiff succeeds in his suit, the value of a portion of the defendant's palace will seriously depreciate. Obviously in a case of this sort the extent to which the defendant's property will be depreciated should be taken to correspond to the value of the benefit which the plaintiff seeks to obtain if he succeeds in his suit. From this point of view, it is not correct to hold that there is no objective standard by which the requisite valuation could be made. I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal. 20=1939 Cal. 743. In a suit brought by the plaintiff on behalf of himself and as representative of the rate payers of a Municipality for a declaration that a certain assessment made by that Municipality is illegal and for injunction restraining it from recovering the rates, it is open to the Court treating the suit as falling under S. 7 (iv) (c) of the Court-Fees Act, to enquire into the plaintiff's valuation, if it is of opinion that the subject-matter has been wrongly valued. Even if the prayer for injunction is redundant and S. 7 (iv) (c) does not at all apply, it is open to the Court to consider the question of valuation in order to determine the proper forum. 42 C.W.N. 315. Where the only question is one of valuation, and not one relating to classification, an appeal being excluded under S. 12 (i), the remedy of revision is open, though the revisional power should be exercised only in a proper case, such as where the valuation is manifestly by wrong standard either because it is contrary to accepted principles of valuation or because of a wrong approach to the question. Consequently in a case falling under S. 7 (iv) (c) the application of a wrong standard by the Court in determining the correct valuation under S. 8-C, namely the standard laid down in S. 7 (ii) of the Act which is applicable to a different class of suit altogether will attract the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court under S. 115. C.P. Code. 1941 Cal. 509. If the plaintiff fails to pay the additional Court-fee found payable on an enquiry made under S. 8 (c) of the Court-Fees Act, the proper order for the Court to make will be an order for dismissal under the provisions of S. 8-B (3) of that Act as amended in Bengal by Act VII of 1935, and not an order rejecting the plaint under the provisions of O. 7, R. 11, C.P. Code. I.L.R. (1940) 2 Cal. 166=44 C.W.N. 745=1940 Cal. 451.

If in the result of such inquiry the Court finds that the subject-matter of the suit has not been undervalued the Court may, in its discretion, order that all or any part of such costs shall be paid by government or by any party to the suit at whose instance the inquiry has been undertaken, and if any amount exceeding the proper amount of fee has been paid shall refund the excess amount so paid."

9. Sections 9 and 10 of the said Act are hereby repealed.

10. For section 11 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"11. Where, in any suit for mesne profits or for land and mesne profits or for an account, the fee which would have been payable, if the suit had comprised the whole of the relief to which the Court finds the plaintiff to be entitled exceeds the fee actually paid, the Court shall require the plaintiff to pay an additional fee equal to the amount of the excess, and if such additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court may fix, the suit, or if a decree has previously been passed therein, so much of the claim as has not been so decreed, shall be dismissed:

Provided that, where the additional fee is payable in respect of a portion of the claim which can be relinquished, that portion only shall be dismissed."

11. In paragraph ii of section 12 of the said Act, for the words and figures "and the provisions of section 10, paragraph ii, shall apply" the following shall be substituted, namely "and therefore—

(a) if the party required to pay is the appellant or petitioner, the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 8-B shall, so far as may be, apply;

(b) if the party required to pay is the respondent or the opposite party, the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 8-B shall, so far as may be, apply, and, if such party fails to pay the fee required before the date fixed by the Court, the Court shall recover the amount of such fee from him as a public demand:

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section a question relating to the classification of any suit for the purpose of section 7 shall not be deemed to be a question relating to valuation."

12. For section 17 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"17. (1) In any suit in which two or more separate and distinct causes of action are joined and separate and distinct reliefs are sought in respect of each, the plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the fees with which the plaints or memoranda of appeal would be chargeable under this Act in separate suits instituted in respect of each such cause of action:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to affect any power conferred by or under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, to order separate trials.

(2) Where more reliefs than one based on the same cause of action are sought either jointly or in the alternative, the fee shall be paid according to the value of the relief in respect of which the largest fee is payable."

13. In section 19 of the said Act,—

(a) in paragraph i, after the words "Power-of-attorney" the words "or other written authority" shall be inserted; and

(b) after paragraph xxiv the following paragraph shall be added, namely:—

"xxv. Petitions of appeal by Government servants or servants of a Court of Wards against orders of dismissal, reduction or suspension; copies of such orders filed with such appeals and applications for obtaining such copies."

14. After section 34 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"34-A. Where any period is fixed or granted by the Court for the doing of any act prescribed or allowed by this Act, the Court may, in its discretion, from time to time, enlarge such period even though the period originally fixed or granted may have expired."

15. For section 35 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"35. (1) The Local Government may, from time to time, subject to such conditions or restrictions as it may think fit to impose, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, suspend the payment of or reduce or remit, in the whole of Bengal or in any part thereof, all or any of the fees mentioned in the first and second schedules to this Act annexed and may in like manner cancel or vary such order.

(2) The Local Government may, from time to time by rules, prescribe the manner in which any fee the payment of which is suspended under sub-section (1) may be realised and for this purpose direct that such fee may be recovered as a public demand."

16. In Schedule II to the said Act—

(1) in Article 17, after entry v the following entry shall be inserted, namely:—

"v-A. for partition and separate possession of a share of joint family property or of joint property, or to enforce a right to a share in any property on the ground that it is joint family property or joint property if the plaintiff is in possession of the property of which he claims to be a coparcener or co-owner;

Fifteen rupees.

(2) after Article 18 the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

"18-A. Application under paragraph 20 of the Second Schedule to the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, to file an arbitration award, and memorandum of appeal from a decree passed under paragraph 21 of the said Schedule, Fifteen rupees."

(3) after Article 21 the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

"22. Petition. (a) questioning the election of any person as a Municipal Commissioner, when presented to a District Judge under section 36 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932; (b) questioning the election of any person as a member of a District Board or Local Board, when presented to any authority appointed under clause (a) of section 138 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 to decide disputes relating to such elections. Fifteen rupees."

THE COURT-FEES (BENGAL SECOND AMENDMENT) ACT (XI OF 1935).

An Act further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870.

[See also Bengal Expiring Laws Act (IV of 1938) which continues the provisions of this Act to be in force after the expiry of the period mentioned in this Act.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to Bengal, in the manner hereinafter appearing;

AND WHEREAS the previous sanction of the Governor-General has been obtained under sub-section (3) of section 80-A of the Government of India Act to the passing of this Act;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called THE COURT-FEES (BENGAL SECOND AMENDMENT) ACT, 1935.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint.

(4) Clauses (a) and (b) of section 4 and sub-section (2) of section 5 shall remain in force for three years only and thereafter the Court-Fees Act, 1870, shall have force as if it had not been amended by the said clauses and sub-section.

2. The Court-Fees Act, 1870, hereinafter referred to as the said Act, shall, in its application to Bengal, be amended in the manner hereinafter provided.

3. In Article 8 of the First Schedule to the said Act, for the figures "1879" in the first column the figures "1899" shall be substituted.

4. In Article 11 of the First Schedule to the said Act,—

(a) after the words "in excess of a lakh of rupees" in the second column, the words "up to two lakhs and fifty thousand rupees" shall be inserted;

(b) in the second and third column before the proviso in the second column, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"and when such amount or value exceeds two lakhs and fifty thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of two lakhs and fifty thousand rupees up to three lakhs of rupees, Five and a half per centum.

and when such amount or value exceeds three lakhs of rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of three lakhs of rupees up to four lakhs of rupees, Six per centum.

and

when such amount or value exceeds four lakhs of rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of four lakhs of rupees up to five lakhs of rupees, Six and a half per centum.

when such amount or value exceeds five lakhs of rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of five lakhs of rupees; Seven per centum.

and

(c) in the proviso, for the words and figures "the Succession Certificate Act, 1889" the words and figures "the Indian Succession Act, 1925" shall be substituted.

5. (1) For Article 12 of the first schedule to the said Act the following article shall be substituted, namely:—

"12. Certificate under the Indian Succession Act, 1925.

When the amount or value of any debt or security specified in the certificate under section 374 of the Act exceeds one thousand rupees,

When the aggregate amount or value of any debts or securities specified in the certificate and of any debts or securities to which the certificate has been extended under section 376 of the Act exceeds one thousand rupees.

Two per centum on the first ten thousand rupees, three per centum on the next forty thousand rupees, four per centum on the next fifty thousand rupees, and five per centum on the remainder of such amount or value.

In respect of such portion of the aggregate amount or value as consists of the amount or value of debts or securities so specified, the fee hereinbefore provided in that behalf in this article;

and three per centum on such portion of the first ten thousand rupees, four and a half per centum on such portion of the next forty thousand rupees, six per centum on such portion of the next fifty thousand rupees, and seven and a half per centum on such portion of the remainder of such aggregate amount or value as consists of the amount or value of debts or securities to which the certificate has been extended.

Note. (1) The amount of a debt is its amount, including interest on the day on which the inclusion of the debt in the certificate is applied for, so far as such amount can be ascertained.

(2) Whether or not any power with respect to a security specified in a certificate has been conferred under the Act and where such a power has been so conferred, whether the power is for the receiving of interest or dividends on, or for the negotiation or transfer of the security, or for both purposes, the value of the security is its market-value on the day on which the inclusion of the security in the certificate is applied for, so far as such value can be ascertained."

(2) In the third column of the said article as amended by sub-section (1),—

(a) after the words "five per centum" the following shall be inserted, namely:—
"on the next one lakh and fifty thousand rupees, five and a half per centum on the next fifty thousand rupees, six per centum on the next one lakh of rupees, six and a half per centum on the next one lakh of rupees,

and

seven per centum"

(b) after the words "seven and a half per centum" the following shall be inserted namely:—

"On such portion of the next one lakh and fifty thousand rupees, eight and a quarter per centum on such portion of the next fifty thousand rupees, nine per centum on such portion of the next one lakh of rupees, nine and three quarters per centum on such portion of the next one lakh of rupees,

and

ten and a half per centum".

6. In Article 18 of the second schedule to the said Act, for the words and figures "section 326 of the Code of Civil Procedure" the words and figures "paragraph 17 of the second schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908" shall be substituted.

7. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any probate, letters of administration or certificate under the Indian Succession Act, 1925, in respect of which the fee payable under the law for the time being in force has been paid before the commencement of this Act, but which has not issued.

IV.—BIHAR AND ORISSA ACT NO. II OF 1922.

THE BIHAR AND ORISSA COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT 1922.

[21st August, 1922.]

An Act to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to the Province of Bihar and Orissa in the manner hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called THE BIHAR AND ORISSA COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1922.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bihar and Orissa including the Santal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on the 24th day of August, 1922.

2. In paragraph 3 of section 4 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, as amended by subsequent legislation and hereinafter called the principal Act, for the word "two" shall be substituted the word "one".

3. In clause (a) of section 7 (v) of the principal Act, for the word "ten" shall be substituted the word "twenty" and in clause (b) of the said section for the word "five" shall be substituted the word "ten".

4. In section 17 of the principal Act, after the words "of appeal" in both places where they occur the words "or of cross-objection" shall be inserted.

5. In section 18 of the principal Act, for the words "a fee of eight annas" the words "a fee of twelve annas" shall be substituted.

6. In item viii of section 19 of the principal Act, for the words "one thousand rupees" the words "two thousand rupees" shall be substituted.

7. (1) In Article 1 of Schedule I of the principal Act, for the entry in the first column the following entry shall be substituted, namely:—

"(1) Plaint, written statement, pleading, a set-off, or counter-claim or memorandum of appeal or of cross-objection, not otherwise provided for in this Act, presented to any Civil or Revenue Court except those mentioned in section 3."

(2) For the "proper fees" set out in the third column of the said Schedule I and shown opposite Article 1 in Schedule A of this Act, the "proper fees" shown against them in the second column of the said Schedule A shall be substituted.

(3) The proviso in Article 1 of the said Schedule I shall be omitted.

8. For the "proper fees" set out in Schedule I of the principal Act for Article 6, 7, 8 and 9 and shown in Schedule A of this Act, the "proper fees" shown against them in the second column of the said Schedule A shall be substituted.

9. For the entries above the proviso in the second column and for the entries in the third column, in Article 11 of Schedule I of the principal Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"When the amount or value of the property in respect of which the grant of probate or letters is made exceeds two thousand rupees, on such amount or value up to ten thousand rupees,

Two per centum.

and
when such amount or value exceeds ten thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of ten thousand rupees up to fifty thousand rupees,

Three per centum.

and
when such amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of fifty thousand rupees up to one lakh of rupees,

Four per centum.

and when such amount or value exceeds a lakh of rupees, for the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of one lakh of rupees."

Five per centum.

10. For the entry in the second column of Article 12 of Schedule I of the principal Act, and for the first paragraph in the third column of the said Article, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"When the amount or value of any debt or security specified in the certificate under section 8 of the Act exceeds one thousand rupees, on such amount or value up to ten thousand rupees,

Two per centum, and on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under section 10 of the Act, three per centum.

and when such amount or value exceeds ten thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of ten thousand rupees up to fifty thousand rupees,

and when such amount or value exceeds fifty thousand rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of fifty thousand rupees up to one lakh of rupees,

and
when such amount or value exceeds a lakh of rupees, on the portion of such amount or value which is in excess of one lakh of rupees."

Three per centum, and on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under section 10 of the Act, four-and-a-half per centum.

Four per centum, and on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under section 10 of the Act, six per centum.

Five per centum, and on the amount or value of any debt or security to which the certificate is extended under section 10 of the Act, seven-and-a-half per centum."

11. For the table of rates of ad valorem fees annexed to Schedule I of the principal Act, the table set forth in Schedule B of this Act shall be substituted.

12. (1) In the first column of the said Schedule II after the words "memorandum of appeal" in Articles 5, 11, 17, 20 and 21 the words "or of cross-objection" shall be inserted.

(2) For the "proper fees" set out in the said Schedule II, and shown in Schedule C of this Act, the "proper fees" shown against them in the second column of the said Schedule C shall be substituted.

13. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any probate, letters of administration or certificate under the Succession Certificate Act, 1889, in respect of which the fee payable under the law for the time being in force has been paid prior to the commencement of this Act, but which have not issued.

VII.—MADRAS ACT NO. V OF 1922.

Passed by the Legislative Council of Madras.

[Received the assent of the Governor on the 30th March, 1922 and that of the Governor-General on the 17th April, 1922; the assent of the Governor-General was first published in the

Fort St. George Gazette of the 18th April, 1922.]

An Act to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to the Presidency of Madras;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (a) This Act may be called THE MADRAS COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1922.

(b) It extends to the whole of the Presidency of Madras.

2. (1) In this Act "the principal Act" shall mean "the Court-Fees Act, 1870".

(2) In this Act and in the principal Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "Memorandum of appeal" shall include memorandum of cross-objection.

3. In the second paragraph of section 5 of the principal Act, the words "Registrar" and "Chief Judge" shall be substituted for "clerk of the Court" and "first Judge" respectively.

4. In section 7 of the principal Act the words "except suits for relief under section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, or under section 91 or section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908," shall be added between the words "mentioned" and "shall".

5. In section 7 (ii) of the principal Act, after the words "shall be deemed to be" the words "in suits for maintenance, the amount claimed to be payable for one year and in other suits" shall be added.

6. The following shall be added after the words "Memorandum of appeal" in section 7, paragraph (iv), of the principal Act:—

"Provided that in suits coming under sub-clause (c), in cases where the relief sought is with reference to any immovable property, such valuation shall not be less than half the value of the immovable property calculated in the manner provided for by paragraph (v) of this section."

7. In section 7 of the principal Act between paragraphs (iv) and (v) the following paragraph shall be added as (iv-A):—

"In a suit for cancellation of a decree for money or other property having a money value, or other document securing money or other property having such value, according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and such value shall be deemed to be—

if the whole decree or other document is sought to be cancelled, the amount or the value of the property for which the decree was passed or the other document executed, if a part of the decree or other document is sought to be cancelled, such part of the amount or value of the property."

8. In section 7 (v) of the principal Act—in (a) for the word "ten" the word "twenty" shall be substituted;

in (b) for the word "five" the word "ten" shall be substituted; and after clause (d) the following proviso shall be substituted for the existing proviso:—

"Provided that if rules are framed under section 3 of the Suits Valuation Act, 1887, for determining the value of land for the purposes of jurisdiction, the value so determined shall be deemed to be the value of the land for the purposes of this paragraph."

9. For the second paragraph of section 11 of the principal Act the following paragraph shall be substituted:—

"Where a decree directs an inquiry as to mesne profits which have accrued on the property during a period prior to the institution of the suit, if the profits ascertained on such inquiry exceed the profits claimed, no final decree shall be passed till the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the claim for the excess shall be dismissed, unless the Court, for sufficient cause, extends the time for payment.

"Where a decree directs an inquiry as to mesne profits from the institution of the suit, and a final decree is passed in accordance with the result of such inquiry, the decree shall not be executed until such fee is paid as would have been payable on the amount claimed in execution if a separate suit had been instituted therefor."

10. In section 18 of the principal Act, for the words "eight annas" the words "one rupee" shall be substituted.

11. For Schedules I and II of the principal Act, the following schedules shall be substituted:—

X.—THE MADRAS CITY CIVIL COURT ACT (VII OF 1892).

* * * * *

Constitution of the City Court.

3. The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, establish a Court to be called the Madras City Civil Court with jurisdiction to receive, try and dispose of all suits and other proceedings of a civil nature not exceeding two thousand five hundred rupees in value and arising within the City of Madras, except suits or proceedings which are cognizable,

(a) by the High Court, as a Court of Admiralty, or, Vice-Admiralty; or, as a Colonial Court of Admiralty, or, as a Court having testamentary, intestate or matrimonial jurisdiction, or

(b) by the Court for the relief of insolvent debtors, or

(c) by the Small Cause Court.

* * * * *

Valuation of immovable property for jurisdictional purposes.

9. When the subject-matter of any suit or other proceeding is land or a house or a garden, its value for the purposes of the jurisdiction conferred on the City Court by this Act shall, subject to the other provisions of the Act, be fixed in manner provided by the Court-Fees Act (VII of 1870), S. 7, cl. (v).

Process fees.

10. Fees chargeable for serving or executing processes issued by the City Court or served or executed under its direction or control shall be such as the High Court may prescribe with the approval of the Governor of the Fort St. George in Council.

* * * * *

Repayment of half fees on settlement before hearing.

13. Whenever any suit or proceeding in the City Court is settled by agreement of the parties before issues have been settled or any evidence recorded half the amount of institution fees paid by the plaintiff shall be repaid to him by the Court.

Allowance for fees paid in the City Court in cases removed to High Court.

14. When under section 13 of the Letters Patent for the High Court, dated the 28th day of December, 1865, or under section 25 of the Code of Civil Procedure (XIV of 1882) the High Court has removed for trial by itself any suit from the City Court, fees on the scale for the time being in force in the High Court as a Court of ordinary original jurisdiction shall be payable in that Court in respect of the suit and proceedings therein:

Provided that, in the levy of any such fees which, according to the practice of the Court are credited to the Government, credit shall be given to the plaintiff in the suit for any fee which in the City Civil Court he has already paid under the Court-Fees Act, 1870 (VII of 1870), on the plaint.

XI.—For Orissa, see ORISSA COURT-FEES AMENDMENT ACT (V OF 1939).XII.—PUNJAB ACT NO. VII OF 1922.*THE COURT-FEES (PUNJAB AMENDMENT) ACT, 1922.

As amended by Punjab Acts I and VI of 1926.

An Act to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870, with reference to the scale of Court-fees in the Punjab.

WHEREAS it is necessary to revise the scale of Court-fees provided in the Court-Fees Act, 1870, in its application to the Punjab in the manner hereinafter appearing;

THE ORISSA COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT (V OF 1939).

[31st October, 1939.]

An Act to amend the law relating to Court-fees in its application to the Province of Orissa.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to Court-fees in its application to the Province of Orissa:

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement. 1. (i) This Act may be called THE ORISSA COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1939.

(ii) It extends to the whole of Orissa.

(iii) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Gazette, appoint.

2. The Acts mentioned in Schedule A to this Act, so far as they apply to the whole or any part of the Province of Orissa, are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

Amendment of section 2 of Act VII of 1870. 3. For section 2 of the Court-Fees Act 1870, hereinafter called the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted:—

Definitions. "2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) 'appeal' includes a cross objection;

(2) 'suit' includes an appeal from a decree except in section 8-A."

Amendment of section 6 of Act VII of 1870. 4. Section 6 of the principal Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of section 6 and, after the said sub-section, the following sub-section shall be inserted:—

"(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the Provincial Government may, by notification, direct that a copy of a document, specified as chargeable in Schedules I and II to this Act annexed, shall be furnished by a public officer without payment of the fee indicated by either of the said Schedules as the proper fee for such copy and the copy so furnished shall be chargeable with the requisite fee only when it is filed, exhibited or recorded in any Court of justice or received by a public officer as mentioned in sub-section (1)."

5. In section 7 of the principal Act, for the words "in the suits next hereinafter mentioned" the words "in the suits next hereinafter mentioned except suits for relief under section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, or under section 91 or section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908", shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 7 (ii) of Act VII of 1870. 6. In section 7 (ii) of the principal Act, after the words "shall be deemed to be" the words "in suits for maintenance five times and in other suits" shall be inserted.

Omission of clause (b) of section 7 (iv) of Act VII of 1870. 7. Clause (b) of section 7 (iv) of the principal Act shall be omitted.

Insertion of new paragraph (iv-A) in section 7 of Act VII of 1870. 8. In section 7 of the principal Act, after paragraph (iv) the following paragraph shall be inserted:—

"(iv-A) In a suit for cancellation of a decree for money or other property having a money-value, or other document securing money or other property having such value, according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and such value shall be deemed to be—

if the whole decree or other document is sought to be cancelled, the amount or the value of the property for which the decree was passed or the other document executed;

if a part of the decree or other document is sought to be cancelled such part of the amount or value of the property.

Explanation.—In any case where a suit for the cancellation of a whole decree for money or other property having a money value, or other document securing money or other property having such value has to be instituted, but the substantial relief claimed is only in respect of a part of the amount or the value of the property for which the decree was passed or the other document was executed, the value of the subject-matter of the suit shall be deemed to be such part of the amount or value of the property in respect of which the relief is sought".

Amendment of paragraph (v) of section 7 of Act VII of 1870.

9. In paragraph (v) of section 7 of the principal Act.

- (1) In clause (a), for the word "ten" the word "twenty" shall be substituted;
- (2) in clause (b), for the word "five" the word "ten" shall be substituted;
- (3) the following proviso shall be inserted after the existing proviso:—

"Provided further that in suits for possession of land if rules are framed under section 3 of the Suits Valuation Act, 1887, for determining the value for the purposes of jurisdiction, the value so determined shall be deemed to be the value of the land for the purposes of this paragraph; and

(4) the existing Explanation shall be re-numbered as Explanation 1, and, after the Explanation so re-numbered, the following Explanation shall be added, namely:—

"Explanation II.—In this paragraph 'building' includes a house, outhouse, stable, privy, urinal, shed, hut, wall, and any other such structure whether of masonry, bricks, wood, mud, metal or any other material whatsoever."

Insertion of new paragraph (vi-A) in section 7 of Act VII of 1870.

10. In section 7 of the principal Act after paragraph (vi) the following paragraph shall be inserted:—

"(vi-A) In suits for partition and separate possession of a share of joint family property or of joint property, or to enforce a right to a share in any property on the ground that it is joint family property or joint property—

if the plaintiff alleges that he has been excluded from possession of the property of which he claims to be a coparcener or co-owner—according to the market-value of the share in respect of which the suit is instituted.

Insertion of new section 8-A in Act VII of 1870.

11. After section 8 of the principal Act, the following section shall be inserted:—

"8-A. In every suit in which an ad valorem Court-fee is payable under this Act on the plaint, the plaintiff shall file with the plaint a statement of particulars of the subject-matter of the suit and his own valuation thereof unless such particulars and the valuation are contained in the plaint. The statement shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed by the Provincial Government by notification in the Gazette. In every such suit the plaintiff shall also, if the Court so directs, file a duplicate copy of the plaint and of the said statement".

Amendment of section 11 of Act VII of 1870.

12. For the second paragraph of section 11 of the principal Act the following paragraph shall be substituted:—

"Where a decree directs an enquiry as to mesne profits which have accrued on the property during a period prior to the institution of the suit, if the profits ascertained on such inquiry exceed the profits claimed, no final decree shall be passed till the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the claim for the excess shall be dismissed, unless the Court, for sufficient cause, extends the time for payment.

Amendment of section 12 of Act VII of 1870.

13. (1) In section 12 of the principal Act, for paragraph (ii) the following paragraph shall be substituted:—

"(ii) But whenever any such suit comes before a Court of appeal, reference or revision, if such Court considers that the said question has been wrongly decided, it shall—

(a) in any case in which the decision is to the detriment of revenue, require the party by whom such fee has been paid, to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided and thereafter—

(i) if the party required to pay is the appellant or petitioner, the appeal or petition shall be stayed until the additional fee is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the appeal or petition shall be dismissed;

(ii) if the party required to pay is the respondent or the opposite party, the Court shall fix a date before which such party shall pay the amount of Court-fee due from him and, if such party fails to pay the fee required before the date fixed by the Court, the Court shall recover the amount of such fee from him as if it were an arrear of land revenue. Where the Court considers that the amount of such fee should be paid to the respondent or the opposite party by the appellant or the petitioner, as the case may be, the Court may provide for such payment in the order as to cost in the said appeal or petition; and

(b) in any case in which the decision is that any excess fee has been levied, direct the refund of so much excess fee to the party who paid it as would not have been payable had the question been rightly decided.

Amendment of section 18 of Act VII of 1870.

14. In section 18 of the principal Act, for the words "eight annas" the words "one rupee" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 35 of Act VII of 1870.

15. For section 35 of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted:—

U. P. COURT-FEES (AMENDMENT) ACT, (XIX OF 1938).

[Assented by Governor on January 9, 1939 and published in U. P. Gazette, dated January, 14, 1939.]

An Act further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870 (as amended by the United Provinces Court-Fees Amendment Act, 1936), in its application to the United Provinces.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Court-Fees Act, 1870 (as amended by the United Provinces Court-Fees Amendment Act, 1936) in its application to the United Provinces in the manner

hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the United Provinces Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1938.

(2) It extends to the whole of the United Provinces.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may by notification direct, and shall remain in force up to the thirtieth day of June, 1941.

Amendment of Section 1 (3), United Provinces Act II of 1936.

2. In sub-section (3) of section 1 of the United Provinces Court-Fees (Amendment) Act, 1936, for the words, 'April, 1939', the words 'June 1941', shall be substituted.

Amendment of Section 2, Act VII of 1870.

3. For section 2 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following section shall be substituted, namely:

"Definitions.—2. In this Act unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(i) "Appeal" includes a cross-objection.

(ii) "Collector" includes any officer, not below the rank of a Deputy Collector, appointed by the Collector, with the previous sanction of the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority, to perform the functions of a Collector under this Act.

(iii) "Revenue" means land revenue, as recorded in the Collector's register and does not include cesses of any kind.

(iv) "Suit" includes a first or second appeal from a decree in a suit."

4. The existing section 6 of the Court-Fees Act 1870 (as amended by section 2 of the United Provinces Court-Fees Amendment Act, 1936), shall be numbered as sub-section (1) of section 6, from the first proviso thereto the words "the document is of any of the kinds specified as chargeable in the first schedule and" shall be omitted, and the following sub-sections shall be added to it as sub-sections (2), (3), (4), (5), and (6) namely:—

Amendment of Section 6, Act VII of 1870, as amended by Section 2 of the United Provinces Act II of 1936.

"(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (1), a Court may receive a plaint or memorandum of appeal in respect of which an insufficient fee has been paid but no such plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be acted upon unless the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, makes good the deficiency in court-fee within such time as may from time to time be fixed by the Court.

(3) If a question of deficiency in court-fee in respect of any plaint or memorandum of appeal is raised by an officer mentioned in section 24-A the Court shall, before proceeding further with the suit or appeal, record a finding whether the court-fee paid is sufficient or not. If the Court finds that the court-fee paid is insufficient, it shall call upon the plaintiff or the appellant as the case may be, to make good the deficiency within such time as it may fix, and in case of default shall reject the plaint or memorandum of appeal:

Provided that the Court may, for sufficient reasons to be recorded proceed with the suit or appeal if the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, gives security, to the satisfaction of the Court, for payment of the deficiency in court-fee within such further time as the Court may allow. In no case, however, shall judgment be delivered unless the deficiency in court-fee has been made good, and if the deficiency is not made good within such time as the Court may from time to time allow, the Court may dismiss the suit or appeal.

(4) Whenever a question of the proper amount of court-fee payable is raised otherwise than under sub-section (3), the Court shall decide such question before proceeding with any other issue.

(5) In case the deficiency in court-fee is made good within the time allowed by the Court the date of the institution of the suit or appeal shall be deemed to be the date on which the suit was filed or the appeal presented.

(6) In all cases in which the report of the officer referred to in sub-section (3) is not accepted by the Court, a copy of the findings of the Court shall forthwith be sent to the Chief Inspector of Stamps."

Insertion of new Sections 6-A, 6-B, and 6-C after Section 6.

5. After section 6 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following sections shall be inserted as sections 6-A, 6-B, and 6-C. namely:—

"6-A. (1) Any person called upon to make good a deficiency in court-fee may appeal against such order as if it were an order appealable under section 104 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

The party appealing shall file with the memorandum of appeal, a certified copy of the plaint together with that of the order appealed against.

(2) In case an appeal is filed under sub-section (1), and the plaintiff does not make good the deficiency, all proceedings in the suit shall be stayed, and all interim orders made, including an order granting an injunction or appointing a receiver, shall be discharged.

(3) A copy of the memorandum of appeal shall be sent forthwith by the appellate Court to the Chief Inspector of Stamps.

(4) If such order is varied or reversed in appeal, the appellate Court shall if the deficiency has been made good before the appeal is decided, grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector such amount as is determined by the appellate Court to have been paid in excess of the proper court-fee.

(5) The Court may make such order for the payment of costs of such appeal as it deems fit, and where such costs are payable to the Government, they shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue.

"6-B. (1) If the order of the Court passed under sub-section (3) of section 6 is at variance with the opinion of the officer by whom the question of deficiency in court-fee has been raised, the Chief Inspector of Stamps may, within three months from the date of receipt of such order, move, by an application in writing, the Court to which an appeal lies from a decree in the suit or appeal in which such order has been passed, for revision of such order.

(2) If such Court is of opinion that the proper court-fee has not been paid on the plaint or the memorandum of appeal to which such order relates, it shall record a declaration to that effect and determine the amount of deficiency in court-fee. No appeal shall lie from such order:

Provided that no such declaration shall be made until the party liable to pay the court-fee has had an opportunity of being heard.

(3) The Court, while recording a declaration under sub-section (2) may make such order for the payment of costs as it deems fit. Where such costs are payable to the Government, they shall be recoverable in the manner laid down in sub-section (4) for the recovery of deficiency in court-fee.

(4) When a declaration has been recorded under sub-section (2), the Court recording the same shall, unless the suit or appeal has come up in appeal before such Court, in which case the deficiency in court-fee shall be recovered in the manner laid down in sub-section (ii) of section 12, send forthwith a copy of such declaration to the Court which passed the order under sub-section (3) of section 6. Such Court shall, if the suit or appeal is still pending before it, follow the procedure prescribed in sub-section (3) of section 6. If the suit or appeal has already been disposed of, the Court shall forward a copy of such declaration to the Collector who shall recover the deficiency from the party concerned as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

"6-C. (1) When the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority is of opinion that the court-fee paid on any document filed in any Civil Court in a pending suit, appeal or other proceeding is insufficient, and that the question is one of general importance and no action under section 6-B has been taken, it may refer the case, with its own opinion thereon, to the High Court to which such Civil Court is subordinate.

(2) Every such case shall be decided by not less than two Judges of the High Court to which it is referred.

(3) The High Court upon the hearing of any such case shall decide the question raised thereby and shall deliver its judgment thereon containing the grounds on which the decision is founded.

(4) If the High Court finds that the court-fee paid was insufficient, the procedure prescribed by sub-section (4) of section 6-B for realization of the deficiency shall be followed as if the decision of the High Court were a declaration under that section."

Amendment of S. 7 (iv),
Act VII of 1870.

6. For sub-section (ii) of section 7 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following shall be substituted:—

"(ii) (a) In suits for maintenance and annuities or other sums payable periodically:— according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit and such value shall be deemed to be ten times the amount claimed to be payable for one year;

Provided that in suits for personal maintenance by females and minors, such value shall be deemed to be the amount claimed to be payable for one year.

(b) In suits for reduction or enhancement of maintenance and annuities or other sums payable periodically—according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit and such value shall be deemed to be ten times the amount sought to be reduced or enhanced for one year."

Amendment of S. 7 (iv),
Act VII of 1870.

7. For sub-section (iv) of section 7 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following sub-section shall be substituted namely:—

"(iv) In suits—

(a) to obtain a declaratory decree or order, where consequential relief is prayed; and

(b) for accounts;

according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint or memorandum of appeal:

Provided that in suits falling under clause (a), where the relief sought is with reference to any immovable property, such amount shall be the value of the consequential relief and if such relief is incapable of valuation, then the value of the immovable property computed in accordance with sub-section (v), (v-A) or (v-B) of this section as the case may be:

Provided, further, that in suits falling under clause (b), such amount shall be the approximate sum due to the plaintiff and the said sum shall form the basis for calculating (or determining) the valuation of an appeal from a preliminary decree passed in the suit.

"(iv-A) In suits for or involving cancellation of or adjudging void or voidable a decree for money or other property having a market value, or an instrument securing money or other property having such value.

(1) where the plaintiff or his predecessor-in-title was a party to the decree or the instrument, according to the value of the subject-matter, and

(2) where he or his predecessor-in-title was not a party to the decree or instrument, according to one-fifth of the value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be deemed to be—

if the whole decree or instrument is involved in the suit, the amount for which or value of the property in respect of which the decree was passed or the instrument executed, and if only a part of the decree or instrument is involved in the suit, the amount or value of the property to which such part relates.

Explanation.—"The value of the property," for the purposes of this sub-section, shall be the market value, which in the case of immovable property shall be deemed to be the value as computed in accordance with sub-sections (v), (v-A) or (v-B) as the case may be.

"(iv-B) In suits—

(a) for a right to some benefit (not herein otherwise provided for) to arise out of land;

(b) to obtain an injunction;

(c) to establish an adoption or to obtain a declaration that an alleged adoption is valid;

(d) to set aside an adoption or to obtain a declaration that an alleged adoption is invalid or never, in fact, took place;

(e) to set aside an award not being an award mentioned in section 8; according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint:

Provided that in the case of (a), (b) and (c) such amount shall be not less than one-tenth of the market value of the property involved in or affected by the relief sought or Rs. 50 whichever is greater, and in the case of the remaining classes of suits not less than one-fifth of such value or Rs. 200 whichever is greater:

And provided further that in the case of (a) and (b) the amount of court-fee leviable shall in no case exceed Rs. 200.

Explanation 1.—When the relief sought is with reference to any immovable property the market value of such property shall be deemed to be the value computed in accordance with sub-section (v), (v-A) or (v-B) of this section as the case may be.

Explanation 2.—In the case of suits—

(i) falling under clauses (a) and (b) the property which is affected by the relief sought, and where properties of both the plaintiff and defendant are affected the property of the plaintiff so affected

(ii) falling under clauses (c) and (d) the property to which title by succession or otherwise may be diverted or affected by the alleged adoption, and

(iii) falling under clause (e) the property which forms the subject-matter of the award, shall be deemed to be the property involved in or affected by the relief sought within the meaning of the proviso to this sub-section.

“(iv-C) In suits—

(a) for the restitution of conjugal rights;

(b) for establishing or annulling or dissolving a marriage;

(c) for establishing a right to the custody or guardianship of any person such as minor, including guardianship for the purpose of marriage;

according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint but in no case shall such amount be less than Rs. 200.

Explanation.—Clauses (a) and (b) do not include petitions or suits under any special Act relating to the dissolution of marriage.”

Amendment of sub-section (v) of section 7, Act VII of 1870, as amended by section 3, United Provinces Act, II of 1936.

8. For sub-section (v) of section 7 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following shall be substituted namely:—

“(v) In suits for the possession of land, buildings or gardens—

according to the value of the subject-matter; and such value shall be deemed to be—

(I) where the subject-matter is land, and

(a) where the land forms an entire estate or a definite share of an estate paying annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such an estate, and is recorded in the Collector's register as separately assessed with such revenue and such revenue is permanently settled, thirty times the revenue so payable;

(b) where the land forms an entire estate or a definite share of an estate paying annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such estate and is recorded as aforesaid and such revenue is settled but not permanently, ten times the revenue so payable;

(c) where the land pays no such revenue or has been partially exempted from such payment or is charged with any fixed payment in lieu of such revenue, and nett profits have arisen from the land during the three years immediately preceding the date of presenting the plaint, twenty times the annual average of such net profits;

but when no such net profits have arisen therefrom, the market-value, which shall be determined by multiplying by twenty the annual average net profits of similar land for the three years immediately preceding the date of presenting the plaint;

(d) where the land forms part of an estate paying revenue to Government, but is not a definite share of such estate and does not come under clauses (a), (b) or (c) above—the market-value of the land, which shall be determined by multiplying by fifteen the rental value of the land including assumed rent on proprietary cultivation, if any;

(II) where the subject-matter is a building or garden—

according to the market-value of the building or garden, as the case may be.

Explanation.—The word “estate” as used in this sub-section, means any land subject to the payment of revenue for which the proprietor or farmer or raiyat shall have executed a separate engagement to Government or which, in the absence of such engagement shall have been separately assessed with revenue.”

Insertion of new sub-sections after sub-section (v) of section 7, Act VII of 1870, as amended by the foregoing clause.

9. After sub-section (v) of section 7 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the following shall be inserted as sub-sections (v-A) and v-B), namely:—

“(v-A) In suits for possession—
(1) of superior proprietary rights where under-proprietary or sub-proprietary rights exist in the land—

according to the market value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be determined by multiplying by fifteen the annual nett profits of the superior proprietor;

(2) of under-proprietary or sub-proprietary land as such—according to the value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be determined by multiplying by ten the annual under-proprietary or sub-proprietary rent, as the case may be, recorded in the Collector's register as payable for the land for the year next before the presentation of the plaint.

If no such rent is recorded in the Collector's register, the value shall be determined in the manner laid down in clause (c) of sub-Section (v) of this section save that the multiple will be ten.

Explanation.—Land held by any permanent lessees shall be treated for the purposes of this sub-section as under-proprietary or sub-proprietary land.”

“(v-B) In suits for possession of land between rival tenants and by tenants against trespassers—

according to the value of the subject-matter and such value shall be determined if such land is the land of

(a) a permanent tenure holder or a fixed rate tenant—
by multiplying by twenty the annual rent recorded in the Collector's register as payable for the land for the year next before the presentation of the plaint;

(b) an ex-proprietary or occupancy tenant—by multiplying by two such rent in case of suits for possession of land between rival tenants, and by annual rent in suits by tenants against trespassers.

If no such rent is recorded in the Collector's register, the value shall be determined in the manner laid down in clause (c) of sub-section (v) of this section save that the multiple shall be that entered in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this sub-section according as the class of tenancy affected is governed by clauses (a) or (b) or (c) of this sub-section.”

Amendment of sub-section (vi) of section 7, Act VII of 1870.

10. In sub-section (vi) of section 7 of the Court-Fees Act, 1870, the word “building” shall be substituted for the word “house.”
